The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Holmes was the scene of a very delightful affair, when Mr. and Mrs. Holmes entertained at cards Thursday evening for Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown. Progressive high five was the game played and Dr. Gilmore captured the king prize, while Ed Tutt won the consolation. After playing the required number of games an elegant two-course lunch was served. Those comprising the party were: Messrs. and Mesdames W. C. Brown, Ed Tutt, S. O. Pitman, T. J. Brendel, Dr. and Mrs. Gilmore, W. G. Boedecker, W. S. Smith, James Loughridge, Misses Pauline and Fay Oldham, Margie Walker and Mr. Albert Young.

Misses Pauline and Fay Oldham gave a progressive lunch Friday evening. The guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown. At 7 o'clock a four-course lunch was served and the remainder of the evening was spent at cards. Mr. S. O. Pitman won the king prize and Mrs. O. A. Davis the consolation. The guests present were: Messrs. and Mesdames W. C. Brown, O. A. Davis, S. O. Pitman, Dr. and Mrs. Gilmore, J. W. Holmes, W. G. Boedecker, Alva Long, James Loughridge, Miss Margie Walker and Mr. Albert Young.

On Monday the most intimate friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown, wishing to be with them as long as possible, gathered at the hall with well filled baskets and invited Mr. and Mrs. Brown to eat their farewell dinner with them. The table was laden with all the good things imaginable to eat. Dr. Gilmore and Jim Holmes were toastmasters, as well as waiters, and even wanted the dishes as clean as cooks, but a taste of the pudding would prove that fact as false. The entire party went to the train at 4:42. No two people have left the community that their place will be so hard to fill and from time to time will be so greatly missed. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were never too busy to do a favor and it can be truly said of them that they were "friends in time of need." That they were appreciated in the community was demonstrated by the moist eyes and heavy hearts that bade them good-by Monday evening, all wishing them prosperity and happiness in their new home.

A Pleasant Time Enjoyed.

A Great Convenience at a Small Cost

A Telephone in the home promotes companionship and a feeling of security, permitting you to communicate with neighbors and friends, and with members of the family who are away. It should banish loneliness and bring a sense of comfort.

You need a telephone for shopping and for social purposes, as well as for emergency calls in case of fire, sickness or burglary. It may not cost as much as you think.
