Big Improvement.

The completion of the Jones livery barn adds wonderfully to the appearance of the block in which it is situated and Mr. Jones was very fortunate in letting the contract to Thomas Isner, who, with his competent help, pushed the carpenter work through during all kinds of weather; also John Hall, who placed the iron sheeting on the outside, having pushed his part of the work in spite of the disagreeable weather, and today it is fire-proof on the outside. Mr. Jones is very fortunate in securing Mr. Manspeaker as a tenant. He has had charge of the barn for the past eight years before the fire and no one tried harder to suit his customers, and now, with new horses and rigs, he can accommodate them better than ever and we predict for him a good business in the future. Mr. Jones has done a good thing for himself and the city. He has as much faith in the future of his home town as any of our citizens and we all think and hope he may get good returns on the money he invested. A Citizen.

Remove Ice at Bridge.

Mr. Pollock and a force of men worked yesterday at the Pollock-Duff bridge removing the ice from the Platte river under the bridge. They found the ice frozen about the piling to a depth of four feet. This was sawed away and floated out on the open water on the north side and down the river. Mr. Pollock is preparing to break up the ice with dynamite in a short time. The great amount of snow and heavy ice will cause the bridge company to use more than ordinary caution this spring to prevent trouble by an ice gorge. The floods of 1881 are recalled by bridge men along the river.

Condition Unchanged.

Clerk of the Court James Robertson received a letter recently from the Engleside authorities at Hastings informing him that the condition of Ellen English, a Cass county ward, was unchanged. Mr. Robertson was not aware that such a person was on the list from this county, and went back over the records thirty-three years to September, 1879, before he found the record, which at that time was not very complete. The complaint had been signed by Dr. Schildknecht and Dr. R. R. Livingston was a witness in the case. The age or details of the woman's ailment were not given. The authorities report to Mr. Robertson that the patient eats and sleeps well and is doing nicely; that she is in a good ward and there is no change in her mental condition.

Troubled With Rheumatism.

M. H. Pollard of Nehawka was a Plattsmouth visitor this morning for a time, being en route to South Omaha, where he intended taking the sulphur baths for rheumatism. Mr. Pollard has been troubled with this painful disease for some time and hopes to get relief from the baths.

Mrs. G. W. Livingston came in from her home this morning in time to catch No. 15 for Omaha, where she looked after business matters for a time.

COUNTY FARM IN A VERY FINE CONDITION

Report of Supt. Tams Shows That It is in Better Shape Than Ever Before.

J. H. Tams, overseer of the county farm, has just made his annual report to the county commissioners and the farm has never been on a better footing than at present, and by careful management Mr. Tams had an average of eighteen people and at times as high as twenty-three persons being fed and cared for by him at the county house during the year, and this, too, without calling on the county for any funds.

Mr. Tams' receipts from the sale of cattle, hogs, grain and fruit between March 1, 1911, and March 1, 1912, aggregated the sum of $4,191.58. He paid out for necessary provisions and repairs and harvest and threshing the sum of $1,190.88, and the items making the total of expenses are: Groceries and meat, $564.06; clothing and shoes, $68.50; mattresses, beds and springs, $47.75; drugs and paint, $64.60; hardware and lumber, $71.55; implements, harness and blacksmith repairs, $80.50; fuel, $209.68; expense male hog and chickens, $18; threshing, ice harvest and butchers, $60.24.

The following property is on hand: 200 bushels of wheat, worth $175; 800 bushels of corn, $375; 150 bushels of oats, $60; 1,200 pounds meat, $100; 40 gallons lard, $30; canned fruit, $15; 40 bushels potatoes, $20; 8 tons hay, $100.

The following live stock is on hand: Three work horses, 6 cows, 5 young cattle, 1 short horn bull, 37 hogs, Poland-China breed, weight from 100 to 200 pounds, and 100 Plymouth Rock chickens.

The above is the best showing made by any overseer for many years, and considering that last season was not an average crop season, except for the small grains, the showing is exceedingly flattering for Mr. Tams. His salary last year was only $900, and out of this he had to pay whatever help was necessary for him to have on the farm and in the house, so that the margin after his living expenses are deducted, is very slim; in fact he is about the only county official who is underpaid.

Buried in Snow Eight Hours.

From Wednesday's Daily. E. O. Furlong and wife and children departed for their home at Steamboat Springs, Colorado, yesterday afternoon after a six-weeks' visit in Nebraska and Florida. Mr. Furlong and family had an unpleasant experience on their way east. About seventy miles west of Denver their train ran into a snow-slide and their car was buried in the snow for eight hours until the men could dig them out. The engine was uncoupled from the passenger coach and the heat cut off. Fires were built in the Baker heaters, and there being no outlet for smoke the coach filled with it and almost strangled the passengers. Mr. Furlong opened a window a small distance and got his wife and children to sit near this so they could breathe the fresh air. This plan would not work and the women and children were then placed in the dining car and beds made on the tables and they were covered up there and kept warm in this way until dug out eight hours later.
