

FAREWELL TO HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 1913

Fifteen Young Ladies and Five
Young Men Presented a Pleasing Appearance.

Last night at the Parmele theater the class of 1913 of the Plattsmouth High school bid farewell to their school days and entered forth upon their future. The class of fifteen young ladies and five boys presented a very pleasing appearance on the stage as the curtain rose for the final act of their school days. Rev. W. L. Austin of the Methodist church delivered the invocation in a very impressive manner before the audience that stood while the minister asked the divine blessing.

The first number on the commencement program was the solo of Miss Ferris York, "The Spring Is Come," by White, which was given in her usual charming manner and displayed the beauty and power of her voice to its utmost.

The salutatory for the class was given by Samuel C. Windham, who chose as his subject "Conservation of Our National Resources," and in his address covered the question of preserving for future generations the great natural wealth of the country and not allowing it to be exploited by the commercial freebooters who have in the past been allowed so free a hand in possessing the wealth of the nation through the timber, coal, iron and mineral lands of the west and of Alaska.

The address was one that showed much thought and care in its preparation, and was much enjoyed by the audience, as the speaker brought out the different points of his argument in favor of the public domain being preserved for the benefit of the public and not a few corporations.

The address of Mr. Windham was followed by the valedictory of the class, delivered by Donald E. Arries, who had taken for the title of his address "The True Value of Character," and his farewell for the class was on the most vital of subjects to those just entering upon the battle with the world—that of keeping their character above reproach and of having one that they might be proud of. He spoke of the characteristics that had distinguished four great men of modern and ancient times—Lincoln, Gladstone, Solon and Seneca, the philosopher—how their great regard for a strong normal character had made their true greatness and was what the world admired most in them. Mr. Arries, in behalf of the class, bid a farewell to the faculty of the High school and the members of the board of education, expressing the deep gratitude of the students for the splendid education given them and he also spoke a few parting words to the members of the class of 1913, who will soon have drifted apart from their old school day associations and entered upon the different walks in life that they have fixed upon.

Miss Helen Herold of Lincoln was on the program for a vocal number, having selected "To You," by Hawley, and "A Birthday," by Woodman, as her offerings, and they were rendered in a manner that greatly impressed everyone with the wonderful sweetness and clearness of her beautiful voice and this was one of the finest selections heard in this city for many days.

The orator of the evening, Rev. Ernest Wray O'Neil of Chicago, was introduced by Hon. R. B. Windham, who is an uncle of the talented gentleman, and who was closely associated with him during the time he was a resident here and his remarks, while few, were much appreciated by the large audience.

Rev. O'Neil at once launched into his address, that of "The Seers of Visions," and his remarks throughout were most impressive and scholarly and showed the wonderful power of eloquence possessed by this gentleman. His address was devoted to the wonders that have been done in the world by the men who saw things beyond the ordinary eye of man, who pictured future glories and achievements for the human race, and by their actions and efforts had brought forth the most splendid and uplifting reforms in the history of the world. The speaker also spoke on the subject of a more patriotic citizenship and urged those of foreign birth to join in the making of better Americans for the future by making the ideals of our government their own.

The graduation scholarship which is given each year to the member of the graduating class having the largest number of credits for the four years work was awarded to Miss Beulah Sans.

After the address of Rev. O'Neil the members of the class filed past and received their diplomas, the march being played by Mr. E. H. Wescott, and after the class had returned to their positions Superintendent Brooks addressed the class for a few minutes commending them upon having achieved the honor of successfully passed through their school work.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT AT MANLEY

John Tighe, a Prominent Citizen,
Badly Injured and His Son
Receives Severe Burns.

