

The Next 2 Days

will be good days for you if you follow up this ad. Listen! We still have a few Winter overcoats left. They are all good fine wool coats—blacks, tans and grays. We don't want to carry over a single coat. Rather lose money on them than hold till next season. The new Spring goods are here. We need the room. We propose to practically give these coats away to the first comers at the ridiculous price of $6.75 Cash!

We can't afford to pay for much space to advertise these coats at this price, but if you want a good all-wool coat that will easily last you 2 to 4 years for $6.75 here's your chance. Come on and get it. You can see them in our window. You can try them on if you come in. You might find one of those $7.50 suits to fit if you come this week.

IN HONOR OF THE FATHER OF HIS COUNTRY

Woman's Relief Corps and G. A. R. Post Celebrate George Washington's Birthday.

In honor of the birthday of George Washington, the members of the Woman's Relief Corps and McConihie Post of the Grand Army of the Republic, gave a most pleasing entertainment at their hall Saturday evening, which was largely attended, despite the snowy weather, and all who attended felt well repaid in the delightful program that was given, as well as the most enjoyable social time participated in by the old soldiers and their guests.

Mrs. Allen J. Beeson favored the gathering with two most pleasing humorous readings, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening, as did the vocal numbers furnished by Miss Ferris York, who has a beautiful voice, and her selections proved a rare treat to the audience. Mrs. J. H. Thrasher gave a reading which was much appreciated, and the whole program was one of more than exceptional merit and the Post and Relief Corps feel very fortunate in having secured such excellent features for their entertainment.

After the close of the program the ladies of the Corps produced the star feature of the evening in the shape of refreshments, and they had promised something out of the ordinary in this line, and they certainly did, for there was pies and cakes of every kind and description on hand. The jolly crowd made short work of the delightful treat and many words of praise of the excellence of the work of the ladies in the pastry line was heard on every hand.

At the close of the evening the Post took charge of the gathering and several patriotic songs were given by the old soldiers, assisted by Miss Violet Freese, who presided at the organ, and the stirring strains of the old war songs brought back to the old veterans memories of the stirring days of the civil war.

WORKS AT HARNESS TRADE FOR THIRTY-THREE YEARS

You would never think it to look at him, but Frank Wheeler has served a third of a century at the harness business and has not passed the age where he is averse to being called one of the boys. Thirty-three years ago Tuesday Frank entered a harness shop out in York county, Neb., as an apprentice, and to use the expression of the mule skinner, he has been "slinging leather" ever since. He has become quite an expert in these thirty-three years and there are farmers in Cass county who would not think of buying a harness unless they knew that Wheeler made it.

Every line of work is said to have its compensation and Frank Wheeler is compensated when he sees that his workmanship is indispensable.—Louisville Courier.

REJOICES OVER GRANDSON AT HOME OF PETER MADSEN

There was much rejoicing at the home of "Uncle" Peter Madsen and wife in this city when the news was received of the birth of a fine new son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Lancaster at Nelsonville, Ohio, on February 18. Mrs. Lancaster was formerly Miss Celia Madsen of this city, and her host of friends here will be delighted to hear of the arrival of the new son and trust he may live to be a joy and comfort to his parents. The grandparents in this city are delighted with the news of the arrival of the young man and Uncle Peter was around this morning handing out the cigars over the advent of the young man, and we trust he may grow up to be as worthy a citizen as his grandfather.

A VERY PECULIAR ACCIDENT AT EAGLE

As has previous been the custom, Mr. Jess Wall, a well and favorably known citizen of Eagle, went to the barn at the rear of his residence early Wednesday morning to feed his team, but until a late hour of the day his whereabouts was a mystery to his wife and relatives. After waiting for some time for his return to breakfast, Mrs. Wall decided that something had happened and searched the barn for her husband, but he could not be found. Later the father and brother of Mr. Wall were notified and a thorough search of the town was made. After learning that he had not left town it was decided to again search the barn, and after working in the haymow for some time he was found unconscious under about four feet of hay with a bad wound in his forehead. After being taken into the open air he soon regained consciousness, and after a close examination it was found that his wounds were not dangerous, and although he had been in the barn all day in a stupor he is able to be around again as usual at this writing.

