THE PASSING OF ANOTHER OLD RESIDENT, MRS. MARGARET SCHULHOF

Her Death Was Rather Sudden, Although She Had Not Been Feeling Well for Several Days—Funeral Tuesday Morning at 10 O'clock From St. John's Church.

Another of Plattsmouth's old residents and highly respected ladies passed away at her home in this city Sunday morning at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Margaret C. Donegan Schulhof died at her home after a residence in the city of almost thirty-eight years.

Margaret C. Donegan was born December 21, 1834, at Abington, Wayne county, Indiana, and was married to Henry C. Schulhof at Richmond, Indiana, in September, 1857, residing there with her husband until October, 1873, and then moved to Plattsmouth, where she has since resided. Mr. Schulhof having preceded her to the great beyond more than twenty years ago.

The deceased leaves surviving four daughter and two sons, the sons being Edwin H. and John A., both of this city. Her daughters are: Mrs. Mary Lisette Lewis of Denver, Miss Caroline P. Schulhof of Plattsmouth, Mrs. Emma C. wife of Baxter Smith, of this city, and Mrs. Henrietta W. Herbert of Fremont. Also the deceased leaves one sister, Mrs. Conrad Schlater of this city.

Mrs. Schulhof will be greatly missed from her large circle of relatives and friends, who will mourn the loss of this most estimable woman. She was a kind neighbor, loving mother and a constant friend, and was regarded with the greatest respect by all who came within the circle of her acquaintance.

Mrs. Schulhof had not been very well for some time, although not complaining, the heat of the past two weeks seemed to tell on her strength and at times she suffered, doubtless from a weak heart, as she complained of difficulty in breathing. She was in her garden Saturday, as usual, and looked after her ordinary household duties, and death came to her very suddenly Sunday morning. She was a consistent member of the Catholic church, and her funeral will occur from St. John's church Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock and will be conducted by Father Shine.

CONGRESSMAN MAGUIRE WRITES G. A. R. MEN

Explaining the Pension Situation in Congress at the Present Time.

In response to a letter written to Congressman John A. Maguire following the adoption of resolutions in regard to pension matters, at a meeting of local members of the Grand Army organization of Lincoln, J. H. Mocket, sr., of that city, has been written a communication which reads as follows:

Washington, D. C., July 5, 1911.—My Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your letter dated June 30, with resolutions from the old soldiers requesting information on pension matters in congress. I am very glad to give you this information as I have given it to many others since the special tariff session began.

On May 23, 1911, the committee on invalid pensions, after full and careful consideration of the many bills before the committee, voted upon and adopted the Sherwood "dollar a day" general pension bill with but one opposing vote. The chairman of the committee, Congressman Sherwood of Ohio, who is also author of the bill, was instructed to report the bill to the house as soon as the house was ready to consider general legislation. It was agreed by the committee members that the bill would be reported late in the special session or at the beginning of the regular session.

The author of the bill, General Sherwood, was a brave and distinguished general of the civil war, is an experienced legislator, a true friend of the veterans and known by members of congress to be favorable to liberal pensions. All members of this committee are also considered favorable to liberal pension legislation and their attitude has never been questioned here.

On June 19, Mr. Anderson, after adverse action by the committee on his bill, and favorable action on the Sherwood bill, attempted to take his bill away from the committee and have the same taken up directly by the house. Mr. Anderson's bill was considered carefully by the committee along with the many other bills, but received only one vote in the committee.

No pension legislation was considered in the special session two years ago, and I am advised by officers and clerks of the pension committee and the house that no general pension legislation has ever been considered in special sessions.

I shall be glad, as I stated to others before, to vote for any well considered, liberal general pension bill. I voted for the Sulloway pension bill last session, but it was defeated in the senate. It is well known that should a pension bill come before the senate now, it would refuse to consider it, for the senate has taken no final action on any important matter of general legislation yet this session.

I need not here refer to my record in congressional service on pension or other legislation; for that is available to those who desire to examine it. Very truly yours, John A. Maguire.

Cleans Up Binder Trade.

August Gorder, the agricultural implement dealer, closed out his last binder Saturday to Messrs. Kaffenberger, who got the fortieth binder sold by this popular implement house this season. This is double the average number sold in one season, which would indicate how important the small grain crop is in this end of the county. The method of putting in the wheat crop with pressed drill has resulted in an increase in acreage of wheat sown each season, and the idea of rotating the crops on the farm to keep the soil built up is practiced more than formerly, so that farming has grown to be a scientific business.

