

"LAZARUS, COME FORTH!"

"SOME MOCKED"

"With What Body Do They Come?"—Texas Viewed as a Cemetery.

New York, May 7.
— Pastor Russell preached today at the Academy of Music in an overflowing house. Crowds were turned away. The text was, "WHEN THEY HEARD OF THE RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD SOME MOCKED" (Acts xvii, 32.) Pastor Russell made some prefatory remarks, explaining that although he had accepted the pastorate of the London Tabernacle congregation, this should not be understood to imply that he had any thought of leaving America permanently. He greatly appreciates the reverential spirit of the British, but this does not signify greater love for the land of his fathers than for the land of his birth. He accepted the London pastorate with the clear understanding that he must not be expected to serve there more than four months in the year. More and more he feels that his ministry is a general one. He specially thanks God for the privilege of addressing ten million readers through the press of America and Great Britain.

Resurrection Doctrine Unpopular.
Pastor Russell remarked that he was not preaching for popularity, but to re-establish "the faith once delivered to the saints," which, in a marked degree, had been lost during the Dark Ages. He stood on the broad platform of the Word of God, unrestricted by any creed fences made by men. He was answerable to no sect or party. He had already discussed the Resurrection subject for three Sundays and assumed that his interested hearers had kept in touch with him during his absence, through the press reports.

As some who heard St. Paul preach the resurrection of the dead mocked, so, quite likely, many have mocked as they read Pastor Russell's sermons. Nevertheless, the Word of the Lord standeth sure: "There shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and the unjust." It was the great Teacher Himself who said, "All who are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of Man and shall come forth; they that have done good unto the resurrection of life—perfection—they that have done evil unto the resurrection of judgment." (John v, 28, 29; Acts xxiv, 15.)

To those that believe that the dead are more alive now than when they were alive, the doctrine of the resurrection must, of necessity, be foolishness. And whoever logically believes in the resurrection of the dead must, of necessity, consider the popular views on man's condition in death absurd in the extreme. There is no middle ground. Either man is dead when he is dead, as the Bible declares, and can have no further knowledge or hope, pleasure or pain, until awakened from death; or else man does not die at all when he seems to die—a theory with which the Bible is at war and which we claim has no foundation in fact or reason. It is a mythology. The entire heathen world believe this theory today. The doctrine came into the Christian Church in opposition to the "resurrection" doctrine long centuries ago—about the fourth century, when hordes of heathens were baptized and called Christians, with but slight appreciation of "the faith once delivered to the saints."

Raising of the Dead Will Be a Stupendous Miracle.

Numerous objections to the resurrection are raised. It is claimed that it would be impossible for God to resurrect the dead, if they were really dead. It is claimed that, if our Lord's words were fulfilled and all that are in their graves should come forth, the earth would be so densely populated that it would be impossible to provide food and raiment for so many. The resurrection is denounced as contrary to the laws of nature, according to all the history of the past.

The latter claim we admit. The resurrection of the dead will be something out of keeping with anything in man's experience. Only those who have an implicit faith in the Creator and in His promise will be able to receive this doctrine, which credits the Almighty with a Divine power exceeding anything else that could be imagined.

As to the other points, let us see: Many wise men in public positions are very unscientific, even when called scientists. They sometimes jump at conclusions in an astounding manner. For instance, we all know how some of these scientific gentlemen laugh at the Bible's records and declare that humanity has been upon the earth millions of years. If we ask for the proof they are astonished that their omniscience should be questioned. They knock a chip from a block of stone, look at it wisely, and declare it so many millions of years old. But a new school of geologists is arising which takes note of the fact that many of the rocks were evidently formed just as we today set our concrete blocks and turn them to stone within a few days.

Let us take the Bible as our authority. Let us believe what it says: that man was created about six thousand years ago. Let us note the gradual progress of the race. A reasonable and, we believe, liberal estimate of the entire number of the race since Adam is twenty thousand millions. Let us figure out how many square feet it would require to lay them each full length in graves. Then turn to the atlas. Look at the number of square miles in the State of Texas. Divide this into square feet, and what do we find? We find that more than twice the number of our large estimate of all who have ever lived could be buried in separate graves in that one State alone.

Can the Awakened Billions Be Provided For?

As for clothing, Mr. Edison tells us that new inventions are in progress which, ere long, will make clothing wonderfully cheap—"dirt cheap." "Mineral wool" is the first step in this direction. It sells cheaply by the ton. Further development is expected to make this fit for man's use as clothing. The supply is inexhaustible. The Scriptures declare respecting the Divine provision for the human family during the Messianic reign that "the earth shall yield her increase" and "the wilderness shall blossom as the rose," etc.

