

FRED PATTERSON HAS UNIQUE EXHIBITION OF CORN

From Wednesday's Daily. County Surveyor Fred Patterson has a very unique exhibition of corn at his office in the court house, which to those who have never viewed anything similar, it is certainly a revelation in the wonders of what a grain of corn can produce. The exhibition consists of ears of corn which were gathered on the farm of Frank Rohrs, near Kimball, S. D., and which were brought here to Mr. Patterson by John Thomas, a relative of his. The ears of corn display almost every color that can be imagined—red, pink, blue, yellow and white entering into the different ears and some of these colors have been blended, producing a checked or "calico" effect in the grains that is very pretty. The ears are somewhat smaller than those of the varieties raised in this locality and are what is known as "Squaw" corn, and is a variety that will stand a great deal of dry weather, as it grows only a few feet from the ground and at times the ears almost touch the ground. This corn runs about forty bushels to the acre on the farm of Mr. Rohrs, and the county surveyor states he will save the specimens he has on hand for planting on his farm near Rock Bluffs next year.

liquors and cigars to the value, which was held by Sheriff Quinton on an attachment secured by the Independent Realty Co. against Ahrens & Martin. The plaintiff's claim they purchased the stock of goods from Ahrens & Martin and that the realty company has no right to have an attachment on the property, which is a stock of goods used in a saloon in Louisville, Coroner B. I. Clements of Elmwood served the writ on the sheriff and the matter will await further litigation to determine who is the real owner of the goods.

MISS GREENWALD'S PHOTOGRAPH STUDIO IN THE COATES BLOCK

From Saturday's Daily. The photograph studio of Miss Carrie Greenwald, in the Coates block, has been fixed up in excellent shape for her use and the owners of the building have spared no expense to make the room an ideal one for the purposes for which it will be used—that of a photograph studio. A large window covering almost the entire north end of the room, has been placed in position by the owners, which will insure the building being well lighted, while the rooms have been repapered and repainted until they are slick and clean, and Miss Greenwald will find here an excellent place for her work and much handier than her previous location in the Pearlman building on North Sixth street.

Smith, the contractor, is engaged in placing the new steel shelving in the vaults at the government building in this city, to hold the various books, records and valuables of the post-office. The government has kept its building up in excellent shape since it was opened here and there is nothing left undone to make it a fine, first-class building in every respect, and it is certainly a beautiful little building and a source of much pride to the citizens of Plattsmouth, and it has added greatly to the appearance of the section of the city where it is located.

LYMAN HOWE AND HIS GREAT PICTURES THURSDAY NOV. 20

No one can deny the advantages of foreign travel in the enlightenment of the mind, and as Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival, which comes to the Parmele theater on Thursday night, November 20, is the one attraction before the American public which pre-eminently offers the advantages and pleasures of travel without any of its defects, discomforts or inconveniences, its importance cannot be over-estimated. If it were noteworthy for no other of its many merits, this fact alone would justify its great vogue and prestige. In this respect it is playing a much more important role than any dramatic attraction extant. In the refinement and enlightenment of the mind it is fulfilling a mission that is as far-reaching in its scope as halls of learning and culture. It serves to increase the sum-total of human wisdom to a degree difficult to realize. When you leave the theater after a two and a half hours' world tour with Howe, you have derived more real satisfaction, wholesome entertainment and beneficial knowledge than can be gleaned from a source of dramatic or musical offerings.

WOODMEN CIRCLE HOLDS A VERY ENJOYABLE MEETING

From Wednesday's Daily.

Last evening the Woodmen Circle held a very enthusiastic meeting at the A. O. U. W. hall, which was attended by a large number of the members of this live ladies' fraternal organization and was enjoyed by everyone in attendance. Five new members were initiated into the order at the meeting and a large number of new applications voted upon. This lodge has shown a most wonderful growth in the past year, through the efforts of the deputy for the order, Mrs. Joseph Droege, as when she took up the work for the lodge there were only eleven members. While now the membership reaches 137 and every day more of the ladies are joining this great fraternal order. This is a splendid showing for the order and one that the members and deputy can well feel proud of. After the close of the regular business of the lodge a delightful social time was enjoyed by the members for several hours in dancing to the tuneful music furnished by Miss Pearl Mumm, who presided at the piano, and the members felt that the occasion was one of the most pleasant they had attended for some time. A very enjoyable luncheon of sandwiches and coffee was served during the evening, which aided in making the event a most thoroughly enjoyable one.

Miss Gering was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. R. W. Clement.

ANOTHER DEATH AT THE MASONIC HOME, PRINCIPALLY FROM OLD AGE

From Tuesday's Daily. Last evening William Baines, one of the worthy old gentlemen living at the Masonic Home, passed peacefully away in the sleep that knows no awakening.

Mr. Baines was quite advanced in years and had been suffering from a general breakdown, due to his old age, and his death had been expected for the past few days. He had been at the Home for the past two years, coming here from Lincoln, where his two sons reside, and the body was taken there this morning for burial. Mr. Baines was born at Fortis, Scotland, March 1, 1832, and when a little child he was brought to America by his parents, who located in Canada, and later the family removed to the state of Vermont, where he was reared to manhood and later came west, finally locating in Lincoln, where he resided until he came to this city to enter the Home. He was well liked by all with whom he came in contact and his death will be keenly regretted by his friends at the Home.

