TO RESCUE THE POTATO FROM ILLS IT SUFFERS.

World Scientists Coming to Prescribe For Disease Menaced Crop.

Plant scientists of the world will assemble in this country this summer and visit the potato fields of Maine, New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California to discover a cure for the ills from which this great American crop is suffering.

The party will make a start from Bangor on Aug. 1 and will finish the work in San Francisco about Oct. 1. The entire time of the party will be taken up with study of the diseases which have recently attacked the potato plant. After the return east a report will be made to the United States government and to each of the states visited concerning the result of the survey.

Among those who will take part in this unique investigation will be Dr. O. Oppel of the Imperial Institute of Agriculture and Forestry, Berlin, and Dr. H. W. Wollenwaber, also of Germany, who are authorities on plant diseases. Several scientists are coming from Paris and London, while a large number of American representatives of the economic and cultural side of the potato industry will participate, besides leading professors in plant pathology and specialists of the federal bureau of plant industry.

One car of the special train on which the party will travel will be fitted as a laboratory with microscopes and other necessary instruments and facilities for chemical analysis. A corps of photographers will accompany the party.

According to E. H. Grubb, a widely known potato grower of Colorado, the crop situation is very serious. Unknown diseases have attacked the plant in almost every part of the country, the germs having been imported. It is thought, with some foreign tubers. In Utah, which is one of the great potato growing states, the loss by disease has been so heavy that the state crop has not been large enough to supply home needs. The dreaded "leaf roll," which has caused heavy damage in Colorado and Nebraska, has now made its appearance in Maine and New York. Several diseases, new to science, have made simultaneous attack upon potato plants in Europe and America, and it is hoped that the coming gathering of experts will be able to devise remedies for these ills.

The entire expense of this survey, including the special train of eight cars for the transcontinental tour, is being paid by a group of the railroads that operate in the potato states.