From every direction information is coming of new species of wheat and corn much more prolific than what we have been using. Additionally, there is recently an announcement of a method of magnetizing grains before they are planted, which will permit the raising of at least three crops a year in the temperate zones. Additionally, nitrogen is being extracted from the atmosphere and used to enrich the worn-out soils.

Furthermore, we may be sure that He Who provided Eden for our first parents is abundantly able, as He has promised, to make of earth a Paradise, in which the blessing of the Lord will be upon humanity; and the earth, as the Divine footstool, shall be made glorious. Moreover, be it remembered that the Scriptures distinctly declare that the propagation of the species is intended merely for the present time and that those who will attain, in the New Age, to the resurrection will "neither marry nor be given in marriage." The propagation of the human race is intended to proceed only until the earth shall be filled. But over and above all this, the great Creator, Whose Plan is being worked out in man's creation, man's redemption and man's restitution, knows the end from the beginning and is fully able to do all that He has promised. If necessary, how easy it would be for Him to still further sink the bed of portions of the oceans and to raise up continents in the Atlantic and Pacific larger in extent than the present land surface!

However, we have nothing to say to those who "mock" at the Divine promise of a resurrection of the dead and who, because of a lack of faith in the Almighty, prefer the vain imaginations of the human mind to the positive promises of the Creator. We have merely thrown out some suggestions helpful to the faith of those who are really seeking Divine wisdom and who are in danger of being side-tracked by "science falsely so-called."

"Slept With His Fathers."

It is in full accord with the promise of a resurrection that in the Bible teachings we read that "Abraham slept with his fathers"; and similarly read of kings, good and bad; and of Prophets, Apostles and others. Thus St. Stephen, the first Christian martyr stoned to death, we are told, "fell asleep." St. Paul tells us that some will be alive and remain to the coming of Messiah; and he remarks, "Behold, I show you a mystery; we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed" (1 Corinthians xv, 51). Again he tells us that we may comfort ourselves and each other as respects our dead friends and neighbors, that they all "sleep in Jesus" and are to be brought from the dead by Him. The whole world sleeps in Jesus, in the sense that their resurrection hope—their hope of awakening in the resurrection morning, is based upon the work which Jesus accomplished as the world's Redeemer.

No one will dispute that the Bible declares that the dead are asleep. It is, therefore, a proper and pertinent question that every Bible student should be prepared to answer—Where do the dead sleep, waiting for an awakening? Surely not in heaven, where all is life and happiness! Surely not in the Purgatory which our Catholic friends feel so confident is somewhere. And surely not in the fiery hell of which Protestants generally tell us. Surely the dead sleep in the Bible hell—sheol, hades, the tomb, the state of death. Thus it is written, "Many that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake" (Daniel xii, 2).

Hearken to the Master. Mary, Martha and Lazarus of Bethany were His particular friends. Lazarus took sick and the sisters sent word to the Master, "He whom Thou lovest is sick." Jesus gave no outward heed to the matter until the third day after, and then said to His disciples, "Our friend, Lazarus, sleepeth." They replied, "Lord, if he sleep he will do well." Then Jesus said plainly (coming down to their ordinary use of language), "Lazarus is dead." With His disciples He then went to Bethany.

The sisters were greatly disappointed. They had not thought of the possibility of their brother's dying, because they so thoroughly believed in the power of Jesus. Mary did not even go to meet her dear Friend, the Lord, when He came. Martha met Him with the chilling remark, "If Thou hadst been here if Thou hadst come even when we informed You our brother had not died." Jesus did not dispute that Lazarus was dead, nor tell her that he was more alive than ever. He merely promised that her brother should rise again.

Martha replied that she knew that Lazarus would rise in the resurrection, at the Last Day. Jesus assured her that He would be the One Who would resurrect the dead, and that He was then present with her, intimating that she might ask even then for her brother to be revived. But Martha's faith was insufficient. When the Master asked, "Where have ye laid him?" she replied that it was now too late, because putrefaction had set in—it was now the fourth day since his death. When Jesus finally went to Lazarus' tomb, He did not call him from heaven, nor from Purgatory, nor from a fiery hell, but from the tomb, saying, "Lazarus, come forth!" And the dead one came forth.

