PROJECTED NEW HOME OF PLATTS-MOUTH ELKS

Will Be One of the Finest Structures in the City and Up-to-Date in Every Way.

The projected new home which will be erected here by Platts-mouth Lodge No. 739, B. P. O. E., gives promise of being one of the handsomest structures in the city, and when completed will make a very fine home for the members of this splendid order. The plans are being worked out by the architect and the members of the lodge committee having the matter in charge, and as soon as possible the work on the building will be gotten under way.

The structure will be brick veneer covered with stucco, which will make a very handsome ornament to the part of the city where it is to be located, and the citizens will have every reason to be proud of it when completed. It will occupy the site of the building which stands just north of the Coates' block, but the new building will be set back some twelve feet from the lot line and give an opportunity for the erection of a large porch covering the entire front of the building, and which will prove one of the handsome features in the structure.

The Elks, since their organization here have occupied club rooms in the Coates' block, which have been fitted up most comfortably and pleasantly for the use of the members, and many delightful times have been spent here by the Elks, but the rapidly increasing membership of the order has made the matter of securing larger quarters a very important one and the lodge has finally decided to put up a building that will make ample room for the members when they all gather together and for the giving of social features that has always been one of the characteristics of the Elks. In their splendid work of improvement the order should be given the encouragement of everyone in the city, as the new building will be, as we stated above, one of the finest in the city and will compare most favorably with other handsome homes erected by different lodges of this order throughout the state.

Soured Food.

A very unpleasant condition is regeneration of food. It means that there is soured food in your stomach, which should be expelled as soon as possible, to prevent a serious sickness. The best remedy in such cases is Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine, the well known medicine in diseases of the stomach and of the intestines. In all such ailments it is most important to clean out the body without weakening it. Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine will always thoroughly clean out and at the same time strengthen the body. It is very good in loss of appetite, weakness, constipation, nervousness, diseases due to impure blood, poor complexion and in many female disorders. At drug stores, Jos. Triner, Manufacturing Chemist, 1333-1339 So. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill. For a quick relief of pains in the muscles and joints there is nothing better than Triner's Liniment. Your druggist will order it for you.

Will Have Special Police.

The city authorities have made arrangements to place several extra police on duty tomorrow evening to take care of the Halloween mischief-makers who may be abroad in the city. The amount of damage done to property is quite small in this city, but the police will be on the alert to see that whoever starts anything will be attended to right, and the youngsters of the city should take warning and not get into trouble.

For any itching skin trouble, piles, eczema, salt rheum, hives, itch, scald head, herpes, scabies, Doan's Ointment is highly recommended. 50c a box at all stores.

DOINGS IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Many Cases Disposed of by Dismissal, Compromise or Otherwise Yesterday.

The time of the district court yesterday was taken up largely in the hearing of various motions of the attorneys and the ruling of the court upon them. The case of Oren P. Monroe vs. C. Lawrence Stull, was dismissed, as the plaintiff in the case had died since the starting of the case. In the various slander cases of Frederick Wagener vs. Charles Fetzer, et al., J. Otis Ward, et al., and John Group, et al., the court sustained the motion of the defendants to strike out the amended petition of the plaintiffs if they do not comply with a previous order of the court within five days. The order was for the plaintiff to make more definite allegations and to name the various parties to whom the slanders had been told.

The cases of the Costilla Estates Development Co. vs. John Tighe, and the Boston Safe Deposit Co. vs. John Tighe were called and the defendant was given ten days to plead. In the case of Peter M. Jorgensen vs. Helena Meyer, et al., the order of sale was confirmed and the dower right of the widow, Helena Meyer, fixed at $975 by the court. The cases of Joseph Halmes vs. the estate of Nicholas Halmes, one of which was appealed by the defendant and one by the plaintiff, were dismissed, as the matter had been settled between the parties in the litigation. This was over the disputed farm belonging to Mr. Halmes, located near Greenwood, and which the son, Joseph, claimed his father had given him an interest in. The farm was afterward sold and Joe sued the estate to recover his share of the purchase money, but lost this case, but in the one to recover for expenditures made on the farm he was awarded the sum of $8,000 by the county court. The family decided, after the appeal had been taken to the county court, to settle the case.

