Champ Clark is "running like a skinned wolf" over in Iowa.

Quite a number from this city will go to Omaha next Friday to hear Governor Harmon.

Mr. Roosevelt has been speaking of the welfare of the farmer, and failed to tell the public how they can get any of it away from him.

Lady Warwick says life in America is too speedy, but if she lived over here a little she'd soon be assuring the chauffeur that she'd pay his fine.

Stock market tip: The advance will continue until the lamb pelts have been disposed of, after which a decline will take place to prepare for the next shearing.

Democrats should make up their minds to support any man nominated at the Baltimore convention, and be very careful what they say about this or that candidate before hand.

Great crowds have greeted Senator La Follette in his whirlwind campaign through Nebraska. He was greeted with immense audiences both in Lincoln and Omaha. He evidently has many friends in this state.

One of our republican ladies coming out of the Methodist church last Friday morning, after Senator La Follette had made his speech, remarked: "That was a pretty good democratic speech," or words to that effect.

The Lincoln Journal is proficient in one thing at least—in its endeavor to keep alive the bitter feeling between democratic leaders. It is always ready to "add fuel to the flames" and is only too glad to do so when opportunity affords.

The Journal regrets that Arthur Mullen, manager of the Clark campaign in Nebraska, has resorted to such methods as he has to gain votes for Champ Clark. His letter is not of that kind of literature as is calculated to pacify certain elements of the democratic party in this state. The writer has known Mr. Clark personally since 1885, when he was a member of the Missouri legislature, and always admired him for his genuine political honesty, ability and integrity. In these columns we have endeavored to treat all the presidential candidates the same, and have given no expression that anyone could tell where we stood on the matter. And we do not believe that it is right for a newspaper to give such expressions where there are three candidates running, either one of whom is liable to receive the nomination. The Journal does not believe that Speaker Clark endorses Arthur Mullen's mode of campaigning. It is not good for the party and we do not believe that any campaign manager is pursuing the proper course when he so bitterly antagonizes the friends of the opposing candidates. Speaker Clark is a good man, and no one knows this better than we do, but we do not believe the methods adopted by Mullen are calculated to help matters in the interests of harmony, even when the matters are settled and Mr. Clark should be carry Nebraska and finally land the nomination. "Harmony, by all means," should be the slogan.

Time to clean up your back yard and also the alleys.

"Good roads" is the slogan among the farmers now, as well as town people.

Teddy's hat may still be in the ring, but there is a terrible lot of fellows trying to kick it out.

The candidate who only gets one vote never feels much doubt as to where his support comes from.

The National Guard will not flinch if called to Mexico. Our "tin" soldiers have never been afraid of lead.

Taft's friends are sure now that he will carry Nebraska. Roosevelt has been losing out badly in this state the past week.

The government has issued arms to our citizens in Mexico, but what is most needed is the ability and willingness to run.

Uncle Sam loves Miss Jappy—at a distance. But this coming over to Magdalena bay is too close a Bunny Hug; even for leap year.

Will Maupin's Weekly: A lot of Nebraska democrats act to us very much like the fellow who bit off his nose to spite his face.

The successful campaign manager is the man who can take rainbows and work them off on the public as "all wool and a yard wide."

Melvin Vaniman persists that he is going to cross the Atlantic in his airship. He will be all right provided he can swim ashore.

If you get only one delegate out of a dozen, it is obvious that the Money Power must have bought the rest, or the majority would not be so big.

A woman has flown over the English channel. She was justified in taking extreme measures to get away from the suffragettes.

If those mountaineers do not stop shooting up the courts, Cuba will be sending an armed force up here to maintain stable government.

The slogan of democrats should be—down with the bosses and "let the people rule." That is where the true principles of democracy come in.

Congress has passed the bill for the Children's bureau. It is at last recognized that even the children will grow up to be constituents some day.

