

PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS RECEIVED FOR MODERN WOODMEN'S BUILDING

The Contract for Remodeling and Reconstruction of the Same Will Be Let as Soon as Possible, and Work Completed With a Rush.

The building committee of the Modern Woodmen local lodge yesterday received from Architect J. P. Gueth of Omaha the specifications for the remodeling and reconstruction of the property recently purchased at the corner of Sixth and Pearl streets. This building, when completed according to plans adopted by the committee, will be one of the finest in the city, and one in which every citizen can feel a pride. The second story is to be raised and the building on the south and east wall veneered with pressed brick, the first story to be of dark and the second story of light colored brick with dark trimmings. The ceilings will be of steel and the building rendered as nearly fireproof as possible. The floor of the hall will be of hard maple and all of the rooms will be equipped with modern fixtures and furnishings.

There will be a hall or lodge room above, 42x45 feet, which is as large as the Coates' hall which will probably be occupied by the Y. M. C. A. On the first floor a large dining room and a roomy kitchen, with necessary equipment for serving banquets, will be arranged. Toilet and dressing rooms with every convenience will be added, and being on the ground floor will add very materially to the convenience of the dining room. Should the lodge decide to rent their dining room and kitchen to other lodges or organizations in the city it will have no difficulty in doing so, the convenience to the heart of the business district and the added advantage of being on the ground floor is a most desirable feature for such purpose.

The building committee met last night and considered the specifications and plans of the new structure and will be governed somewhat by the weather as to proceeding at once with letting the contract, but it is to be hoped that the work can be commenced soon, as a large and commodious hall will be sorely needed, if the Coates' hall, as is expected, should be devoted to other purposes. The M. W. A. is the leading fraternal order of the city, and its enterprise in planning to own its home is to be commended and there is no doubt but the hall will receive a liberal patronage from other organizations.

THE BLOCK SIGNAL RAILROAD SYSTEM AGAIN

Cure for Death Dealing Collisions Urged by Railway Paper.

Referring to the wreck record for October, the Railway Age Gazette says of the collision near Gilmore Junction between Missouri Pacific trains on October 15:

The most disastrous accident in this list is the collision which occurred at Gilmore Junction, Neb., on the fifteenth, in which seven persons were killed. This accident was reported in the Railway Age Gazette of October 20, page 802. The circumstances were investigated by a coroner's jury, and we have the somewhat unusual result of a verdict in which the main cause of the collision is correctly stated. It will be remembered that, according to the original account, the conductor and engine man of the freight left South Omaha without examining the train register. The coroner's jury finds that, in addition to this, these men perhaps mistook train No. 155, at South Omaha, for No. 105, which was to be met at Gilmore Junction; and "We further find that the mere keeping of a register, as now maintained at South Omaha, is not a sufficient safeguard." The verdict goes on to give further particulars, and in some respects shows a lack of necessary knowledge of railway practice; but everyone who has had experience with train registers, and who has seen the difference (in results) between this means of preventing collisions and the use of an efficient block system, will recognize the force and the exact accuracy of the main statement quoted above."

E. Wurl Displays Goods.

If you have not seen E. Wurl's shop window as trimmed up and decorated by that prince of window decorators, George Morrison, you have missed a beautiful exhibit. The window fronting north has been partitioned by the artist, half being devoted to the attractive dress goods for sale by Mr. Wurl and the other department to furs and fancy articles. In the design one can see the idea of a skilled advertiser who knows how to display his wares to the best possible advantage. Colors are artistically blended, lending a pleasing and attractive air to the scene and suggesting articles of beauty which would make an elegant Christmas present for a friend.

Fined $2 and Trimmings.

C. R. Keir, an apple-picker from south of Glenwood, was in the city yesterday and was run in by the police as a plain drunk. When sobered up the police judge took his temperature, looked at his tongue and pronounced $2 and costs. Mr. Keir explained his business in the city by saying that he had run out of apple-picking and chanced to be near the Junction in Mills county when he was seized with a terrible thirst and immediately set out for Plattsmouth, where he heard that his thirst could be quenched, and when he got here he took on more than was really necessary, which sort of paralyzed his pedal extremities, and in this condition the police took him to jail. He was allowed to go to his brother's and will bring the $2 the next time he is in town.

Ready for Holiday Trade.

The interior of John Crabill's jewelry store took on a holiday air early this week, and the skilled hand of an artist controlled in the decoration of the shelves and jewelry cases. A profusion of holly, autumn leaves, lilies and ferns lined the glass cases and extended suspended through the center of the store room. Over the doorways and windows the rich foliage of autumn and the blossoms are seen, all arranged with artistic taste. In the show cases and glass cases in the rear end and at the sides of the store are Mr. Crabill's large stock of fancy gold watches (ten dozen gold watches), beautiful clocks, numerous designs of cut glass and a large assortment of solid silverware. All or any of these will make a beautiful and practical Christmas present. The store is a scene of beauty when the brilliant 32 c. p. electric lights are turned on and the eye is dazzled with the brilliant display.

And it shall be the right of the widow, widower, or a majority of the heirs-at-law of legal age, of the estate of any deceased intestate or the widow, widower, or a majority of the legatees or devisees of lawful age, of the estate of deceased testate to designate the newspaper in which the notices pertaining to the settlement of the estates of such deceased persons shall be published. Lights the Moment You Want Them

THE Pilot Acetylene Gas Machine is entirely automatic in operation and requires no attention whatever. Every light is started with an electric spark, which does away with the use of matches, and also makes it impossible to open a gas jet without the gas being ignited at the tip.

This machine makes gas just as it is needed and positively no more. This it alone is a great saving over other machines that have a different style of mixing, which leaves a quantity of gas in the reservoir, which loses its burning qualities the longer it stands.

Gas from this machine can be run to any of our out buildings. This is absolutely the only machine that is giving perfect satisfaction at all times and under all conditions without any extra expense after installation. This machine can be seen any time at our store.

The regular business session was held, during which matters of much importance were transacted. After this a most enjoyable social time was indulged in by the ladies, some of them bringing fancy work and devoting a few of the hurrying moments to stitching on dainty needle work. Refreshments were served at the usual hour.
