ATWOOD FLIES TO TOLEDO SAFELY

Boston Aviator Covers 520 Miles in Three Days.

MAKES ONE RECORD SPURT.

Beats Schedule Time for Ordinary Trains—Attempting to Carry a Passenger, He Nearly Meets With Mishap at Pettisville.

Toledo, Aug. 17.—Exactly 520 miles from his starting point, Harry N. Atwood, Boston aviator, who is attempting to break the long distance airplane record by flying from St. Louis to New York, alighted in Toledo after completing the third day of his trip, with a spectacular flight 2,000 feet above the city.

He covered the 133 miles from Elkhart, Ind., to Toledo with only one stop and in an actual flying time of two hours and fifty-six minutes. He was compelled to stop at Pettisville, O., for more than five hours because he ran out of gasoline.

Between some of the stations Atwood beat the scheduled time for ordinary trains. In the last lap of the day's run he whipped up such a speed as hardly to be visible for longer than a minute at any one angle. The thirty-three miles from Pettisville into Toledo were run in fifty minutes, including a delay for starting and time lost in circling around the city in search of a landing place.

The Boston man's arrival here was as exciting as was his trip over northern Indiana and Ohio.

Steam whistles and thousands of people on top of office buildings greeted him as he came in from the west. All the way in he had been rising to get a good view of the town, he said. Instead of alighting in the west end, he shot clear over the city and landed near the mouth of the Maumee river to the east.

Intense interest marked his progress. As he swooped low to read the names of railroad stations great crowds, including farmers, who had come in by automobile from miles around frantically yelled for him to come down. Some brought bouquets and lunches for the aviator, while policemen and municipal officers abandoned their posts to join in the ovation.

Flying towards Pettisville, Atwood noticed that his gasoline was giving out and he was compelled unexpectedly to land. While attempting to rise again with A. Leo Stevens of New York as a passenger, the wings of his machine brushed against treetops and both men were almost dashed out. Stevens was knocked against a fence, but escaped injury. It was necessary to abandon the passenger-carrying project.

COMPELLED TO DRINK WHISKY

This Is Claim of Sunday School Teacher Who Sues Railway.

Kansas City, Aug. 17.—Because they say they were forced to drink whisky at the point of a loaded revolver, Harry J. Behart and J. Laughlin brought suit against the Missouri Pacific Railway company for $55,555. They assert that on Nov. 1, 1910, while waiting for a train at Lake City, Mo., the station agent and porter commanded them to drink some whisky and enforced the command with a revolver.

Laughlin, who declared himself a Sunday school teacher, says he never touched whisky before and that the liquor intoxicated him.

Marks, an expert from New York, testified that according to his estimation the company could make a good profit manufacturing gas and selling it at 90 cents. He estimated that the company could with only slight additional expense greatly increase the amount of gas made and thus could reduce the actual cost to the company to 64 cents, as against about 70 cents now. He placed a valuation of $1,500,000 on the plant.

HAZERS FORCED TO PAY FINE

Algona Authorities Take Steps to Prevent Mistreatment.

Algona, Ia., Aug. 17.—That hazing in the Algona high school must come to a stop was indicated by the action of the school board and local authorities when three young men were arrested and prosecuted under the statute for hazing Clemmer Horan.

Horan, who is fourteen years of age, will be a freshman in the high school this fall. A week ago he was caught on Main street by three boys, bound and carried to a livery where the figure '15, which would be the year of his class, was burned into his hand and cheeks with an antiseptic stick of nitrate of silver used in barber shops. The flesh was burned badly and the young man has been under the treatment of a physician since the hazing. It is said that the flesh will not be scarred permanently by the experience.

The matter was taken up by the school board and County Attorney Van Ness was consulted with the result that the hazers were brought before Justice E. M. Taylor. They pleaded guilty to the offense and were fined $5 each and costs.

Dr. L. C. Kenefic, president of the board, made a speech in the court appealing to the authorities to aid the board in stamping out the practice of hazing in the Algona schools.

WILEY MAKES TART ANSWER

Report Asking for His Resignation Based on Falsehood.

NEVER SAW THE RUSBY LETTER

Chemist Says Contract With New York Man Was Made by Dr. Bigelow—Did Not Know Why He Was Summoned Before Board.

Washington, Aug. 17.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, head of the government chemistry bureau and central figure in the agricultural department pure food controversy before the house investigating committee, branded as false a statement of the personnel board which recommended him for dismissal.

He told how Dr. F. L. Dunlap, associate chief of his bureau, and Solicitor McCabe of the department repeatedly voted him down in the food and drug inspection board, of which Wiley was a member.

Dr. Wiley told of a meeting of that board of which he was not notified, but at which McCabe and Dunlap took important action. He said he found it useless to appeal to the secretary of agriculture and under the circumstances he considered Dr. Dunlap his superior officer.

He declared the charges regarding the Rusby contract were based on a letter from Rusby never actually sent to him and an important part of which has never been made public by the personnel board. He said he did not know what charges had been made against him when he was called before the department's personnel board, of whose report his first intimation was the "invitation to resign."

"Did you enter into any contract with Dr. Rusby whereby he was to work a certain number of days?" asked Representative Floyd.

"I did not." The Rusby letter that never reached him, he said, explained the arrangement Rusby had made with Dr. Bigelow to work for $1,600 a year under an irregular time arrangement. Dr. Rusby wrote the letter, but learned that Dr. Wiley was out of Washington and did not send it. A copy of it got into the batch of correspondence which went before the personnel board and it was cited by the board to show that Dr. Wiley should be informed of the facts.

Wiley declared he knew nothing of the details of the arrangement with Dr. Rusby and denied specifically that he had made any contract with Rusby. When summoned before the personnel board, he said, he did not know what they were asking about, because they did not show him the letter, and he himself had never received it, seen it, or heard about it.

The next day, Dr. Wiley wrote to Assistant Secretary Hayes, a member of the personnel board, asking what charges had been made against him, and was informed that the Rusby matter "had not been presented in the nature of a charge."

"You say you did not find out from the questioning of the personnel board what you were charged with?" asked Representative Floyd.

"No, but I got a good idea, before they finished, that I was charged with something."

"Did you ever receive any communications from the personnel board, giving their findings?"

"Oh, yes, I got their final report, giving me the privilege of resigning," said Dr. Wiley, with asperity. "I was greatly obliged to them for that little courtesy."

"Did you get the report after it had been sent to the president?"

"Yes, and after it had gone to the attorney general. I won't express an opinion as to the attorney general."

McCabe Voted With Dunlap.

"When you and Dr. Dunlap disagreed how many times were you sustained by Mr. McCabe, the third member of the board?"

"Never, as I remember, except on my decision that rye whisky must be made from rye. On that matter McCabe sided with me."

COTTON AND IRON REVISION IS NEXT

Caucus of Democratic Senators Decides on Program.

Washington, Aug. 17.—The cotton tariff revision bill will come to a vote in the senate with the Democrats pledged to support the La Follette iron and steel schedule as an amendment; the farmers' free list bill probably will be disposed of by the senate today with all differences between the houses adjusted, and the wool bill awaits the president's veto. This is the tariff situation in congress today.

The cotton-iron-steel program, agreed on in a caucus of the Democratic senators, carries out part of the revision extension program of the progressive Republican senators, whose powerful alliance with the Democrats has swept tariff legislation through congress at this session. Neither the free list nor cotton bill is expected to involve much debate in view of the program.
