IN MEMORY OF A DEPARTED SISTER

A Brother's Tribute to a Dead Sister—Sketch of the Life of Miss Rebecca Ramsey.

DIED—Thursday, August 7th, 1913, at 1:40 o'clock a. m., of congestion of the stomach, at the old home in Hanover township, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, Miss Rebecca Ramsey, aged 64 years, 4 months and 17 days.

Deceased was a lineal descendant, on the father's side, of the ancient Ramsay family of Scotland, and on the mother's side of the Van Swearingen family of Boemsterdam, Holland.

She was the youngest child of a family of eight children, only two of whom now survive—Judge Basil S. Ramsey, residing at Plattsmouth, Nebraska, and Mrs. Bella R. Waterman, now residing at Hay Springs, Sheridan county, Nebraska.

The first break in this family group was that of the youngest brother, William, who died May 9, 1858.

The next to pass life's boundary was the father, William

Ramsey, who died October 22, 1870.

The next to yield up a life of more than 67 years of noble womanhood was that of the mother, Mary Ramsey, whose maiden name was Mary Swearingen, who died December 23, 1880.

The next to pass into the unknown world was the oldest sister, Althea Standish, mother of Miles Standish, formerly of Murray, Cass county, Nebraska, now of Garnet, Kansas, who died February 13, 1885.

The next member of the family to yield to nature's unchanging law was the oldest brother, John Ramsey, a pioneer settler of Old Mt. Pleasant, Cass county, Nebraska, who died May 5, 1905.

The next to obey the mandate from a higher court was that of Sister Sara Ann Ramsey, who died June 13, 1905.

The next to answer the final summons was sister, Mrs. Catherine Ramsey, who died January 10, 1907.

And now the youngest of this family, Rebecca, of whom this sketch is written, answers the last and final call to another world.

Deceased was born on the old home farm near where she died, on March 29, 1852, and had passed her sixty-first year. She and an older sister named Sara Ann, on the death of the mother on December 23, 1880, resolved to remain upon and take care of the old home where they were born. This they most faithfully did until the death of Sara Ann on June 13, 1905, after which the faithful sister, Rebecca, continued the care of the old home as best she could in her failing health to the end of her life. Neither sister was ever married and nothing could alienate their strong affections from that dear old birthplace and the home of their well spent lives.

A most beautiful and touching incident in the lives of Sara Ann and Rebecca Ramsey, occurred a number of years ago, which largely illustrates their strong and highly consistent feeling for the helpless and their own high Christian characters.

A cousin, Mrs. Elizabeth Davidson had suddenly died and left an infant baby boy only a few weeks old. The two sisters took this motherless babe to their own home and there cared for it as if bound to them by closer ties of consanguinity. They cared for this little motherless babe through young boyhood, through promising, manly young manhood. And the affection between these foster mothers and their foster child, grew and became as strong if not stronger, than that between many natural mothers and children. This young baby boy was named Charles C. Davidson and although long passed his minority years, his attachment was so strong for his foster mothers and for the home in which he was cared for in helpless infancy and through boyhood into young manhood, that he remained there and saw the lives of both these noble, Christian sisters pass into that last, long dreamless slumber. And who can wonder that when Rebecca, the last of the foster mothers, so peacefully and peacefully passed away, Charles, as he was familiarly called, while sitting by her bedside, watching the flickering light go out, should weep as he had never wept before and that too as if he had lost the dearest friend on earth.

The funeral services of deceased were held on Friday, August 8th, 1913, at two o'clock p. m., when a very large concourse of relatives and friends had gathered together to pay a last tribute of love and respect to one who had been for so long a time a loved and loving relative, friend and neighbor.

Rev. McCartney of Burgettstown, Pennsylvania, conducted the services, and delivered a most beautiful sermon on the many Christian virtues of the deceased. His beautiful word painting of the life of deceased, her interest in the distressed and afflicted, her devotion to the church which she had so long been a valued member, her own bodily suffering for so many years, her Christian quiet resignation to the inevitable and the peaceful, painless passing of the soul into immortality, brought tears and weeping to many of that vast audience. Suitable musical selections such as were favorites of deceased, were beautifully rendered by a choir chosen for that purpose. The pall bearers, chosen from the relatives and friends of deceased were as follows: Messrs. C. G. Swearingen, J. C. Swearingen, Samuel Swearingen, Z. V. Swearingen, T. D. Boyd, W. M. Boyd. Interment was made in Kingscreek cemetery, near Frankfort Springs, Beaver county, Penn., where father, mother, one brother and three sisters for years have been quietly resting in that long, dreamless slumber and where many of the Ramsey family for the last two hundred years have been laid to rest beneath oak, evergreen, flower and vine.