L. Russell sold to an Omaha gentleman today a fine, thoroughbred English terrier pup for the sum of $150. The Omaha man has a kennel of 300 dogs and knows the breeding of the pup just purchased.

C. M. Seybert in Town.

From Monday's Daily.

Cam Seybert, marshal of Louisville, came in this morning to look after some matters pertaining to the affairs of Louisville. While here Mr. Seybert called on the Journal. Cam is a candidate for the nomination of commissioner on the democratic ticket and filed several days ago with the county clerk.

DEATH OF A FORMER RESIDENT AT LINCOLN

Thomas J. Hicks Dies After a Lingered Illness of Two Months.

Mrs. F. R. Whitaker received a message Sunday morning apprising her of the death of Mr. T. J. Hicks, which occurred in Lincoln that morning. The deceased was a former resident of this city and removed to Lincoln a number of years ago. He was 55 years of age, and the remains will be brought to this city for interment Wednesday morning, the funeral to occur from the Burlington depot. The Lincoln Journal of this (Monday) morning, contains the following in regard to Mr. Hicks' death:

Thomas J. Hicks died at 10 a. m. yesterday at his home at 1228 T street after a lingering illness of two months. Mr. Hicks was 55 years old and had been in the employ of the Burlington railroad since 1884. Before coming to Lincoln he was with the road at Plattsmouth, Neb. He leaves a wife and one daughter, Mrs. C. Schnell, Omaha. The funeral will be held from his home at 4 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. C. E. Carroll and Rev. George M. Gates will conduct the services. The body will be taken to Plattsmouth Wednesday at 7:45 a. m., where interment will take place.

Mr. Hicks was a charter member of lodge No. 8, A. O. U. W., of Lincoln. He was later transferred to the Havelock order of the A. O. U. W.

Lady Acts as Own Lawyer.

Mrs. Pribble of Louisville was in the county court today advocating the payment of a claim of $50 which she had filed for services rendered by herself in making the collection of $250 of an estate going to the children of one McDonald. The money had been earned by Mrs. Pribble by her going to the claim agent of the railway company at Lincoln and laying the matter before him, when, Mrs. Pribble alleges, that he promised to look into the matter after returning from his vacation. The same agent afterward went to Louisville and settled with the administratrix of the estate, Mrs. Clifford. The estate was represented by W. A. Robertson and the minors by J. M. Leyda, and Mrs. Pribble tried her own case. After hearing the cause Judge Beeson allowed her $37.50, or 12 1/2 per cent, for making the collection. Mrs. Pribble stated that she did not know whether she would accept the allowance, or appeal to the higher court. She had no idea that she would be opposed by two attorneys when she came into court. Those who observed the proceedings say that she managed her case very nicely.

Taken Suddenly Ill.

Glen Perry, living south of Plattsmouth, was taken suddenly ill Friday night with something like cholera morbus, and Dr. Brendel of Murray was called. He suffered several very severe spells during Saturday and Saturday night. Dr. Cook of this city was called. For some time his life was almost despaired of. But relief was obtained Saturday night, since which time Mr. Perry has been improving and hopes are entertained for his ultimate recovery.

Mrs. George Tams Ill.

Mrs. George Tams, wife of the superintendent of the county farm, has been quite ill for some time. The physician has advised Mrs. Tams to go to the hospital for an operation, which she will do the latter part of this week.

Frank Steppat was an Omaha passenger this afternoon on the fast mail.

A SURE PREVENTIVE OF HOG CHOLERA

Dr. Herman Greeder of Plattsmouth Manufacturers Serum That Secures Results.

Early this spring several of our farmers had a great deal of cholera among their hogs, and among this number was George W. Snyder, residing west of Myrard. No sooner had Mr. Snyder discovered this fact than he notified Dr. Herman Greeder of Plattsmouth, who immediately called at the farm home of Mr. Snyder and found that he had two very sick animals among his herd. At this time Dr. Greeder vaccinated the sixteen head then in Mr. Snyder's herd, fourteen of which were well and continued in this healthy condition; the two sick ones died, as Dr. Greeder informed Mr. Snyder they would. Mr. Greeder does not claim that his serum will cure hog cholera nor make sick hogs well; it is simply a preventive, immunizes them for life. This Mr. Snyder tells us has been his experience beyond any doubt. Later in the season Mr. Snyder bought 26 head of shoats and placed them in the same bunch of hogs, first having them vaccinated by Dr. Greeder. The cholera was still on his place, but the new hogs continued to do well, eat heartily and put on flesh very rapidly, so the idea that some farmers have that the vaccination process stunts or retards the growth of an animal is all a mistake. From the fourteen old sows that Mr. Snyder saved of the original sixteen, he has fifty fine young pigs that are all doing well, and he is today entirely free from cholera.

