

A SPLENDID BALL GAME HERE SUNDAY

Boosters Win from the Emil Hansen Omaha Team by the Score of 4 to 3.

The plattsmouth Boosters yesterday afternoon redeemed themselves for their defeat of a week ago by taking a most interesting game from the Emil Hansen team of Omaha by the score of 4 to 3, and from start to finish it was one of thrilling interest to the fans, and especially in the ninth inning, when the local knights of the bat succeeded in pulling the game away from the visitors and annexing it to their own credit. The locals were all to the good yesterday and played a good game throughout the contest, and with the exception of the opening spasm, when the visitors lunched up Connors for several hits and scored one of their scores, there was gilt edged work on the part of our boys.

In the opening act of the little drama Hofer, for the visitors, slammed one of Connors' slants through third base for a single and was followed by McCoy, who hit safe over short-stop, but Kenney, the next of the visitors to face our warriors, was retired. Parriott to McCauley, but Watchla the first sacker of the visitors, was able to land a two-bagger in to left field, and Hofer registered at home plate, and right here the hopes of the local fans were about to zero, when McCoy, who was on third, started to play off, and was saved between the bases by Neitzel, Herold and Connors, and put out, and Watchla, who had started from second with the hopes of reaching the third sack, was nipped when he attempted to beat it back to second base, and with that the visitors were retired and a great sigh of relief went up from the fans, as it seemed certain the Hansen's would annex several scores. In our half of the inning Beal, the first man up, hit safely through third base and Parriott attempted to sacrifice him to the second station, but the visitors nipped Beal before he could reach there, leaving Parriott safe on the first sack. Herold was retired, Bucher to Watchla, but on this play Mr. Parriott got to second base, but without result, as McCauley, the next man up, was not able to connect and retired on three strikes.

In the opening of the second, Bloemer for the visitors was struck out by Connors; Bucher, the next man up, lifted a long fly to the center garden, where captain Beal holds guard and the ball was put out of business by being nabbed by the fast little captain. Kaufmann was also unfortunate in hitting to the outfield, as his attempt was captured by Mason and the side retired. On the locals half Carle retired on a grounder to first base, and was followed by Mason, who placed one of the same kind and retired, but Neitzel was more fortunate, getting one past Bucher at short, but Ault, who followed, struck out.

The third inning saw the visitors add another to their list of runs. Broadbeck, the first man up, hit a long fly to left field, but Mason was on the job there and made as pretty a catch as has been seen, retiring the visitors' catcher; Knutson, who followed at bat, whiffed the air three times and sat down, but Hofer coming to bat selected a good one and placed a two-bagger in center field, and McCoy, who followed, was able to hang a safe hit over short-stop and Hofer came home on the hit of Kenney to third, but McCoy was caught when he attempted to reach home, retiring the side. The Boosters were not as successful in their half, Connors going out on a little hit to first base, Beal was walked by Knutson and Parriott advanced him to third by a nice sacrifice hit, but the local's hopes went out when Herold was retired on a grounder to short.

The locals did not waste time on their enemies in the fourth, as Watchla was struck out by Con and Bloemer fouled out to Herold but Bucher was able to get in the way of one of Connors curves and was given his base, and Kaufmann hit safe to left field, but no damage was done, as Broadbeck struck out. This inning saw the Boosters tie the score and set the crowd wild with enthusiasm, as McCauley, the dean of baseball in the west, came to bat and secured a clean hit way over the short-stop's head, and was followed by Carle, who secured a safe one to the right garden; Mason rapped out a safe one to short that could not be handled in time to retire him. Neitzel made a gallant try to bring in a score, but hit a little fly to second base and was put out, and right here the fireworks began, as Tyrus Cobb Ault came to the plate with his mighty stick, and picking out one of Knutson's wide ones placed it down in the territory around short-stop with such force that it could not be handled and Carle and McCauley came over the plate with two scores that tied up the game. Connors hit a safe fly to right, but Mason and Ault were caught at third base and the Boosters retired for this inning.

There was nothing doing in the fifth for the Omaha boys, as Knutson popped up a little fly that Parriott secured, and Hofer went the same route when his hard drive was handled in fine shape by Parriott, who threw him out at first, and right here it is time to remark that this little shortstop is just about the mustard when it comes to filling the job at short, as there is nothing that he does not go after and always makes good, and his playing yesterday was one of the features of the game. McCoy, after several attempts to do business with the horsehide, was retired on strikes. Beal opened the performance for the locals in this inning and got one through short on an error and was sent to third on the sacrifice of Parriott, but was unable to score, as Herold struck out and McCauley retired, second to first.

Kenney, the first man up in the sixth, made an out from Parriott to McCauley, and Watchla secured a safe hit over short, but did not do any scoring, as Bloemer was struck out and Bucher made his exit from Connors to McCauley. The Boosters did not do much in their half of the inning, as Carle was retired on a little hit to first base, Mason was out on a fly to center field and Neitzel was out, Knutson to Watchla.

