THE DEATH OF MRS. JOSEPH HADRABA'S BROTHER, JOHN BURKE

From Saturday's Daily.
Joseph Hadraba and wife returned yesterday from Wheatland, Wyoming, where they were called by the death of Mrs. Hadraba's brother, John Burke, who died in that city after an illness of two days with pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Hadraba left here a week ago yesterday and reached Wheatland Saturday afternoon and the funeral of Mr. Burke was held Sunday from the Methodist church in Wheatland under the auspices of the Odd Fellows and the Daughters of Rebekah, and was largely attended by the friends of Mr. Burke in Wheatland, where he had been a very highly respected citizen for several years. Mr. Burke was 48 years of age at the time of his death and was unmarried and leaves three sisters and one brother to mourn his untimely death, namely: Mrs. Peter Akeson, Chappell, Neb.; Mrs. Gilgreen, Dalton, Neb.; Mrs. Joseph Hadraba, Plattsmouth, and Gus Burke, Dalton, Neb. He was a member of the Masonic order and the I. O. O. F. and the Loyal Mystic Legion of America. He was a man well liked by everyone who knew him and his death came as a great shock to his friends in Wheatland and to the relatives who were all at Wheatland to attend the funeral services. The trip was very wearing on Mr. and Mrs. Hadraba and on the return trip they were compelled to go through very stormy weather, it snowing very heavily in the west portion of Nebraska, and as they proceeded east the rain was very heavy.

THE CALABASH PIPE INDUSTRY IN NEBRASKA

An article appeared in the Omaha News recently in regard to the Calabash pipe industry and the increasing number of persons who were engaged in the raising of these gourds, whose popularity as a means of making pipes is rapidly increasing. Those who have investigated the subject find that the soil of this part of Nebraska is particularly adapted to the raising of the gourds and that in the soil of Nebraska the gourds grow as luxuriantly as in that of South Africa, where they were first found. Mike McCool of this city has raised a large number of them and sold a few to his friends, who had pipes made of them equal to the finest put on the market, and this season he will again plant some of the gourds, as there is a steadily growing demand for them to make into pipes.

CHARLES L. CURRIER, WELL KNOWN HERE, APPEARS IN VAUDEVILLE

There are many former members of the Burlington band and others here who will learn with pleasure that Charles L. Currier, who was solo cornet player in the band here for some time has stepped into the vaudeville field and has been making a very successful tour with his company through Wyoming, Colorado and Montana and has met with great success everywhere. Mr. Currier appears in a musical act, and as all here well know, he was a master on the cornet, and there is little wonder that the company has been so well received. His wife is also a member of the company, which has some high-class vaudeville acts. While at Wheatland, Wyoming, last week, Mr. Joseph Hadraba and wife had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Currier, who was delighted to see some one from Plattsmouth, as he has some very pleasant recollections of his residence here, and inquired after his many friends, and especially members of the old band and their efficient leader, E. H. Schulhof. If the Currier company comes to this part of the country it is to be hoped they will make Plattsmouth a visit.

Humor and Philosophy
By DUNCAN M. SMITH
PERT PARAGRAPHS.

BEING a friend is a matter of conscience with some people and a mere profession with others.
Fishing is a sport that requires patience and a good imagination.
Money making is one of the industries in which quantity is first considered before quality.
The man who is unable to tell a lie is sure to be able to secure help from the first man he meets.
When a woman has learned not to cry she has gone a long way along a hard road.
The less you care for a person the easier it is to forgive his transgressions.
The man who says he dare not make love to a widow may not be so un-sentimental as he is superstitious.
The conception of liberty that some people have consists in going about running over the rights of others.
Answer not a fool according to his folly or he will go about proclaiming you his brother.
We may not be ashamed of what we know, but a lot of people are ashamed of how they know it.

In Retrospect.

Heigho!
And so
This job is off our mind
And we find
That, after all,
It was a small
And modest spree
Compared with what we thought
It would be.
The fall campaign
Has been cast
Into the past
With no regrets
And a few unpaid election bets.
And, say,
The bad taste in the mouth
Has almost gone away.
Do you remember,
Alice dear,
How seriously we took it
When it was here?
Each little side
Tripped
To make itself think
That the country
Would be on the blink
If it didn't glide
In right
Side up with care
And have votes to spare.
My,
But we were excited
And ready to bet our cash
That the country
Would go to smash
If it didn't go our way!
Today
We see things in quite
A new light.
Plain it is now,
We freely allow,
That this grand
And
Glorious old country
Of ours
Is self-saving.

The Reason.

