ST. LUKE'S SUNDAY SCHOOL ENJOYS CHRISTMAS PARTY

Event Is Held at the A. O. U. W. Hall and the Young Folks Have Time of Their Lives in the Coming of Santa Claus

The Journal expresses regret that previously it has been unable to give a write-up of the Christmas entertainment of St. Luke's Sunday school, which occurred Monday evening. The only excuse we can give for not producing this earlier is the rush of news matter which crowded in on Tuesday and kept the force so busy that the matter was overlooked until last evening and then the data was procured too late for last night's issue. The Christmas carols were sung on Sunday at 10 a. m., and the entertainment Monday evening, which partook of the nature of a Christmas party, was held in the A. O. U. W. hall and was by far the most enjoyable event of the Sunday school year. The preparation of the program was placed in the hands of Miss Barbara Gering and Mrs. C. W. Baylor, and the almost perfect rendition of each number on the program showed much skill and perseverance on the part of the committee.

There were some good recitations by the smaller members of the school, and a song by Miss Nora Livingston which evoked the hearty applause of the audience. Mr. H. S. Austin gave two readings, one entitled, "The Night Before Christmas," and the other, "The Night After Christmas." The latter being a parody on the old poem given in the first reading. Mr. Austin is a finished elocutionist and his rendition of the selections was very fine indeed, and added very materially to the enjoyment of the evening.

Mrs. Jay Selvers executed a beautiful and difficult number on the piano, which was well received and enthusiastically encored.

One of the amusing features of the entertainment was a snow ball fight between the girls and boys of the school. The balls were of the con-fetti kind and the contest excited the mirth of the entire audience during several minutes that it lasted. The girls were finally declared the victors.

A guessing contest next occupied the attention of the merry makers, this was participated in by the whole school as well as members of the audience. In the conflict of wits Miss Harriett Clements secured the prize, which was a candy chicken.

At the close of the party Old Santa made his appearance amid glingling of bells, and distributed candy and pop corn to each member of the school.

Those who were present declared the party to be the most enjoyable Christmas party ever held by the Sunday school.

CLUB ENTERTAINED BY MISS EDNA SHOPP

A number of young people of this city have formed a club for the winter months, this club to meet at the homes of the members two or three times a month. The purpose of the club is that of having a social time. Consequently, the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Shopp, on West Rock street, was the scene of frolic last evening when the members of this club met with their daughter, Miss Edna.

During the evening various games and amusements, interspersed with music and social conversation were indulged in. One of the amusements was the dressing of a peanut doll, which produced much merriment for the young people. Miss Mildred Johnson succeeded in getting her doll dressed the best and was awarded the prize. Another diversion was the matching of a puzzle.

Just prior to the close of this delightful entertainment, a delicious two-course luncheon was served, which was likewise thoroughly enjoyed. It was a late hour when the members of this club departed for their homes, voting Miss Edna a splendid entertainer. The guests of the club last evening were Misses Coralie and Mildred Stewart, of York, Nebraska.

MURPHY GOES UP FOR THIRTY DAYS

James Murphy, of Cedar Creek, was arraigned before Judge Archer today charged with being in "an unlawful state of intoxication" while then and there being in the county of Cass and State of Nebraska, and against the peace and dignity of the state during the greater part of the last six months. After hearing the evidence Judge Archer then and there considered and adjudged that the offender should recline in the county jail for thirty days and pay the costs.

The court goes on the theory that if there is anything which will "give us pause" it is to observe the activities of life from within the Cass county prison, and he knows of no remedy which will cure the drink habit so effectually as about a month in this resort. On the other hand, the court hesitates to commit a sober criminal to jail, for fear the conditions there will drive him, the criminal, to drink.
