SOME BUSINESS IN JUDGE ARCHER'S COURT

From Wednesday's Daily.

Yesterday Police Judge M. Archer had James Walton brought before him, charged with being in a state of intoxication, and after the evidence was submitted the judge concluded that there was not much doubt of his guilt and fined him $2 and costs, and as he desired to go to work this morning at his trade, that of a brick mason, the judge agreed to stay the fine for a few days until he had secured the necessary coin to liquidate the claim. James was gathered up by the police Monday evening peacefully sleeping on the lawn near the court house and taken to jail to finish out his nap.

William Brown, who claimed Nehawka as his home, was also a visitor in the tribunal of justice on the charge of being in a state of intoxication. He claimed he came to this city on the Fourth to celebrate and allowed his celebration to get the best of him to such an extent that Monday night he finally succumbed to the effects of too much of the flowing bowl and sought repose for the night on the court house lawn, from which he was plucked by the police and conveyed to the Hotel Manspeaker, where he was given an opportunity to repent of his over-indulgence in the corn juice. When taken to jail William had several large packages of liquor upon his person, which he claimed he was going to take with him to his home, but the judge decided that he had plenty under his belt, and on the promise to leave town at once he was released and sent on his way.

Returns From Hospital.

Mrs. Gaile Rhoden, who has been at one of the Omaha hospitals for the past few weeks recovering from the effects of an operation, was able to return to her home near Mynard this morning. Mrs. Rhoden has had quite a long illness and has had to have a number of operations performed and her friends throughout the county will be pleased to learn that she has recovered sufficiently as to be able to return home.

WILLIAM A. SWEARINGEN, DECEASED

Lineal Descendant of Garret Van Swearingen of Holland—Short Life Sketch of Deceased.

(By Judge Basil S. Ramsey.)

From Wednesday's Daily.
Born February 23, 1859; died of Bright's disease and heart trouble on Tuesday, July 1, 1913, at 6:40 o'clock p. m., William A. Swearingen, aged 54 years, 4 months and 8 days.

Our deceased and valued friend was a lineal descendant of Gerret Van Swearingen, a native of Beemsterdam, Holland, and of his wife, Barbara, whose maiden name was Barfarah de Barrett, and who was a native of Vallenciennes France.

Garret Van Swearingen landed in New York City in December, 1656, and his descendants became pioneer settlers of many states, especially of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Old Virginia, and were prominent in the early settlement of those states.

William A. Swearingen, our deceased friend, was born February 23, 1859, at Urichsville, Columbiana county, Ohio, and was the second child of a family of five children, two sons and three daughters. The father was Jackson Swearingen, born near Carrollton, Ohio, and the mother's maiden name was Miss May M. Hostetter.

Jackson Swearingen took a commercial course in college at Cleveland, Ohio, and after graduating with high honors, was extensively engaged in mercantile pursuits for a number of years. When the great civil war broke out in 1861 he became a volunteer and served as orderly sergeant of Company F, 32d Ohio Volunteers and remain as such officer during the war.

The five children of Jackson Swearingen and wife were as follows: Melvin D., born September 4, 1857; William A. (the subject of this sketch); Lillian K., born April 12, 1866; Alverda M., born July 26, 1874; and Edna M., born September 13, 1876.

At the age of 15 William A. Swearingen commenced work as a railroad agent and telegraph operator, in which employment he was engaged for eighteen years. He was employed by the Missouri Pacific at Elmwood and at Union, Cass county, Neb., his last employment being at the former place. The fact that he was for eighteen years employed as railroad agent and telegraph operator, speaks more strongly for his efficiency and trustworthiness than can any feeble words that may be said or written.

On March 2, 1892, Mr. Swearingen was appointed deputy county clerk by the late Frank Dickson, then county clerk for Cass county, Nebraska, which appointment was unanimously confirmed by the then board of county commissioners. In this capacity Mr. Swearingen served with marked ability until January 9, 1896.

Of the three sisters named, Mrs. Lillian K. Hasse, now deceased, also became justly prominent as the very efficient deputy county judge for Cass county, Nebraska, in which capacity she served under three county judges for a period of nearly ten years.

