The school board at a recent meeting re-elected all of the teachers, but only two of this year's force will be back. The staff for next year will be as follows: Superintendent, V. Y. Craig; principal, Miss Lucy Keifer; assistant principal, Miss Mildred L. Sisly; grammar, Miss Lottie Wunderlich; intermediate, Miss Vera Baldwin; primary, Miss Rose K. O'Donnell.

This town needs a hotel and needs it bad. Everyone realizes that a building of this kind does not as a rule make a very profitable investment, but isn't there loose capital of the patriotic kind in this town to rise to the occasion? The two buildings here now that are at all suitable will not do nor can they be remodeled to do. What we need is a new building big enough and built modern. Who has the money and the patriotism?

LOUISVILLE.

Fred Diers of Madison came down this week for a few days' fishing and to visit his brother, W. F. Diers, and family.

News comes from Crete to the effect that Ollie Ellis of Omaha, formerly of Louisville, will be married to an Omaha young lady May 20.

Mrs. Lizzie Bryan-Parker died at her home in Detono, Minn. She will be remembered as having taught school in Louisville eleven years ago.

We are glad to report that P. C. Stander is able to be up and around again after an illness of several days, during which he was confined to his room.

Mrs. C. V. Mayfield and children are here from Breckenridge, Okla., having been called home on account of the illness of Mrs. Mayfield's father, Julius Ragoss.

Dr. Allison came down from Omaha last Friday evening and performed an operation on Mrs. E. C. Twiss, removing a growth from under one of her arms. The operation was most successful and Dr. Worthman, the physician in attendance, gives out encouraging reports which are gratifying to her many friends.

The new fire proof elevator of Keckler & Schafer is completed and is perhaps as conveniently arranged as any elevator of its size in the state. It is 26x16 and 50 feet high built of lumber and covered with iron. The foundation, bins, driveway, etc., is of concrete, which makes it as near fire proof as it is possible to erect a building of this kind.

W. C. Starkey, Burlington station agent for a number of years, has been transferred to Ashland, J. H. Enlow of Randolph succeeding him. The Starkey family will be missed in Louisville, where they have lived for so many years, and their many friends will join with the Courier in wishing them happiness in their new home. We welcome Mr. Enlow (the new agent) and his family to our town.

DR. J. S. LIVINGSTON IS HONORED BY STATE ELKS

The Elks at their state convention held in Lincoln Tuesday elected to the office of vice president of the state organization Dr. J. S. Livingston of this city, all of the former officers being re-elected with this exception. This is a much deserved recognition of one of the leading Elks in the state and one which reflects great credit upon the order, as the doctor has been one of the live wires in the order for a long period of years and has served as exalted ruler of the Plattsmouth lodge, which made great progress during the time he occupied the chair. The convention will meet next year at North Platte, and it is expected the attendance will be much larger than this year.

A Pleasant Surprise.

The St. Luke's Guild of St. Luke's parish held their regular meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. R. Livingston. The usual business session was held, after which the ladies indulged in sewing, conversation and the like. Just at the proper time the ladies of this organization were very agreeably surprised with a treat, in the shape of delicious ice cream and cake. The very much and it greatly added to the pleasures of the afternoon.

HENRY ROBERT HEROLD BITTEN BY DOG

Last evening while engaged in carrying his papers Henry Robert Herold was attacked by a dog belonging to a family on North Fifth street and received several severe bites on his left limb and was compelled to have a physician summoned to dress the wounds. He was unable to be out this morning and will nurse a very sore member for some time.

Parties who have dogs of a vicious nature should see that they are kept tied up and not allowed to run at large, endangering the safety of the public, as there is no telling who they may attack, and it is liable to result seriously for someone.

Ready For Summer.

Everybody is getting ready for summer by cleaning his house, but this cleanliness should also be applied to the organs of his body. The best remedy for this is Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine. This vegetable remedy acts directly on the digestive organs of the body, cleans out the intestines thoroughly, strengthens them and increases their working capacity. This assists materially in the digestion of food and allows us to accept as much nutritious food as the body needs in this season. It will fortify the body against early attacks of summer diseases. You should use this excellent remedy in every indisposition from the stomach, in weakness, loss of appetite, constipation, headache, colic and cramps. At drug stores. Jos. Triner, 1333-1339 So. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill. For external pains you should try Triner's Liniment. It acts promptly.

Next Occupation Address.

Mr. R. N. Towl, of the Towl Engineering company of Omaha, will give the next address in the series on "Occupations" at the Presbyterian church tomorrow (Friday) evening, at 8 o'clock. There will be music and luncheon.

