THE PLATTSMOUTH WATER COMPANY

No City the Size of Plattsouth Can Boast of a More Up-to-date Plant.

A representative of The Journal was invited yesterday to visit the pumping station of the Plattsouth Water company, north of this city, and the changes that have occurred there in the last year impressed themselves upon him very much. The water company, when it purchased the plant from the old stockholders two years ago, outlined a campaign of improvement and since that time the plant has been gradually growing until today there are few towns of this size in the state that can boast of as fine an equipped plant. The company about a year ago installed a large suction pump in the station and erected a brick addition to the building in order to accommodate it and followed this up by the starting of a fine filtering plant to furnish the patrons with the best and purest of water, and today, twenty-seven years after the establishing of the Plattsouth water works, it was placed in active operation and to appreciate what it means in the improving of the purity of the water it is necessary for one to see it in active operation. The water for the station is procured from nine large wells east of the main buildings and this water is taken up by the big suction pump into the filter house, where it is run through two large aerators, which send the water through screens in a spray and the air passing through the water before it enters the filter tanks below. The water in the filter runs through ten inches of gravel and fifteen inches of fine sand, which brings it into the settling basins in a clear condition and from thence it is pumped into the standpipe to supply the city with water for use. This filtering process is seldom found in a plant in a town the size of Plattsouth as generally their expense is so great that the companies do not believe the patronage warrants their use, but the Plattsouth company feels that the patrons of the company in this city are entitled to receive the best possible service and have made this improvement with the idea of placing their plant in the front ranks of any in the state. At the present time the plant here is in better shape to supply the city with water for fire protection as well as private consumption and the citizens here have a right to feel proud of the result of the efforts of the company and their efficient manager, Mr. H. M. Sinclair, to improve the service for them, and all who are able should make a visit to the plant to note the changed conditions. The interior of the new filter plant has been painted white and is kept in perfect sanitary condition, as are the filters which are cleaned each day after the process of filtering. There is a large 3,700 gallon tank on the roof of the building and each day the water is turned and is forced up through the sand, cleaning it of all dirt and impurities and the water is then run off through sluice boxes to the outside of the building, leaving the sand in the filter in a perfectly clean condition.

BENEFIT PERFORMANCE AT THE GEM THEATRE

The ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps will give a benefit performance on Tuesday evening at the Gem theatre in this city, arrangements having been made with Manager Shlacs in the matter of furnishing a special program suitable to the occasion and the ladies believe that they will be able to have a fine patriotic program for that evening. The members of the corps will sell the tickets and have charge of the show and what money they take in will be devoted toward furnishing their lodge room in the court house, which has been turned over to them by the county. The corps has during the past winter did a great deal of charitable work and their assistance has saved several families from want and as a consequence of their efforts along this line they were unable to furnish the rooms as they desired and are taking this means to secure the money.

HENRY A. SCHNEIDER ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT OF STATE ASSOCIATION

The state association of commercial clubs at their meeting at Fremont yesterday elected Henry A. Schneider, president of the club here, as the vice-president for the First district. This position has been held for several terms by Mr. E. H. Wescott and the state convention certainly selected a fitting successor for him in the person of Mr. Schneider, as these two gentlemen are the liveliest Commercial club men in the state and have devoted a great deal of time and money to the betterment of the club in this city, and if the state association next year desires a real live wire for president they will make no mistake in selecting Mr. Schneider and could rest assured that there would be something doing all the time. The delegates from this city returned this morning with the exception of Mr. Schneider, who departed for Lincoln, and they are loud in their praise of the treatment given them in Fremont by the citizens and club and there was nothing left to make the delegates feel that the city was theirs. The meeting closed last evening at the banquet given in the Masonic hall at which some three hundred covers were laid and the occasion was one long to be remembered. Governor John H. Morehead was one of the speakers on the toast list and his remarks were received with much enthusiasm by the assembled guests. This city was fourth in the point of attendance at the convention, only being passed by Omaha, Lincoln and Norfolk. The convention will meet next year at Grand Island.
