

THE DEDICATION SERVICES OF THE NEW M. W. A. TEMPLE SATURDAY NIGHT WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

The Program Arranged for the Occasion Consisting of Addresses, Music by the M. W. A. Orchestra, Solos by Miss Lucille Bates Mrs. E. E. Eaton, Refreshments and Dancing—Many From Other Points Present.

The splendid new building, recently completed by Cass Camp, Modern Woodmen of America, was dedicated with pomp and ceremony Saturday night, with much speech-making, music, elegant refreshments and a grand ball following. On the whole, it was one of the pleasantest functions of the kind the writer has ever attended. Saturday afternoon the building was thrown open for the inspection of the public, and many took advantage of the opportunity to look over the fine new home, which is to be presided over by the local M. W. A. The evening was given over to the dedicatory exercises, which were to be participated in by Woodmen and their families.

Before the hour set for the exercises to begin the Burlington Route band played several fine selections and held a large crowd at the entrance to the hall for some time. The hall was filled to overflowing, with many standing in the rear when the building committee, composed of Judge Beeson, Joe Peters, Harry Barthold, O. C. Hudson and Mayor Sattler, and the speakers of the evening, Attorney Cook of Malvern, Iowa, and N. C. Pratt and H. A. Gering of Omaha took their places at the front of the audience.

Judge Beeson presided and called for a selection by the M. W. A. orchestra. In making the introductory address Judge Beeson reviewed the experiences of the committee, its toils and troubles, and referred to the task of converting the building from an old hotel building into this modern and pretentious building.

Mayor Sattler was called on to make a speech of welcome, which he did in a neat way. Mayor Sattler started out by saying that he would not deliver the speech he had expected to, as Judge Beeson had already given it. He had spent some time in preparing the speech and was at a loss to know how the judge had gotten hold of it. However, the mayor got along fine. He reviewed the past of the city to some extent and remarked that the Woodmen deserved much credit for what they had done toward beautifying one of the prominent corner lots of the city. Mayor Sattler criticized the fellows who are holding the city back by knocking on every new improvement and praised the progressive citizens who keep their fronts painted and push right ahead. He advised all of the citizens to take a little extra pains to clean up their front yards and give the city a better appearance to the stranger coming into the city.

Ex-Mayor Gering was present and was called on next for a few remarks. Mr. Gering spoke for several minutes in a very pleasant vein, complimenting Cass camp for what it had done, he having been a booster in the local order for a number of years while residing in Plattsmouth. Mr. Gering encouraged all to get out and work for the order, and with the splendid building now for a home, which was more than nearly all other camps in the state could boast of, the membership here should be increased very much.

Attorney Cook of Malvern, Iowa, a brother of Dr. Cook of this city, was called on and made an excellent talk for the order, saying that some of the brightest men in Nebraska were members of the M. W. A. and referred to Mr. Bryan as one of them, and Mr. Bryan was not a bull mooser either. Mr. Cook's speech was well received and heartily applauded.

Miss Lucille Bates then sang "A Bowl of Roses" and "A Rose in the Bud," miniatures by Robert Coningsbury Clarke. Miss Bates' singing is always popular with Plattsmouth audiences, and her effort of Saturday evening was rewarded by the warmest applause. The speaker who followed, Nelson C. Pratt of Omaha, complimented Miss Bates' voice highly, saying there were no sweeter singers in Omaha than Miss Bates.

Mr. Pratt was the last speaker on the program before the illustrated lecture by E. E. Wester. It was Mr. Pratt's pleasant duty to make the dedicatory address, which he did in a masterly way. Mr. Pratt told the audience of his connection with the Modern Woodmen of America, that he was one of the charter members of Camp No. 2, which he joined in Illinois before coming to Nebraska. He spoke of the growth from a small order to the greatest in the United States, if not the world, and said the human mind could not comprehend the number—one million men. The mind was also staggered at the estimation of the vast aggregate of money which the company had already paid out for its members.

Mr. Kester then entertained the company with views thrown upon the screen, explaining the work and buildings of the M. W. A. sanitarium near Colorado Springs. Among the interesting views of the hospital scene was a tent belonging to Cass camp, which this camp has furnished, and which was used by the late Wesley Grassman for a time, one view being taken with Mr. Grassman standing in the door.

After the views Mrs. Edna Eaton sang a beautiful solo which touched a responsive chord in the hearts of the audience, and Mrs. Eaton was encored, to which she responded with a lullaby that also evoked applause.

Dainty refreshments were then served, consisting of ice cream cones and cake, with lemonade. The chairs were quickly removed and the ball opened. It was nearly 11 o'clock when the dance started, and despite the torrid atmosphere the hall was thronged with dancers, who tripped the merry dance until midnight. The entire program passed pronounced a great success.

HERE FROM WASHINGTON VISITING HIS FATHER

A. W. Herger of Washington, D. C., arrived in the city yesterday for a visit with his father, C. L. Herger, our genial baker. Mr. Herger, jr., holds a government position in Washington in Mr. McCabe's office in the department of agriculture as stenographer, and is spending his summer vacation in the west. The Journal acknowledges a pleasant call from him, in company with his father, this morning and we found him to be an excellent young man. He seems to like the west pretty well and tells us that he is also studying law and may some time locate in this part of the country.

MRS. WINKLER INJURED IN RUNAWAY SATURDAY

Mrs. Henry Winkler met with an accident Saturday afternoon while returning from Plattsmouth to her home, which resulted in her horse running away and breaking the buggy and injuring her slightly. Mrs. Winkler was driving up Wintersteen Hill when the trouble occurred. One of the bolts holding the shafts broke, or came out, and the horse became frightened, throwing Mrs. Winkler out and bruising her up considerably. The horse ran with the buggy, breaking the shafts and otherwise damaging the rig. Passers-by caught the horse, and while Mrs. Winkler was being cared for at nearby neighbors, a new pair of shafts were procured and the unfortunate lady proceeded to her home.

Attend Woodman Dedication.
John Wunderlich and John Whiteman, two of the progressive and substantial farmers from near Nehawka, came up last Saturday evening to attend the dedication of the new M. W. A. building in this city. Both are Woodmen of many years standing and are among the best farmers of Cass county.

Thirty Years Ago.
The following item is taken from the thirty-years-ago items in the Thursday issue of the Omaha News:

This was the first day of the open season for prairie chickens, and a number of Omaha sportsmen were out in the fields early in the morning, among them being Superintendent Nichol of the Union Pacific railroad, and J. E. Markel, who went to St. Paul, Neb., on a special car. Dr. Livingstone, Sam Chapman, A. W. White, William Neville, L. D. Bennett and U. V. Matthews of Plattsmouth, with ten hunting dogs, passed through Omaha en route to Norfolk for a raid on prairie chickens. A special car also left for Chester, Neb., containing H. W. Yates and Mr. Carter, Mr. Firth and P. E. Eustis of the C. B. & Q. for a hunting trip.

Young Alloway Dead.
The 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Alloway, of Louisville, died very suddenly at the home of his parents yesterday morning, presumably of heart trouble. The young man appeared to be in his usual health Thursday, and attended the street carnival, participating in the amusements, riding on the merry-go-round and the like. He leaves his father and mother and one sister to mourn his untimely death.

Henry Born, from west of town, one of the prosperous farmers of Cass county, was making his regular weekly visit among Plattsmouth business men today.

Mrs. C. M. Seybert, from near Cullom, was a county seat visitor today.
