

PLATTSMOUTH MAY GET A VIEW OF AVIATORS IN OCEAN TO OCEAN RACE

Hearst Papers Offer Prize of $50,000 for Aviator who Makes Flight from New York to San Francisco—Will Come Through This Part of the Country, Says Dispatches.

Plattsmouth may get a view of some of the aviators in the greatest aerial race so far in the history of aviation, the race from New York to San Francisco, for a prize of $50,000, to be given by the Hearst papers. The prize will go to the man who makes the trip in the shortest time, and he has the choice of starting from either New York or San Francisco. Any kind of aircraft may be used.

Most of the aviators who have announced their intention of entering the race have stated that they will go across Nebraska and Iowa in their long flight. Aviator Flower, who will start from San Francisco September 10, announces his route, which puts Lincoln as one of the stopping points.

Some of the aviators may not go by way of Omaha, but may follow the Burlington route, crossing at Plattsmouth and following the Burlington across Iowa.

But even if they do not come by way of the Burlington Plattsmouth people can go to Omaha or Lincoln to see any of the aviators that may touch those cities in their flight.

This is by several thousand miles the greatest aerial race ever attempted. The aviators will have to fly over the Rocky mountains, which is a remarkable feat in itself.

Atwood, the aviator, a few days ago broke the world's record for continued flight when he made the trip from St. Louis to New York, which is only about a third of the distance across the continent.

Aviators in their flights must follow river and railroads to keep from getting lost. This may cause some who wish to take the southern route to go down the Missouri river from Omaha to the point where they wish to set out across the west.

BOTH REDMANS TALK OF THE BIG SUIT

Wife Says Relations With Gering Have Been All Right—Says It Is Blackmail.

From Saturday's Daily. The Redman-Gering suit is a subject that is still taking up much space in the Omaha papers. This is due to the fact that Gering is one of the most prominent men in Omaha, and because the suit is for such a large amount, $25,000. The articles run in the Journal about the affair have all been copied from Omaha papers. The Journal has endeavored to give its readers both sides of the case, and have clipped the articles with that idea in view.

Benjamin Redman, a Union Pacific brakeman, is suing Henry R. Gering for $25,000 for alleged alienation of his wife's affections.

Friday's World-Herald had an interview with Mrs. Redman in which she called her former husband a blackmailer. Today the World-Herald gives Redman's side of the case. Parts of each article follow, the first being from Friday's World-Herald:

"A case of blackmail."

"Former husband always insanely jealous."

"Wouldn't even pay $5 per month alimony for his own baby."

"Wants to get some money now without working."

"Charges groundless."

"These were some of the expressions used by Laura M. Redman Thursday when asked for a statement."

"There is absolutely nothing to the suit except a desire on the part of my former husband to get money and hurt me," said Mrs. Redman, who is living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Griffin, who live at 518 South Twenty-sixth avenue.

"As a married woman my life was absolutely beyond any such charges as he tries to make. He was always insanely jealous and mean, and that's why I had to leave him."

"When he was on the road during our married life, I can prove that I had a girl friend stay with me every night he was gone."

"Since I secured my divorce I have a perfect right to keep company with whom I choose, and I have kept company with Mr. Gering for more than a year. He is a gentleman and it is none of my former husband's affair."

Today's World-Herald, which gives Redman's side of the case, is in part as follows:

"I will emphatically prove that I am not a blackmailer, also that I haven't been asleep for the past two years," declared Benjamin Redman, Union Pacific brakeman, who made his first statement concerning his $25,000 suit against Henry R. Gering for alleged alienation of his wife's affections Friday.

"There is absolutely no truth to the statement that I offered to settle for $200," continued Redman. "As a matter of fact, I will settle that suit for $25,000 and not one cent less. I wish the case were to be tried next week."

"My attorneys did offer to settle for a substantial amount at one time, but it was thousands and not hundreds."