This article is written from a personal interview with Mr. Snyder, and is merely published that other farmers may learn of his cholera experience and profit by the same if they so choose. F. H. Dunbar, of the city of Plattsmouth, has had about the same experience with the same results, through the merits of Dr. Greeder's serum.

FUNERAL OF MRS. MARGARET SCHULHOF THIS MORNING

Services at St. John's Catholic Church and Interment at Holy Sepulcher Cemetery.

From Tuesday's Daily.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret C. Schulhof occurred this morning at 10 o'clock from St. John's Catholic church and was conducted by Father M. A. Shine, pastor of the church. Notwithstanding the threatened storm the church was well filled with neighbors and friends of the family, who had come to show a last tribute of respect to one who in life held their highest esteem and confidence.

The solemn burial service of the church was had and the prayers read in both Latin and English, so that everyone present could feel that they had a part in the service. The requiem mass for the dead was sung, and Miss Opal Fitzgerald sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and Miss Helen Cline sang "Come Unto Me."

Interment was made at Holy Sepulcher cemetery. The pallbearers were: C. E. McEntee, Frank McElroy, John Vorndran, John Fight, Henry Gooch and George Tartisch.

Wheat Will Yield Well.

From Tuesday's Daily.

Mr. Willard and wife of near Murray, and Mrs. Nic Klaurens drove to Plattsmouth this morning and boarded the early train for Omaha, where they looked after some business matters for a few hours. Mr. Willard has 35 acres of wheat, which he thinks will beat the record for yield. One head which he examined had 70 grains of wheat on it. He will thresh this week and expects to get more than 40 bushels per acre.

August Roessler and family, who have been visiting for the past two weeks in Grant, Neb., returned home Sunday morning. They have been visiting with relatives of Mrs. Roessler and report a very pleasant vacation time.

No Sunday Mail.

Business men in Nebraska who do not like the new rule about the non-delivery of mail on Sunday will get no relief from the post-office department, says a Washington dispatch. This was made clear in a letter received Saturday by Senator Hitchcock from First Assistant Postmaster Granfield. Mr. Granfield calls attention to the fact that congress intended to shorten the hours of postoffice employees, but failed to increase the appropriation. As a result the department has carried out the provisions of the law for shorter hours by cutting off the Sunday delivery. "It is not the intention nor is it possible to have Sunday mail of any patron ready for delivery on request," says Mr. Granfield. "If this was done it would be necessary to distribute all the mail in the office and the contemplated relief could not be given the employees."

SOMEWHAT OF A WRECK NORTH OF THE STATION

Creating a Little Excitement and Delaying Trains—Engineer and Fireman Jump.

From Tuesday's Daily.

"Babe" Helming, engineer, and his fireman, Larson, of freight No. 29 had a little thrill of excitement this morning which they will not want to experience again. And Conductor S. E. Huddleson seemed to think that under the circumstances it was very lucky that freight cars were not piled promiscuously about between the station and the pump house.

The engine pulling No. 29 was getting under way, with the train due to leave here about 7 a. m. for Lincoln, via Louisville and Ashland, and was being helped out of the yards by the local crew, and as the big engine was making the cross over in the west end of the yards the engine jumped the tracks and bumped along on the ties and was being pushed right along until the air was set, looking all of the wheels.

Engineer Helming is a very large, heavy man, but he made a leap through the window of his engine cab, landing on the ground several feet below, spraining his ankle. Fireman Larson jumped also, but sustained no injury. The power exerted from the rear turned the engine at an angle of about 45 degrees with the track, and the engineer and fireman thought it would go over. Before jumping Mr. Helming reversed his levers.

The engine blocked the track so that No. 6 was delayed about an hour and a half, and No. 15 about the same time. A track was built around the engine to allow No. 6 and No. 15 to pass.

Celebrates Sixteenth Birthday.

On the evening of July 8th the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter, on North Eighth street, was a scene of gaiety, when Miss Helen Hunter celebrated her sixteenth birthday. The living room and reception hall were artistically decorated in pink, white and green. The porch was adorned with Japanese lanterns, which sent their faint beams of light over all the lawn where the guests assembled to enjoy the cool breeze. Various games were played, which afforded a great deal of amusement. The prize-winners were Misses Wanda Ramge and Marie Spies. Music by many of the young people was also much enjoyed. Those present were: Misses Sophia and Josephine Willich, Wanda Ramge, Emma Cummins, Sophia Hild, Margaret Wolford, Marie Spies, Marie Hunter, Helen Hunter and Margaret Orman of Omaha.