"Why must you have a finger in every pie?"
"Just to keep my hand in."
None but the Expert.
"Say."
"Well?"
"Do you think a fellow could borrow a ten spot from Riche?"
"Well, the man who can ought to be able to get a hundred thousand out of Rockefeller."
Business Head.
"Farmer Jenks is going to live a life of ease hereafter."
"What has brought this about after his struggle?"
"He has traded his farm for the mortgage."
Rather Forcible.
"How do you like Miss Gay's make-up?"
"Looks as if she must belong to the impressionists' school of painting."
Explained.
"What do people mean when they talk about being 'at white heat'?"
"Maybe when they get right mad they turn pale."
The Way of It.
"Did old Skinner make his money himself?"
"No; he's a collector, not a counter-felter."
The Remedy.
I've had a lot of trouble
And worry in my day,
But very little, I confess,
I couldn't laugh away.
If you will meet it boldly
And do not turn your back,
But laugh at it, the chances
Are that it will laugh back.
This is, you'll find on trial,
As true as true can be
Except with bill collectors.
The point they do not see.

CORNELIUS BENGEN, SR. PASSES TO HIS REWARD

A Citizen Who Was Pure in Mind and Loved by All Who Have Known Him.

From Saturday's Daily.
Another pioneer resident has been called to answer the final summons in the person of Cornelius Bengen, sr., who has been quite low for some time, suffering from that dread disease, consumption, and had been gradually growing weaker until the end came at his home near Mynard last evening.
Mr. Bengen was born in Germany sixty-eight years ago, and came to this country when quite young and settled first in Illinois, and in 1873 removed to Nebraska, settling on a farm near Mynard, in which locality he has resided since that time. He leaves his wife and two sons, Cornelius, jr., and Jacob of Mynard, and three daughters, Mrs. George Bengen of Peoria, Illinois, Mrs. Thomas Ruby of Mynard, and Mrs. John Stones of Murray, to mourn his death, as well as a brother in Peoria. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon from the date home, conducted by Rev. Gould of Mynard, and interment will be made in the Horning cemetery, south of this city.
Cornelius Bengen, during his long residence in this county, had made many friends by his upright, sturdy traits of character and in his dealings with his fellow men and always conducted himself as he would be dealt with. A more extended biographical sketch will appear later in these columns.

CORNELIUS BENGEN, SR. PASSES TO HIS REWARD

A Citizen Who Was Pure in Mind and Loved by All Who Have Known Him.

From Saturday's Daily.
The severe blizzard which has swept over the west made the life of the railroad men anything but a bed of roses and the havoc that the storm made with the schedules of the various trains was something immense. No. 2 over the Burlington, due here last evening at 5 o'clock, did not arrive until 2:30 this morning, having been stuck by the storm near Brush, Colorado. The fast Chicago-Denver train No. 10 was snowbound at Akron, Colorado, with two engines and a snowplow endeavoring to get the train out of the immense snow drifts in which it was stuck, and the fact that this train was tied up so effectively caused the annulment of No. 6. It is hoped to be able to get No. 2 through this afternoon on time. The Union Pacific experienced one of its worst wrecks yesterday near Gothenburg, in which nine persons were killed and a large number injured, due to the blinding snow storm, which made it impossible for the train crews to see more than six or seven feet ahead of them.

A SENSIBLE WAY OF LOOKING AT THE MATTER

The Jail Proposition, Not a Question of Bonds, Looks Better Every Day.

The jail proposition—which will be a straight levy and not a question of bonds—looks better every day. Of course the west end of the county will fight it bitterly, and when election day comes will vote almost solidly against it. This will be done solely in the hope of bringing up the removal question immediately after; and if the jail tax is defeated the removalists will point with pride to the fact as an excuse for what they want. The Louisville Courier, the first paper to give publicity to the re-location scheme, admits that once the jail proposition is carried it is good-bye to the other. This is just what we have contended, that it is necessary to give the county a decent jail in order to quiet this talk about putting the court house on wheels for Weeping Water and Louisville to scrap over. It isn't just to make things convenient for the west end that these two towns are working their heads off to get that court house loose from its foundation. It is in the hope that one or the other of them will materially benefit thereby. People who behave themselves and quietly pursue the even tenor of their way haven't much business at the county seat anyway. One can pay his taxes at the nearest bank, and he can pay them with a great deal better grace with the county seat at Plattsmouth and the taxes reasonable than he could march into a new court house at Weeping Water or Louisville and pay enough to put a crimp into his roll for life. These two towns are fighting for their own interest, and they expect you citizens of Nehawka and vicinity to pay your share of what it will cost. It is up to you to decide whether it will be worth what it will cost, and if you do not think it is, take the Louisville Courier at their word and stop this removal talk by voting FOR the new jail. The election day is Tuesday, April 8.—Nehawka News.

JESSE PERRY IS NOW AGENT FOR THE SINGER SEWING MACHINE CO.

From Saturday's Daily.
The agency of the Singer Sewing Machine company, which has been without a representative since the resignation of William Jones Brown, has been accepted by Jesse Perry, who will in the future look after the business interests of the company in this city. Mr. Perry will still continue to run his barber shop and will look after the office work for the Singer people, as well as have the machines on display in his shop, where they can be demonstrated to prospective customers, who can have these machines shown to them by calling at the shop. Mr. Perry has been a very successful young business man and in taking up the Singer agency will make the company a very valuable man, as he has a long experience in business and is a good salesman.
