ENJOYABLE EVENT AT MASONIC HOME

The Epworth League Visits the Home and Pleases Old Folks

An entertainment was given at the Masonic Home last night by the Epworth League, when all came dressed in colonial costume to celebrate Washington's birthday. It was very beautifully done, their quaint dresses representing our past history and times. Their laces and frills adorning their faces and accentuating their voices as they sang the old-time songs and music we used to sing so long ago, when we, too, were young and played at being grandfathers and grandmas; besides, we had the great pleasure of meeting, in duplicate, Christopher Columbus, Henry Hudson, Lord and Lady Baltimore and many others of their time. Martha Washington was there, dressed in "court costume" of scarlet and green. Her husband was unavoidably absent, but she wore his miniature in ivory and her bright face was embellished with two tiny beauty patches so fashionable in those days. There was a long procession of historic characters, whose appropriate dress so completely concealed their identity that we failed to recognize them. I should like to give in detail each character, but there were so many and all were so good that it would fill the Journal and it would take me a week. But it will take many weeks to forget the goodness that prompted them to come and promote our enjoyment, and it would be difficult to express in words our thanks. One of the gentlemen here this morning told it in this way: "I never get drunk, but I must confess that last night I was full of joy, literature and music!" I voice the sentiments of all in saying, "We thank you, and as 'tis has been said, 'One good turn calls for another.'" Come again. You are as welcome as the flowers in May."

THINKS SUCH CONTRACTS SHOULD BE TABOODED

There is a great deal of truth in the following, taken from the Lincoln News, and we believe it will be endorsed by almost every newspaper man in the state: Said a man who once ran a country newspaper out in the state: "I notice that the supreme court has decreed that a railroad cannot make a contract with a publisher to exchange transportation for advertising space. That decision is all right. I was running a weekly in a Nebraska county seat town when the state legislature passed the anti-pass law, and I was indignant when I discovered that no longer was I permitted to exchange my advertising space for transportation. I was very sure that the railroad felt that it was getting value received for the publicity I gave it, and it looked to me like an impertinent interference for the legislature to tell me and the railroad that we could not do business on a basis mutually satisfactory. I did not look upon the advertisement as a bribe and was confident that the railroad managers did not regard it in that light, because they had told me so. When I was spluttering around about it, my wife suggested that a good test of whether the railroad men regarded it as a strictly business proposition or a subsidy would be to see if they would run the advertisement on a cash basis. The reply to my proposition was that the department head was of the opinion that the returns possible from running an advertisement in my paper would not justify a contract as proposed. Then it was when I tumbled, and that's why I think those kind of contracts ought to be taboodeed."

NEW HEAD FOR IOWA COLLEGE.

Dr. John G. Bowman Named as President of University.

PROF. KENNEDY EXONERATED.

House of Representatives Passes Bill on Removal of County Seats, Preventing Any Change at Glenwood. Hardware Dealers Elect.

Des Moines, Feb. 25.—The state board of education selected a new president for the State university at Iowa City, tendering the place to Dr. John G. Bowman of New York. Dr. Bowman is at present secretary of the Carnegie foundation. He was reared in Davenport and is a graduate of the State university. He afterwards went to Columbus, where he taught for a few years. He is only thirty-five years of age and the place came to him unsought. The salary is $6,000 a year. The state board also took action in regard to the Kennedy case at Ames, exonerating him from the charges brought and retaining him in the department. No statement was made, but the college authorities believe that the vindication of Kennedy was complete.

The house of representatives passed the bill to change the law in regard to removal of county seats, which bill had passed the senate in the morning. It affects Mills county chiefly and will prevent the removal of the county seat from Glenwood to Malvern. The house also passed the senate bill providing for an increase of the taxation, exemption for old soldiers from $800 to $1,200. Representative Brady introduced a bill to provide for a state poultry commissioner on a salary of $1,500 a year, to encourage the poultry industry.

Sammis Hits Attorneys.

The methods of anti-saloon organizations and their attorneys were denounced by Senator Sammis in vigorous terms on the floor of the senate when he spoke in behalf of his bills which deprive lawyers of anti-saloon organizations of attorney fees in liquor injunction suits. He charged the existing law has put into business various organizations throughout the state, whose only business is to prosecute liquor dealers, not in good faith, but merely to collect the $25 attorney fee which goes with each successful prosecution.

Gives Power to Kill Stock.

A bill empowering the state veterinarian to destroy any stock having infectious or contagious disease and appropriating $50,000 for compensation to stock owners for animals destroyed was introduced in the house by Representative Felt of Clay county. The bill provides for the appointment of two disinterested appraisers to determine the value of the stock destroyed. In no case shall the compensation exceed $35 for grade animals or $75 for pure bred animals.

Hardware Dealers Act.

