

Copyright, 1912, by the Frank A. Munsey company.

CHAPTER X. The Forest God.

WHEN Tarzan had finished his repast he rose and, pointing in a very different direction from that which Clayton had been pursuing, started through the jungle toward the point he had indicated.

ing horror stricken into the snarling face of the beast scarce ten feet from her. At her feet lay the prostrate form of the negress.

The girl, standing pale and rigid against the farther wall, sought with increasing terror for some loophole of escape. Subtly her hand, tight pressed against her bosom, felt the hard outlines of the revolver that Clayton had left with her earlier in the day.

Quickly she snatched it from its hiding place and, leveling it full at the tiger's face, pulled the trigger.

There was a flash of flame, the roar of the discharge and an answering roar of pain and anger from the beast. Jane Porter saw the great form disappear from the window, and then she, too, fainted.

But the tiger was not killed. The bullet had but inflicted a painful wound in one of the great shoulders. In another instant he was back at the lattice and with renewed fury was clawing at the aperture, but with lessened effect, since the wounded member was almost useless.

He saw his prey—two women—lying senseless upon the floor. There was no longer any resistance to be overcome. Sabor had only to worm his way through the lattice to claim it.

Slowly he forced his great bulk inch by inch, through the opening. Now his head was through, now one great fore-leg and shoulder.

Carefully he drew up the wounded member to insinuate it gently between the tight pressing bars.

A moment more and both shoulders through, the long, sinuous body and the narrow hips would glide quickly after.

It was on this sight that Jane Porter again opened her eyes.

When Clayton heard the report of the firearm he fell into an agony of fear and apprehension. What were the thoughts of his strange captor or guide Clayton could only vaguely conjecture, but that he had heard the shot and was in some manner affected by it was quite evident, for he quickened his pace so appreciably that Clayton, stumbling blindly in his wake, went down.

For a moment Tarzan looked at the young man closely, as though undecided as to just what was best to do, then, stooping before Clayton, he motioned him to grasp him about the neck, and with the white man upon his back Tarzan took to the trees.

The next few minutes were such as the young Englishman never forgot. High into bending and swaying branches he was borne with what seemed to him incredible swiftness, while Tarzan chafed at the slowness of his progress.

From the first sensation of chilling fear Clayton passed to one of admiration and envy of those giant muscles and that wondrous instinct or knowledge which guided this forest god through the inky blackness of the night.

Presently they came to the clearing before the beach. Tarzan's quick ears had heard the strange sounds of Sabor's efforts to force his way through the lattice, and it seemed to Clayton that they dropped a straight hundred feet to earth so quickly did Tarzan descend. Yet when they struck the ground it was with scarce a jar, and as Clayton released his hold on the ape man he saw him dart like a squirrel for the opposite side of the cabin.

Clayton heard the bull ape's savage roar of victory, and then he heard Jane Porter's agonized cry: "Ceel—Mr. Clayton! Oh, what is it? What is it?"

Remaining quickly to the cabin door, Clayton called out that all was right and bade her open. As quickly as she could she raised the great bar and fairly dragged Clayton within.

"What was that awful noise?" she whispered, shrinking close to him.

"It was the cry of the kill from the throat of the man who has just saved your life, Miss Porter. Wait, I will fetch him that you may thank him."

The frightened girl would not be left alone, so she accompanied Clayton to the side of the cabin where lay the dead body of the tiger.

Tarzan of the apes was gone. Clayton called several times, but there was no reply, and so the two returned to the greater safety of the interior.

"What a frightful sound!" cried Jane Porter. "Don't tell me that a human being made it."

"But it did, Miss Porter," replied Clayton. "or at least it not a human throat that of a forest god."

And he told her of his experiences with this creature—of how twice the wild man had saved his life, of his wondrous strength and agility and bravery, of the brown skin and the handsome face.

"I cannot make it out at all," he concluded. "At first I thought he might be Tarzan of the apes. But he neither speaks nor understands English, so that theory is untenable."

"Well, whatever he may be," cried the girl, "we owe him our lives. May heaven bless him and keep him in safety in his jungle."

"Amen," said Clayton fervently. "For de good Lawd's sake, ain' Ah dald?"

The two turned to see Esmeralda sitting upright upon the floor, her great eyes rolling from side to side, as though she could not believe their testimony as to her whereabouts.

(To Be Continued.)

Local News

From Friday's Daily. Mrs. George Rhoden departed this morning at 8:45 for Omaha, where she will visit for the day.

W. H. Rainey and wife were among those journeying to the metropolis this morning, where they will visit for the day.

S. O. Pitman and wife motored up this morning from their home at Murray, coming up with Mr. Pitman's father, D. J. Pitman.

