DIPHTHERIA CAUSES DEATH OF YOUNG LADY

Miss Gladys Peterson Is Ill but a Very Short Time When Death Overtakes Her.

Last evening about 9 o'clock Gladys, the 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Peterson, passed away, after a short illness from a very severe case of diphtheria at the residence of her parents, who have charge of the bunk cars for the Burlington extra gang in this city. The little girl was not ill for any length of time, having been at school Friday, and returned home that evening complaining of not feeling well, and on Saturday morning was quite sick so as to alarm the parents, and a physician was summoned to her bedside, but it was not thought that the case was dangerous, but the child grew worse, and yesterday gradually sank into death, despite all that could be done to relieve her and save her life. Besides the mother and father, two older sisters are left to mourn the death of the little girl.

The school authorities as soon as they received information of the nature of the illness, promptly took steps to prevent further spread of the disease, and as a safeguard ordered the dismissal of the scholars in the Columbian school, which the little girl attended, and will have it thoroughly fumigated and leave nothing undone to safeguard in every way the health of the other pupils attending the school, and although there are no other cases reported, it was thought best to take no chances in the matter and Superintendent Brooks at once took the matter in hand and ordered the dismissal of the school until the rooms should be properly disinfected and cleaned up. The family have resided here only a short time, but everyone in the city will extend to them the most sincere sympathy in the loss of the little one.

A THRILLING AUTO RACE WITH BURLINGTON TRAIN

T. H. Pollock Attempts to Beat Train From Waverly to Havelock.

The following exciting automobile story, in which our fellow townsman, T. H. Pollock, is the chief figure, appears in the automobile department of the Omaha Bee of yesterday, and the experience related by Mr. Pollock will be found of interest to his friends here:

T. H. Pollock was once upon a time wont to drive his motor car at a merry little clip whenever he could find a good stretch of road. But he has mended his ways now and no more does he shove the accelerator clear down. Speaking of his last racing experience, Mr. Pollock said:

"I drove a Henderson roadster from Plattsmouth to Lincoln last fall, and in going through Waverly passed Burlington passenger train No. 5 just pulling into Waverly.

"The wagon road parallels the Burlington nearly the entire distance from Waverly to Lincoln and at that time the road was in excellent condition and I just thought I would try and beat the train to Havelock, a distance of five miles. I got a pretty good lead on the train, but about two miles out of Waverly it overtook me and as the engine came along-side, a few sharp blasts of the engine whistle did not tend to cause me to slacken my speed any, so we ran along together for about a mile, and in that distance the engine, a couple of mail and baggage cars, a chair car and a few day coaches and two or three Pullmans had gradually slipped by.

"Up to that time I had looked neither to the right nor to the left, but as the rear end of the last Pullman came alongside, I could see there was a crowd on the back platform, and I glanced over at them just as I came to a slight turn in the road that I had not seen and before I knew it my Henderson was out of the center of the road and at the extreme right side of the road with the right wheels running in the grass.

"At this point there was a line of telephone poles leaning over to the road at an angle of about 30 degrees and before I could get back into the road the car had gone so close to the telephone pole that I had to duck to miss it, but the brass post supporting the windshield struck the pole and snapped off.

"Luckily the top was down, and I got back on the road without further damage to the car, but believe me, right there I said 'Good night' to that passenger train and to any further attempt on my part to beat it.

"I went on into Lincoln, and on the way discovered that there was a hole torn in the leg of my trousers just below the knee that I could run my arm through. Evidently a piece of the shattered windshield had missed my leg just that close."

NEW BUSINESS ENTERPRISE FOR PLATTSMOUTH

E. G. Dovey and C. H. Fuller to Engage in Automobile Business, With Ford Agency.

From Friday's Daily.

Another new business enterprise is to be launched in this city within a short time in the shape of the firm of Dovey & Co., composed of E. G. Dovey and C. H. Fuller, who will take up the agency in this city and county for the celebrated Ford automobiles. The firm will occupy the Bauer garage on Pearl street with their machines and be in a position in a very short time to display and demonstrate their machines for the benefit of all those who may desire to inspect them.

