"BAND OF MERCY" ORGANIZED HERE

From Saturday's Daily. American Humane Educational Society Holds Meeting at the M. E. Church.

The meeting held yesterday at the M. E. church parlors was well attended, notwithstanding the intense heat. It was given in the interest of the American Humane Educational society, under the leadership of Mrs. Knee and for the purpose of bringing the attention of the parents, young people and children to the great work of this humane organization and also to form a Band of Mercy among the young girls and boys.

Mrs. Knee deserves great credit for the excellent, interesting and instructive program, which was carried out (with few exceptions) as printed in the Journal Wednesday. The younger ones entertained the older ones with songs, recitations and readings, each relating to the subject of kindness, not only to dumb animals, but to all of God's creatures, and each was received with hearty applause and deserving of special mention. Rev. Gade's remarks were listened to with much interest, especially by the little folks, as he related several incidents which told of the mute fidelity and gratitude of some animals for kindness shown them.

At the conclusion of the program Miss Nora Livingston was unanimously elected president of the Band of Mercy, which will be fully organized and officered at an early date, when it is hoped the parents will heartily co-operate in the movement.

After the benediction by Rev. Gade, refreshing lemonade and cakes were served and each one present felt the meeting had been an uplift toward gentleness, kindness and mercy.

The American Humane Society is not affiliated with the W. C. T. U. or any other organization, as some suppose. This is confined to the little folks, but in scope and interest embraces both young and old.

Had there been contestants on the program yesterday there surely would have been some prizes awarded; among them would have been the pair of little brown wrens in costume, Carl Schneider and Theodosia Kroehler, and they did their parts beautifully. Dog "Sport" would have carried off another, as he came in and stood by his little master, Mason Westcott, while he read a story about "Boys and Boys."

Mrs. Knee wishes to publicly express her appreciation to those who assisted on the program, as well as those who came out in the heat to lend encouragement to the work.

C. E. Pribble Has Hand Hurt. Mr. C. E. Pribble of Louisville, father of E. M. Pribble of this city, met with a painful accident last Thursday, seriously injuring his hand. A man with whom he was working at the time made a miss-lick with his pick, striking Mr. Pribble in the back of the hand, driving the pick entirely through it and inflicting a painful, if not dangerous wound. A physician was called and dressed the injury and Mr. Pribble is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Buys Threshing Outfit. From Saturday's Daily.

A new threshing outfit, separator and engine complete, arrived at the Burlington station last night and was unloaded today. Mr. William Smith is the owner, and he will open the threshing season at once and the new outfit will do its share of the wheat threshing this season. William is a skilled thresher, and with the new implement will be a valuable addition to the eastern Cass county threshing companies.

"Uncle Tom" Enjoying Himself

A story by Captain Thomas P. Kennish, late of the U. S. navy, will appear in the next issue of this paper. Mr. Kennish has been the guest of Charles Ward for several weeks and on Friday of this week leaves for the east.—Gozad (Neb.) Local.

John Libershal and Frank Koubek were Omaha visitors on the morning train today.

CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT FREMONT

Will Be Held, Tuesday, July 25, and Will Consist of 886 Delegates.

Columbus, Neb., June 30.—Fremont won the next democratic state convention in a pretty fight this afternoon at the meeting of the democratic state central committee, held at the office of John C. Byrnes, the state chairman, in this city. It was a doubly happy occasion with Mr. Byrnes, because it was his first trip down town after a critical operation for appendicitis seven weeks ago, and it was his first opportunity to receive the congratulations of his friends over the arrival of a nine-pound baby girl at his home the night before. Though still weak and thin from his long illness, he is filled with his usual enthusiasm and with rapid return of strength will soon be fit for a vigorous campaign.

The Fremont convention will be held July 25, as prescribed by law, and the apportionment will be the same as for the Grand Island convention last year, one delegate to each 150 votes cast for the democratic presidential electors at the last presidential election. This will make a convention of 886 delegates. The suggestion to somewhat reduce the size of the convention met with but little support, in fact, the committee would have added a delegate at large from each county had the law permitted. It was the unanimous argument that democratic state conventions are now big and popular events which it is an honor to attend as a delegate and that as much opportunity as possible should be given the loyal and active democrats of the various counties to avail themselves of the honor of going as delegates.

Fremont, Grand Island, Hastings and Lincoln each sought the honor of entertaining the convention, but Fremont had apparently begun an early campaign for votes with the result that committeemen were already pledged upon arrival here and it won on second ballot. Friendly words were spoken for each of the other cities, but the feeling that it is about Fremont's turn, while the honors are being passed around, it never having been given a state convention during the present generation, and the eloquence of Waldo Wintersteen and Dan V. Stephens in discussing its beauties and its new system of street lighting by electroliters all carried the convention its way.