The brakeman was asked to tell why he has waited nearly three years before filing suit, when he had the alleged facts on which it was based in his possession at time suit for divorce was filed in 1908. He explained this by saying that he has been endeavoring to effect a reconciliation.

Asked if he had the original love letters he claims was written to his wife, Redman said: "I have a copy of it, and the letter my wife sent in response in her own handwriting."

"I was nearly broken up when I learned that a messenger had carried a letter from another man to my wife and she had covered it up. When the messenger brought that letter there was a detective called in to investigate and the whole affair came to light."

"When my wife came home and I charged her with secretly corresponding with Gering and arranging for a meeting, she at first denied everything and then she began to cry and said something about his having money while I was poor."

MILLINERY OPENING NOT FAR DISTANT

Preparations for the Big Millinery Opening of Fanger's Department Store.

There is a new sensation in store for the people of Plattsmouth, something that has never been known in the history of the city, but it is true, nevertheless, and the people of this city and county will have their choice fall hats made, designed and trimmed by a gentleman trimmer. While for many years the gentlemen have proven the most stylish designers for ladies' headgear in the big eastern cities, it has never been tried in places the size of Plattsmouth.

Mr. Fanger has secured the services of one of the best gentlemen trimmers in the western country, and has held the position of head trimmer for Brandeis in Omaha for a number of years. He has already gone to the big eastern markets for the new line of fall goods, and is making the new fall patterns. Mr. Fanger will also have a lady trimmer, but the gentleman will have charge of the millinery department. Watch for the date of their opening.

REAL ESTATE VERY ACTIVE JUST AT PRESENT

Many Transfers Being Made and the Price Seems to Be Looking Up a Trifle.

The city of Plattsmouth has once more lost its golden opportunity to secure a good and permanent home for its officials at a most reasonable price, in the sale of the old Patterson building on Pearl street. The deal was closed this morning, whereby Mr. V. V. Leonard becomes the owner of this property at exactly the same figures that the building was offered to the city.

The proposition of purchasing a city building has been up before the council for some time, and many members of that body have been greatly in favor of the movement and have exerted every effort to that end without avail, while the others have seemed to work against the movement, while not very active, they had a great deal to do with the matter in delaying it, for what reason they alone probably know.

We are not attempting to tell the "city dads" what they ought to do, for we only have the one voice among many, but it does seem to us as though the price for which they were offered this building it would certainly beat paying rent, be more profitable in the end, beside giving them much more comfortable rooms. It is true it would require some outlay of money in placing the building in proper condition, but nothing compared with the benefits that would be received from the possession of their own home. The members of the council certainly cannot hope to secure a building for less money than the same property will bring from the private individual, and when Mr. Leonard purchases the building at the same figures, he can certainly see where there is some profit in it for Mr. Leonard and was a bargain. Those members of the council that have been instrumental in delaying the purchase have certainly made a grand mistake, as they will never again have such an opportunity presented to them.

Among the other real estate changes that have taken place within the past few days was the transfer of the two lots just west of the Journal office, Mr. V. V. Leonard selling the same to H. M. Soennichsen, whom we are informed, will some time in the near future place thereon a good, substantial building.

Ploehn, before their return to their home in Wisconsin. They were accompanied to Scribner by Miss Louisa Hennings of Cedar Creek, who will visit there for a week. Mr. Will Meisinger of Cedar Creek came in this morning to board the noon train for Omaha, accompanying them that far on their journey.

THE PERFORMANCE OF "BURYING THE HAMMER"

A Suggestion Worthy of Attention Right Here in Our Own Community.

The town of Enid, Oklahoma, recently secured widespread publicity for a clever symbolical performance of "Burying the Hammer." A mammoth hammer was put into the ground as a symbol of the spirit of dissension and criticism that had interfered with the progress of the town.

This little performance has a suggestion worthy of attention right in our own community. The faculty of criticism is too easy. It is one much affected by men of mediocre character. A man lacking the slightest constructive ability often makes very just criticisms. It takes a Shakespeare to write a great play, but a cub reporter might go to see the thing and find some real flaws that the greatest of dramatists failed to discover.