Yesterday at the Manley Elevator an accident that might terminate fatally for John Tighe, the owner of the elevator, and one of the prominent citizens of that locality. It seems that yesterday morning while working around the elevator, Leo Tighe, a son of Mr. Tighe, received some very severe burns on his face caused by the explosion of some gasoline, and he was forced to secure the services of a surgeon to fix up the wounds. In the afternoon the accident that came near having a fatal termination, occurred as Mr. Tighe was fixing some of the machinery, and while working around the shafting got caught in the belting, and before the machinery could be stopped he was carried around the shafting fifty or sixty times, and as a result of the terrible pounding received a broken arm, and had his chest crushed in badly and a number of ribs broken. The condition of Mr. Tighe is very critical, and his recovery from the terrible injuries, is a matter of great doubt to the attending physicians, as it was feared he had suffered internal injuries to the abdomen. His clothing were almost torn off him and he was held by the belting and shafting until the machinery was stopped, when he fell to the floor. His left side was badly crushed, and despite his very rugged constitution his recovery is very doubtful. This double misfortune will be the cause of the deepest sympathy to the Tighe family throughout the county, where they are so well and favorably known, and the most sincere wishes for the recovery of the unfortunate gentleman will be extended by the entire community. While the injuries to Leo are quite painful, he was able to protect his eyes from the effects of the burning gasoline and will not lose his eyesight.

Dr. Dwyer of Omaha, one of the best physicians of the metropolis, is attending Mr. Tighe.

From Elmwood.

A. A. and George Wallinger and Herman Kuehn, from near Elmwood, were in the city a few hours yesterday, coming down from their homes via the automobile route, for the transaction of some county seat business matters. While here A. A. Wallinger called at this office to renew his subscription to the paper.

Goes to Omaha Hospital.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Arthur Eastwood was taken to Omaha, where she will enter one of the hospitals there to undergo an operation for an ailment from which she has been suffering for some time. Her many friends here will await anxiously to learn of her condition and trust that she may be speedily restored to her usual state of health.

MEMORIAL DAY 1913.

The Blue and the Gray—where are they today?
Almost as a dream o' the past.
Not long ere the spring sweet blossoms shall bring
To scatter o'er the graves of the last.

The last—ah! how few—and where are the blue?
All—all of them now are gray.
Their steps have grown slow—too soon we shall know
Neither the Blue or the Gray.

Soon all shall respond to the roll-call beyond,
Leaving naught but memories dear,
But honor and love for those gone above
Shall soften the heart-ache and tear.

Though marching today, in battle array,
Toward the grim enemy, Death,
They're brave, as of old, while facing, so bold,
Him who would steal the last breath.

Though repulsed by his hand, on the great border land,
Their Leader has promised to save,
And next morning's sun shall find victories won
Over grim death and the grave.

But, "Farewell," we must say, to the Blue and the Gray,
When they are mustered for rest.
When the last bugles sound, when the last taps resound,
Calling our dearest and best.

But, oh! what a void, where so much was enjoyed,
When the fife and the drum shall be still,
When no weary feet tramp round the vacant camp,
When the field is lonely and chill.

Though no laurels crown these heads of renown,
Their brave deeds we all may trace,
And halos of love shall linger above
Their last earthly resting place.

O'er the brave and true, the red, white and blue
Shall float, each Memorial Day,
And flowers and tears, through the coming years,
Shall fall for both Blue and Gray.

When our army vast, is quartered at last,
In that land, which seems far away,
An assembly as great, outside shall await,
To join the loved Blue and Gray.

When our waiting is o'er and we've reached the far shore,
All sorrows shall vanish away,
For close by the Gate, in white robes, shall wait
Our loved who wore blue and gray.

SOIL SURVEY IN THE STATE OF NEBRASKA

The Bureau of Soils, in cooperation with the State Department of Agriculture, will soon begin soil surveys of Cass, Douglas, Saunders and Scotts Bluff counties. Cass county contains approximately 540 square miles, Douglas county 344, Saunders county 764 and Scotts Bluff county 723 square miles.

The surveys will be made for the purpose of determining the different types of soil in the counties and what crops they are best adapted to. The surveys will be finished in the fall, when the reports will be prepared and published later, together with soil maps in colors showing the locations and extent of the different types of soil, farm houses, churches, public roads and streams in the counties.

The Bureau of Soils has made complete soil surveys of Lancaster, Otoe and Sarpy counties, and of areas covering parts of Buffalo, Dawson, Gosper, Hall, Hamilton, Kearney, Lincoln, Madison, Merrick, Phelps, Pierce, Stanton and Wayne counties, Nebraska. A reconnaissance soil survey was made by the bureau covering fifty-one counties in the western part of Nebraska, and the report will be available for distribution within a very short time.

