Former Citizens in Town.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Morrissey of Tecumseh were in the city a few hours Sunday, coming up from Murray, where they were working in the interest of the Hibernian Fraternal Association. While here they called at the Journal office for a paper, and in conversation with them we learned that they were residents of Plattsmouth a number of years back, and being so close they thought they would come up and see the old town in which they spent their younger days. Mr. Morrissey was a switchman in the Burlington yards here for several years. They visited in various parts of town and found the old town very much improved since they lived here. They were nice people to meet and we wish they were residents here at present. They knew all the older residents.

WANT AND DISTRESS FOLLOW EARTHQUAKE

Great Fissures Opened in Earth by Seismic Disturbance.

Constantinople, Aug. 12.—The interruption of telegraphic communication makes it very difficult to obtain accurate details of the disastrous seismic disturbance which occurred on both sides of the Dardanelles.

Accurate figures of the number of victims cannot yet be tabulated, though some estimates place the death list at 1,000 and the injured at from 5,000 to 6,000.

In the town of Shary-Koy, which was completely destroyed, sixty persons were killed and 150 injured.

Fires are reported from many cities in which numerous buildings were burned. Fissures opened to a length of about a mile along the river at Lu Burgas, forty miles southeast of Adrianople, and from these apertures hot water, sand, foam and sulphurous vapors were emitted.

Everywhere in the stricken zone there is terrible want and distress. Appeals for doctors and help are constantly being received at the capital and the government is doing its utmost to satisfy them. The hospitals here are crowded with injured persons.

CATTLE FAMINE IS SERIOUS PROBLEM

Packers Becoming Alarmed at Situation in Iowa.

PUT BLAME ON THE FARMERS

Sale of Young Beef Stock Is Held Responsible for Shortage—Urges Law Prohibiting Sale of Cows and Heifers Under Seven Years.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Aug. 12.—The scarcity of cattle has thoroughly alarmed the officers of the South Omaha Live Stock company and also the packers, and a few days ago the manager for the Cudahys said they might be compelled to close their cattle killing houses entirely. He pictured a very pessimistic picture of the future if the farmers did not pay more attention to the production of cattle.

General Manager Buckingham of the stock yards also talked in severe terms of the beef shortage, of its consequences to trade and labor and of possible means of correcting the evil. He advocates the passage of laws prohibiting the sale of cows and heifers and providing a penalty for it for a number of years. He criticises the public, which he holds responsible for some of the shortage. He says the public demands veal and will have nothing else for months at a time, and says the country needs a lesson or two in the matter of conservation.

Farmers Are Responsible.

However, Mr. Buckingham charges the farmers with the greater part of the responsibility for the present beef shortage and says that the mad scramble to take advantage of the present high prices for beef of any and all kinds is causing thousands of short sighted stock growers into the error of selling off all their young cows and heifers, thus endangering the propagation of beef supplies throughout the country. He says the craze is nationwide.

It is said that a number of South American republics have passed laws forbidding the sale of the stuff under seven years and Mr. Buckingham hopes for a similar law here.

"While we are all ranting about the high price of beef," Mr. Buckingham says, "it seems that we are not getting right down to the real cause or looking for a remedy. What everyone interested in live stock should do is to encourage the raising of more cattle. In sections of the country there is room for the breeding of millions more cattle and hogs. As long as the cattle shortage exists there will be a better market for hogs, so they should not be neglected. With the great crops of grain we are having every farmer should turn to live stock."

ONAWA MAN KILLS HOLDUP

Puts Bullet Through Head of Robber When Stopped at Own Gate.

Onawa, Ia., Aug. 12.—An attempted robbery here proved fatal to the hold-up, whose body now lies in the morgue awaiting identification. I. A. Blotky, a prominent business man, was accosted on his way home just as he stepped into his own dooryard, and was commanded to throw up his hands.

Blotky carried a revolver in his side coat pocket, with his hand on the trigger, and as he threw up his hands he pulled the trigger, the bullet hitting the robber just above the left eye. The man fell to the sidewalk and the frightened storekeeper fled to the house. The robber lived but a short time.