RELATIVES RECEIVE NEWS OF DEATH AT PEKIN, ILLINOIS

The death occurred in Pekin, Illinois, yesterday of George Vetter, an aged resident of that place, as a result of a severe case of lung fever. The news was received here by the relatives in a telegram and was quite a shock to them, as his sickness was not known of. The deceased was related to the W. B. and Wendell Heil families, of near Cedar Creek, and was also a cousin of J. H. Becker of this city. He was about 75 years old and leaves a wife and two sons to mourn his loss. Mrs. J. H. Becker and Miss Lizzie Heil will leave tomorrow morning for Pekin to attend the funeral, which will be held at his late home Saturday.

SEEKS TREASURE IN CHALK CAVE

Spanish Gold Buried in Colorado Years Ago.

SAID TO BE $80,000,000.

Coins, Gems and Nuggets, Guarded by Human Skulls and Strange, Weird Figures of Stone, Repose in Chests in Place Where Spaniards Sought Refuge When Pursued by Enemies.

Somewhere at the base of Mount Princeton, eight miles southwest of Buena Vista, Colo., where the chalk cliffs stand like sentinels, in the Chalk Creek canyon, there lies buried a Spanish treasure of fabulous richness, said to be approximately $80,000,000.

It is said to be stored away behind the mighty walls of one of the many winding secret channels which penetrate that particular section and reach far into the bowels of this massive mountain. It is said these chests of gold are guarded by human skulls with strange and weird figures of stone.

According to the man who is now in quest of this Spanish treasure, there are old wooden chests with rusted locks and worn eaten covers, bulging in many places with gold nuggets running in yellow streams from the rotten sides. They lie on the floor of the cave once used by the Spaniards as their hiding places from the roving bands of Indians or when too closely pursued by enemies of their kind.

Values Untold.

Nuggets as large as or larger than the largest Klondike nugget and precious stones and coins so rare that their worth can never be estimated—this is the dream of Thomas A. Summers of Nathrop, a few miles south of Buena Vista.

Summers has been working on the secret of the old mountain for several years, but it was only recently that his strange mission became known. He has worked alone, confiding in nobody. Little attention was paid to him, and in fact, he let it become generally believed that he was simply prospecting.

With dim and thumb worn drawings, to which he is constantly referring, he believes he will soon be in possession of the $80,000,000.

According to his story, there are certain skulls and figures of animals carved on the face of the cliffs, which are to be seen only when the full moon shines at a certain angle overhead, which will lead him to the entrance to the cave.

Many Caverns.

There are thousands of these small caverns in the chalk cliff at that point. Just at what period of the year, month or week it is that the rays of the moon will reach the certain spot on the cliff is a mystery he is trying to solve.

Summers is not the only man who has looked for the buried treasure. Some years ago a man came from the east with drawings and sketches, through which he hoped to locate the lost treasure. He worked several years before giving up the quest.

IS AN INTELLECTUAL MARVEL.

New Mexico Boy, Eight Years Old, Ready For High School.

Not yet eight years old, but qualified to enter high school next fall, which he will do, Raymond Ray of Roswell, N. M., is the wonder of the educational world of the United States.

Without a single day in the public schools, trained at his mother's knee since he was a babe of a few months, Ray already has stood the tests required of the average boy or girl of fourteen with six to seven years of study in school.

Not only that, he reads, writes and talks German and Spanish in addition to English, and is now about to take up Latin as a regular course.

His record equals and almost exceeds that of Herbert Wiener, the famous son of Dr. Leo Wiener of Harvard college, who will receive his degree as doctor of philosophy in June, though but eighteen years old.

If he maintains his present rate of progress he may be qualified to enter college when ten years old. Wiener matriculated at Tufts college when he was eleven.

BUILDS $150,000 GARAGE.

Ziegler Also Orders a $5,000 Chicken Brooder For Estate.

A $150,000 garage and a $5,000 chicken brooder are the latest desires of William Ziegler, adopted son and heir of the late baking powder king. They are under construction on his estate, Great Island, in the town of Darien, Conn.

The garage will be trimmed in mahogany, and the doors and elevator will be electrically equipped. Everything else will be in keeping. The brooder will hatch and raise chickens automatically. It is his wish to have broilers to eat all the year around.

Mr. Ziegler recently purchased a steam yacht and is at present enjoying a cruise around the world.

Penalty For Swearing.

Swearing on the streets of Clayton, Mo., a suburb of St. Louis, carries a penalty of from $1 to $100, and users of profanity are carefully compiling a list of the $100 words so they can avoid them.
