COUNTY DEMOCRATIC TICKET DE-SERVES SUPPORT OF TAXPAYERS

Banning, for Senator; Bates, Puls and Metzger for Representative; Charles R. Jordan, for County Commissioner.

Next Tuesday (November 8) is election day, at which time the voters are called upon to elect a governor, United States senator, state officials, congressmen and members of the legislature. The legislature is about as important, or more so, perhaps, because in the election of members of that body depends the election of a United States senator. We herewith present to you for your suffrages a set of candidates upon whom you can place confidence that they will do their best for the interests of their constituents, and will not betray such confidence as is placed in them. They will do their duty at all times and under all circumstances during the ensuing session of the legislature, and with a pledge to that effect, they ask the support of every voter of Cass county who desires to see the rights and liberties of the people prevail.

Hon. W. B. Banning.

W. B. Banning, candidate for re-election to the state senate, is a gentleman familiarly known to nearly every voter in Cass county. Mr. Banning served three years as county commissioner, and the grand record he made in behalf of the taxpayers is still fresh in the memories of every voter. He was what is usually termed in higher legislative bodies "the watch-dog of the treasury." There was not a dollar paid out that he did not know where it was going, what for, and as to whether the claim was right, and not in the least exorbitant. He is a very careful man in his business transactions. His record as county commissioner, led to his unanimous nomination for state senator, to which he was elected two years ago, and the splendid record he made in that body was all that the people of Cass county could have wished, and this fact led to his unanimous renomination. Mr. Banning has been in business in Union for many years, and by his splendid business qualities and genial manners has endeared him to all who know him. He was reared on a farm near Union, and from boyhood up has possessed that energy and perseverance which makes the man in this age. Senator Banning has proved faithful to the trust reposed in him, and should receive the support of every fair-minded voter, who desires to see Cass county represented by a gentleman who possesses all the qualities for so doing.

Col. M. A. Bates.

Two years ago Col. M. A. Bates received the unanimous nomination for joint (or float) representative from Otoe and Cass counties, and was elected. Again this year he was renominated unanimously. Col. Bates was born and raised in Ohio, and during the civil war he served in the

COL. M. A. BATES.

95th O. V. I. He had two brothers and two brother-in-laws, who also served their country well and faithfully in this great conflict; one of whom died with Sherman in his well known march to the sea, while one brother-in-law lost a leg at Vicksburg. Another brother, who has visited here several times during the past summer, was shot through the head at Mission Ridge. After the war Col. Bates "followed the star of empire" and came west, as many of the veterans in that conflict did, where he went into the newspaper business, in which he has ever since been engaged. While he has never before been elected to any office, in his declining years his many friends in Otoe and Cass counties took it upon themselves to honor him by electing him to represent the two counties in the legislature. He is a candidate for re-election because his friends thought he had done all he pledged to do in that body. He asks the support of all voters who want to see the rights and liberties of the people maintained, and who will do his best for the interests of the people of Otoe and Cass counties.

C. E. Metzger.

C. E. Metzger, candidate for representative, is a Cass county product, his parents coming here in an early day. Mr. Metzger graduated from the Plattsmouth High school and then attended the State University at

Lincoln. While he has followed farming and dealing in stock, through choice of occupation, he is well fitted for any other business career you may place him. He is a young man whose attainments are plenty, and a gentleman who is highly respected by all who know him. He has probably purchased more stock from the farmers of Cass county than any man of his age, and has paid them the top prices. He is an honorable, upright young man, worthy of the support of the voters of the county of his birth. That he will prove an efficient and faithful representative of the people's interests, no one will question. He should be elected.

W. H. Puls.

The next candidate to ask your suffrages at the polls on November 8, is W. H. Puls, candidate for representative. Mr. Puls is another Cass county product, a farmer, and tills the soil in Mt. Pleasant precinct, where he was born and reared. After receiving all the advantages of the common schools, he attended a business college in Lincoln for some time. He is the possessor of a good farm, and his surroundings denote energy and splendid management. While not an office seeker, the democrats gave him the nomination because they knew he would fill the bill if elected. He is highly commended by all who know him, and the voters need have no fears of his not proving good in the lower branch of the legislature.

Charley Jordan is at present serving his first term as county commissioner, and is a candidate for re-election. It is the common talk among the taxpayers in the Third district, and in fact, all over the county, that Mr. Jordan ought to be re-elected because he is a man that in the administration of his office has looked well to the interests of the people. A man who has done this should be re-elected, because he has proved true to the trust reposed in him. A vote for Charles R. Jordan, is a vote for "the right man in the right place."

Voters, here you have the candidates who should be elected on the 8th day of November, and when you take your ticket into the booth to mark it, see that an "X" is marked in the square opposite their names.

CHARLES SHOPP CUTS FOURTH CROP OF ALFALFA

Charles Shopp has just finished mowing away his fourth crop of alfalfa, and the last crop was as fine and heavy as any of the season. The soil in this part of the county seems especially adapted to the growth of this most excellent forage crop.

Experts say that no other forage crop requires so much lime in the soil as does alfalfa. They say that it is apparently necessary that the soil acidity be neutralized by the lime and that there also be an excess for the actual use of the plant. In one test an analysis was made of the mineral constituents of certain crops. The percentage of lime in the alfalfa was 34.9, while red clover had but 26.6 per cent, and timothy had only 4.7 per cent. It is a well known fact that the soil of this vicinity has a large amount of lime as it is underlaid with many feet of limestone rock and will not need liming for years to come.

The preparation of the ground for sowing the crop is no small item, and the success of the undertaking to get a stand of the grass, depends much on the care in making the seed bed ready. Experts on this branch of the subject say that the tender nature of the young alfalfa plants requires that the soil be in excellent condition at planting time. The seed bed should be fine on top but thoroughly settled. The young tap root of the alfalfa plant strikes down immediately and is apt to be seriously injured if it encounters a layer of loose dry soil at the bottom of the old furrow.

As a general rule about six weeks are required for plowed land to settle enough for alfalfa seeding. It is sufficient, however, for many soils that they be disced instead of plowed. Less time is required for disced land to settle and the operation is less expensive than plowing.

It is important that the preparation be uniformly good, as the poorly prepared spots are apt to fail. These bare places form the centers from which weeds may spread and ultimately destroy the whole stand.

Enterprising Firm.
Mr. A. Bach, sr., returned a day or two ago from a trip through northern Iowa, and while away purchased two cars of potatoes, one car of which arrived yesterday and the second today, which will be retailed at 90 cents per bushel. The arrival of these cars makes the fifth car of potatoes disposed of through the enterprising firm of Bach & Son. The potatoes are of varieties which are well known for their keeping qualities, and having been raised in this climate will stand up better than many kinds shipped from higher altitudes.

Anyone appreciating a good potato should call and leave their order with Mr. Bach.