Rebecca Ramsey, early in girlhood life, became a member of what then was called, the "United Presbyterian Church," and through life, was a sincere believer in the tenets of that religious faith. From the time of her membership, through her life, she was an attendant at the King's Creek Presbyterian church, located in a beautiful oak timber that only a short distance from the old home. Nor were her acts of Christian help and benevolence confined to the needy of her own religious denomination. Her Christianity was more illustrative of the true Christian character. If any members of any other church denomination, or if not a member of any church, when in need of help or sympathy, the hand of Rebecca Ramsey was there, to aid and assist as best she could. It was this conception of the highest Christian character and of duty to the afflicted, so practically illustrated through a long life by deceased, that attracted to her so many faithful friends and which so impressed that large assembly who stood weeping over her coffin as the Rev. McCartney in that beautiful sermon eulogized her lifework.

And in conclusion, as was said of her sister Sara Ann—"And as in the morning of child-life she first saw the foliage, the leaves, vines and flowers around the home of childhood, and their oft repeated resurrection during a long life, so as they had again appeared—to her for the last time—in the morning of her last day of conscious earth life, she gently went to sleep—calmly, peacefully, breathed—into the morning of another existence."—Brother.

THE KNIGHTS AND LADIES OF SECURITY ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Is One of the Leading Fraternal Societies in the City and Very Prosperous.

From Friday's Daily.

Last evening the Knights and Ladies of Security held a very well attended meeting at their hall, despite the fact that the weather was very warm and uncomfortable, and the members of the order who braved the heat felt well repaid for their trouble, as a most interesting meeting was enjoyed. The principal feature of the evening's business was the election of officers for the ensuing year, which resulted in the selection of the following: Mrs. Laura A. Thrasher, the present efficient president of the order, who has been such an able worker for the advancement of the lodge in this city, was re-elected to the position she has filled so ably and well during the past year, as the members felt that they could not possibly find another who would fill the place so faithfully. The other officers chosen were: First vice president, Mrs. Robert Ward; second vice president, R. B. Windham; prelate, C. A. Taylor; corresponding secretary, A. O. Moore; financier, August Clouid; conductor, Mrs. Carrie Leyda; guard, Paul Lutz; sentinel, Miss Clara Wohlfarth.

After the close of the regular business session of the lodge the members proceeded to enjoy a short social time among themselves, visiting and talking over matters for the betterment of the order. The Knights and Ladies have one of the most active organizations in fraternal circles in the city and have made a splendid record in increasing the membership of their lodge, as well as providing for the welfare of the members socially and in extending to them help and sympathy in their hour of need.

MISS ALICE DOVEY'S NEW PLAY, "THE MERRY MARTYR"

Another triumph has been added to the career of Plattsmouth's own actress, Miss Alice Dovey, who has just started the season of 1913 in "The Merry Martyr," a new musical comedy, at the Colonial theater in Boston. The appearance of Miss Dovey in the production has caused the dramatic critics of "the Hub" to grow loud in their praise of her wonderful voice, and the show has made a great hit in the city where it was first presented. The Boston American has the following to say in regard to the show and its talented little prima donna:

"The performance could not have been half as complete if it had been served without the charming grace and delightful voice of Alice Dovey, who burst into view as the tiniest prima donna of a generation. Miss Dovey established herself with her first number and never let go. She was as refreshing as a May morning."

From Friday's Daily.

Wednesday evening a fine new son and heir made his appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kruger and announced his intention of staying with them for a number of years. The mother and little one are doing nicely and Harry is just about the happiest and proudest man in town over the new addition to the family.

MRS. C. A. RUNSTROM ENTERTAINS OMAHA KENSINGTON CLUB

From Friday's Daily. A most delightful social gathering was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. A. Runstrom, who entertained in a most charming manner the Omaha Kensington club, of which the hostess was a member when residing in Omaha. For the delightful occasion the rooms of the home were decorated in a very tasteful manner with sunflowers, which made the scene one of much beauty and added greatly to the enjoyment of the members of the club, who arrived on No. 4 yesterday morning. The afternoon was spent most pleasantly by the ladies in playing various card games, and the prizes given were Plattsmouth pennants as a reward for the skill displayed by the ladies. At an appropriate hour a most delicious three-course luncheon was served by the hostess, which served to greatly aid in making the event one of the most pleasant that this club has held. The afternoon passed very quickly and it was with regret that the ladies departed at 7:45 for their homes in the metropolis, having agreed that it was one of the most delightful times they had experienced. Those in the party were: Mesdames A. W. Dart, Will Faulkner, F. R. Faulkner, Robert Smith, S. W. Greenman, L. G. Hart, F. E. Underwood and Arthur Tentany.

From Friday's Daily. Plattsmouth is to be treated to some foot ball this season, as the boys around town are forming a team to play during the early winter months. There is much good material to select from in the city and every effort is being made to get the best talent out for practice in order that a choice may be made of the team. It is expected to hold the games at the base ball park during the season and they should prove good drawing cards for the lovers of this great game. The boys have had several preliminary practices and this evening they will meet at the ball park for the purpose of electing a captain and forming plans for the work of the season. Through an error the announcement was made that the team would meet for practice at 7 o'clock, when it should have been 6:30, as the approaching fall evenings make it too dark for much effective practice after 7 o'clock. All those who are interested in the project to boost the foot ball team should be on hand this evening and assist in the forming of an organization to carry out the plans to make a successful team here this year.