Usually this spirit of criticism is a mere dead weight on the community. It disheartens those who have the power of leadership, and it fails to substitute anything better for the faults complained of. If some local enterprise is proposed that is in the main good, but has a few flaws, some men can see only the faults and utterly overlook the benefits of the thing as a whole.

If we want our town to advance, let us criticize plans for public betterment only when some definite amendment can be made by such criticism.

CHOPPE ENGINE AT THE STATE FAIR

Plattsmouth and Its Engine Will Get Much Advertising All Over the State.

J. A. Chopieska, owner of the Chopie Gasoline Engine factory, went to Lincoln this morning, where he has an exhibit at the state fair. Mr. Chopieska will have quite an interesting exhibit there and will no doubt attract many visitors to the merits of the engine made in Plattsmouth.

He has had printed an immense amount of advertising matter for distribution to the visitors at the fair, who will come from all parts of Nebraska. This advertising is well gotten up and will not only prove excellent advertising for the Chopie engine, but for Plattsmouth as well.

Every Plattsmouth visitor at the fair should call around and see the exhibit that is of so much interest to this city.

Mrs. A. F. Seybert and two daughters and Mrs. W. H. Seybert and son, came in this morning from Culm to visit relatives here.

Carl Smith was in the big delegation that went to Omaha this afternoon, many of whom will spend Sunday there with friends and relatives.

EAGLE Beacon.

Fred Diehl departed on the noon train Wednesday for New Mexico, where he will make his home with his parents.

Peter Walsh had the misfortune to lose one of his horses of a fine team last week. The animal was valued at $200.

Dan McCurdy, who has been confined to his room for several weeks on account of blood poisoning, was able to be down town for a short time Wednesday.

Mrs. P. F. Venner and Oscar Anderson arrived home last Friday from Seattle, Wash., where they were called several weeks ago by the death of their father.

Work was commenced Wednesday morning on Dr. Munger's new office building, which will be located back of Peterson's store. Dr. Munger plans upon having one of the finest office buildings in the county.

Margaret, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. I. C. Munger, received a very painful injury last Saturday by being thrown out of a swing to the ground with such force as to fracture her collar-bone.

A deal was made this week whereby T. R. Adams and wife took charge of the Eagle hotel. Mrs. Manker and daughters, who have had charge of the hotel, went to Lincoln Monday, where they will run a boarding house.

Dr. I. C. Munger arrived home Tuesday noon from his trip to Canada, where he went to look after his wheat crop. When he arrived there he found that his wheat crop was not ready to harvest, so he returned home, leaving Ben Root in charge.

A deal was made this week whereby I. L. Creamer became owner of the Gerdes' restaurant. His daughters, Misses May and Lucy Creamer, took charge of the business Monday. We welcome the Misses Creamer as additions to our business directory.

Miss Mary Aronson, who has been sick for some time past with appendicitis, was taken to Lincoln last week and Saturday morning an operation was performed at the Shoemaker hospital. Her many friends will be pleased to learn that the operation was successful and that she is now on the road to recovery.

Scared Tom Patterson.

Nehawka didn't win anything at the opening games of the Plattsmouth tennis tournament in the way of trophies, but Bud Hall nearly scared Tom Patterson, the Cass and Mills county champion to death by almost winning the Tuesday morning singles from him. Dave West and Bud won in the doubles the same morning. They report the meet a success and believe if there was some way to treat the hookworm that seems to be devastating the local talent they could take a team out of here that would come mighty near cleaning up the next series.—Nehawka News.

A Fine Lecture.

From Saturday's Daily. Dr. F. P. Ramsay, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church at Omaha, delivered a good lecture at the Presbyterian church last evening on the subject, "What About the Bible?" On account of the hot weather there was a small attendance, and the fine thought of the speaker was not heard by the number of people that should have been present.

Mrs. J. E. McDaniel and daughter, Virginia, went to Omaha this afternoon.