FANGER'S WINDOW ARTISTICALLY DECORATED FOR HALLOWE'EN

One of the windows of the Fanger department store has been decorated in a very handsome manner with an artistic display of fall and winter dress goods, which is set off by a clever arrangement of decorations for the Halloween season with the autumn colors in profusion arranged in the window. A ghostly figure in the center of the window assists in carrying out the idea of the season and the figure of the gypsy fortune teller assists in the keeping up of the spirit of Halloween and the window makes a very attractive one and speaks well for the artistic work of the employees of the store who fixed the window up.

VISITING HERE FROM LONG BRANCH N. J.

A. M. Whiteford and wife of Long Branch, New Jersey, are in the city visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidtmann. Mrs. Whiteford was here for two seasons a few years ago looking after the trimming department of Miss Meyers store, and will be well remembered as Miss Ethel Berthoff, as she was very popular and well liked among the young people of the city, and feels a deep interest in this city and has greatly enjoyed her visit here. Mr. Whiteford is employed as chief clerk to the superintendent of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, with headquarters at Long Branch, and is one of the live young railroad men of the east. Mr. and Mrs. Whiteford will depart this evening on No. 2 for their home.

"Dr. Thomas' Eclletic Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease—croup. It has been used with success in our family for eight years."—Mrs. L. Whiteacre, Buffalo, N. Y.

NORMAL BOARD TO BRING SUIT

Will Begin Court Proceedings to Get Charge of School.

THOMAS REFUSES TO LET GO.

Auditor Howard Ordered to Pay Salary of Insurance Commissioner Brian—St. Joseph and Grand Island Railway Case Up Dec. 8.

Lincoln, Oct. 30.—A conference of members of the state normal board was held upon the arrival of R. C. King from Kearney with the information that Dr. Thomas, the deposed head of the normal school in that city, had refused to turn over the school, and after consulting with the attorney general over the matter it was decided to notify Secretary Tooley of the board to begin proceedings in court to compel Dr. Thomas to turn over the institution to M. R. Snodgrass and R. C. King, according to the order of the board.

Howard Ordered to Pay.

On application of L. G. Brian, serving as insurance commissioner under the new law, District Judge Cornish issued a writ of peremptory mandamus, which was served on State Auditor W. B. Howard, ordering him to pay the salary claimed to be due Mr. Brian as secretary of the board. Auditor Howard has heretofore refused to pay the salary of Mr. Brian on the ground that the matter of settling whether the new law was constitutional was before the courts and that to pay the salary of Mr. Brian was a recognition of the new board and would prejudice his case in court.

Find No Papers on File.

Frank A. Montgomery, mayor of the city of McCool, has written State Auditor Howard asking for information regarding the standing of the Continental Gas and Electric company, which was proposing to build a line from York to McCool. Auditor Howard looked up the proposition and could find no record of the articles of incorporation, which should be filed by the company in either of the offices where the law requires such filings to be made.

Lincoln Criticizes Land Drawing.

Some criticism is being made in Lincoln of the methods used by the committee in charge of the land drawing at North Platte, claiming that of the first 150 numbers drawn out one-third of them were held by Omaha people. They do not question the honesty of the committee, but feel that the numbers could not have been well shaken up before being drawn or so large a percentage would not have gone to one location.

Catholics Honor John P. Sutton.

In a reception tendered Bishop Thien of the Catholic church, held at the Auditorium after his journey to Rome, the Order of St. Gregory was bestowed upon John P. Sutton. In bestowing the honor Bishop Thien said that the honor was one bestowed upon the most distinguished men and was bestowed upon Mr. Sutton chiefly as recognition of his services to religion through the press.

Grand Island Case Up.

The final hearing in the St. Joseph and Grand Island railway case will come up before Judge T. C. Munger in the federal court on Dec. 8. The case involves the granting of a permanent injunction preventing the Union Pacific from voting its stock relative to the Grand Island road improvements and also to show why a receiver should not be appointed for the road.

McNamara Appeals Alimony Case.

William C. McNamara has appealed to the supreme court from a judgment secured in the Brown county district court by Mary E. McNamara, his former wife, who secured a divorce from him in Dakota county, with alimony in the amount of $5,000 and attorney fees and other expenses of the suit for $1,000 more.

MRS. PANKHURST NOT COMING

Sends Word She Cannot Give Omaha Women a Date.

