

COUNTY OPTION A SOURCE OF UNEASINESS TO SOME LEGISLATORS

Carrying Water on Both Shoulders to Get Votes Last Fall, Makes Them Do a Lot of Side-Steeping, and Yet They Do Not Know "Where They Are At"

In speaking of the actions thus far taken by the county option members of the legislature, the Lincoln Journal says:

"The special committee appointed at the conference of the county option members of the legislature Monday evening to investigate the merits of various forms of a county option bill and to report its recommendations to a second conference to be held this evening, has decided on this much: The lengthy bill advocated by the Anti-Saloon League as the one which ought to be adopted will not be favored by this committee. It will recommend that a short amendment to the first section of the present Slocumb law be presented. Just what form this will be in will depend on the action of the conference tonight. Most county option members are in favor of introducing no other measure than the one decided upon in caucus. In answer to the query as to how many members pledged themselves to vote and work for the particular bill advocated by the Anti-Saloon League members of the committee declared they knew of no one who had made an unequivocal promise, but that they would all abide by the judgment of the conference.

"Senator Henry H. Bartling, of Otoe, is the center of all gossip relating to a county option bill. Whether or not he will vote for a county option bill of any kind is much discussed. His vote is necessary for the passage of such a bill in the senate. Senator Bartling attended one meeting of the "dry" wing of the legislature, but when it was proposed to resolve the meeting into a caucus in which all present should be bound by the action of the caucus, Senator Bartling objected to such action. It is reported that the Otoe senator is having all kinds of trouble with himself and that he does not yet know what he will do. He asserts that a large majority of his constituents want him to vote against any kind of county option and yet he feels that he is bound in a measure by the republican state platform which declares for county option. It is rumored that he will take time to study over the matter and if he attends the dry caucus this afternoon he will vote for county option. If he stays away, he may not vote for a measure of that nature. Both sides claim he will vote with them."

NEW ORLEANS FOR EXPOSITION

Reasons Why That City Should Have Panama Exposition.

A traveling man from Omaha was in the city a day or two ago and in discussing the location of the Panama exposition was warmly in favor of New Orleans as the logical location for all residents of Nebraska to advocate. In the first place the traveler remarked that there had already been held on the coast expositions at different times of late years and that that section had reaped the benefit which comes from advertising the resources of that section and the locality could not expect to receive a great deal more than it had already done. The transportation companies had acquired the revenue from transporting the visitors to and from these great shows, and he thought these benefits should be passed around.

The traveler did not think investors would be attracted to Nebraska by what could be observed from the car window, when it was suggested to him, that we wanted to attract eastern money to this state. His idea was that a little judicious advertising in the money centers of the east of the resources of Nebraska would do a great deal in this direction.

He argued that the jobbing interests of the state ought to be fostered at this time. That the plans ought to be passed around, the transportation lines having had the benefits of former coast expositions, the jobbers of Nebraska and the other states adjacent to the Missouri and Mississippi rivers should have a show at this time. He also said that what would benefit the jobbers by helping them build up a trade with the southern outlet would also benefit farmers and producers of every class, in opening up a wider demand for their products, and that Nebraska would derive more benefit in this direction than in some others mentioned by the San Francisco advocates.

A Good Intention.

We should begin the year with some good intention. Let us throw away some bad habits and accept a new virtue. Let us study what is good and what is bad for us and let us then determine the course we shall take. In the first place let us try to preserve our health, to increase our strength. Should we notice the slightest disorder, especially in our digestion, let us select as a remedy, the reliable Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine. It is used, for many years, with the greatest success, by our families, in all diseases of the stomach, the liver and the intestines. It makes the digestion perfect, makes new, pure blood and feeds the nerves. It relieves all cases of constipation, most cases of rheumatism and headache, as also nervousness and many skin eruptions. FORMER OWNER OF COATES BLOCK COMMITS SUICIDE

W. J. Rigg, of Des Moines, Iowa, recently one of the owners of an equity in the Coates block in this city, committed suicide at a lodging house in Memphis, Tennessee, last Friday night. About a year ago Rigg traded some Texas lands for the equity in the building above named, and had the title placed in his wife's name, but he assumed control and directed the collection of the rents, ordering the rents collected and sent to him at Des Moines regardless of expense of heating and repairing the building. He did not keep the building long.

Last week he went to Memphis and negotiated for the purchase of a saloon and gave his check for $1,000 as part payment. His check was returned with the notation "no funds." He then secured rooms at a lodging house, destroyed all papers leading to his identity and took a quantity of morphine, which ended his career.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN PRIMARY ELECTION LAW

Several bills were introduced yesterday relating to the election laws. Gustafson, a republican, would repeal the open primary law. This bill must compete with another house bill which would amend the primary law to make it again a closed system. Shoemaker, of Douglas, wants to repeal the extensive law which allows the use of voting machines instead of Australian ballots, and which is used only in Douglas county. Skeen, of Nemaha, wants a constitutional amendment changing the date of the general fall election for the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November to the same date in October, thus relieving the farming class from the necessity of losing a day from their corn harvesting. Over in the senate Lee introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor to employ vehicles for the transportation of voters to and from the polls. The same member has a bill which will in effect compel voters to exercise their franchise at the primary election or be put to considerable trouble to secure the privilege of voting at the general election. He has not introduced this bill yet.
