AGED MAN HANGS HIMSELF NEAR WEEPING WATER

From Friday's Daily.
A special from Weeping Water under date of June 12, says: William Maddox, 76 years of age, who lived one and one-half miles east of here, committed suicide this morning shortly before 8:30 o'clock by hanging himself. He ate breakfast, but complained that he was not feeling well. His wife, supposing he had gone to the pasture and thinking it time he returned, went out and called him, but getting no reply, sent their little granddaughter in search. The child discovered his body hanging in the barn and ran back to the house to tell of the gruesome find. Mrs. Maddox hurried out with a knife and severed the rope with which he was hanging, but it was too late. Life was extinct.

Dr. Welch was called at once and pronounced him dead, and the coroner was called, but decided it was unnecessary to hold an inquest and the body was turned over to the undertaker. Mr. Maddox had been in poor health for several years and was almost blind. He had never been in good health since being seriously injured in a runaway a few years ago near Stockton, Kas., where he lived at that time. He was quite well known here and leaves a family consisting of a wife, three sons and two married daughters.

Can't Keep It Secret.

The splendid work of Chamberlain's Tablets is daily becoming more widely known. No such grand remedy for stomach and liver troubles has ever been known. For sale by all dealers.

Miss Ruehland Much Better.

Miss Josie Ruehland, who for the past several months has been confined to her home with inflammatory rheumatism, has so far recovered as to be able to sit up and be out for a short time in the open air. This improvement in the condition of Miss Ruehland will be very pleasing news to her many friends, who have been greatly worried over her sickness, as her condition was very serious for several weeks.

MRS. E. C. TWISS OF LOUISVILLE PASSED AWAY THIS MORNING

From Friday's Daily.
Mrs. E. C. Twiss, one of the old residents of Louisville, passed away this morning at 6:30 at her home in that village of a long illness and suffering from cancer. Mr. and Mrs. Twiss came to Louisville about forty years ago and have both been very highly respected in that city, where they have made their home since that time, and to the bereaved husband the sympathy of a host of friends will go out in his hour of grief at the loss of his beloved wife. Several children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Twiss, but they have all preceded the mother to the Better Land. Two sisters, Mrs. John Twiss and Mrs. Sarah Galforth, of Louisville, and one brother, Jess Merrill of Scotts Bluff, Neb., are also left to mourn the loss of this worthy lady.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank the friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted during the illness and death of our beloved wife, mother, daughter and sister.

WESTERN FARMERS BUY LAND IN TANGIPAHOA

Two Plattsmouth Citizens in the Party—O. P. Monroe Buys Land.

Ten farmers from Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas were the guests of the Brooks-Seaton Lumber Company of Kentwood, La., at a banquet Saturday evening in the Monteleone hotel. They are the latest purchasers of cut-over lands in Tangipahoa parish, which the lumber company is selling. In this party, a record was established in that all of the visitors purchased land.

During the last six months the company has sold more than 10,000 acres of their holdings. Sixty homesteaders are now located on the property. This number will be greatly increased during the coming year, as more than 300 of the purchasers are adjusting their business at home preparatory to moving to Tangipahoa.

The party, which arrived in the city Saturday afternoon, was under the charge of C. H. McNie, land commissioner of the lumber company. Mr. McNie presided over the banquet and introduced E. O. Wild, editor of the Gulf States Farmer, who acted as toastmaster.

Mr. Wild welcomed the farmers to Louisiana, and told them of the agricultural possibilities of the soil of Tangipahoa parish. As most of the homesteaders are growers of corn, Mr. Wild confined his remarks principally to the growing of corn in this state. E. O. Brown, state commissioner of agriculture, proved by statistics that Louisiana as an agricultural state is the equal of any in the Union.

"Louisiana has the greatest body of alluvial land in the United States," said Mr. Bruner. "The state comprises 28,000,000 acres, of which amount 5,000,000 are under cultivation. She annually produces crops which are valued at $100,000,000. She produces 95 per cent of the cane sugar of the country, and more rice than any other state. In addition to having the greatest area of long leaf pine in the country, Louisiana has the largest sulphur mines of the world and the greatest deposit of pure rock salt in the Western Hemisphere.

"In speaking of raising corn, your corn raisers should know that in Louisiana some boys have reached 100 bushels to the acre, while many others have averaged 50 bushels. I don't think you can find a state where more corn is raised to the acre than in Louisiana.

