

MORE LIGHT IS SHED ON DANGER OF ELECTROCUTION

Electrocution Is an Easy Matter When Conditions Are Right.

Since the death of August Havir last Saturday there has been a great deal of dispute as to how much electricity would be necessary to cause the death of a human being, and different estimates of the number of volts required have varied greatly. If the conditions of the person are such that they are over-heated or weakened, the number required may be very light to cause death. The following in regard to the dangers of accidental electrocution may be of interest, and it is taken from the writings of one who has made a close study of the proposition:

If you want to avoid the danger of being accidentally electrocuted, never take a bath in a room where the electric lighting fixtures are installed in such a way that they can be reached when you are standing or sitting in the tub.

This is the advice given by scientists who have been investigating the large number of accidents from electric shocks occurring in bath rooms.

There is peculiar danger, it is found, from coming in contact with an electric current while taking a bath, owing to the fact that when the surface of the body is moist it offers less resistance to the current than when dry.

Under such conditions currents of as low as 16 volts may give one a severe shock or even cause death.

Those who have studied the subject strongly advise against the widespread practice of installing electric lights in side walls at such a height that they may be touched by a person standing in the tub or on the floor.

The only safe place for electric fixtures in the bath room is close to the ceiling, so that they can be operated only by turning a perfectly insulated flush switch just inside the door.

Derby hats have been found to be another fruitful cause of death or serious injury by electricity. The steel wire which forms the framework of every derby makes the best possible conductor for an electric current. This is why electricians and other whose work brings them close to high-power current are cautioned never to wear derbies.

QUICK SETTLEMENT AND PAYMENT ON INSURANCE POLICY

From Tuesday's Daily.

The record of quick settlement of insurance losses seems to have been pretty well cornered by the National Fidelity and Casualty Co. of Omaha, as this morning the local agent, A. O. Moore, received from the head office at Omaha a draft for $300 in payment of the policy carried in that company by August Havir, the young man who met such a tragic death here Saturday night. The proof and claim was sent to the office yesterday afternoon by Mr. Moore and this morning the draft arrived promptly. The insurance was made payable to Mrs. Joseph Havir, the sister-in-law of the deceased, with whom he had made his home since the death of his brother a year ago. The young man was also insured in the Modern Woodmen of America for $1,000, and also in the Burlington Relief, both of which policies will go to the parents of the deceased, who reside in Europe. The prompt settlement of the claim was very pleasing to Mr. Moore and will come in very handy for the unfortunate lady, who, inside of a year has suffered the loss of her husband and brother-in-law, and will now be compelled to look after her own welfare.

Hon. W. B. Banning and son and Mrs. G. W. Garrison and Charles Garrison motored up this morning from their home at Union to attend to some matters in the county court.

This morning at St. Joseph's hospital in Omaha Mrs. Will Jean was operated on for appendicitis, from which ailment she has been suffering for some time. The many friends of this worthy lady will anxiously await word from her bedside as to her condition, trusting that she will soon recover sufficiently to return home and be with them again. Mr. Jean departed this morning for Omaha to be present at the hospital when the operation was performed.

THE ANCIENT ORDER OF UNITED WORKMEN TO HOLD BIG MEETING

One of the largest meetings that has been held by the Ancient Order of United Workmen in this city is to be held here on Saturday evening, when a large class of candidates will be initiated into the mysteries of the order as the result of the activities of Deputy John Barton and the hustling members of the order in this city. The meeting will be a joint one of the four different lodges of the city and a record-breaking assemblage is looked forward to. On this occasion Grand Master Workman Walling will be present, as well as Deputies Barton and Parriott, to take part in the gathering and assist in seeing that the candidates receive the proper introduction into the order. The lodges here have had a large increase in the past month during the special campaign inaugurated by the order in the state, and the members have had the advantage of the assistance of Deputy Barton in securing a large class, which will receive their initiation at the meeting Saturday. The occasion will be one long remembered in the annals of the A. O. U. W. in this city.