Messrs. Dovey and Fuller have placed a large order with the manufacturers of the Ford machines and will have several carloads on hand in a very short time and be able to get out and secure the summer business. The Ford machines, which are very satisfactory, are sold at such prices as to be within the reach of almost every farmer in the country, and there has been a great many of them sold in this county during the past few years, and the news agents will give the public an opportunity seldom enjoyed to secure a machine which will suit them in every way at a price that will simply open their eyes.

Both of the members of the new firm are well and favorably known throughout this section of the county as being level-headed business men and the public can feel safe in relying upon their statements as to the automobiles that may be turned out from their agency. Mr. Bauer will continue to run the repair department at the garage, as he has for the past few years, and also handle the supplies for different repairs and oils. As soon as the new machines arrive, which will be in a very short time, the new company will start out to annex some of the automobile business, and being hustlers will have little trouble in securing their share of the trade.

WE HAVE FAITH IN THIS STOMACH REMEDY

A woman customer said to us the other day, "Say, you ought to tell everyone in town about Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. I would myself if I could." That set us to thinking. So many people have used them and have so enthusiastically sounded their praises, both to us and their friends, that we had an idea you all knew about them. But, in the chance that some of you who suffer from indigestion, heartburn, dyspepsia, or some other stomach complaint, don't know about them—we are writing this. They contain Bismuth and Pepsin, two of the greatest digestive aids known to medical science. They soothe and comfort the stomach, promote the secretion of gastric juice, help to quickly digest the food and convert it into rich, red blood, and improve the action of the bowels. We believe them to be the best remedy made for indigestion and dyspepsia. We certainly wouldn't offer them to you entirely at our risk unless we felt sure they would do you a lot of good. If Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets do not relieve your indigestion, check the heartburn, and make it possible for you to eat what you like whenever you like, come back and get your money.

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS ESCORTED TO CITY LIMITS AND INVITED TO "GET"

From Friday's Daily.

Yesterday afternoon a telephone message was received by Chief of Police Ben Rainey informing him that three men were at the Burlington passenger station and had evidently mistaken it for a lodging house, as they were sleeping there. The chief at once made a visit to the depot and aroused the men from their slumbers, which was evidently caused from their over-indulgence in liquid refreshments, and he informed them that it would be necessary for them to accompany him to the Hotel de Man-speaker, where more suitable surroundings could be provided them, and they lost no time in following the request of the chief, although one of them seemed inclined to protest against the order to move on to the jail, but he was soon enlightened that the chief meant business and the trio made little tracks in the direction of the county bastille. At the jail the men gave their names as John Kane, Ed Kelly and Fred Wooley, and the last named party was recognized by the sheriff as a former occupant of the jail a few months ago. It was thought at first that the men might have been mixed up in the burglary at the Jenkins' store in Murray Wednesday night, but after examination of the prisoners there was nothing brought out that would indicate that they had been in that place. The men were addicted to the habit of drinking straight alcohol and were well fit up on this beverage when brought to the jail. This morning the men were released from the jail and escorted to the city limits, where they were requested to "beat it," and lost no time in starting eastward, riding the city of their presence and of the necessity of having to feed them for several days at public expense.

Do you know that the Journal office carries the finest line of stationery in the city?

INTERESTING SERVICES AT THE ST. LUKE'S CHURCH CONDUCTED BY REV. BARNES

There was quite a large attendance of the church membership present last evening at St. Luke's Episcopal church to attend the services conducted by Rev. Wesley W. Barnes, rector of St. Mary's church at Nebraska City, who during the Lenten season is holding a series of meetings to give instruction to all those who desire to join with the church, as well as to enlighten others who are already members, as to the different articles of the church and its teachings. The address of the minister was thoroughly enjoyed and there was much satisfaction expressed over the securing of such an able speaker for these lectures. The choir of the church rendered a number of very pleasing musical numbers, which added greatly to the impressiveness of the services. The members of the parish here are very much pleased over the fact that Rev. Barnes has found it possible to come here for these lectures, as he is one of the ablest young ministers in the state and his addresses in regard to the church work have furnished the members of the church with a much clearer insight into the teachings of the church.
