AT THE BIG TENT LAST EVENING

Audience at the Tent Last Night Was Small on Account of the Threatening Weather.

From Wednesday's Daily. At the meeting last evening there was but a small crowd and many of them very timid, as the clouds were looking very bad and all were somewhat fearful that a severe storm might come. It was thought that after the song service and the announcements had been concluded that they would terminate the meeting for the evening, but after the time had arrived it was thought well that a short sermon be given, and Rev. Smith talked for about fifteen minutes on the theme, "Wanted—a Man," which, hurrying as he had to, could not give the care and attention that he would have liked to. First he said that all were men, in one sense of the term, but were deficient in something which was very important in the makeup of the true man. He cited the fact that the libertine was not a man, in the sense of the word, that the text called for a man, nor was the cigarette fiend, as he had by his habits deprived himself of much that went to make up the true man. The drunkard resembled the human, but had lost most of the manly principles which go to make the man we all admire and desire to respect and love. The spendthrift who wastes his money instead of providing for the members of his household, is lacking in the sense that he has denied the faith and is worse than the infidel.

After saying what the man was not, he told what it required to make the man, and especially the kind which the text called for. The man must, in the first place, be honest, for without that trait no manliness could exist; then he must be truthful, for the lying lips would not grace a manly man. Then the man must be industrious, that is, he must try and produce something in this world befitting, otherwise he would be only a drone. He must be generous, for it takes more than a stingy tightwad to exercise the highest prerogative of manhood, through the whole category he went on enumerating the essentials which went to make up the real man.

FORMER PLATTSMOUTH YOUNG MAN MARRIED

Leander Barnes and Miss Nora Thorp Wedded Quietly in Council Bluffs.

From Wednesday's Daily. Miss Nora Thorp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Thorp, and Leander G. Barnes, night foreman of the Press were married in Council Bluffs Saturday afternoon, much to the surprise of their friends and relatives in Nebraska City. No information regarding the wedding was received in Nebraska City until Sunday morning, when Omaha papers contained a short notice of the issuance of the marriage license. Mr. Barnes did not work Saturday, but his associates in the Press office did not know for a certainty that a wedding was likely, although it was surmised a short time after they left the city. Lack of proof, however, kept the matter out of the Sunday morning paper.

The bride is a trained nurse and has spent all her life in Nebraska City. She is a popular and highly esteemed young woman with hosts of friends to wish much happiness. The groom has been in the employ of the Press for many months and is a splendid young man in every particular. He has been in charge of the "make up" of the paper since early last fall, coming here originally from Plattsmouth.

The Press joins the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Barnes in wishing them a happy and prosperous wedded life.—Nebraska City Press.

The news of the wedding was not a very great surprise to the friends of Mr. Barnes in this city, as the fact that he was about to take unto himself a wife has been common report here, and he will receive the best wishes of his friends in this city on his marriage. It is the universal wish that Mr. and Mrs. Barnes will enjoy a long and happy married life. Mr. Barnes was reared in this city, being a son of the late Dr. A. P. Barnes, and is a young man well and very favorably known, who has made a success of his chosen calling, that of a printer. He was employed here for a number of years in the office of the Evening News and News-Herald, and later removed to Nebraska City, where he has since made his home. May "Dock" never be in need of "small caps" and his "shooting stick" never wear out.

WATER COMPANY EXTENDING WORK INTO SOUTH PARK

From Wednesday's Daily. The Plattsmouth Water company has commenced the work of laying the new mains in South Park for the extension of the service to that part of the city, and the installing of the four new fire hydrants ordered by the city council in that locality. There is to be two distinct lines run into this part of the city, one starting at the end of the present line near Bach's store and running south 1,000 feet and two fire hydrants are to be installed on this extension. The other extension is to start from Patterson avenue and run 1,000 feet south of Hermle street and is also to be supplied with two fire hydrants for fire protection. This new addition to the fire district will give good protection to that part of the city that heretofore has been out of the limits of the fire protection and will give the residents along the line a chance to have city water placed in their property, as well, without much additional cost to them, and will be one of the most important improvements that has been made in that locality in recent years.

THE DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

From Wednesday's Daily. Fontanella chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met at "Sunnyside," the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wescott, Saturday evening and the organization was perfected, as well as the officers for the ensuing year elected. This chapter was organized on April 21, 1913, but this was the first meeting of the chapter and was attended by ten or twelve members who form the charter membership. Plans for next year's work were discussed and laid out and committees appointed to look after the various matters that will come up. The members were treated during the course of the evening to a very tempting luncheon, which served to add to the pleasures of the evening. The officers chosen at the meeting were: Regent—Mrs. E. H. Wescott, Vice Regent—Mrs. C. C. Parmelee, Secretary—Miss Leona Brady, Treasurer—Miss Madeline Minor, Registrar—Mrs. M. A. Street, Historian—Miss Ellen Pollock, Chaplain—Miss Alice Tuey, Organist—Miss Hazel Tuey. The name chosen for the chapter is one famous in the early history of Nebraska as one of the famous chiefs and traders who lived in this section of the state around Plattsmouth and Bellevue, and he is buried at Bellevue in sight of his trading enterprises.

HAND BADLY LACERATED BY CLOTHES WRINGER

From Wednesday's Daily. Mrs. Zach Shrader, residing in Mt. Pleasant precinct, met with a very painful accident at her home yesterday while engaged in her household duties. She was putting some clothes into a wringer that was operated by a gasoline engine, and was unfortunate enough to have her left hand drawn into the machine, with the result that the fingers were quite badly injured, having all the skin on the upper portion torn off before she could extract her hand from the wringer, and it is most fortunate that no bones were broken. Medical assistance was summoned at once and she was brought to this city, where the injuries were dressed and the unfortunate lady taken to the home of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Sullivan, where she remained overnight, returning home this morning on the 8:45 Missouri Pacific train. The injuries were very painful, but Mrs. Shrader was feeling much better this morning and it is thought she will be all right in a short time.

CLAIMED AS AN INMATE OF GLENWOOD INSTITUTE

From Wednesday's Daily. Yesterday afternoon the county attorney received a message from the Iowa state institute for the feeble minded at Glenwood inquiring about Albert Stevens, the young man who was sentenced yesterday for carrying concealed weapons to three months in the county jail. The Iowa authorities claim he is an inmate of the feeble minded institute, and his actions certainly show mentality not of the brightest. It is not known as yet what action will be taken in the matter, although it is probable the young man may be paroled from jail and turned over to the institute officers for removal to Glenwood, where he can be looked after in better shape.

G. W. Olson of Union came up to Plattsmouth yesterday and will take charge of the Metropolitan Insurance Co., which has been under the management of Captain Morrison for the past few years. Mr. Olson seems to be a pretty fine young fellow, and he will soon move his family to this city. He has had considerable experience in the insurance business.