P. P. Meisinger was in the city today for a few hours looking after some trading with the merchants, having driven in from his home.

Mrs. C. N. Land and little babe departed yesterday afternoon for Anna, Illinois, where she will visit for the coming summer with relatives in that city.

Ray Stow and wife and Miss Imogene Stow of Waterloo, Neb., who have been here visiting with Mrs. Gus Carlson, returned this afternoon to their home.

James R. Hunter, Jr., wife and child came in this afternoon from their home at Gibson and will visit here for a time with relatives and friends.

Miss Grace Poase of Michigan City, Indiana, is in the city for a short time, a guest at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Ballance.

Sheriff C. D. Quinnton returned last evening on No. 2 from Lincoln, where he took William Urwin, the insane man from Louisville, for treatment.

William Ballance departed this afternoon for LeGrande, Oregon, where he was called by the death of a sister in that place last night. He will be joined en route by others of his brothers, who will accompany him to attend the funeral.

A. F. Hedengren, master carpenter, and James Emerson, roadmaster, of the Omaha division of the Burlington, were in the city yesterday for a few hours looking after company business.

George Snyder and son were passengers this morning on the early Burlington train for the metropolis, where they go to spend the day there looking after some business matters.

Mrs. W. R. Gardner departed this morning on the early Burlington train for Grand Island, where she will visit with her daughter in that city for a short time.

Mrs. Oscar Gopen came in this morning from her home south of this city and as a passenger on the Burlington for Omaha, where she goes to visit for the day.

H. S. Long of Murray was in the city yesterday afternoon for a few hours looking after some matters of business.

D. J. Pittman of Murray was in the city today for a few hours attending to some matters of business at the court house.

Mrs. Albert Schafer was among those going to the metropolis on the early Burlington train this morning, being called there on some matters of business.

T. A. Harlan and wife departed yesterday for Alvo, after a short visit in this city with friends and in looking after some important matters—that of being married.

From Saturday's Daily. G. A. Platt of Malvern, Iowa, was in the city yesterday for several hours visiting with his son, Bert Platt, and returned home on No. 2.

Mrs. Mattie Wiles and Mrs. Ralph Wiles were among the passengers this morning for Omaha, where they will spend the day, having driven in from their home this morning.

Mrs. George Snyder and daughter were passengers on the early Burlington train for Omaha, where they were called to spend the day looking after some matters of business.

H. C. Ewing and children departed this morning for Western, Nebraska, where they will go for a visit in that place with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Thomas Wiles departed this morning on the early Burlington train for Omaha, where she was called to spend the day looking after some business matters.

William Fahlson departed this morning for Davy, Neb., where he will visit over Sunday with his family in that place.

Adam Kaffenberger of the vicinity of Cedar Creek was here today for a few hours attending to some business matters.

Mrs. M. Hiatt of Murray is in the city making a visit here with her children, and is feeling much improved in health.

R. A. Talbot of South Bend came down this morning on No. 4 to make a short visit at the court house and attend to some business matters.

Morris Pollard and Roy Austin came up yesterday from their homes at Union and spent several hours here looking after some matters of business.

George P. Heil of the vicinity of Cedar Creek was among the former visitors in the city today looking after the week-end shopping.

Mrs. A. W. Craig will arrive from Kansas City this afternoon for a visit with and to assist in caring for Mrs. Dora Oldham Moore, who has been confined to her room for several weeks.

From Monday's Daily. Mrs. Henry Kaufmann was a visitor in this city Saturday and called at this office and ordered the Plattsmouth Journal sent to her son-in-law, Ed Vallery, at Grass Range, Mont.

Mrs. Luke L. Wiles was a passenger this morning for Omaha, where she will visit for the day attending to matters of business.

Frank Vallery was a passenger this morning for Omaha, where he was called to look after some matters of business for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dodge spent Sunday with their daughter, Miss Violet, at Missouri Valley, Iowa.

David Barnett of Glenwood was an over Sunday visitor in this city, returning home this morning on No. 6.

Mrs. Lettie Welsh of Seward, who was here to attend the funeral of her brother, George H. Poisal, returned home this afternoon.

Mrs. Henry Steinhauer returned last evening on No. 14 from Lincoln, where she had been for some time visiting with relatives and friends in that city.

Peter Roucha and wife were passengers this morning for the metropolis, where they go to consult a specialist in regard to the health of Mrs. Rochka, which has been quite poorly.

"See Will Richardson" advertisement listing various agricultural and household items for sale, such as New Departure plows, Acme mowers, and farm engines, all available from Will Richardson in Mynard, Neb.

Mrs. Fred Spangler and Mrs. E. H. T. Spangler were passengers this morning for the metropolis, where they visited for a few hours with friends.