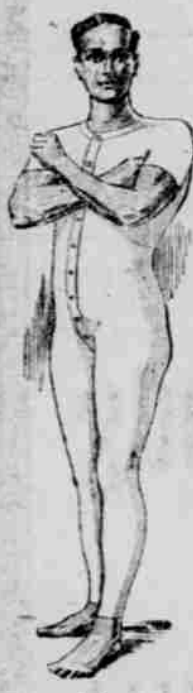

Omaha, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst will not be heard in Omaha during her coming lecturing tour. In some instances the local suffragettes are sorry to miss the opportunity, but there are many who are very glad that the English suffragette is not able to find a date for Omaha on her calendar. It is a question which has caused much comment as to whether the presence of Mrs. Pankhurst would benefit the cause in Nebraska, and two distinct factions were the result.

Two Governors to Talk Good Roads.

Omaha, Oct. 30.—Governor Morehead of Nebraska and Governor Ammons of Colorado will speak before the Omaha Commercial club on Nov. 18. They will speak on prison labor in road building. Governor Morehead is in favor of this move and will tell his views on it, while Governor Ammons will tell of his experiences along this line, as this policy has already been adopted in Colorado.

Coursing Meet at Friend.

Friend, Neb., Oct. 30.—The National Waterloo coursing meet was started here. The rabbits are strong and fast and the racing was the best ever seen in this section of the country.

ROCK BLUFFS MANY YEARS AGO

The Businesses Were Numerous and the Town Then Was in A Flourishing Shape.

A very unique specimen of a newspaper was brought to this office a short time ago by our old friend, David A. Young, of near Murray, consisting of a copy of the Cass County Sentinel, published at Rock Bluffs, Nebraska Territory, of the date of January 1, 1857. The paper was secured by Mr. Young from an old-time friend, who now resides in Iowa, and who had preserved the paper as a relic for all these years.

The Sentinel was considered a very good paper from the standard set in those times, but would not be considered seriously in these days. The principal item of interest in the paper is the message of President James Buchanan to congress, which takes up one page and two columns of the paper, and the letter from the state legislature, which was in session at the state capital at Omaha, in which an item appears that the territorial council had just passed an act allowing the county commissioners of the state to grant licenses for liquor selling in the sums from $75 to $500. In this letter also appears the statement that the council had granted a permit to Col. Patterson, Mr. Stafford, Mr. White and Mr. Decker to operate a ferry over the Missouri river at the metropolis of Cass county, Rock Bluffs. The paper was very much agitated over the proposal made by the legislature to form a new county in the state by taking a portion of Cass and Otoe counties, which were among the most populous in the state, and the Sentinel was very much opposed to such action.

The advertisements that decorate the pages of this old relic of the past will recall to the pioneer residents of the county many old friends and acquaintances who have long since answered the final call, and some of them are today taking their last long rest in the cemetery at Rock Bluffs in sight of where once a flourishing little village stood, but which today is turned into farming land or has been given over to the wildwood, and in reading over these names memory will again bring forth the scenes of other days to those who lived in this county in those pioneer days.

The hotel at Rock Bluffs was owned and run by Daniel Clemmons, who was also the proprietor of the village livery stable and could provide shelter for either man or beast. Johnson, Sprattin & Co., dealers in dry goods, groceries and clothing, carried in their ad a cut of a locomotive, advertising the fact that Rock Bluffs would be the western terminus of the Burlington railroad then being built in eastern Iowa. The notary public of the town was Abraham Towner, while P. C. Patterson announced through the columns of the paper that he was the only authorized surveyor in the county and was ready at all times to make plats or survey for his friends and neighbors. George L. Seybolt had a card in the Sentinel announcing his splendid stock of drugs, and Enos Berger announces to his friends that he has opened his saw-mill south of the creek and had all kinds of lumber on hand for those who desired building material. The editor and publisher of this pioneer organ was Elijah Giles, and considering the difficulties incident to those times it was a very fair and readable paper.

Will G. Richmond, a resident of Inglewood, Cal., will answer any inquiries about Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. He says further "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has greatly benefited me for bronchial trouble and cough, after I used other remedies that failed. It is more like a food than a medicine." Do not accept a substitute. For sale by all druggists.

E. L. Finch, accompanied by his brother-in-law, A. C. Bartlett, were passengers this morning for Omaha, where they will look after some business matters. Mr. Bartlett has just purchased the farm of Adam Stoehr, west of this city, and will make his residence here in the future.
