R. M. Shlaes and wife of this city are enjoying a short visit from W. B. Harris and wife of St. Paul, Minnesota, Mrs. Harris being a sister of Mr. Shlaes. They are returning home from their honeymoon trip, which has covered the space of several months, and in their journey they have covered a large part of the world, having visited Canada and the Pacific coast, as well as the far east and the orient. Mr. Harris and wife, while in California, had the pleasure of visiting the camp of the Universal Film company at Hollywood, California, and witnessed the "shooting" of a number of photo plays of different kinds and also had the pleasure of meeting the leading members of the company whose faces have become familiar to the country over to the attendance at the moving picture shows, and among these were Lois Weber and Phillips Smalley, stars of this company. Mr. Harris informed them of the fact that his brother-in-law was engaged in the conducting of a picture show house at Platt-

ATTEND COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING AT THE COATES HALL TONIGHT

Tonight the regular monthly meeting of the Plattsmouth Commercial club will be held at Coates' hall, and on the occasion every person interested in the development of the city is urged to attend and take part in the proceedings of the meeting, as it is expected to bring up and discuss matters that will prove of very vital importance to the future development and growth of the city, as well as its standing among the cities of the state of Nebraska. The club has quite a large membership and every member should make it a point to attend the meeting this evening, and every other citizen interested in the welfare of the town should be on hand to assist in discussing the things that are best for the needs of our town. The Commercial club has been a great force here during past years, having been able to secure several improvements to the city and its conditions, and there are a great many more that can be added if the people will unite in working for the common good and laying aside all other questions but that of the advancement of the city in which they make their home. Be sure and be on hand this evening to assist in the good work of boosting the town to success.

HOW GIRL'S FAITH SAVED JENNINGS

Candidate For Governor of Ok- lahoma Former Convict.

TURNING POINT IN HIS LIFE

Ten Years Ago High School Girl Smiled Confident Trust Into Eyes of Desperate Man Just Released From Prison—Now He Explains That Her Belief Turned Tide of His Life.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Once an outlaw, train robber and convict, Al Jennings is now one of the leading candidates for governor of this state. But that is another story. This is how he was made to lift his head and see something bright in the future. A girl of sixteen was traveling across the state with her grandparents. She was a high school student of Edwardsville, Ind., and carried about a pretty safe map of human nature in her own little head. Her grandfather met Al Jennings in the smoking car. Alice Warder, the high school girl, thought that Jennings looked really nice in spite of the fact that his face was seamed and marred with a thousand wrinkles. His smile, however, was like the smile of all humanity. And there was inradicable dignity in his five feet five inches. He said his name was Mr. Jennings and he had been talking to Alice's grandfather of train robbers.

Mr. Jennings knew everything in the world there was to know about train robbers. He described them in glowing detail in the light of his intimate knowledge. Alice Warder had never in her life spent a more thrilling two hours.

It was dark and Mr. Jennings was still talking. Alice's grandfather drew his wife to another seat, leaving Alice to drink in more adventures.

"Miss Warder, I have deceived you a little bit, I guess. I talked as if I had only heard of these holdups from other people or maybe read about them. The fact is I planned every one. I am a train robber myself. Got sent up for it. I am just out of the Leavenworth prison."

"I thought I'd tell you about it so you wouldn't think I had imposed on you. I'm through lying. Never did lie except when I had to. There is mighty little difference between acting a lie to a girl like you and telling one. I am going to tell your grandfather about it in a minute."

Suddenly Alice, with her knowledge of human nature—this girl believer in the innate goodness of bad men—had an impulse that the man who witnessed it has never forgotten. He says now it had a great deal to do with changing the drift of his life, then black with defeat. Alice Warder, her eyes shining, stretched out her hands and cried:

"I don't care about your past—I don't care a bit—so long as your future's all right."

Five minutes more and the two parted. The ex-convict went on riding in the smoking car toward a future of which until that night he thought usually with cynical contempt. The man and the girl with hopeful eyes did not meet again for ten years.

Now she is Mrs. L. O. McLean of Pittsburgh. Recently the maid ushered a caller into Mrs. McLean's library. And without other warning a well dressed little man, his face very lined and his hair very red, stood before her. "Al Jennings!"

"Alice Warder!"

It was the first time they had met in ten years. Both had many stories to tell during the four hours' conversation.

"Goodby, Alice." The farewell came after dinner. "Have got to get back to Oklahoma. And, say, I'm going to run for governor out there in the spring. Among other things they want the Oklahoma prisons reformed, and they want a man who is familiar with the problems from the inside."

And Mrs. McLean gripped the little man's hand. There were tears of gladness in her eyes. "You'll win, take it from me," she said. "Don't I know what you can do?"

A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE PARKER CARNIVAL COMPANY IN THE CITY

One of the representatives of the Parker Carnival company, of Abeline, Kansas, was in the city today looking over the field with a view of trying to locate a carnival company in this city for the second week in May. The company, which is one of the best in the Parker line-up, will open the season at Lawrence, Kansas, early in April, and goes from there to St. Joseph, Missouri, and Council Bluffs, and from there will move on to South Omaha, where they will show for a week, and it is at this time that the advance man desires to have a date arranged for Plattsmouth. The attraction would be a good one if the proper grounds can be secured to set up the different shows and attractions belonging to the company. The manager has talked the matter over with a number of gentlemen who will look the field over to see if the proper amount of ground could be secured in case it was desired to have the company show here, and then they can determine just what should be done in the matter.

DECORATING THE INTERIOR OF F. G. FRICKE & CO.'S STORE

The interior of the drug store of F. G. Fricke & Co., is now one of the most attractive of any of the stores of the city, as the firm has just completed some very extensive improvements that have added greatly to the beauty of the store and which makes it one of the brightest and pleasing business houses in the city. A new steel ceiling has been placed in the store room which is of a very handsome pattern, and this has been decorated very handsomely as well as the side walls of the room, in a light shade of tan, which makes a very pleasing combination of colors. New electric fixtures have been added to the equipment of the store and this makes the store as bright as day. The new improvements have placed the store in the front ranks of the up-to-date stores of the city and the firm is to be congratulated on the spirit of enterprise they have shown in the matter.

THE CHAPMAN FAMILY TO REMOVE TO LINCOLN

It has been with the most profound regret that the friends of Mrs. Agnes Chapman have learned that she and her estimable family intend to leave in a very short time for Lincoln, where they will make their home in the future, and it is not without a great deal of regret that the Chapman family leave the city, which for so many years has been their home, but the opportunities afforded them in the capital city are such as cannot be passed by. The many friends here of Mrs. Chapman and children will have one pleasure in knowing that they are near enough to be able to visit the old home occasionally.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH PEOPLE PURCHASE THE SULLIVAN PROPERTY

The home of A. G. Cole, on west Rock street, which they purchased a few months ago, has been disposed of to the Presbyterian church of this city and will be used by them as a manse for the rector of the church in this city. This is the residence so long occupied by Judge Sullivan and family and is one of the neatest homes in that section of the city and will make a very handsome and comfortable residence for the new pastor of the church. Rev. McClusky will move his family to this city from Laurel, Neb., as soon as possession can be gained of the new residence.

Married in Omaha.

Among the marriage licenses in the Omaha papers today is one to Carl H. Masemann and Miss Emma Dobney, both of Avoca, this county. The young people evidently decided to slip one over on their friends in their home town and hastened to the metropolis, where they had the matrimonial bonds prepared for them.