The difference between a democrat and a republican is this: A republican will not speak until he hears from the leaders. A democrat will let the leaders hear from him.—Fairbury Journal.

The old tradition that "if it rains on Easter Sunday it will rain for seven Sundays in succession," is a safe proposition in this section. No one would desire a prettier day than last Sunday.

As economy is the skeleton in the congressional closet which should not be alluded to in public, we are surprised that President Taft has prepared another message on this distressing subject.

The National Mothers' Congress should not bother about babbies, but take up questions that really worry the modern mother, like how to establish a long suit at "No Trumps," when you don't have good re-entry cards.

Easter Sunday was a most beautiful day. Old Sol was out in all his glory, which added greatly to the pleasure of the young ladies who desired to show their Easter hats, and they were out in all their splendor.

When a man runs for an office on the democratic ticket he should consult even his own mind before he is so sure that he has a right to go upon that ticket. We like to support true democrats, and nothing gives us greater pleasure, and a candidate who cannot fill the bill has his gall with him when he asks honest democrats to support him.

After fighting democratic battles for fifty years it makes a man almost feel like all efforts in that direction was time lost when he views the condition of the party in Nebraska. And what makes the condition so much worse is that our own party friends are to blame for such a state of affairs. Men who profess to be leaders and managers of the campaigns for several presidential candidates. All of these troubles occurring at a time when the party stood its best show of carrying the state. There has been too much bad feeling engendered, and the men who ought to be the last ones to create such discord among democrats will be to blame if the party is defeated in Nebraska this fall.

THE MAN FOR GOVERNOR.

Hon. John H. Morehead, democratic candidate for governor, in his published platform, says:

"For nearly thirty years I have been actively engaged in business in Nebraska, participating in the development of the state as a farmer, stock raiser, general merchant and country banker. I have had some experience in public affairs, having held various offices, among these county treasurer, mayor of Falls City and state senator.

"I invite careful investigation and inquiry among my neighbors and business associates in Richardson county, with whom I have been intimately associated for twenty-seven years, as to my integrity, character and ability. I am willing to submit my case on what they say.

"My varied business experience has brought me in close touch with all classes of people. I am in thorough sympathy with the business interests of Nebraska; chief among these are farming and stock raising, and in which I am still principally engaged."

This is a frank, manly position Mr. Morehead has taken—ready and willing to stand or fall by what his neighbors say; people who have known, associated and dealt with him for more than a quarter of a century. There are evidently no skeletons in his closet; he has always been clean, upright and generous, as he is today. As to ability, his splendid success, commencing at the bottom as he did is the strongest testimonial one could have. It is a waste of words and energy to string out in eulogy when lofty character stands out so fair and bright.

NUTS FOR CLARK TO CRACK.

Plattsmouth, Neb., April 6. Dear Sir: You are now pretending to be a progressive republican and a candidate for the nomination for congress from this district. As a republican voter, I feel free to ask you, through the public press, the following questions, which you may answer through the public press, for the benefit of myself, as well as thousands of republicans in this district:

1. Is it not a fact that in 1897 and 1899 you were nominated and elected to the Nebraska legislature by the corporate interests of Lancaster county?

2. Is it not a fact that you were a faithful and loyal servant of said corporations in said sessions of the legislature?

3. Is it not a fact that you were a corporation lawyer, in the employ of the Street Railway company, at the time you were a servant of the people (?) in the legislature?

4. Is it not a fact that you put in some fifteen years as a lawyer-lobbyist for divers corporations, which practice is now prohibited by law?

5. Do you regard passes, franks and rebates given by public service corporations to members of legislature, as being bribes?

6. Did you or did you not carry an annual pass over some of the railroads while serving as a member of the Nebraska legislature?