Buys New Cartcar.

W. F. Schlichtemeier, jr., and brother of Frank, from near Nehawka, were in Plattsmouth today, returning home from Omaha, where Frank had purchased a new Cartcar automobile trading in his Overland which he bought last year, on the deal. The Cartcar is without an exception one of the best cars on the market, and Mr. Schlichtemeier is a man that wants the best. They were driving the car home and stopped for a few moments' visit in Plattsmouth. While here W. F. called at the Journal office to renew his subscription.

DEPARTS FOR LINCOLN TO INTERVIEW THE RAIL- WAY COMMISSIONERS

President H. A. Schneider and Attorney A. L. Tidd departed last evening for Lincoln, where they will appear before the railway commission to ask that body to set a date for hearing the request of the Commercial Club of this city for the relief in the matter of train service between this city and the rest of the county. The club took the matter up with the officials of the Missouri Pacific some time ago and were assured of some relief, but when after a wait of several months the matter was refused, it was decided that the only thing to do was to carry the issue up to the commission for adjustment. Other towns have received recognition at the hands of this road whose claims were not half so urgent as ours and they were granted, and it is time to see if the state cannot procure what the request failed to get.

WILL AND ED RUM- MEL RETURN FROM FUNERAL OF NEPHEW

William and Ed Rummel, who returned yesterday from Precept, Neb., where they attended the funeral of their little nephew, Teddy Rummel, who was burned to death in the destruction of the barn on his father's farm. It seems that Jacob Rummel, the father, and an older son were burning thistles in a field and the little boy was sent back to the house and went into the barn, where he started a fire that caught the building and burned him to death. The loss included some 800 bushels of corn and five horses, and the loss was covered by insurance. Ed Rummel reports that the conditions in that section are fine and that the prospects are good for a splendid crop. The loss of the little boy was a terrible blow to his parents and they are almost prostrated with grief. The funeral was held Monday at the late home.

THE FELLOWS came in pretty lively the last two days for the warm weather comforts, and they're coming still faster as the mercury continues to go up.

Our Mentor comfort Union Suits, made with the closed crotch, and the two-button flap, in the new zephyr-wear fabrics are certainly getting the call. Any style, short or long sleeves, or athletic (no sleeves at all), ankle-length, 3-4-length or knee length. Price, $1.00, $1.25, and $1.50 each, and higher if you want them.

Soft Shirts went well yesterday, especially those with the new soft collars to match; you can wear the soft collar to match the shirt or a linen collar as the occasion demands. They're made of the new silky, soft white fabrics in the neat pin stripe patterns in prices of $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00 each.

Many other items that will add to your comfort these warm days are here for you. Come in; you'll feel cool from just looking at them.

JUDGE RAMSEY SUFFERING FROM SCIATIC RHEUMATISM

For the past few weeks Judge Basil S. Ramsey has been confined to his home, suffering from an attack of sciatic rheumatism, which has been holding our old friend in its grip, and he does not seem to be able to secure relief from the malady. It was caused some weeks ago when the judge caught a severe cold, and it was feared at first that it might develop into pneumonia, but finally took a turn into rheumatism, and since that time he has been sorely affected by the complaint. The judge finds great difficulty in getting around and is hardly able to go from one floor of his home to the other, even with the use of his cane. His condition will be learned of with great regret by the many friends of this worthy gentleman and they will trust he may soon be able to resume his active life, as he is greatly missed on the streets, where he has been a prominent figure for so many years.

Parties Reported Married.

It is reported on the streets today that again has Dan Cupid gotten busy and found lodgement for his darts and joined together two happy hearts. The statement has been given out that some few days ago in Omaha Ralph Sherwood and Miss Mary Svelah, formerly of this city, but at present of South Omaha, were married. If this is true the young people have "slipped one over" on their friends here, as no intimation was given of the event, although it had been looked for by their friends.

C. H. Boedecker came up this morning from his home at Murray and departed on the early Burlington train for Omaha.