This wonderful exhibition of His power the Lord gave, to the intent that His disciples then and since might realize that in Him is vested the resurrection power, by Divine arrangement, and that there is to be a resurrection of the just and of the unjust; that all who are in their graves are to hear His voice and come forth. The Church class will come forth to perfection of life on the spirit plane. The world of mankind will come forth from the tomb imperfect, as they went into it, and will all have a test, to prove whether they are worthy or unworthy of restitution blessings and eternal life in the earthly Paradise.

"With What Body Do They Come?"

St. Paul held an imaginary discussion with doubters of the resurrection in his day. He has them inquire, "With what body will the dead return?" He replies that, as each kind of seed that is planted reproduces its own kind, so it will be in the resurrection of the dead. Whatever kind of seed is planted in death, of the same kind and nature will be the resurrection crop. The Apostle elaborates, showing that the whole world of mankind are of one kind of seed—human stock—and that therefore, in the resurrection time, they will come forth the same—human. And they will come forth in practically the same condition in which they died.

But if we shall suppose eye to represent the human stock and can imagine a special treatment of some of that eye grain before sowing—changing it into wheat, then we would know that those changed grains would sprout and develop, not as eye, but as wheat. Thus the Apostle illustrates the resurrection of the dead—the Church. All are of Adam's stock, but some, a few—the spirit-begotten Church—experience a change of nature from earthly to heavenly. Hence they, in the resurrection, will come forth heavenly or spirit beings. He says, "Some of the world at large, will be members of the earthly Adam; others, a few, a 'little flock,' will be members of the second Adam—the heavenly Lord. The standard to which the world may expect to be awakened and, later, raised, will be the earthly standard represented in the perfect Adam. 'Like the earthly one will be the earthly ones' (the world). And 'like the heavenly One will be the heavenly ones' (the saintly Church, the Bride) (1 Cor. xv, 45-48).

The First Resurrection Described.

It was not necessary that the Apostle should more particularly describe, at that time, the resurrection opportunity provided for the world of mankind, but it was very appropriate that he should give to the Church a more detailed explanation of the Divine provision for the resurrection of the Bride. Explaining this, St. Paul says, "This is the resurrection of the dead: It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption. It is sown in dishonor; it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness; it is raised in power. It is sown an animal body; it is raised a spirit body. For there is an animal body and there is a spirit body. As it is written, The first man, Adam, was made a living soul; the last Adam was made a quickening spirit" (1 Corinthians xv, 42-45).

The Apostle declares of those who are begotten of the Holy Spirit and who make their "calling and election sure" and who, therefore, will have part in the First Resurrection—"As we have borne the image of the earthy we shall also bear the image of the heavenly. . . . Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God; . . . but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump" (1 Corinthians xv, 49-52).

The resurrection of the Church is called a "life-resurrection," because all those experiencing it will be perfected in life—will be instantly and completely lifted out of death conditions. The world in general, on the contrary, will not come forth to a life-resurrection, but will come forth still partly dead, as mankind in general are today. The coming forth or awakening to them will be merely the beginning of their resurrection, their awakening. Their raising up completely out of sin and death will follow, gradually, if they conform to the Kingdom rules. In the Divine appointment the thousand years of Messiah's reign are set apart for their resurrection—their gradual raising up to human perfection. The experiences of Messiah's Kingdom will all be helpful whether they be chastenings or rewards. They will all be reformatory. Only deliberate and wilful transgressors will be annihilated in the Second Death.

32 Years Young—

Thirty-two years ago the name Wescott was first seen over a clothing store in Plattsmouth. Continuously since that time it has remained in its place while others in the same line have come and gone. Just think of it—nearly a third of a century continuous service to one community. We are proud to point you to a record like this. You may feel sure we are not going to take advantage of you now. QUALITY has been our key note. We do not handle uncertain grades. We consider that your money is on deposit here until each transaction gives perfect satisfaction. To such a store and such a policy we invite you to come for your clothing needs. Our stock of up-to-date styles was never so complete. Come in and see them.

ELBERT T. DUKE DIES AT LONG BEACH, CAL.

A Brother of the Late John Duke and a Former Resident of Plattsmouth.

A special from Los Angeles, California, under date of May 5, says:

E. J. Duke, a thirty-third degree Mason, died at 324 Main street today. He was 72 years of age and formerly resided in Omaha, to which place his body will be taken. He leaves a widow and a son. The son arrived here last night, just a few hours before the death of his father. Funeral arrangements have not been made. Duke had lived in Long Beach for a year.

Elbert T. Duke was prominently known in Omaha, where he was engaged in business for many years.

Mr. Duke came to Omaha from Plattsmouth at the age of 18 years and entered the hardware business with D. H. Wheeler, now vice president of the Wheeler & Welpton company. Later Mr. Duke engaged in the same line for himself.

