SHOP LIFTERS RUN OUT OF TOWN

Suspicious Characters Visit Several Stores and Act Very Queer in Examining Goods.

Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock a tall and a short man walked into William Holly's clothing store at the corner of Fourth and Main streets, and asked for a pair of duck trousers. Mr. Holly proceeded to produce the goods from the shelf in the rear of the first counter, and the strangers appeared to want to get back to the piles of clothing when Mr. Holly informed them that he did not show any goods back there for the customers to please stand in the front part of the store and he would show them what they wanted. They soon found there was nothing doing, and accordingly went to C. E. Wescott's Sons clothing store at the corner of Fifth and Main. Mr. Glen Rawls was at work at the front while Mr. Hilt Wescott was in the rear of the store. One of the men passed in, not noticing Mr. Rawls, and engaged Mr. Wescott in showing him a pair of pants. In a short time the second "rounder" entered the store and seemed surprised when accosted by Mr. Rawls and in reply to the question as to his wants, said he was waiting for the other man. Mr. Wescott's customer folded the pants in a small bundle and was examining them very closely when Mr. Wescott took hold of the pair of pants and smoothed them out and remarked: "That is the way to examine them." The pair then left and wandered east a half block and back again to Falter & Thierolf's clothing store. In the meantime Mr. Holly had given Chief of Police Rainey a tip, and Mr. Wescott had gotten word to George Falter's store, they got such a cool reception that they soon left, going to Zuckweiler & Lutz's general store where Chief Rainey overtook them. As the chief entered the store one of the strangers was trying on a pair of shoes.

Chief Rainey accosted the stranger and asked him if he had the money to pay for the shoes and demanded that the stranger show his coin. The prospective purchaser said at first he had the money but failed to show it, then he said he had a check on a Falls City bank.

The chief tapped the fellow on the shoulder and said "you come with me." The officer then escorted the pair down the alley to the Burlington tracks, led them a few rods north of the station and told them to "hit the road." And further, "if they stopped within the city limits he would do things they would regret." The thieves needed no second invitation and went back to Omaha or some other northern clime. It is lucky that the thieves were foiled in their attempt here as they will pass the word along that Plattsmouth is a hard town to work, and this will be in a measure a protection to the merchants.

Later.—The strangers returned and Chief Rainey landed them in the cooler until this morning when they were brought before Judge Archer, to explain their mission. The tall man said his name was Clarence Muller, while the short man answered to the name of William Casely. One claimed to be a painter and the other a barber, and they gave their residence as Falls City. And when the court decided that they were vagrants and that they owed the school fund of the county $10 each, with trimmings, both men evinced a desire to return to Falls City and resume their former occupations. The court suspended the sentence for fifteen minutes to give them a start for their home in which direction they went on double quick time.

SPEAKER CANNON IS RENOMINATED

Uncle Joe Will Make Twentieth Race for Seat in House.

SAYS TARIFF ISSUE UNCHANGED

Declares Agitation for Revision is Dangerous to Welfare of the Country—Protection of Free Trade is the Real Contest, He Asserts, in Speech Accepting Nomination.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 22.—Speaker Joseph G. Cannon in accepting his twentieth nomination for congress said the tariff needed no defense and declared agitation for its revision dangerous to the welfare of the country. He said: "Gentlemen, in accepting this, the twentieth nomination for representative, I want to express my conviction that this is to be a campaign for the serious consideration of the one national policy which touches every man in the country. That is the policy as to how we are to raise one billion dollars a year for the expense of the various functions that have been put upon the federal treasury."

Says issue is unchanged.
"The tariff contest today is just what it has been for fifty years—a contest between protection and free trade. We now have in command of the Democrats in the house of representatives a man who has never attempted to dodge or explain away the Democratic position. The Hon. Champ Clark announced himself a free trader from the sole of my feet to the top of my head," as he expressed it when he came to congress, and he has been consistent in that declaration throughout his public service.

"With Mr. Clark as the Democratic leader of those who are dissatisfied with the Payne tariff law, there ought to be no misunderstanding as to what that contest means. It is progressive only toward free trade; it is reaction as to all the progress we have made under protection in the last half century."
"The agitation for another tariff revision, or another attempted revolution in our revenue policy, is just as dangerous to the welfare of the whole people as was that of 1894, when the Wilson tariff was enacted."

Needs No Defense.
"I have no defense to make of the Payne law, for it needs none. It is the enactment of the pledges made by the Republican national convention in 1908. It is in keeping with the policy of protection which the Republican party has maintained as the correct revenue policy ever since the election of Abraham Lincoln; in fact, it is in harmony with the very first revenue legislation of Washington. That policy is to protect the American producer from the unequal competition of the foreign producer, in order that we may keep our labor on a higher plane than is the labor of Europe, Asia and the islands of the sea."
"My notion about progress is that it should be a movement forward, not simply a loud noise about the necessity for the movement, nor extravagance promise to accelerate the movement if given control of the machine."