The election of a temporary chairman of the convention was left to the executive committee to announce later. It seemed to be taken for granted that the Nebraska Democratic club, organized last year, should be continued and aggressively developed this year because of its splendid assistance to the state organization and a resolution was passed recommending to its officers that a meeting of the club be called at Fremont on the day of the state convention at a convenient hour not conflicting with it.

Attending the meeting were: John C. Byrnes, chairman and C. M. Gruenther, vice chairman, of Columbus; Leo Mathews, secretary, of Lincoln; James Lord of Falls City, W. F. Gillespie, Maynard; N. J. Ludi, Wahoo; A. D. Fetterman, Omaha, holding proxies of C. E. Fanning and George Rogers of Omaha; Waldo Wintersteen, Fremont, holding proxies of F. D. Hunker of West Point, M. W. Murray of Pender and H. D. Miller of Stanton; T. Wilkinson, Blair; H. E. Phelps, Howells; Leo Cleary, Grand Island, holding proxies of H. M. Davis of Ord and J. P. Baldwin of Hebron; E. B. McDermott, Shelton, holding the proxy of Louis Rein of Loup City; John Sink, Grand Island, holding the proxy of F. J. Taylor of St. Paul; W. L. Rose, Fullerton; Fred Shepherd, Lincoln, holding the proxies of E. I. Troyer and A. S. Tibbetts of Lincoln; J. R. McCann, Beatrice; E. H. Cox, Bladen; R. B. Wahlquist, Hastings; M. D. King, Minden; J. H. Mooney, Arapahoe; George C. Gillan, Lexington, and Judge W. D. Oldham of Kearney.

Severely Burned.

Our old friend, Peter Madsen, of the brass foundry in the Burlington shops, had the misfortune Tuesday to have his hand quite severely burned to the extent of disabling two of his fingers. Mr. Madsen was compelled to lay off on account of his injuries, but will no doubt be able for business next week.

UNION Ledger.

Joseph Dare, who has been away for some time, arrived Wednesday and finds all his friends very glad to meet him again.

Herman Thomas and wife were down from Fort Crook last Sunday to spend the day with relatives.

Nelson Applegate, who has been engaged in carpenter work at Walthill, was home last week for a visit with his family, returning Tuesday morning to Walthill.

Mrs. Bert Carter, accompanied by her son, Bobbie, and daughter, Verna, arrived Wednesday night from Walthill to make several days' visit among relatives and friends in Union and vicinity.

Abe L. Branson of Sterling, Colorado, visited his Union relatives and friends a few days this week, having come from Colorado on account of the sudden death of his daughter, Lela, at Avoca last Saturday night.

Win Younker is the owner of a fine new "J. I. Case" engine and separator, which landed here Tuesday, and Mr. Younker is now prepared to thresh a good share of the splendid crop of small grain that has grown in this county.

Mrs. Margaret Applegate and Miss Cleo Applegate departed on the Tuesday midnight train for the Pacific coast, intending to spend several weeks viewing the points of interest in California, Washington and Oregon, and will visit Louis Anderson and wife near Portland.

Resse Delaney left on Tuesday morning on a two months' vacation and pleasure trip of several miles. He will see Chicago first, and his next stop will be at Niles, Ohio, to visit a brother, then he goes to several points in Pennsylvania and West Virginia to visit his brothers and sisters and other relatives.

George Graves of Murray, who has been playing good ball in the Western association, arrived home from the south last week, his vacation being due to the fact that his manager showed up short with salary checks for the players. He will probably accept an offer to finish the season with a State or Mink league team.

WEeping WATER.

Republican.

Mrs. Edward Kroehler of Sheridan, Wyoming, sister-in-law of Mrs. H. Klitsch, arrived last Wednesday to make a visit.

We rather think Cass county corn is looking finer than for years. A good stand and color, even and clean. Some have laid their corn by.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cole, on Saturday, June 17th, a girl. Also to Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Wiles, Monday, June 19th, an 8-pound daughter.

The binders the farmers have been running so strenuously of late may not ride as comfortable as an automobile, but they succeeded in getting the dough.

Guessing on the yield of winter wheat in the county, per acre, some say it will average 25 bushels per acre. This means that in this vicinity some fields will go 30 bushels and better.

Rev. N. W. Rich returned home last Friday from a ten days' trip to Springfield, Ohio, where he held meetings. Mr. Rich says it is very dry in the east and crops were nothing as good as here; in fact, he had not seen crops anywhere that looked as good as in Cass county.

