B. C. Marquardt was the victim of a very painful accident Sunday evening. While milking the cow he discovered a cocklebur on her and proceeded to remove it. Bossy objected and kicked, striking the limb above the ankle, breaking the large bone and fracturing the smaller. Dr. Brendel set the limb and Monday evening, assisted by an Omaha doctor, placed it in a plaster cast. At present Mr. Marquardt is resting well.

Friday evening a large crowd of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. P. Nutzman to give a farewell reception to Mr. and Mrs. John Ehlers, who have been visiting old friends and relatives here. It was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Ehlers when the uninvited guests began to arrive with their refreshments. Cake, jello and coffee were served. Games and music helped to make the evening pass pleasantly and quickly.

"The Virginian Warblers" gave the concluding number of the lecture course to a large and enthusiastic audience Tuesday evening. Every number of the course has been well received and appreciated this year. The Warblers gave a varied program, something to please everyone. Their jubilee numbers were exceptionally good. The solos showed each individual to be an artist in his line. Mr. Washington's bird imitations were something unusual and unique. We imagine even the feathered originals might be deceived. The course for next year is even better and stronger than this.

Simeon Rehmeler surprised his many friends by slipping away quietly to Omaha and taking unto himself a better half. They were married March 3, coming to Avoca on the evening train. Mr. Rehmeler and bride attended the Ehler's reception that evening and were serenaded by the Avoca band. Mr. Rehmeler is an industrious, sober young man and is at present employed by John Busch in the lumber yard. We are not acquainted with the bride, but from the excellent reports we hear believe that Simon has made a wise selection. They will commence housekeeping in the Smith cottage, recently purchased by Mr. Busch. We wish them a happy and prosperous voyage down life's stream.

J. W. SUTTON, A CASS COUNTY BOY, IS MARRIED

Mr. J. W. Sutton, a Cass county boy, decided to forsake the lot of single blessedness and Tuesday, March 7, was married to Miss Clara Smith, a charming young lady of Decatur, Burt county.

The ceremony was performed by County Judge Flynn, also formerly of Cass county. J. W. and his bride arrived in Plattsmouth last evening, and will soon take up their residence on Mr. Sutton's farm, six miles southeast of Murary, where they will be at home to their friends.

Mr. Sutton has been running a ranch near Rosalie for a year for a party in Omaha, and although urged to continue in the position, he decided to remove to his own land in this county. The happy couple have hosts of friends in this county, who will join with the Journal in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Sutton a happy journey through life.

Has Leg Taken Off.

Mr. Joe Smith received a letter this morning from his sons in Missouri informing him of a sad accident which befell his son, Daniel Smith, at Sedalia, Missouri, last Friday afternoon.

At the time the accident occurred Dan was working in a planing mill, and in some manner got jerked into the machinery and had one leg cut off. Medical aid was summoned at once to prevent him from bleeding to death. He was taken to a hospital, where the wounds were dressed, and at the time the letter was written the unfortunate man was doing as well as one could under the same circumstances.

Dan has a wife and two children and the misfortune will fall heavily upon him and his family. He formerly lived here and has been away about eight years.

Mrs. William Ballance spent the day in Omaha with friends yesterday, returning on No. 2.

Elias Kildow went to Omaha this morning to get some repairs for the engine which runs the pump at the Platte Gravel company's pits, three miles east of Cedar Creek. Some criminal broke the door of the engine room night before last and committed depredations by smashing up the engine so badly that it was useless yesterday. The dastard broke the governor off the engine, smashed the lubricators and stole the top off the pump and smashed the machinery up generally. The damage to the machinery and engine and pump amounted to a considerable sum, and the plant had to be shut down for two days at least, throwing nine men out of work for the two days.

The party who did the mischief is thought to be in the vicinity and it is thought that the Beatrice bloodhounds will be brought up and the criminal hunted down. Twice before the engineer found that the engine and pump had been tampered with by having many of the burrs loosened. If the contemptible cur who did the crime is apprehended he will be prosecuted persistently until landed behind the bars of the penitentiary—his rightful home.

C. L. HERGER SECURES UP-TO-DATE MACHINE

Mr. Charles Herger, the enterprising upper Main street baker, has just purchased a new bread-mixer having a capacity of two barrels of flour. It is of Champion build and an up-to-date machine and will require a two-horse power gasoline motor to operate it. Mr. Herger's increasing trade abroad, as well as in the city, required an increase in his capacity and output, and as soon as his new machine is installed he will be in a position to supply the demand for his bread. Mr. Herger enlarged his oven about a year ago and has contemplated getting the Champion mixer for some time. He will now have one of the best equipped bakeries in the state.

Overworked.
In our effort to become financially independent, we often forget that there is a definite limit to our strength and endurance. As soon as we overstep this limit we find, to our most unpleasant surprise, that our strength is declining, that we overworked ourselves to the very point of exhaustion. Speedy help becomes absolutely necessary. Fortunately, it is within reach. Rest, fresh air, good food and Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine will restore our health and strength. The remedy recommended here is a very good tonic. It will, in the first place, drive out all waste matter which accumulated in the body, will purify the blood and regulate its circulation. The body will again accept food and digest it, the muscles and the brain will gain new strength and the man will return to his work. This remedy is good wherever appetite and strength is needed. At drug stores. Jos. Triner, 1333-1339 So. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.

FAVORS STATE AID FOR BUILDING BRIDGES

Fifty-six votes were cast in the house Tuesday afternoon for the state aid project in the building of bridges more than 175 feet in length. Evans of Adams, in a lengthy explanation of his vote against this plan, declared there would be no limit to expenditures the state would be asked to make under the provisions of the bill, house roll No. 274, by Croning. The measure went through, however, with the number of votes stated, only thirty-four being cast against it.

The Cronin act provides for a yearly state levy of one-fifth of a mill to be expended in the construction of bridges. The state is to pay half and the respective counties the other half. All of the representatives from counties bordering the Platte river, except those from two or three eastern counties, which already have bridges, lined up in support of the measure.

The Lancaster delegation voted solidly for the bill. Douglas county split its votes about equally for and against it.

The explanation by Evans, which caused something of a sensation by its unexpected showing of what the state will have to take care of under this bill, was as follows:

"I am opposed to this bill. If it becomes a law the state would be required to pay half the cost of bridges across the following streams:

Republican, Frenchman, Platte, North and South Platte, North, South and Middle Loup, Big Blue, Little Blue, West Blue, Big and Little Nemaha, Elkhorn, North Fork, Elkhorn, Galamo, Niobrara, Keya Paha and White—a total of eighteen rivers flowing through or bordering ninety counties—some counties having more than one stream.

"As this bill places no limit on the number of bridges that the state shall assist in building, nor any rule to determine which applications should be given preference, it can hardly be doubted that the cost to the state for building and maintenance in the next five years would be enormous. Furthermore, it would be unfair to require counties that have built their own bridges to help build bridges for other counties. I vote no."

THE DOCTORS QUESTION

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

Rehall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effects. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rehall Store. F. G. Ficke & Co., Union Block.