On December 13, 1888, Mr. Swearingen was united in marriage to Miss Bertha V. Greenslate of Elmwood, Cass county, Nebraska. Miss Greenslate is the daughter of Silas Greenslate, esq., who for years was a prominent and leading merchant of Elmwood. To this union one child was born, named Thomas, his birth being at Elmwood on December 14, 1889. On July 24, 1912, when less than 23 years old, this child was drowned near Sioux City while in the heroic act of an attempt to rescue another from the same fate. Thomas had been married but a short time and thus left a young widow to mourn his tragic death.

Mr. Swearingen had been for some time seriously afflicted with Bright's disease, complicated with heart trouble, and had been in the hospital for treatment in the hope that he might be cured. But all that medical skill and devoted love and tender care of wife and of his many friends could do, the serious affliction prevailed.

His funeral took place at his late home in Benson, Douglas county, Nebraska, on Thursday, July 3, 1913, at 4 o'clock p. m., where many friends attended, thus showing their regard for the valued friend who had passed away. Interment was made in West Lawn cemetery, Omaha, Nebraska, beside where were placed the remains of his son and only child, Thomas, less than a year ago.

Plattsmouth, Neb., July 9, 1913.

SOME CORRECTIONS IN THE DROWNING AT CEDAR CREEK

From Wednesday's Daily.

The Journal has just received from Cedar Creek an account of the drowning there a few days ago of Earl B. Duff, which settles all reports of his having been ducked by the parties swimming with him in the lake. The boy was playing in the water with a dog belonging to Henry Frye and got out into water that was too deep for him and no one touched him to duck him, and Mr. Frye, as soon as he saw the boy go down swam out to him and attempted to save him. Duff grabbed Mr. Frye around the neck and made it impossible for the gentleman to swim and it was with great difficulty he got out of the grasp of young Duff in time to keep from drowning, and after some effort succeeded in getting Duff out of the lake, but not until he had been in the water so long that he never recovered from the effects and died the next evening. The reports circulated about the drowning did a great injustice to Mr. Frye and those at the lake, as they had not attempted to duck young Duff, but did all in their power to rescue him.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS ENJOYS FINE OUTING

From Wednesday's Daily.

"The Little Men of America," a boys' Sunday school class of the Christian church, camped last night on Lookout mountain, or that portion of the backbone which extends along the railroad between it and the Missouri river, and which they named Lookout mountain. They took their bedding, eatables and camping outfit and after an evening of enjoyment went to sleep and slept soundly, arising this morning at about 4, explored the surroundings, had their breakfast, which they cooked and were eating when old Sol peeped over the Iowa hills and caught them all enjoying their morning meal. After this had been disposed of they had a game of ball, then a swim, the cooling and invigorating waters of the Missouri river at that early hour putting life and animation into the Little Men of America. Their outing was one so much enjoyed that they voted to have them oftener after this.

BAND CONCERT IS POSTPONED TILL NEXT WEEK

The committee of the Commercial club having the band concerts in charge, today began the erecting of the band-stand on the High school grounds and the placing of the electric lights for the use of the band, and the place will be all ready for the concerts, which will commence next week, probably on Thursday night. It had been the intention of the committee to start the concerts tomorrow night, but owing to other matters it was found necessary to change the date to a week from Thursday. The new stand is located at the bottom of a natural amphetheater and will make an ideal place to hold the concerts during the season.

Heavy Hail Storm.

William Leesley of Greenwood was in the city today for several hours, having been called here on the Halmes' case in county court. Mr. Leesley reports that a very heavy hail storm occurred in the vicinity of Greenwood on Sunday and that some damage was done to the crops further west of the town of Greenwood.

Miss Jessie Fox Better.

The many friends of Miss Jessie Fox will learn with much pleasure that she is feeling a little improved and her condition seems much better than at any time since she was taken sick some three weeks ago with stomach trouble.

Gus Miller and Miss Hilda Carlson of Stanhope, Iowa, who have been here for a short time visiting at the home of Peter Carlson and family, returned to their home this morning, going on the early Burlington train.