7. Is it not a fact that you bolted the nomination of Hon. E. M. Pollard both times he was nominated for congress?

8. Is it not a fact that you bolted the nomination of Hon. William Hayward in 1910, and voted for John A. Maguire?

9. Is it not a fact that you bolted the nomination of Senator E. J. Burkett and voted for the democratic candidate?

10. Is it not a fact that you voted for the democratic candidate for president in 1908?

11. Is it not a fact that you number among your close political advisers such old-time machine politicians (progressive) as "Bud" Lindsay, Tom Benton, J. H. Ager and "Joe" Burns?

12. Is it not a fact that you would, if sent to congress, render the same faithful and loyal support to the public service corporations as rendered by you in the Nebraska legislature?

Very Respectfully,

A. L. Tidd.

AFTER THE CONVENTION.

The World-Herald has given space to a lengthy statement from Arthur F. Mullen, manager of the Champ Clark campaign in this state, addressed "To the Democrats of Nebraska." The letter is devoted chiefly to criticism of the opposing candidates, Governor Harmon and Governor Wilson.

It is to be regretted that the Clark management feels it necessary to become a party to a campaign of recrimination. It is, to be regretted, in fact, that so many eminent democrats seem to forget that after the Nebraska primaries comes the Baltimore convention, and after the convention the long, hard fight for the election of the democratic nominee.

Champ Clark may be nominated at Baltimore. Stranger things than that have happened in politics. If he is, will he be any stronger in the campaign for all the harsh and unkind things his supporters are saying now about the other candidates? Will it tend to make those democrats who had supported Harmon, and Wilson, any more zealous and enthusiastic in his behalf?

Suppose Wilson is nominated, after his friends, from ocean to ocean, have spent months in denouncing not only Harmon and Clark, but the supporters of Harmon and Clark? In the great states which the democratic nominee must carry to win Harmon and Clark have multitudes of warm friends. Will their support, after they have been maligned for so long, go out warmly and spontaneously to Wilson?

The World-Herald deprecates this method of campaigning. The democratic party ought to gain control of the federal government in order that it may reduce the tariff, prosecute illegal corporations and regulate those that are legal, strike at special privilege wherever it rears its ugly head and give this nation an economical and efficient government.

That is what the democratic party will do if it elects a congress and a president, whether that president be Harmon or Wilson or Clark. These are the things that are important, and these are the things the party will accomplish if it does not, by its own foolishness, defeat its own purpose by discrediting in advance its candidates.

After the Baltimore convention all good democrats will be together. Every good democrat should be striving now, not to make it as hard as possible, but as easy as possible, to get together and fight together after the candidate is named.—World-Herald.

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Plattsmouth People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Plattsmouth residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

Frank S. Brinkman, Eleventh street, Plattsmouth, Neb., says: "I can vouch for Doan's Kidney Pills, knowing them to be a good kidney remedy. My back at times became so lame that the simplest movement was distressing, and I had frequent headaches and dizzy spells that caused me no end of annoyance. Mornings arising I could hardly drag myself about. In spite of the many remedies I tried, I found no relief until finally I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Rynott & Co.'s Drug Store. They effected a prompt and permanent cure."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Judge Travis left last evening for Nebraska City, where he holds court. An order of the court was entered a few days ago to the effect that there would be a session of the court on the 12th and 13th inst., when the present term would take a final adjournment.

Almost a Miracle.

One of the most startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Holsclaw, Clarendon, Tex., was effected years ago in his brother. "He had such a dreadful cough," he writes, "that all our family thought he was going into consumption, but he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, and was completely cured by ten bottles. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for Coughs and Colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at F. G. Fricke & Co.

It's Grandpa Fred Again.

From Tuesday's Daily
Once more the stork has been good to our esteemed friend, Fred Range, the meat king, this time the old bird left a fine son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Range, residing near Murray. The babe was born this morning, and Grandpa Range was notified by phone at once. Mother and child are doing fine. This is Alvin and wife's first heir and they are correspondingly happy. May the young man live to be the pride of his fond parents and as useful a citizen as his grandpa, is the wish of the writer.