MOSQUITOES STALL A TRAIN

Bonfires Are Necessary Before Freight Can Be Taken Into Granite City.
Granite City, Ill., Sept. 22.—Mosquitoes stalled a freight train for three hours just outside of Granite City, the crew having been driven from the train by the immense swarm of insects.
Not until the engineer and fireman built bonfires on both sides of the engine could they enter the cab and take the freight into the yards. George Shelton and Thomas McLean, the engineer and fireman, were both bitten until their faces are almost unrecognizable.

Dr. Crippen and Miss Le Neve Held.
London, Sept. 22.—At the close of the police court proceedings, Dr. Hawley H. Crippen and Ethel Clare Le Neve were committed for trial, charged with the murder of the doctor's wife, Belle Elmore. Solicitor Newton reserved his defense for the trial proper.

Loss of Blood.

Loss of blood is a very serious matter and it is always necessary to repair the loss as quickly as possible. In such cases you will use Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine, knowing that it is the best blood remedy. You should do the same when the blood starts losing its most necessary ingredients, the red corpuscles. You must strengthen it or else you will soon be incapacitated for work. The blood weakens as soon as your digestive organs do not work as they should, because the food will not be properly assimilated. The blood will become thick with impurities. Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine is in such cases undoubtedly the most dependable remedy. As soon as your stomach will refuse to accept enough food or you will feel some discomfort after eating. At drug stores, Jos Triner, 1333-1339 So. Ashland ave., Chicago, Ill.

Visits the Burlington Shops.

I. N. Hunter and son, Earl, were in Lincoln last Thursday and Friday on business and having a little time on their hands concluded to go through the B. & M. shops. At one place they got interested in the work and were watching the hammers welding when suddenly a shower of sparks flew from the iron and penetrated their clothes. Earl's suit of clothes, recently purchased, were entirely ruined, and he got a severe burn on one limb. Mr. Hunter's clothes did not catch as much of the flying sparks, but several holes were burned through. It cost about $25 to see the show. The acid used in welding was responsible for the damage to a large extent.—Weeping Water Republican.

New Store at Cedar Creek.

S. J. Reames has opened up a new general merchandise store at Cedar Creek. The new store is located in the Sayles building, formerly occupied by Andrew Kaufmann and daughter, and was opened for business on Thursday of this week with a brand new stock in every department. Mr. Reames has lived in Cedar Creek for several years and is a very popular man, and will prove a good business man. Cedar Creek is a good business point and has ample room for a man like we believe Mr. Reames to be, and in time we bespeak for him the entire general merchandise business of the community. He certainly should receive the glad hand of all who trade in Cedar Creek. When a good, clean man enters in business with a good clean stock, he should receive the patronage of the community in which he lives.

TWO GOOD BALL GAMES COMING

Storz Triumphs to Play Here on Saturday and Sunday.

The lovers of ball playing can expect something great in the two games to be pulled off at the Chicago avenue ball park next Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Manager Brantner has arranged these games, thinking that in all probability they will be the last games of the season. The Storz Triumphs is the best amateur team in Omaha, and have played ball here on several occasions, and our people know just how they play ball. Joe Lotz, the pitcher for the Plattsmouth team when they won the prize from Tabor during the tournament, belongs with the Omaha team, and will be here with them Saturday and Sunday. Manager Brantner, not to be outdone in the way of a pitcher to match Lotz, has secured Harry Smith of Fremont, who has been pitching with the state league team of Fremont all season. It was due to his magnificent work that the Fremont team won the state league pennant. Smith is one of the best pitchers in the state, and his coming here to pitch for the Red Sox, is bound to make these two games the most interesting ever pulled off in Plattsmouth, and it will be hard to tell from start to finish which will come off victorious.

Everyone who loves a good game of ball should arrange to attend these games. If it is impossible for you to attend Saturday afternoon, be sure you are there Sunday afternoon, and we will guarantee that you will come away feeling that you have seen the best ball game you ever saw in Plattsmouth.

Will Work Nine Hours.

C. M. Carter, foreman of the car repair department in the local shops, was called to Pacific Junction today on company business. Mr. Carter is working a force of men almost as large as last year, and after the first of the month, the men will be put on nine hours and six days a week. There are on hand for repair now about seventy-five coal cars which have precedence now over all other kinds of cars.

Misses Vesta Douglass, Elizabeth Falter, Mary Bird and Alpha Peterson departed for Peru on the evening train yesterday where they will renew their studies, at the state normal.

The first buyers of this land get the best selection and will make the most money.

TO SHOW CAUSE BY
SEPTEMBER 29, 1910

The Lincoln Journal of this morning contains the following: "Sheriff Carroll D. Quinton of Cass county has been ordered by the supreme court to show cause by September 26, why he holds John Clarence in the county jail. Clarence was convicted of the killing of John P. Thacker and was sentenced to serve fourteen years in the penitentiary. He appealed to the supreme court and that court admitted him to $15,000 bail bond. The supreme court reversed and remanded his case in March, September 16 the sheriff placed Clarence in jail and the district judge refused to grant him bail. The question to be determined in a writ of habeas corpus is whether or not the old bail bond given to the supreme court holds good till Clarence is required to appear again in the district court to stand a new trial."

H. W. Baughman drove in from the Dovey section this morning, bringing his daughter, Mrs. Francis Pace to the Burlington station where she took the train for Emerson, Ia., where Mr. and Mrs. Pace will make their future home.
