At the White House.

From Tuesday's Daily.

"River View" presented a very brilliant scene last night when Misses Ida and Seva Johnson entertained their house party guest at a White House reception. Many of the former White house ladies and their daughters were present. Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Sherman met them in the reception hall and bid them a hearty welcome. The young ladies were beautifully gowned. Mrs. Taft wearing a pink silk gown trimmed in spangled lace, and Mrs. Sherman a lovely yellow spangled gown. Miss Helen Taft wore a very becoming Alice blue princess, while Mrs. Roosevelt and daughters were gowned in pink and white. Miss Heron and Miss Cleveland were tastefully dressed in tan voile and white lingerie. A fine musical program had been arranged and all present proved to be excellent musicians. After a few recitations, songs and games they were taken to the dining room, where a three-course luncheon was neatly served and which the ladies thoroughly enjoyed. Once more they sought the way to the parlors, where they all partook in a western trip, which afforded great merriment for the eastern ladies. The last event of the evening was a midnight stroll, which the ladies declared a new and novel experience, but which was greatly enjoyed.

MEETING OF THE BAND OF MERCY

Meeting at the Methodist Church Monday Was Most Interesting.

The Mercy Band of the Humane society met Monday afternoon in the M. E. church; coming up the street in national colors, a gay procession of youthful workers for kindness and good will; to perfect their organization by electing a vice president, treasurer and secretary. As there were only about thirty children present, many of the members being away on vacation with their relatives, among whom is Miss Nora Livingston, who was elected president at a former meeting, it was thought best to postpone the election to a future meeting and to proceed with the program, which was opened by scriptural reading by Mrs. B. C. Kerr, prayer by Mrs. C. E. Wescott and a statement of the object of the band—Kindness to all dumb animals, peace and good will to all the world and no more war among the nations. Then the children, led by Uncle Sam and the Goddess of Liberty, which was bedecked in national colors, sang "America," accompanied on the organ by Miss Dovey. Master Mason Wescott gave the "Horse's Prayer," in place of what they would pray if they could speak our language. The pony stood at the church door, but would not enter the church, presumably because so many church-goers had whipped and abused their race. Then Mrs. Kneel asked the children some questions, to which they responded in rotation. Mrs. C. E. Wescott recited a very beautiful poem on the good time coming when war should be no more. Miss Douglass gave a reading in her usual excellent manner. Mrs. Vandercook read her "Vision of Mercy" and congratulated the children that they had so early in life put on the harness to pull the car of Progress and help do the world's work for the uplift of society.

"After We Older Ones Have Gone on Into the Great Beyond," the subject of the very eloquent and forceful speech of Attorney Rawls, was the crowning attraction of the entertainment. He spoke briefly of the "ancient days" when men fought for pleasure, and gradually, as civilization advanced, they fought for right and justice, until now all nations are beginning to abhor bloodshed and the sacrifice of life and treasure, and he made a prophecy that "in ten years more war would be eliminated from all civilized nations; that through the great discovery of electrical power, mankind and nations are becoming next door neighbors, and that we would be enabled to satisfactorily adjust all difficulties amicably by arbitration."

Taken all together the afternoon was a great success, for although the program was more an adult one, the meetings which will follow the entertainment will be mostly provided by the children, with the motive for training them for the greater work awaiting for them to do, when they will take up the work for the world's good which we older ones have commenced, but have not the years to finish, and will never be completed until Jesus comes again to give us new lessons of great peace and joy to all the world.

CORN NEARING SAFETY

Sixty-five Per Cent Out of Frost Danger by Sept. 15.

Des Moines, Aug. 30.—Sixty-five per cent of Iowa's corn crop will be safe from frost on Sept. 15, according to the weekly report made by Dr. Chappell, section director in charge of the local weather bureau. Eighty-five per cent will be safe, he says, by Sept. 25 and practically the whole crop will be safe by Oct. 10.