Mr. Wall says that when he entered the hay left he stumbled over a man, who jumped up and struck him with some heavy weapon and that is the last and only thing he remembers of the circumstance. As no attempt to rob Mr. Wall was made, the party who struck him was evidently an outlaw who mistook him for an officer when he was so suddenly awakened, at least this seems the only logical solution the Beacon can present in absence of any further details of the affair at this time.—Eagle Beacon.

MR. AND MRS. C. E. LOHNES OF CEDAR CREEK IN CITY

From Monday's Daily. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lohnes of the vicinity of Cedar Creek, drove to this city this morning to attend to some business matters and in order that Mr. Lohnes might have his toe, from which he had the nail removed a few weeks ago, examined by his physician, as it was causing him some trouble. Mr. Lohnes was a pleasant caller at this office and renewed his subscription to this paper.

Gets Pension for Client.

Judge M. Archer is in receipt of a communication from the pension department at Washington informing him that a pension of $12 per month has been granted Mrs. Lovina Gess, widow of August Gess of Louisville. The pension was made payable to E. C. Twiss, who is guardian of Mrs. Gess, who is incompetent. The pension will date from January 17, 1910, and the first payment will be $432. Judge Archer is very painstaking in his practice before the pension board and has been very successful in securing pensions for his clients.

FOR SALE—Six tons of fine alfalfa hay; would like to dispose of it in one lot. Inquire at farm of William Gilmore, south of Plattsmouth.

MASTER GEORGE TOMAN CELEBRATES 9TH BIRTHDAY

Saturday afternoon a large number of little folks gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Toman in the south part of the city to assist Master George Toman in commemorating his 9th birthday anniversary. The jolly company of children romped and played all sorts of games which would make this occasion one which would not be forgotten very soon. At an appropriate hour a most delicious birthday supper was served, which greatly added to the afternoon's pleasures. Master George received a number of pretty gifts, which will be constant reminders of the happy event. The little guests wish him many more happy birthday anniversaries. Those who enjoyed this occasion were: Helen, Frances and Henrietta Toman, Mabel and Johnnie Gravitt, Hillary and Heston Green, Anna, Henry and Harold Hyde, Frances and William McCarty, Una and Eva Crook, Charles and Chester Conn, Donnie Vroman, Melvin and Elmer Jennings, George, Johnnie, Milton and David Toman, Hilda Julyan, Helen and Catherine Lutz, Frank Toman, Mr. and Mrs. John Toman.

LOUISVILLE. Courier.

Ducks have been quite plentiful on the river this week and local sportsmen have bagged a great many.

Henry Elson left this week for Sidney, Neb., where he purchased a quarter section of land. Henry is a hard working young man and the Courier trusts that he will succeed in his new venture.

Amel Franke, after an illness of almost one year of leakage of the heart, died at home at Cedar Creek Thursday morning. He leaves a wife and five children, who have the sympathy of the community.

Billy Sunday, the revivalist, talks of coming to Nebraska and holding a revival in Omaha. There are many who object to his coming. Don't be bluff, Bill, you can raise as much hell in Omaha as any place we know of, and they have it coming to 'em, too.

The numerous Nebraska friends of G. W. Mayfield will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from an illness that threatened to end his career. His recovery is slow, but the attending physician feels that within a short time he will be able to be out again.

New York has a state law protecting skunks. The Plattsmouth man who marked his Courier "refused" last week, ought to move there, where he would be protected as long as he lives. When he dies he can go to h—l as far as we care.

Herman Diers and wife of Gresham returned home Monday, after spending a week here assisting W. F. Diers in taking his annual inventory of stock. Diers Bros. have nine stores over the state and say that their 1912 business exceeded any previous year.

The suffragettes are coming to the front politically. The inaugural parade at Washington is scheduled to be a monster affair. We tremble to think of the time when the women will occupy the political restraints and us poor men will be the ballet dancers. Think of Major Richey, James Stander, Bill Diers and the Courier editor in tights dancing on their toes, with bald-headed women in the front row.

