

TWO LODGES HOLD INSTALLATIONS

Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors Have Big Time.

A more than usually enjoyable event occurred last evening at the Coates hall, being the evening set apart for the joint installation of the officers of the M. W. A. and R. N. A. lodges.

The officers installed by the M. W. A. were George Lushinsky, Consul; O. C. Hudson, Worthy Advisor; Wm. Hassler, Banker; H. Goos, Clerk; H. M. Wilcox, Escort; J. W. Peters, Manager; J. D. Parker, Watchman, and C. H. Dare, Sentinel.

Mr. H. S. Barthold was installing officer and H. A. Schneider head escort.

The ladies installed as officers of the R. N. A. were Mrs. Inez Spencer, Oracle; Florence Cory, Vice Oracle; Mrs. Retta Miller, Chancellor; Mrs. Sybil Brantner, Recorder; Mrs. Julia South, Receiver; Mrs. Margaret Tulene, Marshal; Miss Lydia Hobson, Assistant Marshal; Mrs. Rose Brisey, Inner Sentinel; Mrs. Bertha Allen, Outer Sentinel; Mrs. Pearl Sivey, Manager; Robert Brisey, Assistant Manager; Miss Garnett Corey, Installing Officer; Mrs. Jennie Tulene, Ceremonial Marshal.

A piano solo by Miss Hyde was given as the opening number on the program, after which the M. W. A. officers were installed. Following this was a piano solo by Miss Esther Royal, after which followed the installation of the officers of the R. N. A. followed by a vocal solo by B. A. McElwain.

One of the amusing features of the entertainment was a mock trial of three criminals, one H. Goos, being accused of kidnaping a child. W. H. Mason was placed under arrest for embezzling $100,000 and Cliff Beggs, an urchin, arrested for stealing a loaf of bread. A court was organized, with Joe Peters as judge, C. P. Richards, as sheriff, and A. J. Beeson, as public prosecutor. The trial afforded much cause for mirth. The boy for stealing the loaf of bread was given 99 years in the pen, although he told a pitiful tale of how he came to be reduced to the condition of abject poverty. His father had been a Woodman in good standing, but let his policy lapse a week or so before he died, leaving the widow and children to hoe their own row, and the boy was hungry and just took the loaf. The judge thought it was hard luck, but said he hadn't ought to stole it.

The kidnaper was turned loose, as well as the fellow that got the $100,000, the prosecutor came nearly being sent up for 30 days because he talked too much.

A fine line of refreshments, cake, coffee, sandwiches, fruits, etc., etc., were served.

After the program and refreshments were disposed of the hall was cleared and an enjoyable dance had. The M. W. A. orchestra furnishing the music.

Runaway On Main Street.

Some excitement was created on Main street shortly after 1 o'clock today when the big black mares belonging to William Tritsch and the large span of mules owned by Frank Parkening started off with a load of coal. The mares were hitched in the lead and the mules on the wheel and were being driven south on Sixth street east of the Riley hotel, when in some manner the driver got the lines on the leaders crossed and pulled them short around breaking the tongue out of the wagon. The mares then galloped east on Main street with the doubletree and a piece of wagon tongue attached, colliding with the Sons clothing store, broke the glass case in front of Westglass, ran into the shed back of Geise's saloon and stopped.

The driver stopped the mules by turning them into the curb in front of Fricke's drug store. A broken wagon tongue and the glass in the sign case was about all of the damage done.

Mr. C. C. Wescott thinks the excitement over the reduced price sale may have caused the runaway, and he thinks the horses, even, were trying to get in on the bargains, and barely missed the door.

Mr. John McNurlin returned from Cedar Creek on the morning train today, where he visited relatives for a short time. He was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. E. Sprague, who have been visiting relatives at Cedar Creek and Louisville for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Sprague reside at Stanton, Nebraska.

Henry Meisinger, of Springfield, was in the city today visiting his sister, Mrs. George Weldman. Mr. Meisinger says he visits Plattsmouth once a year at least.

The Highest Award.
American goods are steadily gaining in favor in Europe and our exports are increasing from year to year. Our goods are in some respects so much superior that they are often honored with high awards. In the beautiful exhibition in Alexandria Palace in London and in the great exhibition in Brussels, last year, Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine received the grand prize and the gold medal. This is a new proof of the excellence of this American product. The manufacturer said that the highest award, he can receive, is the favor of the people he is enjoying for so many years. It shows that his preparation stood the test of a long time as a reliable remedy for diseases of the stomach, the intestines, the nerves and the blood. It is a great medicine in all cases of constipation and its consequences. At drug stores. Jos. Triner, 1333-1339 So. Ashland avenue, Chicago, Illinois. ### "The Newlyweds."

In these days when the very limit of sartorial splendor seems to have been reached in stage costuming, it appears to be a little nervy to claim super-excellence for the dressing of a play, but if reports are to be believed that have come from those who have seen "The Newlyweds and Their Baby," something extraordinary fetching and bewitching in the way of stage garbment will be displayed here during its engagement at the Parmele theatre Tuesday night, January 17.

ANNIVERSARY OF BLIZZARD TWENTY-THREE YEARS AGO

Conductor Fisher, who passed through on No. 6 this morning, while at the Burlington station remarked that twenty-three years ago today one of the worst blizzards he ever saw struck Nebraska. This was January 12, 1888, and the storm was general over all of southeastern Iowa and northwestern Missouri as well as throughout Nebraska. The town of College Springs, Iowa, was blockaded and snow bound for two or three days, and railway traffic was delayed even longer. The children of some of the rural schools in Nebraska were kept in the school houses over night and most of the day following, and in a few instances persons lost their lives by freezing.
