OMAHA ANNUAL AUTOMOBILE SHOW NEXT WEEK

Biggest Event So Far Is Being Looked Forward to Next Week.

Omaha's 1914 automobile show which opens at the Auditorium Monday, February 23, will present a big improvement over the first show held April 4 to 7, 1906, with every available foot of space in the big building taken and the exhibitors clamoring for more room to display their cars.

There were only five exhibitors at the first show—Kimball, Frederickson, Deright, Oldsmobile and Powell. The stage, basement and balconies in the Auditorium were not used and the boxes on the main floor were not in the least in the way. The cars were exhibited down both sides of the floor, with a broad space of bare floor in the center, to accommodate the crowds. Cars, tires and accessories were scattered over the space in an effort to make a big showing. Steam, gasoline and electric cars were shown and most of the cars were one and two "lungers" at that. Steam was the real power in those days. Practically all the cars were borrowed from private owners for the exhibition. No trucks were shown and there were no motorcycles in sight.

Three annual shows were held, each showing a big improvement and in 1909 the Omaha Automobile Dealers' association incorporated to make the exhibition a regular annual event, with sixteen charter members.

This year the association has forty members, including every dealer in the city and several from Council Bluffs. Nearly 200 cars, representing seventy-five different makes, will be shown at the 1914 show, exhibits valued at close to half a million dollars. The exhibits will include all types of pleasure cars, with the basement of the Auditorium completely filled with trucks and commercial cars and the north corridor with motorcycles. No accessories will be shown this year and the stage, which in past years accommodated the tire men, will be occupied with car exhibits.

The show will open at noon next Monday, February 23, and will be open from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. throughout the week, closing at 11 p. m. Saturday, February 28.

The Omaha automobile show is recognized as one of the largest held in the United States. Omaha was one of the first cities in the country to hold a local show and the factories have always sent their regular New York and Chicago displays for the Omaha show.

Factory men will attend the exposition in numbers and assist their dealers in exploiting their cars during the week and it is expected a number of automobile manufacturers of national prominence will be there.

There will be a large number from this city visit the show this year, showing a marked increase each year in the attendance. One of the chief features of the show that will attract attention is the famous Imp Cycle-Car and the exhibition of the Nebraska Cycle Co. of their line of motorcycles, including the Excelsior machine, for which H. Steinhilber & Son are the local agents.

THE FIDDLER'S CONTEST SURE TO BE SUCCESS

From Present Indications There Will Be Larger Number of Contestants Than Ever Before.

The plans for the big Fiddlers' Contest, which is to be held in this city on Friday evening, February 27th, are being thoroughly prepared in order to make the event one of the best that has ever been held in this city. The contest will be held in the Parmele theater and the list of entries will, from the present outlook, be one of the largest that has ever entered into any of the contests and will embrace all the crack old-time fiddlers from this county, as well as Mills county, Iowa; Otoe, Nemaha and Sarpy counties, who will be heard in their favorite selections, and this will prove most amusing to those who are hand to attend the event.

The contestants this year will be divided into classes according to their years, and this will make the event more interesting, as the younger players are usually fonder of the more popular of the late music, while the older players will tune up on the old-time melodies that delighted the public years ago. The Fiddlers' Contest has grown more popular with each succeeding year and everyone is looking forward to an evening of pure, unalloyed enjoyment, and all should prepare to attend this big event, which will be one of the features of the winter's amusement program.

W. H. Heil and brother, George P. Heil, drove in this morning from their homes near Cedar Creek and were passengers on the early Burlington train for Omaha, where they will visit for the day with Henry Horn at the hospital in that city.

EVERYBODY PLEASED WITH "LITTLE WOMEN"

Good Attendance Both Afternoon and Night and the Play a Most Delightful One.

The words of praise that have been bestowed by hundreds of thousands of theater-goers upon "Little Women," the play that has been constructed on the world famous book of Miss Louisa May Abbott, is well deserved, as almost everyone who saw the play last evening at the Parmele theater will agree. The play is a relief to see, filled as it is with the spirit of the American home, where the true home life that has made so many true men and women can find its true illustration. The play has been given a very elaborate setting by Mr. Brady, the producer, and there is no detail omitted to make the play truthful in its portrayal of the life of a New England family during the sixties. There are many little pieces of furniture and bric-a-brac used in the play that formerly was used in the household of the Alcott family at Concord, Massachusetts. The costumes worn by the company were very truthful in keeping with the time of the play and showed the style so popular during the days of the civil war.

The production last evening was attended by a very good-sized crowd, while in the afternoon there were a goodly number in attendance at the matinee and almost everyone felt that it was a play that was well worth attending, and to have missed it is to have lost the opportunity of witnessing one of the cleanest plays that has ever been placed on the American stage, and in the hands of the excellent company was most thoroughly enjoyed by all in attendance. There was not a poor member of the company in their acting and they gave a most truthful and lifelike representation of the doings and acts of the simple family life that Miss Alcott immortalized in her great book, and the play breathes a spirit of purity that lifts the production far above the average drama that has been placed on the American stage in the last few years. This was one of the best plays that has ever been seen here and Manager Shlaes deserves much praise for having been able to secure such an excellent attraction.

CHAS. W. WARNER IS SUFFERING FROM EYE TROUBLE

A few days ago Charles H. Warner, the prominent farmer residing just southwest of this city, was compelled to go to Omaha to consult a specialist in regard to his eyes, which had been troubling him for some time, and on a close examination it was found that the trouble was that of granulated eyelids and that they were in a very serious condition. Mr. Warner has been compelled to remain at the hospital in that city taking treatment, and it is thought now that his eyes can be restored to their former good condition by care and attention. It is very fortunate for Mr. Warner that he had the eyes looked after when he did, as the specialists were of the opinion that in a short time he would have lost the sight of them.