We are desirous of securing the name of every person now living who traded with "C. E. Wescott, The Boss Clothier" in the year 1879. Will you please call at the store or send us the name by mail? C. E. WESCOTT'S SONS.

Miss Beth Johnson arrived this morning from Omaha and will make a short visit here at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Streight.

O. M. Streight and wife and son, Harold, are in the city attending to the fixing up of their residence property on South Seventh street, and their friends are hopeful that they may decide to again make their home here, having lived in Omaha for the past few years.

Mrs. C. M. Chriswiser and children departed this morning for Bloomfield, Neb., where they go to make a short visit with relatives and friends.

When run down with kidney trouble, backache, rheumatism or bladder weakness, turn quickly for help to Foley Kidney Pills. You cannot take them into your system without having good results. Chas. N. Fox, Himrod, N. Y., says: "Foley Kidney Pills have done me more good than $150.00 worth of medicine." They give you good results. For sale by all druggists.

William H. Puls and wife, Louie Puls, Fred Lutz and Mrs. Philip Hill were here Friday for a few hours, motoring in from their homes near Murray.

Shriner's Special Through Here. Yesterday morning a special train of twelve cars passed through this city over the Missouri Pacific bound from Los Angeles, California, to Atlanta, Ga., and carrying members of the Shriners who will attend the meeting of the nobles in the southern city. The locomotive pulling the train was decorated with the Shriner emblem on the front and also bore a camel's head on the boiler head. The train was a splendid one, being equipped in every way with every detail necessary for the comfort and pleasure of the members of the order making the trip.

Mrs. W. A. Owens and daughter, of Tekamah, who have been visiting with relatives here for a short time, departed this morning for Cedar Creek for a short visit with friends.

Eggs for hatching from S. C. Rhode Island Reds, $1.00 per 15; $5.00 per 100. Extra choice matings, $2.00 and $3.00 per 15. A. O. Ramge.

Ed Steinhauer and R. Oswald Ames made a motorcycle trip to Glenwood and Pacific Junction yesterday, where they made arrangements for several base ball games for the second team of this city.

Motorcycle for Sale. In excellent condition, good as new. Big, powerful 2-cylinder, developing 7-10 H. P. Need the money. Must sell at once. See Ed Steinhauer at Journal office.

J. R. Hunter, wife and little daughter, of Gibson, came down to this city Saturday evening to visit over Sunday with Mr. Hunter's parents, J. R. Hunter and family.

Reliable—Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Just be sure that you buy Foley's Honey and Tar Compound—it is a reliable medicine for coughs, colds, croup, whooping coughs, bronchial and in grippé coughs, which are weakening to the system. It also gives prompt and definite results for hoarseness, tickling throat and stuffy wheezy breathing.

I. N. Hunter, J. R. Josephson, E. B. Taylor and Harry Reed of Weeping Water were in the city today attending to some matters at the court house, and while here called in to inspect the new press and the Journal establishment.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 4th day of December, A. D. 1914. FRANK J. CHENEY, Notary Public.

Mrs. Henry Steinhauer returned last evening on No. 14 from Lincoln, where she had been for some time visiting with relatives and friends in that city.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Mrs. Lettie Welsh of Seward, who was here to attend the funeral of her brother, George H. Poisal, returned home this afternoon.

Mrs. Henry Steinhauer returned last evening on No. 14 from Lincoln, where she had been for some time visiting with relatives and friends in that city.

Mrs. Lettie Welsh of Seward, who was here to attend the funeral of her brother, George H. Poisal, returned home this afternoon.

The Best Flour on the Market

For fully twenty minutes the brute alternately snuffed and tore at the door, occasionally giving voice to a cry of baffled rage. At length, however, he gave up the attempt, and Jane Porter heard him returning toward the window, beneath which he paused for an instant and then launched his great weight against the time worn lattice.

As in a trance the girl rose, her hand upon her breast, wide eyes staring

GERMOZONE'S Big Value advertisement. It is not so much in its great efficiency as a remedy for roup, canker, chicken pox and other diseases of poultry, but it is the greatest bowel regulator in the world for either poultry or stock (including wet stock), counteracting, especially, bowel troubles due to musty, spoiled or improper food. With man, fowls or animals, regular bowels means health. Constipated irregularity means some sickness, difficult to cure if not fatal. Thousands give Germozone regularly twice a week to chickens, young and old, at the same time having it ever handy as a ready remedy for other diseases. Sold by dealers of post-pays. One size only, 50 cents. For Sale by F. G. Fricke & Co.

Foley Kidney Pills Successful for Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble. Positive in action for backache, weak back, rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles. P. J. Boyd, Ogle, Texas, writes: "After taking two bottles of Foley Kidney Pills, my rheumatism and kidney troubles are completely gone." Safe and effective. For sale by all druggists.