WEEPING WATER. Republican.

D. M. Johnson was in Grand Island Sunday and reports his daughter, Mrs. E. J. Wight, as improving.

Mrs. Hackathorn and two children, of Walthill, Neb., spent Sunday with C. L. Hackathorn and family.

Professor and Mrs. R. J. Pool of Lincoln and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pool of Wabash spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. William H. Pool.

Nell DeWolf and Charles went to Plattsmouth Friday afternoon to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Manspeaker for some time.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reynolds, west of town, on February 10, a boy, is what one of the stork's assistants, Dr. Welch, reports.

The Misses Anna and Ethel Hitchman and Miss Grace Teegarden went to Kansas City Saturday morning for a couple of weeks' stay at the wholesale millinery houses, getting posted on the coming season's styles.

Mrs. J. S. Moulton left Friday morning for Greenwood, where she will be joined by her mother, Mrs. Jessie Lever, and they will journey on to Worcester, Mass., to see her sister, Mrs. A. Turner, who is very sick.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of one of our esteemed young men of this community, Carroll C. Colbert, to Miss Vera Coffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coffin, at their home in Ashland, Neb., on Saturday evening, February 22, at 7:30 o'clock.

Married—Thursday, February 13, 1913, at the home of the groom's daughter, Mrs. Ed Cole, in Lincoln, Mr. John H. Fitzpatrick, aged 63, and Martha J. Dunn, aged 59. This highly esteemed couple are too well known in Cass county and this vicinity for the Republican to attempt to introduce them to the readers. Much happiness to them.

EAGLE. Beacon.

Mrs. Vanlandingham went to Plattsmouth Monday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Setz.

George Trunkenholz is having some needed improvements added to his cement plant this week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Carper and family of Manly spent Sunday with C. E. Barrett and family.

Jack Lyell shipped a couple of earloads of cattle and hogs to the South Omaha market last week. Hugh Norris accompanied them.

Mr. Watkins returned Tuesday to his home in Minneapolis, Kansas, after a five weeks' visit with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Benz.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Dougherty, four and a half miles northwest of Eagle, Wednesday, February 19, an eight pound girl.

Mrs. F. W. McManis received word from Bennett Monday morning informing her of the arrival of a baby brother at the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Boudis.

A deal was made last week whereby Jack Lyell and A. H. Vanlandingham took over the stock business formerly owned by August Bergman. When having anything in their line for sale, don't fail to let them know about it.

Clayton Campbell of Lincoln spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Tom Hawkins. Clayton, who formerly played with the Eagle base ball team until last year, when he made good with the Sioux Falls, S. D., club, has signed up for another season with Sioux Falls and will report for spring practice early in April.

ELMWOOD. Leader-Echo.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles West are rejoicing over the arrival of a bouncing baby boy at their home, on Sunday last.

Cyrus Tyson, an employe of the Dietz Lumber Co., Omaha, spent Sunday here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Tyson.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Langhorst of Weeping Water were Sunday guests at the home of the latter's brother, L. F., of this city.

Wm. Monroe has moved his family over from Murdock into the F. A. Raker residence. We are pleased to welcome the Monroe family to Elmwood.

The stork was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vogt Monday morning, leaving a beautiful baby daughter of regulation weight.

Mrs. F. W. Robb and daughter, Jane, of Billings, Mont., came Saturday for an extended visit with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Tyson.

Mrs. Phil Henderson and children came in yesterday from Oakwood, Okla., for a few days' visit at the James Durbin home, after which they will go on to their new home near Brunswick, Neb.

Two wolves were killed in the wolf hunt Monday, and the largest crowd ever seen at a wolf hunt in this community was there to take a peck at 'em. Guess the coyotes are getting pretty scarce in these parts.

Frank Daugherty moved last week to one of the Schlanker farms, in the vicinity of Alvo, and will hereafter play checkers on a different checker board. Frank is a dandy good fellow and a good neighbor; he makes good and makes friends wherever he goes. We wish him all kinds of success in his new location.
