War Scare Is Interesting.

The war scare is becoming decidedly four regiments of the national guard with forty-eight companies, located in about forty towns. These four regi ments are in excellent condition, as shown by the reports of the inspectors who are now at work. In fact the guard companies have been improved materially under a bill passed at the last session until now the companies are practically ready for service. Eith er of the regiments could be put on a war basis within a few days.

At the session of the military board held last week it was felt almost cer tain that at least one of the regiments. would be called into action, perhaps to take the place of regulars at an army post or for reserve duty some where. Nearly every guard officer asked to be on the list forwarded to Washington for selection of officers to go to Texas to witness the "maneu

Overworked.

In our effort to become financially independent, we often forget that there is a definite limit to our strength and endurance. As soon as had placed a kettle of boiling water | we overstep this limit we find, to our on the floor preparatory to scrubbing, most unpleasant surprise, that our strength is declining, that we overworked ourselves to the very point of exhaustion. Speedy help becomes absolutely necessary. Fortunate, it is within reach. Rest, fresh air, good food and Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine will restore our health and strength. The remedy recommended here is a very good tonic. It will, in the first place, drive out all waste matter which accumulated in the body, will purify the blood and regulate its circulation. The body will again accept food and digest it, the muscles and the brain wil Igain new strength and the man will return to his work. This remedy is good wherever appetite and strength is needed.