The following section of Dr. Chappell's report shows that crop conditions throughout the state are good: The week was cool and unusually dry; only a few light and widely scattered showers occurred. In many localities over the western and southern counties no rain fell during the week, and in those sections the drought is still serious. In the north-eastern district the rainfall was more copious, and practically all crops are in excellent condition, but considerable small grain in shock has been damaged by the continuous wet weather during the past five weeks.

In other sections of the state corn on light and rolling ground is drying very rapidly and some of it is already being cut. Reports made on Aug. 25 by the correspondents of this service show that the average condition of corn was 75 per cent, or a gain of six points since Aug. 1. With normal weather conditions about 65 per cent of the crop will be safe from frost on Sept. 25; 90 per cent on Sept. 30, and practically all of it by Oct. 10. The average condition of late potatoes on Aug. 25 was 64 per cent, or an improvement of twenty points since Aug. 1. In many localities in western and southern counties farmers are feeding their stock on green corn on account of no pasturage.

Much more than the usual amount of corn will be cut and saved as a substitute for hay. Fall plowing is progressing in sections where sufficient rain has fallen to soften the ground. In other sections that work has been suspended. Apples, plums, peaches and grapes are larger than usual. A summary of the late reports from thrashers show the average yield of small grain to be as follows: Winter wheat, 20 bushels per acre; spring wheat, 14; oats, 25; barley, 22; rye, 17 and timothy seed, 3 bushels per acre.

Engineer Mack of Wisconsin disapproved entirely of an organization and thought that the time should be spent in discussing ways whereby valuation methods could be standardized in the states in which such departments are now operative.

DE GRAFF ISSUES ANOTHER INJUNCTION

Des Moines Judge Orders Restaurant to Raise Chimney.

Des Moines, Aug. 30.—Judge Lawrence De Graff, who by issuing a mandatory injunction a few weeks ago, effectively ended the street car strike here, issued an injunction intended to afford tenants of an office building relief from the fumes of cooking onions.

Lawyers who have offices in the Iowa Loan and Trust building were the complainants. They told the court they did not relish the odors which escaped from the chimney of a restaurant across the alley.

Judge De Graff ordered the restaurant company to raise its chimney high enough to carry the odors above the offices. He gave the company three days in which to do this or else answer to his court for contempt.

Anamosa, Ia., Aug. 30.—Charles Smitch, who, with the aid of A. D. Mecum, a half brother, escaped after shooting Guard William A. He and his half brother killed a Winnipeg constable several days ago while trying to avoid arrest, and both are held on the murder charge.

This information was contained in a message to Sheriff Hogan of Anamosa from the Canadian authorities. Smitch and Mecum will not be returned to Iowa for punishment because of their attack on Guard Hamaker, it was stated. The identification of the men as the Anamosa convicts is said to be conclusive.

COMMISSIONERS IN CONFERENCE

Representatives of Eight States Meet in Lincoln.

VALUATION MEN FOR IDEAS ONLY

Considerable Opposition Develops Against Forming Organization That Will in Any Way Bind Members to Any Prescribed Method.

Lincoln, Aug. 30.—Engineers and railway commissioners representing eight states began a two days' conference in this city as the result of an invitation issued by the Nebraska state railway commission. Governor Aldrich welcome the visitors to the state and in so doing gave them a skeleton outline of Nebraska common carrier regulatory legislation.

Considerable opposition developed against the perfecting of an organization by the valuation men, Iowa and Wisconsin men being particularly outspoken against such a move. Commissioner Thorne of the former state declared that while he favored an organization for the purpose of exchanging ideas in regard to the valuation of properties of public service corporations, he emphatically was opposed to binding the members to any prescribed method of making such valuation.

Engineer Mack of Wisconsin disapproved entirely of an organization and thought that the time should be spent in discussing ways whereby valuation methods could be standardized in the states in which such departments are now operative.

Chairman H. J. Winnett of the Nebraska commission was the only member of the Nebraska state commission present and he was made the temporary chairman of the meeting. Several valuation men dropped in during the day.