In the seventh another tally was rung up for the visitors, as Kaufmann hit a safe one to left field, and was followed by Broadbeck, who rapped out a safe one to second, but Kaufmann was caught out. Knutson placed one to short safe, but the stop of the liner by Parriott was a most thrilling one. Hofer flew out to Herold at third, but McCoy hit a good clean one over second and brought Broadbeck home, but Knutson was nipped at the plate when he attempted to get home. The Boosters were retired quickly, Ault and Connors striking out, while Beal secured a two-bagger to the left field fence, but Parriott ended the agony by popping up a foul that the catcher secured.

In the eighth inning there was nothing doing on either side, as Kenney for the visitors hit to center safely, but Watchla was put out on a pop-up to McCauley at first, Bloemer flew out to Parriott and Kenney, who was playing too far off the second base, was nipped by a throw from Connors to Ault.

The ninth inning saw the exciting part of the game, as, after the visitors had retired in one, two three order the Boosters proceeded to get busy and win the game. Neitzel, the first man up, hit safe to second base, Ault, who followed, hit a little one along the first base line that the umpire declared a foul, and when the matter was being discussed by Connors Neitzel proceeded to steal second, and this caused a great chewing match between Empire Cunningham and the Omaha players, but they finally resumed the game. Ault was retired on a little hit to first and Connors was put out on a foul ball caught by the third baseman, and the hopes of winning the contest seemed rather slim, when Beal, who was batting, was hit and given his base, and then Parriott delivered the goods with a hit that brought Neitzel home with the winning run.

FINE PLAY AND DANCE AT THE K. S. HALL SATURDAY EVENING

The play which was given at the K. S. Hall on Saturday evening attracted a large audience of the members of the Bohemian race, who were delighted with the fine manner in which the production was staged by the young people who compose the dramatic club, and their manner of giving the two short one-act plays was most pleasing and showed the great care and time that has been put in by the young men and women in the company in preparing for the event. Especially strong was the female characters, which were well taken and given in a very easy and natural manner that made a deep impression upon the audience. At the close of the play a most pleasing social dance was given until a late hour, when the merry dancers wended their way homeward, feeling that the event had been one of the most pleasing that had been given by this society for some time, and the rendition of the play in the native tongue of the members of the K. S. society was one that afforded them many pleasant memories of the olden times and the land across the sea.

PLATTSMOUTH BOYS WILL GO TO MEXICO IF OPPORTUNITY IS OFFERED

From Saturday's Daily.
The first of the Plattsmouth boys to enlist in the new regiment of the Nebraska National Guard that is being raised in the state for the purpose of assisting in the Mexican war, if necessary, is Sam Windham, son of Hon. R. B. Windham, who has just entered the service of the new regiment, which will be known as the Sixth Nebraska. The young man enlisted at Omaha on Friday morning, and will make a good soldier in the service of his country, as he is a very bright young man and one that will be a credit to his home town. His brother, Ben, it is understood, will go to Lincoln Monday and enter the same regiment with his brother and assist in the fighting for Old Glory in the Mexican campaign. The war sentiment is gradually stirring the youth of the land and all over the country applications for service in the different branches of the army and navy are growing larger each day, as the danger of the conflict grows with the attitude assumed by the Mexican government. In the past the Plattsmouth boys at the front have given a good account of themselves, and Ben and Sam are sure to keep up the reputation of the old town.

NEARLY TIME TO BEGIN BURLINGTON BAND CONCERTS

From Friday's Daily.
It will be but a short time now until the matter of holding the summer series of band concerts will be brought to the attention of the public and the means to defray their expense. In discussing this matter the example of the citizens of Hastings is one that could well be followed by the people here. There one of the local merchants offered $600 in cash for a series of twelve afternoon band concerts during the summer, which is certainly a splendid example of progressive citizenship worthy of commendation. These concerts have been most enjoyable events, not only to the residents of the city, but to the visitors from the country, who have gathered here to hear the weekly concerts delivered by the Burlington band, and the project should be put through again this summer without fail and the concerts should be started earlier this year, as last season it was quite chilly at nights when the band finished up their series of concerts. The committee that will have the matter in hand will soon be ready to get busy on the proposition, and it is up to the residents of the city to determine just how much they desire to do in order to make them a success.

Miss Celia Polacek was a passenger this morning for Omaha, where she will visit for the day.

MRS. WILLIAM HUNTER CELEBRATES HER BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Yesterday Mrs. William Hunter of this city was given a most pleasant surprise on her birthday anniversary, as a large number of the friends and neighbors, together with several automobile loads of relatives from Avoca, Weeping Water and Nehawka, arrived at the Hunter home shortly before noon and announced their intention of assisting their friend in the celebration of her natal day, and the company then proceeded to get busy to have a royal time among themselves until the noon hour, when they were all invited into the dining room to partake of a most sumptuous repast fit for a king, and to this all the company did ample justice. After the enjoyment of the fine dinner the guests spent the afternoon in music and social conversation until the clouds in the west warned the guests from out in the county to start for their homes, and bidding the guest of honor many more happy returns they all departed for their homes. In honor of the occasion handsome decorations of flowers added a touch of artistic beauty to the home and made a fitting setting for the happy event.
