CITY COUNCIL IN SPIRITED SESSION LAST NIGHT

The automobile ordinance, which had been passed from one meeting to another, was then brought out by the mayor to await the pleasure of the council in the matter. Councilman Hallstrom stated he did not think much of the ordinance and thought it should be made to conform with the state law in order to make it legal. The question of the ordinance was finally referred to a committee to revise and prepare for the consideration of the council at its next meeting. Mayor Sattler named as such committee Councilmen Buttery, Lushinsky and Hallstrom, who will wrestle with the question until the next session of the council.

The council received a communication from T. A. Stucklin and E. W. Mauer, in which these gentlemen asked that the city compel the water company to extend their service some 300 feet to connect with the water pipes on the premises of the petitioners in the south part of the city. On motion of Lushinsky the water company will be instructed to put in the extension in compliance with the provisions of their franchise.

Councilman Richey of the streets, alleys and bridges committee, reported that he had been out in the west part of the city and had saw the surveyor at work on Mercer avenue fixing it up, and he thought that there would be something definite soon for the council to work on. He had also visited the county commissioners in regard to the matter of having the county give the city the money that would be used on the bridges in this city on Locust street, and the county board had received the opinion of the county attorney that there was no legal way to do this. Councilman Buttery then moved that the bridges be temporarily repaired until spring, which was carried.

The finance committee of the city council, after a careful consideration of the following claims, recommended their payment and warrants were ordered drawn for their several amounts: W. B. Rishel, street work, $49.55; G. W. Haynie, street work, $31; Mike Lutz, street commissioner, $35.40; Nebraska Lighting company, light at library, $2.50; same, light at city hall, 50 cents; Waterman Lumber Co., lumber, $8.20; Claus Boedel, burying one dog, 50 cents; I. N. Cummins, burying two dogs, $1; Edward Svoboda, work at cemetery, $5.60; C. W. Baylor, coal at library, $6.75; Al O'Neill, street work, $28; C. E. McBride, same, $42.80; Al Jones, same, $21.80; Earl Blue, same, $5; Jesse Green, same, $3; Roy Covert, same, $3; John Swanson, same, $14.80; H. Gingery, same, $5. The claims of the Nebraska Lighting company for $130 for street lighting, and William Grebe for $5 as special police, were referred to the claims committee.

City Attorney Tidd reported that he had examined the claim of the Gorder estate, which had been refused in part by the claims committee, and he found that the amounts had been outlawed and that they were for repairs of a mowing machine and he did not know of the city possessing such a machine, and he believed the city did not have to pay the claim.

Councilman Hallstrom of the lighting committee reported that he had visited the office of the Messrs. Brooks and Richey had stated that they knew the service was poor, but there was no remedy for it until the new service could be run into this city from Red Oak, Iowa, and that by the holidays at least they thought the service would be into this city. In regard to the establishing of a new plant in this city, Mr. Brooks did not hold out very encouraging views, as he thought the plant should be located in the place where the greatest service was demanded, and while a location along the river was the best, he did not know whether it would be here, or in Louisville or if the Red Oak service was satisfactory, that might be continued.

Mr. Hallstrom stated that the light company had got their wires as far as Glenwood on the east and Cedar Creek on the west and would push the work right along until completed, and that the company would be glad to have the council go over the lines and see what had been done. He stated that the company representatives stated that $30,000 had been expended to improve the service and some $8,000 had been used in this city to fix up the wiring and equipment here.

RESTAURANT ATTACHED, PROPRIETOR LEAVES THE TOWN

(From the Union Ledger)

Sheriff C. D. Quinton dropped in from the county seat Tuesday forenoon, and when this reporter asked his business he informed us that he had come to engage in the restaurant business, for a short time at least, and in a half hour he made good his assertion, for he meandered over to the restaurant where the corpulent and windy B. H. Dahlen formerly served meals and blew hot air. The sheriff had the proper authority to take charge, even if the portly Dahlen was absent, and by virtue of an order of attachment issued out of the court of Judge Beeson at Plattsmouth, the sheriff proceeded to proceed with the proceedings, taking possession of the "plant" and all things thereunto belonging. This action was brought about at the instigation of the wholesale firm of Seargent & Rice of Nebraska City, who through their attorney, Paul Topping, commenced suit for the sum of $388.10, due for goods sold to Dahlen. Soon as Sheriff Quinton took possession he appointed Ray Frans and J. B. Roddy as appraisers, and they took an inventory of the stock, furniture and fixtures, all of which they appraised at the sum of $454.15. As the matter now stands the sheriff has a dead restaurant on his hands for awhile, but in due time the stock will be sold at public auction, unless arrangements are made for the benefit of the numerous creditors, a thing that is not likely to occur. Attorney Topping was called upon to look after the interests of other creditors, but found that after satisfying the claim of Seargent & Rice Co., there will be very little consolation for the others.

This man, B. H. Dahlen came here about two months ago, from where we have not learned, but he was here only a short time when he began to make a noise like a whirlwind (of hot air) and boasted of the thousands of dollars he had to buy hotels and restaurants, bought out Earl Upton at the restaurant and paid spot cash. Later it was learned that the capital he invested was borrowed, but that did not deter him from getting credit at several places in this town and he contracted bills that are yet unpaid and are likely to remain so. It is said that his brother-in-law at Murray, Walter Green, is sure on the $700.00 loan that Dahlen got to begin business on. About two weeks ago Dahlen and his wife and two children went to Omaha, leaving the restaurant in charge of John Lorgan, who had been working there, the understanding being that they were to be back in a day or two, but up to date they have not appeared and nobody can or will say where they are, although there are a number of business men here who would like to know their present address, but they will have to be content with the thought that they didn't lose more.

The strange part of the whole transaction is that business men will "lie to" a stranger without at least making some investigation as to previous record, as well as financial standing. Many a poor working man often finds it difficult to get credit for necessities, even though he is known to be honest and industrious, but let some stranger come along and belch forth a lot of hot air and he is the fellow that gets the favors instead of the man who is disposed to pay his bills and at the same time is ready to do the business man a favor when it is possible for him to do so. But such conditions exist to some extent in most towns, and the result is almost always the same.

REV. WATTON-HAYNES AND WIFE OF UNION VISIT IN PLATTSMOUTH

From Tuesday's Daily

This morning Rev. H. Watton-Haynes and wife came up from their home at Union and spent several hours here looking after matters of business and visiting with their friends. Rev. Haynes and his charming wife are most pleasant to meet, and in their good work at Union have been quite successful and have given the good people of that place one of the liveliest church organizations they have ever had there. Rev. Haynes has charge of the federated churches there, the Methodist and Presbyterian, and although the task has been a very difficult one he and his wife, through their excellent work, has put Union on the map.
