

CITY COUNCIL HAS A LIVELY SESSION

Councilman Lushinsky asked permission of the mayor for a few remarks on the Stucklin water extension matter, and he stated he did not think it fair that Mr. Stucklin should be compelled to pay for the entire laying of the pipes from the water mains into his property, when the franchise of the water company provided that they would lay one hundred and fifty feet extensions for new water users, and the councilman believed the city should compel the company to install this extension in keeping with the provisions of their franchise without expense to Mr. Stucklin. He also stated he understood there were several others there who desired to use water if the company would do the right thing in making the extension.

Councilman Johnson stated that he had been informed that the man desired to put in a private line and did not want anyone else to be connected up on the same pipe line and would put it in himself to secure this privilege. He did not believe the council needed to take the matter up as he did not believe the water company had violated any provisions of their franchise, and that only the attitude of the party desiring the service had prevented the line being laid without so much expense, but as he desired a private line he would have to foot the bill himself as it was without the power of the council to take the matter up. Councilman Lushinsky stated that some time ago he had talked with both Stucklin and Maurer and others who were thinking of putting in water and they were willing to go ahead at this time.

Councilman Richey, of the Third ward, asked if the city had the right or was expected to take the private disagreements and troubles of private parties and make it an issue with the water company. Mayor Sattler stated he was in favor of taking up any matter where the water company did not live up to its franchise, but thought that the parties seeking redress should petition the city council before any action was taken in the matter.

City Attorney Tidd then arose to try and straighten the matter out by stating that Stucklin had been up to see him and had said that the water company had agreed to put in an extension of three hundred feet for him and Maurer, but later these parties had gotten into a disagreement and Maurer had backed out of the deal and Stucklin had said he would go ahead and put in the line alone.

Councilman Vroman stated he had gotten in touch with Superintendent Sinclair, of the water company, and they had promised to make the extension but they had failed to do so, and later Maurer had backed out of the proposition over some disagreement and as Mr. Stucklin had to have the water he had taken steps to have it put in alone as it was absolutely necessary that he have this extension made to his property.

Councilman Shea was heartily in favor of making the water company live up to the provisions of their franchise, and to protect the citizens where it was needed. The whole matter was finally settled by Lushinsky, who introduced a resolution that the city clerk notify Mr. Stucklin to prepare a petition to present to the city council in order that that body might take some action in the matter. This was passed by a unanimous vote. The scene of this controversy is in the south part of the city where the water mains have just been extended.

Councilman Buttery, of the police, stated that he believed the night police had all he could attend to at night on Main street, and thought that some other means should be provided for the checking of the lights.

The council finally passed a resolution that the light committee wait upon the Nebraska Lighting company, and try and secure better service for the city and the need of such waiting was apparent, for at times during the council meeting the lights would almost die out and that body needed no stronger demonstration of the need of better service.

The request of Councilman Buttery for some tiling on Locust street brought forth a vigorous protest from Councilman Hallstrom, who believed that the second ward had in the past received more than its just share of the street improvements, and in the condition of the road fund did not favor it. The council however passed a resolution that the work be done as soon as possible, as it is badly needed.

The request of Councilman Richey for a permanent crossing on Seventh street in the rear of the Parmele livery barn, was granted.

Councilman Johnson requested that William Holly be notified to fix the sidewalk on the east side of his property on Fourth street and also that the street commissioner fix Fourth street between Main and Pearl, where it is in very bad shape. Lushinsky asked that Richey street be graded and that manholes be opened up in order that the street could be used. Buttery stated he had heard much complaint about the odor from the manholes and thought the matter should be looked after.

The automobile ordinance was laid over until the next meeting, in order that the members might look it over more thoroughly.

The bringing up of the occupation tax ordinance brought on a very extended debate and discussion among the members, and there was a wide diversion of opinion among the different members over what the ordinance should be, and despite the fact that the judiciary committee of the council had spent several months in preparing the ordinance presented, it was decided to lay it over and have a new one drafted by a committee of five to try and get a document that would suit the majority of the members.