Miss Grace Teegarden arrived home from Oberlin, Ohio, Thursday, where she has been to school the past year. Mr. Teegarden and family went to Omaha to meet her and the joke seems to be on the father, who passed by his daughter at the depot, looking for the young lady that left and forgetting the one to expect.

Jack Hitchman and brother, Raymond, departed Saturday for Mexico. They will stop at New Orleans a short time on business, buying machinery for the sugar business. This is the first trip south for Raymond and he will have a little Spanish to learn. He expects to assist on the plantation.

Mr. George Shafer and wife, who have been visiting Cass county relatives for a few days, departed for their home at Ferguson this morning.

YOUNG BOHEMIAN INJURED BY BURLINGTON TRAIN

Claims Was Walking Along Track When Struck by Engine on Other Side of the Bridge.

From Saturday's Daily. Bohumil Psenicka, a young Bohemian, was injured yesterday afternoon on the east side of the river, but the accounts of his injury are somewhat conflicting. The man was picked up by Charles Johnson's train, which leaves the Junction to make the Schuyler, leaving Plattsmouth at 3:20 p. m. Freight No. 72 had preceded Johnson's train but a short space of time, and the report was that Psenicka had attempted to board this and missed his footing and "took a roll" on the hill.

The man could speak little English and Tony Koubeck and Joe Sveha each took a turn at talk with the injured man. After being brought to the station he was placed in a hack and taken to the office of Dr. Martin, who dressed his injuries, which consisted of some slight bruises about the head.

In talking to Mr. Koubeck the injured man stated that he was unconscious until he reached the stairs leading to Dr. Martin's office and that he did not know what had injured him. That the last he remembered was that he was walking on the track from Pacific Junction when something knocked him unconscious. He claimed to be a tailor, and stated that he left Chicago nine days ago and had walked the entire distance, except a few miles at the beginning of his journey. He was heading for Omaha, where he expected to try to find a job on a farm. The stranger stated that there was little to do in Chicago, since the settlement of the garment makers' strike and that he was out of funds. He had been in America six years, but had no relatives living in this country.

Deal Closed Yesterday.

From Saturday's Daily. F. A. Murphy came down from Omaha last evening and closed a deal whereby the Plattsmouth and family went to Omaha to meet her and the joke seems to be on the father, who passed by his daughter at the depot, looking for the young lady that left and forgetting the one to expect.

G. G. Meisinger, wife and daughter, Cora, of the vicinity of Cedar Creek drove to this city to attend to some business matters. While here Mr. Meisinger was a pleasant caller at this office and renewed his allegiance to the Old Reliable for another year.

Henry Lahoda Injured.

From Saturday's Daily. Henry Lahoda, an employe of the Burlington blacksmith shop, had the misfortune to be injured by a blow from a sledge. Mr. Lahoda received a severe cut between the eyes. The blow knocked Mr. Lahoda down, but did not render him unconscious. His injury was dressed by a physician and he will lay off a few days.

TYPHOID FEVER FATAL IN DEATH OF AMOS C. BLACK

Who Passed Away at the Home of His Parents in This City This Morning.

From Saturday's Daily. At 9:30 this morning, after suffering for three weeks with typhoid fever, Amos C. Black died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Black, on South Fourth street, this morning. The deceased was about 29 years and 6 months old and is survived by his father and mother, one brother and two sisters. His brother is Ed Black of this city, and his sisters, Mrs. Pearl Macin of Havelock and Mrs. Myrtle Winkler of Omaha.

The deceased was born in Fremont county, Iowa, had come to Plattsmouth about twelve years ago, first coming to the home of his grandfather, Mr. A. J. McKinney. During the greater part of the time since coming to Plattsmouth the deceased was employed by the Plattsmouth Telephone company in different capacities as line man and pole man, as the needs of the company called for. The funeral will probably be conducted by Rev. W. L. Austin, though no definite arrangements had been made at noon.

Haymakers Elect Officers.

From Saturday's Daily. The Haymakers met at their camp last evening, and after the initiation of three new Haymakers, proceeded to the election of officers. Mr. N. Crissinger learned the mysteries of the haymaking art in one short, hot night. There were two other gentlemen who went over the route with him, whose names have slipped our mind. The officers elected were: Charles L. Graves, chief haymaker; Charles Truman, assistant haymaker; William Mendenhall, horn blower; Ed Kruger, keeper bass drum; William Heinrichson, keeper of straws; Adolph Giese, keeper bundles; Gus Carlson, keeper barn door; C. A. Welsh, keeper barnyard. After the election of officers a dog feast was participated in by the Indians.

Miss Mary Moore of Worth, Missouri, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Nelson, for a week left for Glenwood on the morning train today, where she will visit relatives for a short time before returning to her home in Missouri.