Tendency to Disease.

It is an indisputable fact that many people have a certain tendency to diseases. Some "catch cold" very easily, some become constipated, others get the rheumatism. Such persons should know and have always at hand a certain remedy which would easily check the disease. We wish to suggest Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine, especially in cases of constipation and all difficulties connected with the same. It gradually diminishes the tendency of this disease and gives enough strength to the organs to work regularly. In diseases of the stomach, the liver and the bowels it always has a good effect, bringing relief. It cleans out the body and keeps it clean. At drug stores, Jos. Triner, Manufacturing Chemist, 1333-1339 So. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill. In any pain you may rely upon Triner's Liniment. Rub it in the skin and the pain will disappear.

VERY VALUABLE DOG OF MURAL PARMELE IS POISONED

From Wednesday's Daily. Last night Mural Parmele noticed his fine coach dog, which was one of the finest animals in the city, acting strangely, and he thought at first that possibly the animal was going mad and tied him up securely, but in a short time his actions showed clearly that it was a case of poison that had evidently been given him, and despite all possible efforts the dog died. Mr. Parmele valued the dog very highly, not only as a pet, but also from a financial point of view, as he had recently refused an offer of $50 for the animal, and if he could lay his hands on the party or parties who done the deed he would make it mighty warm for them, as he should as it was a very dastardly deed and whoever done it should be made to suffer for the outrage.

FRESHMEN CLASS IS ENTERTAINED AT THE WETENKAMP HOME

From Tuesday's Daily. The members of the freshman class were most delightfully entertained at the home of Arthur and Mary Wetenkamp on Friday evening. A most enjoyable time was had in music and games and during the course of the evening's entertainment delicious refreshments were served. At a late hour the jolly company journeyed homeward, declaring this one of the most joyful events of the season. Those in attendance were: Misses Beatrice Seybert, Helen Livingston, Katherine Gorder, Bess Handley, Alpha Hallstrom, Adelia Sayles, Catherine Birtner, Opha Baker, Eva LaRue, Mina Kaffenberger, Abbie Brown, Lenore Snyder, Emma Ganson, Agnes Bajek, Anna Hiber, Lorean Chambers, Mary Wetenkamp; Messrs. Lewis Mougrey, Frank Polacek, Herbert Chrisweisser, Everett Spangler, Will Nolting, Charles McGuire, Will Schmidtmann, Edward Rebal, Elwood Buttery, Burdette Briggs, George Snyder, Arthur Wetenkamp.

CHARGED WITH SELLING A PINT OF LIQUOR AFTER THE CLOSING HOUR

From Tuesday's Daily. As an echo of the case yesterday filed against Sandy Andrews for being intoxicated, the county attorney today filed a complaint against Oliver Osborn, charging him with having sold Andrews one pint of whisky on Saturday evening about 9 o'clock for the sum of 50 cents. Andrews has been shut off from securing liquor at the saloons for some time, but has been able to get on several sprees with bad results to himself, as well as those with whom he came in contact. Osborn and Andrews formerly worked together at the Manspaker livery barn in this city.

ZUCKWEILER & LUTZ

Early Settler Here.

From Tuesday's Daily. I. M. Ward of Avoca was in the city looking after some matters at the court house and in visiting around over the town. Mr. Ward is one of the old residents of the county, having come here with his parents in 1858, and recalls the exciting times that befell the residents of this city during those early days, and the Indian scares that were quite prevalent through the west in the late fifties and early sixties. The Ward family resided on a farm just west of the present home of Captain Isaac Wiles on the southwest boundry of the city.

ROBT WILLS, THREATENED WITH APPENDICITIS, IS GETTING ALONG FINE

From Tuesday's Daily. The many friends of Robert Will will be greatly pleased to learn that the young man is getting along nicely and great hopes are entertained that he will recover from his threatened attack of appendicitis. Robert came home from Omaha, where he is attending business college, on Friday and was not feeling well and that night became quite sick and it was necessary to call medical assistance to his bedside and it was thought that an operation would be necessary, and to give the young man relief he was packed in ice and has been in that condition since and is so much improved that it is now believed that he will not have to submit to an operation, but will soon be able to be out and around.

COULDN'T WORK THE OLD PLEA THE SECOND TIME WITH THE JUDGE

From Tuesday's Daily. Yesterday George Lindsey was brought before Judge M. Archer, charged with being intoxicated Sunday evening, and the evidence being overwhelming in favor of the complaint, George was found guilty of the offense to consume too much of the joy water and the judge inflicted a fine of $5 and costs upon him and George was remanded to the officers of the law to be placed in jail until the amount had been liquidated. Some time ago George was brought up on a similar charge and asked that he be allowed to go out and earn the price of the fine, which the judge allowed him to do, but this time, when the same story was sprung the court refused to "fall for it" and bade George repose in the Hotel de Manspaker for the period of time necessary to settle the amount of the fine and costs, which will keep him engaged for several days at least.

Issues Marriage License.

From Tuesday's Daily. County Judge Beeson yesterday afternoon issued a marriage license to Charles Schwalm, aged 25, of Omaha, and Miss Clara Kraft, aged 24, of Louisville. The young people will be united in marriage on Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents, near Louisville, and will make their future home at Omaha, where the groom is the owner of a grocery store. The bride is a daughter of Albert Kraft, one of the prominent farmers of that section, and is a young lady greatly admired by a large circle of friends.