Councilman Lushinsky stated he did not favor the ordinance, as he did not think it was fair to the merchants in many respects, and that in the past more revenue than necessary was raised and it was used in other funds besides that for sweeping and cleaning the streets, and he thought that was unnecessary.

Councilman Straight stated that he was opposed to an occupation tax, but had drafted the measure at as low a figure as possible to raise the necessary revenue to keep the streets sprinkled and swept and to afford police protection to the business section of the city. The mayor appointed as a committee to draft the new measure for the consideration of the councilmen Messrs. Lushinsky, Hallstrom, Buttery, Johnson and Shea.

Councilman Bajek asked what had been done in regard to fixing up Mercer avenue as the residents of that section were quite annoyed over the failure to have it placed in condition for winter. On motion of Buttery, the city surveyor was instructed to go out there at once and make the survey.

At the close of the council meeting Mayor John P. Sattler extended to the members a cordial invitation in behalf of the German Day committee to attend the celebration and to participate in the big parade next Saturday afternoon.

Councilman Buttery in a few well chosen remarks, moved that that the council attend in a body and take part in the parade. He also moved that the freedom of the city be extended to these liberty loving and loyal citizens, the Germans, which was passed without a dissenting vote.

PROSPERITY OF THE CITY SCHOOLS

Everything Working Harmoniously and All Departments Admirably Conducted.

The Plattsmouth city schools are enjoying one of the most successful terms in the history of the school as is shown by the report of Superintendent W. C. Brooks made to the board of education at their last meeting. The new teachers have become accustomed to the work of handling the pupils, and the old force of teachers who have served so efficiently during the past years, Superintendent Brooks has taken the schools in hand in splendid shape and his able management is maintaining the high standard of much gratification to the patrons of the schools. The school board has also decided to increase the number of play ground apparatus by having a number of teacher boards installed on the grounds at the central building. The attendance at the schools has proven most satisfactory during the first month of school there being 984 enrolled while the number belonging in this city reaches 953. The different teachers of the city with their number of pupils attending is as follows:

Teacher	No. Attend.
A. O. Eggenberger	182
Hazel Tucey	39
Elizabeth Kerr	45
Amelia Martens	30
Mattie Larson	38
Agnes Kennedy	39
Verna Cole	33
Clara Weyrich	44
Pearl Staats	37
Mae Morgan	36
Clee Applegate	30
Anna Heisel	33
Crete Briggs	33
Christine Hansen	30
Marie Hiber	36
Nettie Hawksworth	40
Claire Dovey	37
Alpha Peterson	46
Hazel Dovey	44
Nora Patton	41
Delia Tartsch	24
Hilda Barwick	47
Anna Kopia	20

There are two departments badly needed in the city schools here and these are manual training and domestic science as these are two departments of modern educational institutions that give the pupils most valuable training, and if there is any possible way by which they could be added to the course of studies at the High school the city should see that they are installed because they are badly needed to keep the school up to the high standard set by the other High schools of the state. The outlay for the installing of these two departments would amount to considerable, but the benefits received would more than compensate for the money spent in this direction. The matter should be agitated and even if it is necessary to erect another building on the High school campus to house these two departments it should be done, and in a short time the patrons of the school could easily see the improvement made in the school and the advancement of the scholars along useful and valuable lines that would fit them for their future lives.

DISCUSSION OF THE ROCK PILE FOR TRAMPS AND OTHER VAGRANTS

October 14, 1913.
Editor of Journal:
I was interested in your article on what to do with tramps and you say the city has no rock pile. When the river road is completed the city can get all the stone they want along the side of the road that is just the right size and the city should be able to get it hauled for about one dollar a yard, which would be a good big load, and if the city would get about two loads hauled up and make a nice pile near police headquarters and show him the pile and say the city needs it broke up and if you come up here again on similar charges, I will have work for you.

