Governor Wilson's crowds equal those of W. J. Bryan's sixteen years ago. That's going some.

Governor Wilson will spend Sunday, October 6, in Lincoln as the guest of the W. J. Bryan home.

Those who say that Teddy Roosevelt is no hypocrite may have forgotten his remarks concerning a third term.

A meeting will be held next Saturday evening for the purpose of organizing a Wilson club. The meeting will be in the council chamber at 8 o'clock, and everyone who desires to become a member is invited to be present.

From rumors that come from the national headquarters of the bull moose party at Chicago no one need be surprised if Aldrich soon makes another flop into the Taft bandwagon. The governor is very proficient in flopping—really more so than Michael Flip-flop Harrington.

When one holds a position under the present governor of Nebraska he must do just as the little governor wants him to, or off goes his head. We note Dr. Williams' denial of an interview with the Star reporter, when he knows it is the truth. And Dr. Williams claims to be a democrat, too. Not much of a democrat, that kind of a fellow.

The taxpayers of Cass county see in Julius Pitz a young man of sterling qualities and one who possesses great ability for the position of commissioner. He is as honest as the day is long, and if elected to this responsible position everyone having business before that board can depend upon receiving fair treatment at his hands.

The voters of Cass county are well aware of the fact that Hon. W. B. Banning, in the state senate, performed his duties admirably. He was a leader in that body, and no matters of interest ever came up that Bill Banning was not right to the front to look after the interests of his constituents. Senator Banning should be re-elected because he has proved faithful to the trust.

It looks like the democrats would carry Illinois in the three-cornered fight.

The motto of the bull moosers seems to be, "swat everybody that don't come our way."

The goose that laid the golden egg is a back number when compared to the American hen with her annual output worth three billion dollars.

No political prospects are so pleasing to us as the fact that business is holding up well under the strain of a political campaign. People are evidently becoming more sensible, regardless of how they vote.

Mr. Morehead proffers a question that Governor Aldrich debate with himself. By the side of the Aldrichian pretense of superior political virtue Mr. Morehead places the Aldrich effort to grab off a lot of perquisites in open violation of the constitution.

Speaking of candidates—a man may well be judged by the esteem in which he is held by his fellow citizens and neighbors. We'll venture the assertion that Morehead will get more votes in Richardson county than Aldrich will get in Butler county, and we'll allow for any difference there may be in the total vote of each county.

Hon. John A. Maguire will be around soon to see his many friends in Cass county. And they are many, too—many more than when he was elected to congress two years ago. Mr. Maguire has made such an efficient and faithful representative of the people that they all like him for the incessant attention he has paid to their demands at Washington.

A. M. Morrissey, democratic candidate for attorney general, has filed a protest with the secretary of state against placing the names of the progressive party candidates on the ballot in the general election. He charges that the petition filed by the third party is not signed by 500 bona fide electors, the number required by law, and that a number of the names are forgeries. And we would guess that Mr. Morrissey knows what he is doing.

Evidently the democrats made no mistake in the nomination of Governor Marshall of Indiana for vice president. He is now touring the west addressing immense crowds wherever he goes. And the best of it is, his speeches have the true ring, with an eloquent delivery. Governor Marshall is a very able man, and those who have had the pleasure of hearing him can easily see why the democrats of the Hoosier state were so persistent in their efforts to secure his nomination for the presidency.

The Lincoln Journal continues to misrepresent John H. Morehead's attitude towards the initiative and referendum. But it cannot evade the fact that Senator Morehead voted for the law as it is now before the people for approval. Nor can it disguise the fact that for political reasons it, and other republicans of its ilk, pretending to be whole-heartedly for the initiative and referendum, endeavored to "put the democratic legislature in a hole" by forcing it to submit an initiative and referendum proposition that would be open to attack.

The cold wave makes everybody feel able to bear the renewed political activity it will soon bring.

While we don't want Mexico, it would be wise if Great Britain owned it. See how well we get along with Canada.

Don't fail to be present at the council chamber Saturday evening and join the Wilson club. Everybody welcome.

Governor Wilson thinks the young man is going to play a more important part in the November election than he ever did before.

Roosevelt has promised to help Paul Clark out in the First district. He may help him out the wrong way, especially with the regular republicans.

The biggest day that Lincoln has had in a long time will be October 5, the day that Governor Woodrow Wilson will be in that city. Everybody will be there to get a peep at the next president.

There is fraud all along the line in the bull moose party in Nebraska, and the biggest fraud they have yet attempted is to get names upon the general election ballot by forging names to the petition to the secretary of state for this purpose. If this is true, what won't they resort to next?