Resolutions attacking the postoffice department, opposing the parcels post and favoring good roads and short courses were passed by the Iowa Retail Hardware Dealers' association. L. C. Abbott of Marshalltown refused to accept the presidency and George Haw, Jr., of Ottumwa was named head of the association. C. T. Gadd of Des Moines was chosen vice president and A. R. Sale of Mason City was re-elected secretary-treasurer. The convention also officially recommended that "the postoffice department of the government be divorced from politics as soon as possible and put on a business basis, believing more efficient service can be given the public." The hardware men favored a reduction in letter postage and an advance in the postage rate on second class matter.

WOMAN FOUND IN BLOOD POOL

Lone Newton Lady Believed to Have Been Murdered.

Baxter, Ia., Feb. 25.—The dead body of Miss Matilda Hermesmeier, aged forty-five, a wealthy woman who lived alone at her home, one-half mile north of this place, was found lying in a pool of blood in the kitchen of the home. From appearances Miss Hermesmeier had been dead three or four days.

The body was found by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Klausberg of Laurel, of whom the former is a nephew of Miss Hermesmeier, and who had come from Laurel to visit his aunt. Immediately upon discovering the body, Mr. Klausberg came to Baxter and notified the authorities at Newton.

Miss Hermesmeier owned a farm of 160 acres, on which she lived, and is said to have had money concealed in the home. Although the body has not been examined for marks of violence, Mr. Klausberg preferring to await the arrival of the authorities, it is supposed that robbery was the cause of the suspected murder.

NEW HIGHWAY TO BE BUILT

Autoists Want Direct Route Between Fort Dodge and Sioux City.

Correctionville, Ia., Feb. 25.—If the plans of the automobile owners and commercial clubs at Sac City and nearby towns are realized, there will be such a desirable branch route of the Hawkeye highway from Fort Dodge to Sioux City that the preponderance of the river to river traffic will be through this section, instead of over the regularly selected northern route of the Hawkeye highway.

The Correctionville Commercial club will discuss this matter at its next meeting. Local autoists say the plan appeals to them and they are willing to lend what aid they can.

MAN WHO HAULED BEER FOUND GUILTY

Mable Unable to Convince Jury That He is Common Carrier.

Mason City, Ia., Feb. 25.—The district court made quick work of the case of the state against Peter Mable. Mable was indicted for hauling beer from the Great Western depot to alleged customers, and the plea was set up that he became a part of the common carrier and that the goods were in charge of common carriers from the time they left the shipping point to the place of actual delivery. The state contended that the "common carrier" idea went no further than when they were delivered to the agent of the Great Western, and this view was sustained and Mable was found guilty. According to the report he is hired here by one of the brewing companies to deliver its goods and is paid for so doing a regular monthly wage.

BILL TO BLOCK STUDENT VOTE

Measure to Disfranchise Them Recommended in Senate.

AFFECTS UNIVERSITY TOWNS.

Carried in Committee of Whole by Vote of 17 to 15—Senator Ollis Takes Time to Make Changes in Stock Yards Bill.

Lincoln, Feb. 25.—A bill to disfranchise students living in Lincoln and other university towns was recommended for passage by the senate after a hard fight against it by the dry forces.

The measure originated with Volpp of Washington and is known as a move to kill the large dry vote which is cast in Lincoln at almost every municipal election by students. There are several hundred young men in attendance at the state university and other schools in this city, who are counted upon as strong supporters of the dry policy.

The bill provides that any student or person who lives in one city and derives his financial support in whole or in part from residents of another city shall not be deemed a resident of the city where he spends his time and shall not be allowed to vote. The effect of the bill will extend of course to other cities and a number of students at Creighton university and other Omaha schools will lose their votes.

The debate was acrid at times and developed some strong personalities. When it was put to a vote in the committee rose to report a motion not to concur, made by Brown of Lancaster, who, with Selleck, also of Lincoln, had led the fight against it. Bartos of Saline did not vote and the split was along wet and dry lines.

Stock Yards Bill Put Over.

The settlement of the stock yards fight in the senate failed to take place and the bill over which the senate has fought and scrambled will go over until next week.

At the present time the bill is ready for passage, but the friends of the original measure, Senators Ollis and Kemp and a few of their backers, do not want it passed until it can be changed. The Albert amendment, passed Thursday, takes away all penalty for violation, which practically nullifies the bill. It can pass in that way, because many enemies of stock yards regulation will vote for it. Ollis is said to have the certainty of passing a more stringent bill if he can gain a little time, and for that reason he asked that it be passed until next week. It retains its place on the general file and may be called up at the beginning of every meeting of the senate in committee of the whole.

