THE DRUMMERS WERE VERY DRY

Lodged in a Church, They Rang the Big Bell for Drinks for Pew 17.

"You've never seen a really crowded hotel," remarked Cal Stewart, who will be seen here in "Running for Governor," "until you've been in a small town during a lodge encampment or some other unusual event that taxes the hotel accommodations clear beyond their limit. It's so seldom a small town has occasion to take care of a big crowd that they are completely overwhelmed and it is a serious problem to house the overflow. In a small town in Ohio, a few years ago, when the Masons, Elks or Knights of Pythias, or some other lodge held a big meeting there, the hotel proprietor was putting people away five and six in a room, but even then there were people clamoring for beds or somewhere to lay their heads. The day when the rush was at its height, they got permission to put up a limited number of guests in the big Methodist church, right across the street from the hotel. The pews were cushioned and there were plenty of big windows that could be opened for ventilation. It wasn't a half bad place to sleep. A couple of drummers, regular customers, dropped along that night and were the first to be assigned to the church. That night a little after midnight the whole town was awakened by the violent ringing of the bell in the Methodist church. From the noise, I thought the whole town was on fire. I got up hurriedly and put on a few clothes and chased across to see what was up. One of the two drummers stood at the front door in his pajamas;

he had met some friends among the visiting lodge brothers that evening and he showed the effects. 'Where is the fire?' I asked. 'Fire, h—l, I only rang for a bell-boy,' replied the guest calmly. 'Send over a couple of gin rickies to pew 17.' Now, don't fail to see Cal Stewart at the Parmele Saturday night.

The accompanying illustration depicts a human spinal column, surmounted with the grandest handiwork of the Creator, the head, through which passes a conduit—the spinal cord—carrying the vital force—Life.

Two sections of the column are enlarged, showing two nerves leaving the spinal cord on their way to some organ within the body. See the difference in the size of the nerves. The large one is the health-giving one; the small one disease in the organ in which it ends. If you are suffering or ailing, you have one of these, caused by luxation of the vertebrae. Let us fix this trouble before you become a chronic sufferer; if your trouble is already chronic, we can still conquer it.

The violin selection by Mr. Gierau consisted of a group of two numbers, "Mira O Norma," by Hanser-Saenger, and "Spanish Dance," by Meszkowski, and was rendered in a brilliant and artistic manner by this talented young blind student, and his touch on the violin was truly wonderful.

Miss White favored the audience with a very pleasing piano number from Chopin, "Sonnetto del Petrarca," and her playing fully demonstrated her splendid ability as an instructor, and her number was heartily enjoyed by the delighted audience.

Mr. Adams, who in addition to his splendid gift of instrumental music is a talented vocalist, favored the gathering with a most pleasing number by Toselli, "Good Bye," and his wonderfully sweet voice was certainly one that held the audience enraptured by its beauty, both in this selection and in the number he gave later on the program, "A Perfect Day," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, and everyone present felt that they could have listened all evening to this sweet singer and never wearied of hearing his delightful songs.

Mr. Harris favored the audience with a very pleasing reading, "John Smith, U. S. A.," by Eugene Field, which was given in a very polished manner and showed his wonderful talents as a speaker.

Mr. Gierau gave as his final number on the program "Traum der Sennerin," by Lisitzky, and "Minnel in G," by Beethoven, and his violin playing entranced everyone present.

Miss White closed the excellent program by a double number, "Nocturne" and "Scherzo," by Chopin, which was rendered in the same brilliant manner as characterized her first selection, and brought to a final the most pleasing musical entertainment heard here for many days.

The Young Men's Glee club gave a very pleasing number on the program, taking as their selection "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," and the wonderful improvement shown by the young men was most pleasing to the friends who have been watching with interest the progress of this splendid organization. The Young Men's Bible class feel deeply grateful to Superintendent Abbott and his pupils for their courtesy in responding to the invitation to appear in our city.

THE W. C. T. U. HOLDS INTERESTING REUNION

From Tuesday's Daily. The W. C. T. U. held a most enjoyable reunion yesterday afternoon at the pretty home of Mrs. Charles Troop, at which there was a large number of both old and new members in attendance. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Jennie Schildknecht, at which time she read the Crusade psalm. They were then led in prayer by Rev. F. M. Drulinger, after which the roll was called by the secretary, Mrs. S. E. Kerr, there being some 200 names called. Mrs. Schildknecht then gave an interesting talk on "When the W. C. T. U. Was First Organized in 1874 in Plattsburgh." A report of the state convention, which was held at Fremont recently, was then given by the delegate, Mrs. P. E. Ruffner, which was very much appreciated. Rev. Drulinger and wife were present and the members of the society felt highly honored. Rev. Drulinger gave a good talk, which made the members feel that they were stronger and more determined than ever to carry on the work. Mrs. C. M. Foster favored the company with a reading, which was likewise most thoroughly enjoyed. Following this excellent program delicious refreshments were served, the hostess being assisted by Misses Fannie Will, Marie Davis and Elizabeth Spangler. At a late hour the ladies adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. Schildknecht on November 3.

WHAT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY IS DOING

Great Benefit to the People of the City Schools and Our People in General.

We wish to express our appreciation of what the public library is doing for the public schools and the untiring efforts on the part of the librarian, Miss Jones, in helping the students find the information for which they seek. It is the desire of the school officials and teachers that our children get the "Library Habit." And we are more than pleased to learn that more children from the schools are making use of the library this year than ever before.