TAKE SUPPER ON THE BANKS OF THE MISSOURI

From Tuesday's Daily. Last evening a party of the young people of the city, with a basket filled to overflowing with good things to eat, was seen wending their way towards the old Missouri river, and in a few minutes after their arrival there a huge campfire was roaring and the young people started in to enjoy to the fullest the delights of the evening. Weenies were roasted to a crisp by the expert chef and baked potatoes were served that would have made the mouths of anyone water. After the discussion of the menu which the experts had prepared, the young people indulged in a number of very interesting games and in having a good time until a late hour, when the party broke camp and started back to the city, vowing that the occasion had been a most enjoyable one for all of them. Those comprising the party were: Misses Marie Jelinek, Helen Plak, Sophia Chaloupka, Hermia Rotter; Messrs. Cyril Kalina, Roy Holly, Charles Jelinek and William Heinrich.

DENIES THAT THEIR CLAIMS ARE DISQUALIFIED

Marvin Tritch, Kirksville, Mo., who drew No. 1 at the North Platte land drawing, denies the report emanating from railroad sources, which is to the effect that he was disqualified by the United States land office.

On the contrary Mr. Tritsch says, "I never registered for a piece of government land before; neither do I own an acre of ground; nor has word been received by me that my selection has been cancelled by the federal land office."

Arthur Stromberg of Stromsburg, Neb., who was No. 2 in the land drawing at North Platte, also denies that he is disqualified from filing, and adds that he will be at Hyannis on the date named by Judge Witten and make his selection.

Stromberg adds that he is not the owner of 160 acres or any other number of acres of land. In fact, he says he never owned an acre of land in his life. He is a farmer and occupies a farm owned by his father, but he has no interest in it, other than as a tenant. He is of the opinion that the report that he was disqualified originated by reason of him having operated his father's farm.—Omaha Bee.

BRIEF SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF WILLIAM V. BAIN

The following brief biography of the late William V. Bain, who died at the Masonic Home in this city Monday, appears in the State Journal of this morning. Mr. Bain came to this city in 1911 and was quite well known among those who have had the pleasure of visiting at the Home in the past two years and was a very bright and genial gentleman.

"William V. Bain, who died at Plattsmouth Monday, was born in Edinboro, Scotland, March 1, 1832. When but 4 year old the Bain family moved to Canada, near Sherbrook. The country at that time was something of a wilderness and was considered "backwoods." His father started a book bindery in Sherbrook. Later he moved to Montreal where he carried on a successful book binding business for many years. He emigrated to the United States when he left Montreal, settling in Burlington, Vermont. W. V. Bain, the son, served an apprenticeship of four years at the printing trade in Montreal, having been bound out for seven years, as was the custom in the early days. Finding that the trade was undermining his health he ran away from his master and went to work for a Dutch farmer in the northern part of New York state. From the farm he drifted to New York city, where he became a book binder, having gained considerable knowledge of it while working for his father. From New York he went to Albany, where he worked for a large firm. It was while there that he secured a government position in Washington, D. C., and was employed in the government printing office. He was there from 1860 till 1882, a period of twenty-two years. He was employed at Springfield, Ill.; Cincinnati, O.; Omaha and Lincoln, Neb. He was foreman of the State Journal and Evening News binderies for many years. Mr. Bain was an enthusiastic worker in the Masonic order and the Odd Fellows. "The funeral of William V. Bain will be held at Wyuka cemetery this afternoon at 3:30. The Masons will have charge."

MRS. JAMES H. DONNELLY ENTERTAINS BIRTHDAY CLUB

From Wednesday's Daily.

There is an organization of ladies in this city, the Birthday club, that on the anniversaries of the different members meets with them to assist in celebrating the passing of the milestones on life's highway, and in keeping with this custom, they assembled last evening at the hospitable home of Mrs. James H. Donnelly, where they were entertained at a most sumptuous 7 o'clock dinner. The dinner was given a rather German aspect by the fact that one of the chief features of the delightful repast was spare ribs and sauerkraut, prepared as only the charming hostess knows the secret of, and the guests who enjoyed the dinner were certainly delighted with the appetizing and delicious offering set before them. After the delicious repast had been disposed of by the ladies a very delightful evening was spent in playing bridge, at which the club members are quite expert, and this feature of the evening added greatly in making the event one that will long be remembered by all those fortunate enough to be present, and the only regret felt was that Mrs. Donnelly did not have several birthdays in one year that they might enjoy another such delicious dinner with her. There were some twelve present on the occasion to enjoy the pleasures of the evening.

THE DEATH OF MRS. CATHERINE CANNON AT LA PLATTE YESTERDAY

From Wednesday's Daily.

Yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock, at her home in La Platte, occurred the death of Mrs. Catherine Cannon, an aged lady of that place. The death of Mrs. Cannon was quite sudden, as she was stricken with heart failure and in a few minutes had passed away. Mrs. Cannon was in this city Monday, having been brought here by her son, Thomas Cannon, with whom she lived, in order to receive treatment for a felon which she had on her hand. The hand was treated and while the aged lady suffered a great deal of pain, there was no sign of anything serious being the matter, and her death was most surprising to the physician who had attended her, as she was to have returned this morning to have the hand dressed again. Mrs. Cannon was 76 years of age. The body will be taken tomorrow morning from the late home in La Platte to St. Agnes church in South Omaha, where the services will be held.

During the course of the evening some delicious refreshments were served, which proved a very enjoyable diversion of the occasion. Those who took part in the delightful gathering were: Misses Leona Brady, Nettie Moore, Hazel Gowles, Zelma Tusey, Bertha Jackson, Madeline Minor, Agnes Kennedy; Messrs.