AN INTERESTING FAMILY REUNION AT ELMWOOD

One of the pleasantest events in the life of Grandma Streeter occurred last week when she had with her all of her living children, three sons and three daughters. Grandma, who is 77 years of age, has been in poor health all the spring, and the children conceived the plan of getting together again to spend several days with her at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John P. Cobb, with whom she lives. There were Mrs. Charles N. Wood of Cedar Falls, Iowa; Robert Streeter, a railroad conductor, from Chickasha, Okla.; Representative Norman Streeter, a banker, from Buffalo Gap, S. D.; Charles Streeter, superintendent of the terminal division of the Kansas City Southern, from Kansas City. These, together with Mrs. Cobb and Mrs. Charles Aldrich of Elmwood, formed a very happy family party, whose only flaw was the loved mother's enfeebled condition. The sons returned to their homes after a few days, but Mrs. Wood remained nearly two weeks, leaving for Cedar Falls Tuesday morning of this week—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

THE APPLE MEN AND THE RAILROAD RATES

E. M. Pollard, of the Eastern Nebraska Fruit Growers' association, called on the railway commission this morning to discuss the proposed complaint against the railroad companies of Nebraska for a lower freight rate on apples. Mr. Pollard said he would not file the complaint with the commission until the railroads are given an opportunity to say what reductions they are willing to make. A conference between fruit growers and representatives of all the railroads of Nebraska will be held at Omaha Friday.

"I have always found the railroad officials fair and honorable in their dealings," said Mr. Pollard "and I do not want to force them into a hearing before the railway commission unless it is absolutely necessary." — State Journal.

THE FAMOUS SHAMROCKS WILL PLAY THE BOOSTERS

On Sunday afternoon next the fans of the city will be able to welcome our old rivals on the diamond at the Booster ball park, as Manager Johnson has arranged a game with the famous Shamrocks of South Omaha, who will be here with all the old favorites, including George Kennedy, the man who put the "K" in kidding, and a good game can be looked for, as our boys have always come strong against the Shamrocks, and if they retain the form shown Sunday will give the Irish brigade all they want to try and take the game. This will probably be one of the fastest teams to play here this season and the fans will be sure to get their money's worth.

LITTLE EDGAR M'GUIRE UNDERGOES SECOND OPERATION

Little Edgar McGuire was compelled to undergo a second operation yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital in Omaha, and while the little lad came out of the operation in good shape, he is very weak from the effects of his long illness and his condition is such as to cause his relatives and friends much anxiety. Edgar was taken with measles about two months ago and the disease settled on his lungs and he was taken to Omaha, where specialists decided that the only way to secure relief would be through an operation, which was performed, but which was not satisfactory, and another one was performed yesterday.

The Best Medicine in the World.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE ISAAC F. BATES, YESTERDAY

The funeral of the late Israel F. Bates was held yesterday afternoon from the late home and was attended by a large number of old friends, as well as members of the Masonic order, of which he was a member. The services at the home were conducted by Rev. W. L. Austin of the Methodist church and at the grave the Masonic fraternity took charge of the service, laying their departed brother to his last rest with the beautiful ritual of that order. The pall-bearers were selected from the members of the lodge and were as follows: L. B. Egenberger, M. L. Friedrich, A. D. Despain, Adam Kurtz, J. H. Becker and D. B. Ebersole. The interment was made in Oak Hill cemetery.

A Good Investment.

W. D. Magli, a well known merchant of Whitewood, Wis., bought a stock of Chamberlain's medicine so as to be able to supply them to his customers. After receiving them he was himself taken sick and says that one small bottle of Chamberlain Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was worth more to him than the cost of his entire stock of these medicines. For sale by all Dealers.

A NUMBER OF BURLINGTON OFFICIALS IN TOWN TODAY

The city was visited for a few hours today by quite a party of the head officials of the Burlington railroad, who were inspecting the lines of the road west of the Missouri river. The officials looked over the work on the depot, as well as visited the shops here. Among those in the party were: H. E. Byram of Chicago, second vice president; G. W. Holdrege of Omaha, general manager; L. B. Allen of Chicago, general superintendent; F. R. Mullin of Omaha, division superintendent; A. W. Newton of Chicago, superintendent permanent ways and structures; J. E. Johnson, train master Omaha division, and A. F. Hedengren, master carpenter of the Omaha division.