"You are moving into the most productive part of Louisiana. The reports made by the assessor of Tangipahoa parish to the state board of agriculture last year showed that 1,935 carloads of strawberries were shipped, besides hundreds of carloads of miscellaneous vegetables. The receipts of Tangipahoa growers last year were $1,200,000 for strawberries alone."

O. W. Crawford, who was introduced as "the pioneer of the land business in Louisiana," told the farmers that when they came to Louisiana they were not coming to a new country. He said that in 1850 there were more farms in this state than in Arkansas, Texas, Indian Territory, Nebraska, Missouri or Iowa. To prove that the state is one where the soil can be cultivated at a profit, Mr. Crawford asked the farmers if they had ever heard of a Louisianian moving away from his state to buy a farm or enter any commercial business. No one had.

The following were in the party: Mrs. Margaret Thomas and daughter, Des Moines, Ia.; J. A. Abbott, Bostrico, Neb.; C. L. Osborne, Republic, Kas.; D. A. Bowen, Concordia, Kas.; Frank Marshall, Republic, Kas.; L. F. Bowdish, Lincoln, Neb.; H. H. Franknap, Republic, Kas.; A. H. Bowdish, Plattsmouth, Neb.; J. E. Smith, Albion, Kas.; O. P. Monroe, Plattsmouth, Neb.; C. H. McNie, land commissioner; L. Hawkins, Kentwood, La., assistant land commissioner for the company.—New Orleans Democrat.

Mr. Monroe and Mr. Bowdish returned home Tuesday evening.

MRS. E. W. COOK ENTERTAINS KENSINGTON

From Friday's Daily.
Yesterday afternoon Mrs. E. W. Cook entertained at a Kensington at her residence on North Fourth street, some fifty ladies, and the occasion was one of great enjoyment to all attending. The rooms were very prettily decorated with roses and garden flowers in profusion, which made a very beautiful appearance with the large company of handsomely gowned guests. The afternoon was spent by the ladies in the plying of the needle at their fancy work and in social conversation, as well as a number of selections on the Victrola. At an appropriate hour a most delicious three-course luncheon was served the guests by Misses Marie Donnelly, Catherine and Edith Dovey, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the afternoon. Mrs. Cook was assisted in receiving by her cousin, Miss Nettie Hawksworth. The occasion was one that will be long remembered for its delightful hospitality, and it was with great regret that the guests saw the hour for departure draw near.

AN EMPLOYEE OF THE GOVERNMENT VISITING OLD TIME FRIENDS

From Thursday's Daily.
Alex Schlagel, for many years a resident of this city, but now of Washington, D. C., where he is employed in the general land office of the government, is in the city visiting with his many old-time friends. Mr. Schlagel left here about 1884, going first to Long Pine, Neb., and later removed to Lincoln, where he resided and was employed in the state house until 1899, when he went to Washington to enter the employ of the federal government. Mr. Schlagel states that wherever you go you are sure to find someone from Plattsmouth, and they all have a deep affection for the old town.

Anton Koubek Here.

From Thursday's Daily.
Yesterday afternoon Anton H. Koubek came down from Omaha and spent a few hours with his old friends here, as well as his relatives. He was accompanied by his friend, Peter Nelson, and the two gentlemen greatly enjoyed their short visit here. Anton is still the same genial, affable gentleman that he was when a resident here, and his many friends were more than delighted to see his smiling face, even for a few hours.

DAN CUPID CUTS ANOTHER CUTE CAPER

From Friday's Daily.
Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the residence of Rev. Monton, in Council Bluffs, Iowa, occurred the marriage of Mr. Oscar Wilson and Miss Elizabeth Hall, both of this city. These young people thought they would take their many friends by surprise, and yesterday quietly departed for Omaha, apparently to spend a few hours taking in the sights, but to the experienced there was apparently something doing, judging from the bright light sparkling in their eyes, and the news of the wedding was not as great a surprise as was expected. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson returned home last evening and are today receiving the congratulations of their many friends in their new-found happiness, and hearty good wishes for a long and happy married life are being showered upon them. The young people will continue to make their home here in the future. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hall and was born and reared to womanhood here, where she has made a host of friends by her charming manners and ladylike bearing toward all with whom she came in contact, and all have the one wish for her future happiness. The groom is a very industrious young man, who has been here for a number of years in the barber business, and he possesses the highest esteem and good will of all who know him.
