M. G. Churchill has quite an unique strawberry patch, upon which he expects to raise several quarts of strawberries on a very small piece of land. He has filled a barrel with soil, bored three or four dozen holes in the same and thusly planted the strawberry plants in the holes. This way he expects to control his own crop as to moisture.

Have you heard just how bad Albert Young was stung the other day. Albert says it was plenty, thank you. He was assisting in destroying a swarm of bees that had taken up their home in the side of the Walker residence, just south of Murray. They thought they had succeeded in killing the bees by drugs, and removed a piece of the siding to see how well the job was done. There were plenty left to give Albert a severe stinging.

Frank Vallery loaded his goods here this week and departed Wednesday for their new home near Grant, Neb. Here is where Mr. Vallery goes into the cattle business right. This has been Frank's long suit for some time and he has always been very successful, too, owing to the fact that he is a judge of stock and knows their value. It might be said that he understands the business thoroughly. Mr. Vallery has entered a partnership with Tom Cromwell and will have many thousand acres of land under their control for grazing. The many friends of Frank trust that he may continue to keep on the top side of his prosperity wave in the cattle business.

ANOTHER CUTE CAPER

Mr. Will Seybolt and Miss Bessie Brendel Married in Nebraska City Yesterday.

We were apprised this morning of the marriage of Mr. Will Seybolt and Miss Bessie Brendel, both of Murray, the ceremony occurring at Nebraska City yesterday. The event had been expected by the numerous friends of the contracting parties, as it has been looked for for some time.

Both the groom and the bride are well known and very popular in the vicinity. The groom is a son of Colonel Seybolt and an industrious, thriving young farmer, while the bride is the charming daughter of Dr. B. F. Brendel, and for a long time was a student of the Plattsmouth High school.

The Journal extends heartiest congratulations and best wishes for the future happiness and prosperity of Mr. and Mrs. Seybolt. We will have more to say in behalf of this excellent young couple later.

Miss Lucile Bates is going to sing at the lecture given for the benefit of the St. Mary's Guild on next Monday evening. There will be other musical selections.

PLAY AT MURRAY A BIG SUCCESS

Large Audience and All Proclaim It the Finest Entertainment Every Produced in Murray.

The home talent play and musical farce produced at Murray Saturday night, produced by Miss Pauline Oldham of Murray and Mrs. Edna Elton of this city, was one of the most successful public performances and drew the largest audience ever assembled in the Jenkins' hall. Both Miss Oldham and Mrs. Elton are artists in their particular lines, Miss Oldham as a reader and Mrs. Elton as a singer, and they possess great skill in imparting their knowledge to others.

The individual performances, both in the musical part of the program and in the play, were of high merit and only lack of space prevents us from writing of each performer in detail. The program occupied two hours in giving, and from the initial number to the finale was appreciated and enjoyed by the crowd of listeners to the fullest extent.

The first number was a ladies' quartet, sung by Misses Margie Walker and Mattie Minniear and Mesdames Loughridge and Kennedy; the title of the selection was "Rock-a-Bye," by Neidlinger.

The second number was a mixed quartet, sang by Mrs. Kennedy, Miss Walker, Messrs. O. A. Davis and S. G. Latta, the song being "Sweet and Low," by Baraby.

A male quartet, composed of Messrs. O. A. Davis, Guy Stokes, W. C. Brown and S. G. Latta, sang "Lazy Moon," by Stearns.

The musical farce was then given right-of-way, the title of the farce being "The Quiltin' Bee." The characters of this mirth-exciting number were: Mrs. Shallow (hostess), Mrs. Holmes; Heyzekiah Shallow (her husband), W. C. Brown; Rev. Liveness (in love with Prudence), Guy Stokes; Prudence Plump (who likes the minister), Mattie Minniear; Hannah Wasp (a gossip—age doubtful), Fay Oldham; Mrs. Snags (who owns a goose), Mrs. Loughridge; Widow Horner (in her brand new dress), Mrs. Kennedy; Anna Maria Shallow ("my darter"), Margie Walker; bass solo (selected), Mr. S. G. Latta.

Every number of the musical comedy was well rendered and the approbation of the audience was very marked and the performances encored.

The second part of the program, a farce, entitled "Thirty Minutes for Refreshments." The characters were represented by Guy Stokes, William Brown, Glen Boedeker, Albert Young, Margie Walker, Fay Oldham and Pauline Oldham.

This portion of the program had been prepared under the skillful management of Miss Pauline Oldham, and every person who had a part in it gave a most creditable performance. A traveling man, who happened to drop in for the performance, stated that he had paid 50 cents for a seat many times when he did not see half so good a show as the Murray home talent put on Saturday night.

Mrs. Elton and Miss Oldham are receiving the congratulations of their numerous friends at the brilliant success of their entertainment.