Governor Wilson is new to the American masses, but he has steadily gained in favor as his acquaintance has increased. From the few days before the democratic convention until now, he has risen in popularity by leaps and bounds by reason of his simple sincerity and his apparent desire to be of real service to the people.

Governor Aldrich, candidate for re-election, and J. H. Morehead, democratic candidate for governor, each served the same length of time in the state senate. If, after a careful comparison of their records, you still think Mr. Morehead the better man, we won't have another word to say to you on the subject.—Hildreth Telescope.

Nobody knows how Paul Clark stands on matters that are of vital interest to the common people. It is intimated that he is a high protectionist. The people would like to know, Mr. Clark, if you are in favor of free sugar, lower duties on woolen and cotton goods and other necessities of life, and that if you are elected, will you vote for these reductions, and fight for the masses, instead of the classes? It isn't possible for you to sneak out of answering these questions. The people have an idea that you are interested largely in a certain corporation in Lincoln, and from this fact that you are in favor of taxing the masses, through protection, for the sole benefit of the classes. Speak up, Mr. Clark.

John A. Maguire has been a faithful and industrious congressman and is entitled to his full party vote. Under present disturbed conditions, and the party busting methods of his opponent, Mr. Maguire is likely to get a heavy republican vote and be returned to congress by the First district with an increased majority. Republicans do not relish having their party torn asunder by Aldrich, Clark et al for the benefit of Roosevelt, Perkins and the steel and harvester trusts and they are going to express their disapproval at the polls. They declare they are going to see to it that no party busters are elected to office this year and that Mr. Paul Clark is marked for the slaughter. Of course Mr. Clark, not being a republican cannot expect to get republican votes.—Lincoln Herald.

FIFTY MEN AND BOYS ENGAGED PICKING APPLES

From Saturday's Daily.

The Pollard cider mill has started and from now until December they will grind and squeeze apples for vinegar. They began picking the fall varieties of apples this week and by the time they get them out of the way the winter apples will be ready. They employ from forty to fifty extra men during the picking season and it makes the big cold storage plant give a pretty good imitation of a hive of industry. With the exception of the Jonathans the different varieties have borne well this year and while the crop is not quite so large as some years, it makes up in quality what it lacks in quantity.—Nehawka News.

LIGHTNING CAUSES LOSS OF 100 BUSHELS OF WHEAT

From Saturday's Daily.

Thursday night about 10 o'clock, during the storm that was raging about that time, lightning struck a large wheat stack on the farm of Albert Tschirren, about five miles northwest of this city, and destroyed about seventy or eighty bushels of wheat. There were four stacks on the place and it was with hard work that the three stacks were saved from destruction. The neighbors of Mr. Tschirren responded nobly to his aid and remained until all signs of the fire had been extinguished. Mr. Tschirren feels deeply grateful to the neighbors for their assistance to him at this time.

RAIN STOPS OLD SETTLERS' PICNIC AT ELMWOOD

From Saturday's Daily.

The old settlers' picnic did not terminate in Elmwood on account of rain. The forenoon program was abandoned altogether, and after a spasmodic drizzle lasting nearly half the day the afternoon program was called off. A goodly number ventured in from the country, however, and the ball game between Elmwood and Murdock took place as advertised—but Elmwood did not win, as predicted, losing to Murdock on errors by a score of 2 to 6. The game was witnessed by a large crowd of interested spectators. It was declared one of the most interesting contests ever held on the local diamond. The dance in the evening at Langhorst's opera house drew a large crowd of young people.

Postponement of the picnic until some future date was taken under advisement by the park board and they have not as yet arrived at any definite conclusion. Their decision will be reported as it becomes known.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

THE RIFLE RANGE ROAD IN A DEPLORABLE SHAPE

From Saturday's Daily.

Last evening while an auto party from Omaha were en route to the rifle range to visit the officers there they became stuck in the mud on the road east of the city and the gentlemen in the party were compelled to come to this city to secure aid in dragging the auto out of the mud and to allow the ladies in the party to alight, as the mud was so deep it made it impossible for them to get out of the car. After a great deal of work the car was dragged out and the party was able to proceed on its way. This is a shameful condition of affairs, as the road north of the city is in almost as bad a condition and makes travel an impossibility.

Mike Mauzy Takes Vacation.

From Saturday's Daily.

