"EVERYTHING GOOD TO EAT" AT WAGNER'S BAKERY AND DELICATESSEN

In passing up the street one day this week a representative of the Journal happened to be near Wagner's Delicatessen just at the noon hour, when a couple of traveling men came out of the popular eating place, and one of them remarked that "that was the best meal he had for many a day." We do not mention this because the remark was something out of the ordinary, for no doubt it is made many times each and every day, but knowing as we do that Mr. Wagner exerts every effort to supply his patrons with the very best of "Everything Good to Eat," as his slogan denotes, we could not help but make a slight mention of it in these columns. When Mr. Wagner selected as his slogan "Everything Good to Eat," he was then fully determined to see that it was fully lived up to in every way, and how well he has succeeded is certainly demonstrated by the many people who have become daily patrons of the Delicatessen. He not only serves regular meals, but short orders may be secured at most any hour of the day. Almost a year has lapsed since the launching of this business in Plattsmouth and each month has shown an increase in the volume of business done by Mr. Wagner, which is convincing to him that the people appreciate the methods upon which the Delicatessen has been established.

TRAINING INSPECTOR OF HIGH SCHOOLS IN THE CITY YESTERDAY

This week G. A. Gregory of Lincoln, normal training inspector of the High schools of the state, was here looking over the situation, both in the high and graded schools, and he was very well pleased with the showing made by the Plattsmouth schools in their work in this line, as well as their general advancement. There are few schools in a town the size of Plattsmouth in the state that can show better results in the work of the scholars and the management has been able to accomplish one thing that is quite different from the past few years, and that is the holding of the membership class in fact and having them re-enter upon their second year in the High school as members of the sophomore class, as it is usually the case that a large number drop out after their entrance into the High school, but the class of last year has stuck to their guns in fine shape.

PROTECT YOUR HOMES FROM FIRE RAVAGES

State Authorities to Take Steps to See That Dangers From Fire Are Reduced.

Yesterday Mr. Barney McCordle of Omaha, a representative of the state fire commissioner's office, was here looking over the situation and consulting with the chief of the fire department in regard to matters pertaining to the fire protection of the city, which is something that should be given immediate attention by the citizens in general. The conditions throughout the smaller towns of the state are much the same and are constantly demanding the attention of the property owners to see that the possibilities from fire are reduced to the lowest possible chances and that every precaution is taken to see that places that might be fire-traps are kept cleaned up and the safety of the business houses and residences safeguarded in every way.

The representative was well pleased with the interest that the chief of the fire department is taking in the matter, and especially the steps that he has taken to clear up the chances of fire from defective chimneys and the accumulation of rubbish in the rear of buildings, as well as the habit of some persons to allow accumulated waste paper and trash to be piled up around their buildings, that is liable at any time to cause a serious fire and may perchance result in severe injury to someone. The matter of these little helps that may save serious fires are such that every citizen should co-operate in the campaign of "safety first" in the fire danger and see that their places of business and residences are made as safe as possible. The safeguarding of theaters and public places is one of the chief cares of the fire commissioner's office, and in this work the department is receiving the support of the different fire departments and its officers throughout the state in order to prevent loss of life from a panic due to a fire alarm, and so far they have been very successful in the work.

Run-Down.

Many persons are not willing to answer the question how old they are, not that they would be ashamed of their age, but because they look older and run-down. This premature senility shows that the liver and the intestines are not working as they should, which may be due to sedentary habits, hygienic abuses or a careless method of living. The first symptoms usually are, a poor appetite, constipation, yellowish complexion, weakness. For a quick relief of these conditions Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine is recommended. It will quickly clean out the intestines and aid digestion. In diseases of the liver, the stomach and the intestines, as also in weakness, this remedy should be used. At drug stores, Jos. Triner, Manufacturer, 1333-1339 So. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill. For pain, whether rheumatic or neuralgic, try Triner's Liniment. It is very strong.
