Notice the Large Ad.

In this issue of the Evening Journal you will find one of the largest ads of the fall season, announcing the Big Fall Sale at M. Fankler's Department Store. Manager Zucker is making the sensational sale of the season in this ad, and it will pay you to read it. Many bargains in many lines, all of which you will read with great interest if you are needing anything in the line of fall and winter wearing apparel.

SOLDIER BALL TEAM HERE NEXT SUNDAY

Manager Johnson of the Boosters has received word from the soldier team at Fort Crook that they will be here Sunday, prepared to carry away the honors of the day. The local team is determined to win the game and a battle royal may be expected, as our boys have been playing in winning form in the last few games and all of the regular team will be in the game Sunday, and if the soldiers win they will know they have had a fight. The lineup for Sunday will be: Herold, catch; Noah, pitcher; McCauley, first; C. Smith, second; L. Smith, short; Arries, third; Mason, left field; Mann, center; Beal, right.

Cases in Court.

The case of the Bradley, Catron Co. of Nebraska City vs. Scott & Kerschauer of Weeping Water was on the docket at the county court today. The defendant firm took a continuance. The suit is for goods sold and delivered by the plaintiff to the defendant firm.

Fine Time at Red Men's Hall.

The old-fashioned dance given last evening by the Red Men at their hall was very successful in every respect. There was a fine sociable crowd present and the music was enough to make any man's heart glad. There was a fine growing to such an extent that they will probably be continued throughout the winter months.

Some Fine Apples.

Our excellent friend, W. H. Heil, from west of the city, was in town last Saturday and called at this office, leaving with the publisher a sample sack of some of the finest apples we have seen this season. Mr. Heil is one of those readers that never forgets the publisher when he has something extra good in the fruit line. Many thanks, Mr. Heil.

GOING AWAY FROM HOME TO GET THE NEWS

The following from the South Omaha Daily Democrat of Monday is like going away from home to get news:

"Charged with robbing a store at Mynard, Neb., Nick Boles and James Lewis were arrested on a Missouri Pacific train here last evening by Captain Eisfelder and Detective McGuire. Plattsburgh authorities wired that the two men were probably headed this way. Shortly after receiving word the two officers went down in the railroad yards and boarded a Missouri Pacific passenger that had just pulled in. The two men were arrested, on the description received from Plattsburgh."

The above sounds a little "fishy" to us, from the simple fact that the Journal meets and interviews the officials of both city and county every day, and they have never "chirped" on anything of the kind.

RALLY DAY AT THE METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY

Next Sunday, September 29, will be Rally day at the Methodist church. The regular Sunday school service will be held at 9:30 a. m., combined with a short program. It is the plan of the management to get every member of the church and the school out on that day for a general booster campaign for the further enlargement of the Sunday school and its usefulness. The enrollment now, including the home and cradle roll departments, is 450. It is hoped to make this 600. Let every parent and member assist in this forward movement. Strangers in the city or any who do not attend Sunday school elsewhere are invited to attend this Rally day service.

Sunday School Convention.

The Cass county Sunday school convention at Alvo on October 10 and 11 promises to be one of the most successful ever held in the county, and every Sunday school should send delegates, as these meetings are full of good things for those who attend and serve as an inspiration to the workers in the Sunday schools. A number of the state workers will be present and much good, thoughtful ideas will be given the delegates.

Fine New Boy.

The people who noticed George Sayles this morning wondered at his excited and jubilant manner, but he is to be excused because a fine nine-pound young man arrived at his home yesterday, and as he is the first boy, it is no wonder George is delighted. The mother and little son are getting along nicely and George and the little sisters are sure this is the finest boy that ever was.

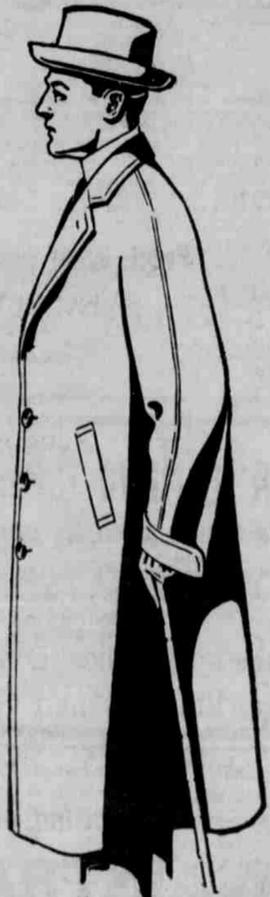

THREE-YEAR-OLD SON OF PHILIP TRITSCH INJURED

Yesterday afternoon while playing around the barn at his father's farm, west of this city, Willie, the little 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Tritsch, received a very severe cut on the face between the eyes. It is supposed the little boy got in where the horses were and was shoved or kicked against the partition, inflicting the wound. Medical aid was summoned at once and the little boy was made as comfortable as possible and this morning was resting easily, with good prospects of being able to be out again in a short time.

Didn't Know It Was There.

William Rice, while engaged in getting some wood at his home this morning struck his clothes line with the ax, which rebounded and cut quite a gash on his head, which, while not dangerous, is very painful and he will carry his head bandaged up for several days at least, and the next time will be sure the clothes line is out of reach of the ax.

Your ideas of economy probably include value as well as price. What you pay is important of course—what you get is more so. And it is on a basis of "what you get" that we commend these overcoats at $15 and $20 to your attention. Every good color and style—something to suit all tastes.