Bartos' Bucketshop Bill

A sweeping bill against bucketshops, which might make regular board of trade transactions illegal, if it passed, was offered in the senate by Senator Bartos of Saline. The principal amendment to the act prohibiting bucketshops, as it now stands on the statute books, is that a definition is given including "an office, store or board of trade room" wherein commodities, such as stocks, grain or provisions, shall be dealt in without actual delivery being contemplated and accomplished. No transaction is legal which is terminated by a change in the market without an actual change in the possession of the commodity dealt in, and it makes any man who allows his building to be devoted to the use of bucketshops guilty of a misdemeanor. The violation of the act in any sort of dealing in futures is a felony and is punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary for from two to five years or in jail from six months to a year.

To facilitate in the enforcement of the bill it is provided that every transaction in bucketshop commodities for present or future deliveries shall be accompanied by a written statement containing the names of the parties to the sale, prices and the place and time of delivery.

MEET INSTANT DEATH

Dynamite Explodes at Nehawka Quarries, Killing Three Men.

Nehawka, Neb., Feb. 25.—Three men were instantly killed at the Nehawka quarries when three charges of dynamite of eight that were being put in place exploded.

The dead: John Hart of Weeping Water, Bert Van Winkle of Nehawka, Peter Clark of Nehawka.

The quarries are located but a short distance from town. The men were tamping the dynamite, as is their custom, with a steel rod, when three charges that had already been put in place were set off. Hart's body was blown ten rods, while Van Winkle and Clark were hurled about six rods from the place where they were working.

Big Wolf Hunt in Nebraska.

Bassett, Neb., Feb. 25.—From 900 to 1,000 persons, many of them women, took part in an extensive wolf hunt in the northwestern part of Rock county, covering a territory of about 175 square miles. The hunt was successful, although the wolves were not so plentiful as had been expected.

Singer Finds Foreign Name Is Valuable

MUSIC lovers who are patriotic have long complained that too much attention is paid to foreign musicians and have grumbled that America has not produced singers who have achieved the fame and fortune that have been bestowed on those born abroad. In many cases American students have gone to Europe to study and have returned with foreign knowledge and foreign names.

Mme. Bernice de Pasquall recently has had several experiences which emphasize the point and show that the singer knows what she is about when she drops the name of Smith, Jones or Brown for Brizzolari, Geewhisky or Howenthal.

Mme. de Pasquall was born Bernice James, and she comes of good old New England stock. She acquired all her musical education in the United States and was proud of her American lineage as well as of her American manifest knowledge. But she tried vainly to gain recognition in the United States. Confident of her ability, she proclaimed her Americanism, but she obtained no engagements worth while.

Then she went to Italy, and there she gained the recognition denied her at home. While abroad she married Count de Pasquall, a tenor of considerable note, and naturally she took his name. After making a reputation by singing in the leading opera houses in Italy she returned to the United States and was engaged as a member of the Metropolitan Opera company in New York, the best known musical organization in this country and including the world's best known singers.

Recently Mme. de Pasquall has been singing at concerts all over the United States, and it was thus that she learned the value of the name she had acquired through marriage. She also learned the value of a European education.

"I am often asked as to my nationality," she said recently. "and I always reply proudly that I am an American. 'But you were educated abroad,' my questioner will remark. When I reply that my musical education was acquired in the United States I see that I have lost standing. The average person shows at once that the belief is common that anything of an artistic nature produced in the United States must of necessity be inferior to that bearing a foreign label."

LINE COMPANY GETS VERDICT

Test Case Decided in Favor of Nye, Schneider & Fowler Co.

Pierce, Neb., Feb. 25.—A verdict for the defendant was returned in the case of the Farmers' Grain and Live-Stock company of Hadar, Neb., against the Nye-Schneider-Fowler company of Fremont. The action was brought purposely to test the new law, which provides that higher prices shall not be paid by any buyer of grain at one point than it pays at another, freight rates considered. The line company in this case was accused of having practiced discrimination at Hadar in 1909 by paying higher prices than it offered at other points.

It was developed by the evidence that the reason the prices paid showed a loss to the Farmers' company was because they were inexperienced and marketed their grain at the wrong place. It was shown that at that time grain should have gone west for feeding, but instead the Farmers invaded the eastern markets.

COLLARBONE IS PATCHED UP

Portion of Tibia Used to Replace Diseased Part.

Hot Springs, S. D., Feb. 25.—Mrs. A. C. Loveland of Long Pine is recovering from a remarkable surgical operation performed here. The right collarbone had to be removed because of a tumor of the bone and Dr. R. E. Walker filled the lack by chiseling off a section of the tibia, the large bone of the lower leg, fashioning it the proper shape and wiring it in place. This has fused to the adjoining parts and the woman will get well and be as strong as ever by thus using identical bone material taken from the same body.

New York, Feb. 24.—Senator Frank J. Gardner, charged with attempted bribery in the anti-race track legislation at Albany two years ago, was found not guilty.