Giving up the hardware business Mr. Duke was for some time connected with the city comptroller's office. He later became identified with the box making industry of Omaha and was for a long time connected with the Omaha Box company.

Mr. Duke had been in failing health for several years and last fall decided on removing to the coast. This he did and established his home there.

Beside his wife Mr. Duke is survived by three children. One of them is Mrs. F. S. Knapp of 1330 South Thirty-fifth street. Mr. Knapp is secretary of the Omaha Box company.

Definite arrangements for the funeral to be held here upon arrival of the body have not yet been announced.

The deceased was well known to most of the Plattsmouth people and was a brother of the late John Duke, an old resident of this city, who passed away several months ago while an inmate of the Masonic home.

Bridges in Fair Condition.

From Saturday's Daily.

County Commissioners Jordan and Freiderick completed a tour of the east end of the county last evening and inspected the condition of bridges, finding them in much better shape than last year. Last season there were over sixty repair jobs and new bridges and culverts to be placed, while this season there will be not to exceed half that number for repair. The jobs this season are not large, either, which will be quite a relief to the bridge fund. Mr. Jordan departed for his home at Alvo this morning.

ADDRESS OF DR. HERMAN GERHARD AT TURNER HALL

The Lecture Was Under the Auspices of the German-American Club.

From Saturday's Daily.

A fair sized audience assembled at the Turner hall last evening to listen to the address of Dr. Herman Gerhard of Lincoln on the topic of the "German People in America." The lecture was under the auspices of the German-American Alliance club of this city and was had at this time to stir up more interest in the association and increase the membership. There are about thirty-three million German people in the United States, and two million of them are in the German-American Alliance, and the aim of the society is to increase the membership to a degree that will give the German people in this country the prestige their numbers entitle them to.

The address last evening recounted the patriotism of the German people, their love for American institutions and the part they have taken in sustaining the government in times of strife and struggle. Beginning back in the time of George Washington, the first president of the United States, and even before the government was organized under the present constitution, the German people have stood for liberty. General Steuben, the man who organized the German people in 1776 and aided General Washington in achieving freedom for the colonies, was mentioned as an example of the manner in which the Germans had aided in making this nation what it is today, one of the word powers among civilized nations.

Dr. Gerhard's address was well received and warmly applauded. He departed for his home at Lincoln this morning.

CASS COUNTY GIRL MARRIES A NEW YORKER IN CHICAGO

A special from Chicago, under date of May 4, says: After journeying hundreds of miles to meet each other at West Chicago, Miss Mildred Burdell of Eagle, Neb., and Arthur Allen of Olean, N. Y., were married at Wheaton by Rev. Dr. Thompson of the Gary Memorial church. The couple returned to West Chicago last evening, but would not discuss their plans.

It is said that arrangements for the elopement were made by letter and telegraph, and that parents of the bride and bridegroom are in ignorance of what has happened. Allens' family is said to be wealthy.

Cruelty of Boys.

One of the patrons of the Journal in South Park has reported an instance of cruelty of some of the school boys in that vicinity which should be investigated by the officers of the humane society of the city. The boys' names are given and can be had if necessary. The boys captured a cat and killed it in a most cruel manner, one of the boys holding the dumb animal while another beat it to death with a club. This act of cruelty was perpetrated in the presence of other children going to school in the neighborhood.

PLATTSMOUTH MANUFACTURED GOODS IN CHINA

The Olson Printing Machine Co. Fill an Order for Party in Changsha, China.

Rev. A. A. Gilman of Changsha, Hunan Province, China, recently ordered of J. R. Olson one of his photograph printing machines, which Mr. Olson sent to him by mail yesterday. The postage on this eleven-pound machine from Plattsmouth to China is 12 cents per pound, while the freight rate on the same article from Plattsmouth to Omaha is 16 cents per pound, says Mr. Olson. That is, it cost Mr. Olson $1.32 to send by parcels post from Plattsmouth to Changsha, China, a parcel which would cost him $1.76 to send by freight to Omaha. Here is an argument for the parcels post.

Jack Will Have Peaches.

Constable J. R. Denson is the only party so far reporting a prospect for a full peach crop. He has four trees hanging full of blossoms, and unless Jack Frost sneaks around and takes a nip at the buds Jack Denson will have peaches and cream this winter when the rest of us are eating dried apples.

Mr. John Group of Louisville and Mr. J. O. Ward of that city motored to the county seat today to look after business matters for a short time. Mr. Group dropped in and renewed for the Journal for another year.
