THE SAD DEATH OF LIEUT. JAMES M'CLEARY MURRAY

His Father, for Whom Murray Was Named, Preached Here, Where the Unfortunate Was Born.

Lieutenant James McCleary Murray, of the Aviation Corps of the U. S. A., who lost his life at Pensacola, Fla., on Monday afternoon, February 16th, when his machine plunged 800 feet down into the Pensacola bay, was born on a farm three and a half miles south of Murray, while his father was pastor of the United Presbyterian church in that place, before the village of Murray was thought of.

Lieut. Murray's mother died on this farm when he was between 4 and 5 years of age; soon after the father sold the farm and with his three sons, Arthur, Henry and James, left for Thomas, Pa. James was the youngest of the three, and is remembered best by the people of this community as "Jamie."

The Pittsburg Gazette speaks of Lieut. Murray as one of the ablest and most daring aviators in the naval service. He had been an aviator for about eighteen months, and previous to that time he was with the submarine corps. He was 31 years old and unmarried. His father was in Florida for his health and was stopping at Chandler, an inland town, when his son ascended on his fatal flight. His body was taken by his father to Thomas, Pa., for burial. The accident causes a sadness in the hearts of the people of Murray, the birthplace of Lieut. Murray, the community that loved, honored and respected the father, George B. Murray, who was a friend, sympathizer and adviser, and guide so highly esteemed that when it was destined that a town should be built, and when a name was asked, the answer came, Murray. Then it was the highest gift of honor.

Since we have striven to make this monument to the pastor and his posterity a necessity—as we feel his presence was a necessity—we try to give impart to the world, or at least those who come in contact with us, our influence for right learning and right thinking, as he imparted it to us while our pastor. We honored his name then, we honor it today. As Murray grows from a village to a city, may it be as true to its fellow citizen as the man for whom it was named.

In this time of his sadness the people of Murray mourn with him and extend their heartfelt sympathy.

Lumber Yard Changes Hands.

A Mr. Kirkendall, from Iowa, has purchased the Nold Lumber Co. business here, and has moved his family to Murray and will occupy the Dull property. WRESTLING AND BOXING CONTEST AT MURRAY LAST TUESDAY EVENING

Some of the powers and agility of the Olympic brand were displayed in a wrestling and boxing contest in Murray Tuesday evening. The principals in the wrestling match were "Buck" Valley, quite widely known throughout the state as a light-weight, and John Jenkins of Murray, just making his debut on the mat. The first round was one of supreme skill. Both showed excellent training. At the end of nineteen minutes Jenkins secured the famous Gotch crotch hold and put Valley's shoulders to the mat. The second round lasted eighteen and one-half minutes, in which Jenkins scored the second fall and the gate receipts, Jenkins exceeded Valley several pounds in weight, but was handicapped by a bad cold. The decisions of Referee Speck were accepted in a manly, friendly and sportsmanlike way.

Between the rounds Elmer Hallstrom and Walter Jenkins put on a fast and furious wrestling match that displayed marks of the Farmer Burns class. It was worth the money without any change.

After the wrestling match a number of the amateurs came into the ring for glove contests, and in addition to knocking the dust out of them, they removed a few chunks of cutis off the face in the region of the eyes.

Heart Disease Almost Fatal to Young Girl

My daughter, when thirteen years old, was stricken with heart trouble. She was so bad we had to place her bed near a window so she could get her breath. One doctor said, "Poor child, she is likely to fall dead any time." A friend told me Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy cured her father, so I tried it, and she began to improve. She took a great many bottles, but she is spared to me today, a fat, rosy checked girl. No one can imagine the confidence I have in Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy." A. E. CANNON, Worth, Mo.

The unbounded confidence Mr. Cannon has in Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is shared by thousands of others who know its value from experience. Many heart disorders yield to treatment, if the treatment is right. If you are bothered with short breath, fainting spells, swelling of feet or ankles, pains about the heart and shoulder blades, palpitation, weak and hungry spells, you should begin using Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy at once. Profit by the experience of others while you may.