Mike Mauzy, the foreman of the Burlington blacksmith shop, accompanied by his wife, departed last evening for Kansas City, where they will take the Union Pacific for Waukeenee, Kansas, where Mr. Mauzy has land interests, and from there they will go to Denver, where they will visit their son, Robert, for a time, returning home over the Burlington.

Six of the officers from the rifle range were in the city last evening and were informally entertained at the Elks' club by the members of the B. P. O. E.

Is Getting Better.

From Saturday's Daily.

Vilas Sheldon, who has been sick with typhoid fever for nearly five weeks, is reported to be convalescing. Should nothing happen he ought to mend rapidly. His greatest complaint now is that they won't let him have anything to eat. However, he has been promised a meal Sunday and is looking forward to that time with a good deal of pleasurable anticipation. The chances are, though, he will be disappointed in what his attendants consider a meal for a hungry man.—Nehawka News.

A CURIOSITY IN THE SHAPE OF CONTINENTAL MONEY

From Saturday's Daily.

Our friend, Lig Brown, of Kenosha, was in the city today looking after his week-end shopping and greeting his many friends. He brought with him a valuable relic of the days of our forefathers in the shape of a continental bill of the value, in those days, of the amount of forty dollars, and reads thusly: "This bill entitles the bearer to receive forty Spanish milled dollars of the value thereof in gold or silver, according to a resolution passed by congress at Philadelphia, September 26th, 1778." The signatures to the bill are so dim that we are unable to distinguish the names. It is printed on very common paper and is about 2 1/2 by 3 inches in diameter. Mr. Brown values this gentle reminder of the struggles our forefathers had in freeing us from the tyrants who ruled this land with an iron hand in those days. It is quite a curiosity for those who have read of continental money, but never seen any of it. Lig keeps the bill framed and prizes it very highly, as it has been an heirloom in the family for many years.

AN ADDITION TO THE SCHLITZ BUILDING

From Saturday's Daily.

There is to be erected on the south side of the building occupied by Adolph Geise a handsome brick addition, some twenty-four feet long. This addition will be made into small rooms and toilet rooms, which will be equipped with the latest plumbing and fixtures and will be up-to-date in every respect. The rooms will all be finished with handsome steel ceilings and concrete floors and will make an almost fireproof structure. The main portion of the building is to be overhauled and improved and when completed this building will be one of the best in the city. The work on the addition alone will cost some $1,500. The work will be done under the supervision of Contractor Larson, who expects to push it along as rapidly as possible.

CASS-COUNTY PEOPLE IN ARKANSAS DOING WELL

From Saturday's Daily.

T. L. Amick returned a few days ago from Monticello, Arkansas, near where several Cass county people are located, one of whom is our excellent young friend, John Vallery, and Riley Frady and families. They are all doing nicely and crops are looking fine at this time. Mr. Amick says that Johnnie Vallery will have 2,500 bushels of corn on 75 acres that he put in this season. In all he has a 480-acre farm, with timber and pasture, with only 75 acres that he broke this season. Some of our people who thought that a rustler could not make good in Arkansas will be compelled to back up after taking notice of Johnnie Vallery's first year. Mr. and Mrs. Frady are also getting along nicely.

Parme Theater Improvements.

From Saturday's Daily.

The workmen employed in putting in the new steel ceiling at the Parme theater have completed their work and it is one of the neatest jobs of this kind ever done in the city. Krohler Bros. did the work and may be justly proud of it. The painters have not yet finished the entire theater, but it will be in good shape for the performance tonight of "The Rosary." The improvement in the theater will add greatly to the enjoyment of the show.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bish and daughter returned Monday evening from a month's visit and sight-seeing trip. They spent the first half of the month at Marion, Indiana, with Mr. Bish's parents and other relatives, and as this was the birthplace of Mr. Bish, they enjoyed their stay there very much.

O. H. Allen, wife and daughter left last week for Wyoming and Montana. Mr. Allen is going on a business trip to ship to market 1,000 head of cattle that he has already bought. ## Cosmopolitan Club Dance.

The Men Who Succeed

as heads of large enterprises are men of great energy. Success today demands health. To ail is to fail. It's utter folly for a man to endure a weak, run-down, half alive condition when Electric Bitters will put him right on his feet in short order. "Four bottles did me more real good than any other medicine I ever took," writes Chas. B. Allen, Sylvania, Ga. "After years of suffering with rheumatism, liver trouble, stomach disorders, and deranged kidneys, I am again, thanks to Electric Bitters, sound and well." Try them. Only 50 cents at F. G. Fricke & Co.

A large line of invitation stationery is always carried at the Journal office.
