"The Arab" offered a most attractive picture of present day life in the country that lies in historic Damascus, and is a story of romance and satire that holds much that is interesting and thoughtful. The plot is a most interesting one. It is of the son of a desert sheik, who has come in contact with western civilization in his capacity of courier. He falls in love with the daughter of an American missionary who is ministering to the theological wants of a Syrian village. When the lives of those living in the mission are endangered by fanatical rioters, it is he who saves them. He finally is rewarded by capturing the heart of the pretty American. It was admirably produced with a cast of splendid characters, every one an expert in his or her part, and the scenery and electrical effects were beautiful.

Guy Cauffman and his wife, Constance, as Mary Hilbert, a missionary, are certainly stars. They play with a grace that at once gains the hearts of the audience. The two brought out every detail of the beautiful drama and made it so popular with the audience. They were the central figures in many amusing situations. Ed Aiken, as the governor, was fine, and Robert Taylor as Robert Knikshanks, an American, was an excellent character. He was right at home in his part. Mr. Taylor has been here before with other shows.

"The Arab" was all that was claimed for it. It is an excellent production; it was fascinating.

MANY CHANGES IN THE PAST TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

The City Girl Can No Longer Boast Over the Country Girl on Dressing in Style.

There was a time when the country girl was a distinct personality. She could be distinguished by her dress, conversation and manner, but now that time has absolutely disappeared. The fashion magazines have put her in touch with city life and she dresses in style that is up-to-date with her city sister in dress. Then the stores where women's ready-made clothing is sold enables her to fit herself out at a small expense, in accordance with the latest styles.

A few years ago the girl of 13 or 14 was ill-dressed, awkward, because of her ill-fitting garments, and the butt of her older brothers and sisters who delighted to torment her. Today she is a thing of beauty and joy forever. The dresses for young girls are artistic beyond any former belief, and she is the delight of the household, instead of being a thing to apologize for and to criticize and to nag.

As for men, they all dress alike. You'll find the same well-dressed citizen anywhere you go. The rustic is no longer clad in a garb of rusty black four or five seasons old, but he rides to town in an automobile, buys his goods of a first-class tailor or clothing store, and is now a citizen of the world, independent, sober, reflective and fully acquainted with his rights and duties. The old-fashioned countryman with hay seed in his hair only exists on the stage. He is found nowhere except as a fossil. The evolution of the rural residence has become complete.

MRS. WILL WHITE PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Will White, who has been quite low for several days, passed into the Great Beyond this afternoon at 1:55 o'clock. Mrs. White had not been well for years and had been compelled to lead a retired life for the past few years. She leaves surviving her three sons and one daughter, namely: David, Harry, Arthur and Adelia, and one brother, David Babington, of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Cornell, of Alamosa, Colorado. They were all present except Harry, who is en route from his home at Alamosa. The funeral arrangements will be made upon his arrival.

INSTALLING A BABY ROOM AT THE PARMELE THEATRE

Another big improvement is to be installed at the Parmele theater by Manager Shlaes. It is the installing and equipping of a nursery room at the theater, where parents may leave their babies while they are attending the plays. There will be a nurse in attendance and the babies will be furnished with the purest of sanitary milk and the best of care taken of the little folks. This is a reform that has been much needed in the theater, as the parents can attend the play and not be forced to get up and go out with the children when they become tired or are crying.

THE FIRST STATE CANDIDATE TO COME TO PLATTSMOUTH

Hon. John W. Kelley, of Beaver City, candidate for secretary of state, came in this morning from Omaha to interview as many of the democrats as it is possible for him to see. The writer knows Mr. Kelley personally, having served one term with him in the legislature, and we can vouch for his qualifications for the position for which he is a candidate. John W. Kelley is one of the best fellows in the world, and besides serving as a member of the house of representatives, he was sergeant-at-arms of the last house. He was also grand master of the I. O. O. F. of the state for one term, and stands in the front rank of Odd Fellowship. He is one of the best of democrats and has always been identified as a friend of the common people. He is genial, whole-souled and is in every way efficient for the office of secretary of state.

Like Mother.

It is not a joke only when a man looking back to the happy days of his boyhood says: "I wish I had the food mother used to make." The good, old home cooking was a delight, all the food being cooked thoroughly and in such a variety as was most pleasing and most healthy. In these days of speed we are ruining our stomach by eating improper food without chewing it thoroughly. This brings on many ailments and we should know a remedy which gives prompt relief. Such a remedy is the well known Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine, because it will stimulate the digestive glands to an energetic activity and thus will create a healthy appetite. It strengthens the muscles of the intestines and prevents constipation. It should be used in diseases of the stomach and the bowels. At drug stores, Jos. Triner, 1333-1339 S. Paul Budig in Town.

Paul Budig, representing the Budig cigar factory of Havelock, was in the city yesterday, also going over to Pacific Junction in the interests of their line of cigars. Their 5-cent leader is the "Denver Special," the same as was made in this city for so many years, and was quite a favorite. Paul paid this office a pleasant call, and in conversation with him we learn that he has been enjoying an excellent business in Havelock. He is employing two men at this time, and they are kept busy all the time in order to supply the demand at home. This is his first visit to Plattsmouth since moving to Havelock, and, of course, sold several orders for his line. We are pleased to learn that they are enjoying a good business, as Paul is a good cigar maker, understands the line and is deserving of success.

GERMAN DAY IN PLATTSMOUTH OCTOBER 5

The Committee in Charge Are Arranging for a Big Time for the Germans.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the German day celebration have completed the program for the day and it is going to be one of the finest events ever pulled off in the city. The Parmele theater has been secured for the speaking, the presentation of an elaborate German play by a most excellent company from Omaha. "THE ARAB" THE NEXT ATTRACTION AT THE PARMELE

An Interesting Plot, Full of Adventure, Love and Romance.

The next attraction at the Parmele theater is "The Arab," on Wednesday night, October 2, said to be one of the most interesting productions of the present time. It is drawing crowded houses everywhere, and, as will be seen from the following, clipped from the Nauvoo (Ill.) Rustler, it is giving general satisfaction:

"The Arab" was the opening bill of the Nauvoo opera house for the season of 1912-1913, last evening, and it was a most delightful production for the opening. There was a splendid audience present to witness the play, even at the prices of 50c, 75c and $1. Some objected to paying such prices, but they go to Ft. Madison and attend plays and pay the prices without a murmur, and often do not see any better productions. Manager Elmer Fisher is endeavoring to get the better attractions to come to Nauvoo and to do so must keep the prices up to those in the neighboring cities, and he must have the encouragement of our people if these kind of attractions are to be brought here. It is up to you to show by your patronage of such plays whether you want them in preference to "barn storming" aggregations at 25c and 35c. Our people go to boat