Philp Horn Holds Belt Now.

Philp Horn saw the Journal story about a farmer that cut 65 acres of spring wheat in four days, and he at once determined to beat the beater. He had 65 acres of fine, heavy oats, and he went into the fields with a binder and eight horses and two shockers. He changed the horses every two hours, working four at a time, and at the end of three days he had his 65-acre field in this shock. Next!

THE LAW REGARDING CARRYING CONCEALED WEAPONS

Better Leave Revolver at Home in the Future If You Don't Want to Get into Trouble.

Judge W. S. Shoemaker, who as a representative in the last session of the legislature, was the author of the Shoemaker law making the carrying of concealed weapons a penitentiary offense, calls attention to the fact that misapprehension exists in many quarters concerning scope, since the law went into effect the past week. It is not designed to prevent honest men from carrying weapons necessary for protection of self and property, or family, but is designed to make the punishment so drastic that they will not be carried for illegitimate purposes.

This is the new section of the law governing the matter:

"Whoever shall carry a weapon or weapons concealed on or about his person such as a revolver, pistol, bowieknife, dirk, or knife with a dirk blade attachment, brass or iron knuckles, or any other dangerous weapon, shall, on conviction, be fined in any sum not exceeding $1,000 or imprisoned in the state penitentiary not exceeding two years, provided, however, if it shall be proved from the testimony on the trial, or at a preliminary hearing of such case that the accused was, at the time of carrying any weapon as aforesaid, engaged in any lawful business, calling or employment and the circumstances in which such person was placed at the time aforesaid was such as to justify a prudent person in carrying the weapon or weapons aforesaid, for the defense of his person, property or family, the accused shall be acquitted or discharged as the case may be.

Taken to State's Prison.

Sheriff Quinton left for Lincoln on the early train today, going to the penitentiary with William Becker and Simon Meiers, the former going for five and the latter for four years. Becker was convicted at the last term of court of receiving stolen property, and Meiers of robbery from the person. Both young men are natives of the county, and their parents have the sympathy of the community. The law is a stern master when it lays its hand on an offender, and those who violate may expect to be properly punished.

Dr. Donelan of Glenwood called here by the death of his aunt, Mrs. Margaret Schulhof, returned to his home this morning.

King Hill Picnic.

From Monday's Daily.

A fine company of young people picnicked at King Hill yesterday, taking advantage of the lower temperature in the atmosphere, and with baskets well filled with spring chicken and other delicacies, made their appearance on the river bank. The usual picnic sports were participated in, including boat riding and angling for the finny tribe. Those taking part were: Misses Beulah Sans, Jessie Barrows, Lillian Wheeler, Winnie Hutcheson, Elsie Gopen, Rachel Livingston, Jennie Livingston, Elsie Stokes, Rosa Tschirren, Mary Creamer, Florence Hutcheson; Messrs. Will Propst, Elbert, Glen and Myron Wiles, Ernest and Roy Hutcheson, Percy and Joe Wheeler, Harland Sans, Charles Barrows, John Sans and Carl Cole; Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Barrows, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sans and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wheeler.

Harold Takes Tumble.

Henry Timm and wife, accompanied by their little nephew, Harold Groskary, went to Nebraska City via the Missouri Pacific Saturday night, arriving there about 1 o'clock a. m., and going to the home of Mrs. Caspar, where the good people were aroused and informed that Master Harold had arrived. After hearty greetings extended to the youthful visitor the party retired for the rest of the night, and had gotten to sleep and were snoozing away when they were awakened by a thump on the floor. On investigation it was found that Harold had fallen out of bed, but as good luck would have it, did not get seriously lacerated.

Former Cass County Resident.

Mr. Ivan White of Murray, accompanied by his brother, D. White, of Surprise, Butler county, Nebraska, were callers on the Journal Saturday afternoon and spent some time in a social chat. Mr. D. White has been visiting his brother and family at Murray for several days and will return to his home today. He is a pioneer resident of Cass county, leaving here for his present home many years since, but loves to come back once in a while to greet his pioneer neighbors and friends.

D. and Homer Shrader were in the city this forenoon looking after some matters of importance, and dropped in to see the Journal boys. They report a large gathering at the home of their father, Uncle George Shrader, yesterday of relatives and neighbors and a pleasant time enjoyed. The Shrader home is one of the places to go to have an enjoyable time and plenty to eat.