FORMER PLATTSMOUTH LADY IS MOTHER OF FINE LITTLE DAUGHTER

The news has been received in this city of the arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Koontz, at Columbus, Nebraska, of a fine bright eyed little lady who will wear the title of Miss Koontz. The little one made her appearance in the world about two weeks ago and the parents are very proud of the new addition to the family and as this is the first child in the family there was much rejoicing over the event. Mrs. Koontz was formerly Miss Helen Chapman of this city, and the grandmother and uncles and aunts of the little girl here, are greatly pleased over the arrival of the new daughter to the Koontz home.

FALLS CITY AGGREGATION HERE AGAIN NEXT SUNDAY

The Falls City aggregation of base ball tossers will be here Sunday for a game with the Boosters on the local grounds, and they will attempt to retrieve their former defeat at the hands of our sterling organization of base ball stars. The Falls City team has just received the addition of several players who were playing this season with different teams in the Nebraska state league and a red-hot game may be looked for, as our boys are some ball players themselves and will not allow the visitors to leave here with the honors of the occasion.

C. N. BEVERAGE AND FAMILY MOVE TO THIS CITY

C. N. Beverage who recently purchased the beautiful residence property of James Sage on Chicago avenue, with his family has moved into their new home, and are now full fledged residents of the city. The advent of Mr. Beverage and his family to this city will be the source of much pleasure to the residents of the town as they are among the best people in the county, and will contribute greatly to the up building of the city. That the Beverage family do not propose to suffer for good things to eat during the winter months, is evidenced by the fact that they brought with them on their moving to town, two wagon loads of canned fruit and other dainties, such as can only be procured on a Cass county farm, and these will be found most acceptable during the long winter months. This amount of canned goods is something unusual, and speaks well for the foresightedness of this worthy citizen and his wife. We extend to Mr. and Mrs. Beverage a hearty welcome to this city, and congratulate them that they have decided to locate in the best town in Nebraska.

MADAME GADSKI TO SING FOR TEACHERS AT OMAHA

A decided change in the outline of the program of the State Teachers' association, to be held in Omaha November 5, 6 and 7, has been decided upon by the executive committee. Instead of devoting two days to the sectional meetings, as has been done in the past, all sectional meetings will be held on Thursday morning and afternoon, while the general sessions will be held Wednesday night, Thursday night and Friday morning.

An especial feature of this year's program, which is occasioning much favorable comment, is the concert to be given in honor of the teachers of the state by Madame Johanna Gadski. Every member of the association will be the guest of the Bureau of Publicity at the concert Friday night. A contract was closed with Madame Gadski last summer and she promises one of the best programs she has ever given.

The trade excursions will be repeated again this year. So many requests have come from teachers in the state for these excursions, that the local committee has gladly agreed to again arrange a series of excursions to places of interest.

The list of talent for this year's meeting is one that will command the favorable attention of the teachers. The speakers will be announced later.

Mark Furlong from south of the city was here yesterday looking after some business matters with the merchants.

JUDGE ARCHER HAS A VERY BUSY DAY

Yesterday the court of Judge M. Archer was quite busy as he had several parties brought before him in order to have justice meted out to them. Frank Ray was the first caller at the temple of justice and he acknowledged the charge that he had been found in an intoxicated condition, and the judge after hearing the case, decided that the best thing for the city as well as the prisoner, was to have him leave the city, and on his promise to in the future conduct himself in an orderly manner he was given a half hour to seek other quarters on the other side of the river, and he lost no time in making his getaway.

The judge also had a number of young men before him charged with having gotten into a fight Sunday evening, and the complainant, E. J. Stell, alleged that Henry Lamphere and James Jones had gotten into an altercation with him the result of which was that Stell got the worst of it, and sought to have the law give him redress in the matter. The judge after hearing the evidence in the case decided to give the parties a fine and also a short lecture on the folly of getting into such disagreements.

Adam Kaffenberger of near Cedar Creek, was in the city yesterday for a few hours, coming in to attend the funeral of the late F. R. Guthmann at which he acted as one of the honorary pall bearers.