Miss Windham, the art supervisor, has devised the following scheme for getting pupils to take a deeper interest in their art work. There will be four "Honorable Mentions" which the children can earn in their art work this year:

First Honorable Mention—Awarded every three months to the best work done in the grade in town. It can be work done either at home or at school.

Second Honorable Mention—Awarded every three months to the best work done in that grade from the school window (would be the same as outdoor sketching).

Third Honorable Mention—Awarded every month to the best work in the room which was done in the home.

Fourth Honorable Mention—Awarded to the best work done in the regular school arts course in the school room.

That pupil receiving the most "Honorable Mentions" during the year will be awarded the first prize. Other prizes will be awarded those receiving high numbers of "Honorable Mentions." At the close of the year all pictures receiving "Honorable Mentions" will be placed on exhibit along with other school art work. The work at home can be done in any medium pencil, water color, crayon, or ink.

Any encouragement parents will give their children in their home work will be greatly appreciated by the city schools, as well as being of great benefit to the child encouraged. The following have received "Honorable Mentions" for the month of September:

Rachel McGart, Hilda Barwick teacher, best work at home; Inez Stone, Hilda Barwick teacher, best work at school; Joseph Smetina, Mattie Larson teacher, best work at home; Joyce Rundstrom, Mattie Larson teacher, best work at school; Robert Peters, Florence Kalasek, Marion Mauzy, Kathy Sattler, Nora Livingston, Mae Morgan teacher, best work at home; Helen Johnson, Marie Evers, Mabel Ledgway, Marie Baldwin, Ruth Clark, Elizabeth Bajock, Mae Morgan teacher, best work at school; Howard Dwyer, Verna Cole teacher, best work at home; Josie Sedlock, Berna Cole teacher, best work at school; Viola Archer, Haze Tney teacher, best work at home; Carl Wurl, Hazel Tney teacher, best work at school; Rose Belohavay, Agnes Kennedy teacher, best work at home; Carl Brandt, Agnes Kennedy teacher, best work at school; Harold Fitt, Otto Schlieske, Delia Tartsch teacher, best work at home; Lily Kopischka, Fritz Schlieske, Delia Tartsch teacher, best work at school; Ross Gochendour, Margaret Sawyer, Nora Batten teacher, best work at home; Caroline Schulhof, Agnes Grebe, Nora Batten teacher, best work at school; Fred Rabb, Marie Hiber teacher, best work at school; Catherine McMaken, Christina Hansen teacher, best work at school; Albert Pendl, Christina Hansen teacher, best

THE JAIL MATTER AS VIEWED AWAY FROM HOME

From Wednesday's Daily. Another jail delivery at Plattsburgh resulted in the escape of three prisoners the other night. The Cass county jail is a ramshackle old affair that will hardly hold atmosphere, let alone dangerous men who should not be let at large. The county has tried very often to get a bond proposition through to build a new building, but in every instance the rural districts have voted it down by heavy majorities. Some day the people of Cass county may regret exceedingly that they have such a poor jail. Some desperate character confined in the institution may escape and never be caught. Even as it is, with less dangerous men confined, it costs much money to recapture every time a man gets away. It may be false economy on the part of Cass county to maintain a structure that is a jail in name only.—Nebraska City Press.

The above, in some respects, is right to the point. As to voting bonds for the building of a new jail, it is wrong. At an election six months ago the people of Cass county voted the sum of $12,000 for the building of a new structure, but nothing has been done by the commissioners in that direction. And why, we cannot understand. And there the matter stands.

ALBERT RHEINACKLE SERIOUSLY INJURED AT THE BURLINGTON SHOPS

From Tuesday's Daily. This morning Albert Rheinackle, who is employed in the freight car repair department of the Burlington, met with a very serious accident while engaged at his work in the shops. He was unfortunate enough to have a large hinge fall upon the little finger of his right hand with such force as to almost completely sever that member, and it required considerable work on the part of the surgeon to sew up the injured member. It is thought that it will be possible to save the finger, although the injury has been a very serious one. Mr. Rheinackle suffered much pain from the effects of the injury, but was made comfortable as possible by the surgeon. The many friends of this worthy gentleman will trust that he may soon recover the full use of his hand.

DELIGHTFUL MUSICAL IN HONOR OF VISITORS

From Wednesday's Daily. Last evening "Sunnyside," the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wescott on High School Hill, was the scene of a very delightful musicale given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rawls and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Rawls of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Rawls of Boise, Idaho. The occasion was a most delightful one and some of the most talented of the Plattsburgh musicians were present and took part in the highly enjoyable program given. Superintendent W. G. Brooks favored the company with a most pleasing vocal solo, which was much enjoyed by the guests on this pleasant event, as was also the vocal numbers given by Miss Catherine Dovey and Mrs. H. S. Austin, both of whom are favorites with the music-loving public.

of the city, and their selections were much enjoyed by the company. Miss Vesta Douglas gave one of her usual charming readings, which was greatly enjoyed by everyone, as Miss Douglass is a most finished elocutionist and her rendition of her number was very pleasing. Mrs. G. H. Falter and Mrs. A. O. Eggenberger, two of the most talented pianists in the city, gave two very pleasing instrumental selections which served to make the program a most complete success, and the event a most enjoyable one.