THE MEN WHO TOOK FISHING TACKLE APPREHENDED AT NEB. CITY

Last Sunday evening the fishermen along the Missouri river from this city to Rock Bluffs, suffered the loss of quite a large amount of their fishing tackle and the party or parties making the raid were not located. Sheriff Quinton was notified of the thefts and at once got busy in endeavoring to locate the men who had made away with the goods, evidently having gone on down the river. Yesterday morning a message was received from Sheriff Fisher at Nebraska City, informing the sheriff that two men had been apprehended there, and asking that he come there to take the men in charge, as they were in possession of quite an amount of fishing apparatus. Among the parties who suffered the loss of their nets and other articles were William Grebe of this city, Stanley Hall, Walter Byers and William Shera, and the value of the stuff taken will amount to only about $15. Sheriff Quinton departed yesterday noon for the Otoe county metropolis and returned home, bringing with him the two men, who were lodged in jail pending an examination by the county attorney. When taken in charge at Nebraska City the men had in their possession a skiff that it is believed they had stolen at some point along the river, and a careful effort will be made to locate the place where they secured it. The men gave their names as C. B. Ashley and Charles Anderson, and stated that they were all ready to start back up the river with the boat when they were taken into custody. They came from the vicinity of Omaha, so it is claimed. Owing to the small value of the property taken, if found guilty, they will not suffer a very heavy sentence.

Mrs. Russell Harris and little daughter returned this morning to their home at Omaha, after a short visit here at the F. G. Fricke home.

THE AWARD OF THE PRIZES IN SCHOOL WORK

Number of Prizes Given Out for Fine Art Work in Schools of This City.

The young people who took part in the art exhibit of the High school here last week in recognition of their splendid efforts, were awarded prizes at the close of the exhibition Saturday. Prizes were given out to each grade from first to eighth, except where it was too hard to decide, and a tie was so declared and two given. The prizes were crayon drawings made by the supervisor, Miss Ellen Windham. By reason of their excellent work Catherine Sattler, Marie Baldwin, Marie Kalasek and Nora Livingston are deserving of more than passing notice in the division of the prizes, as their work was of such a nature as to merit comparison with the work of artists much older, and while they are only in the eighth grade, their specimens shown were the finest seen here for a long time and the best ever exhibited by students of the schools. The prizes were awarded as follows:

Eighth Grade—Marie Baldwin, Catherine Sattler; teacher, Mrs. Mae Morgan.

Seventh Grade—Helen Johnson; teacher, Mrs. Mae Morgan.

Sixth Grade—Pack Ledzway; teacher, Miss Teresa Hemple.

Fifth Grade—Clara Mae Morgan, Janet Bajcek; teacher, Clara Weyrich.

Fourth Grade—Harry Dwyer, Hannah Baldwin; teacher, Mattie Larson.

Third Grade—Clara Wichmann, Ursula Herold; teacher, Crete Briggs.

Second Grade—Glen Allen, Blanche Braun; teacher, Alpha Peterson.

First Grade—Antonie Vanek; teacher, Hilda Barwick.

Mrs. Mae Morgan received the prize for the teacher who had the most good work in her room. Mrs. Morgan teaches the art in four rooms, but she received the prize for room No. 11. Miss Windham, teaches in each room once a week and the teacher of the room gives two other art lessons, so that the teachers of the different rooms contribute to the good work done in the art department.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION MEETS AT AURORA, JUNE 16, 17, 18

The programs for the Nebraska State Sunday School association convention, which meets in Aurora June 16-18, have been issued and the contents of the program looks good to the Sunday school workers of the state, as there are some of the leading figures in the Sunday school work in the country on the program. The speakers, of which there are quite a large number, are of the best. Each is an expert in his or her special line, and has had a wide experience and almost unlimited observation of the different phases of the work. They are practical with methods and plans and to hear them cannot but prove to be of the greatest usefulness to the persons attending the convention. On the 16th and 17th special features of recognition will add to the interest of the meeting, including an auto ride over the city, a great pleasure; the men's parade, a great inspiration, and the Christian fellowship, with splendid workers of all denominations, very helpful. The convention will be held in the First Methodist church of Aurora, which is presided over by Rev. J. D. M. Buckner, who for a number of years was pastor of the church in this city. On the executive committee of the state association is Mr. C. C. Wescott of this city, who also fills the position of recording secretary of the association. All Sunday school workers who can should attend the meeting to take advantage of the splendid opportunity afforded for receiving aid in the most modern methods of handling the Sunday school work.

Mrs. Russell Harris and little daughter returned this morning to their home at Omaha, after a short visit here at the F. G. Fricke home.

RESTRAINING ORDER WILL HOLD GOOD UNTIL ANOTHER ORDER IS MADE

From Tuesday's Daily.

The session of the district court which was held here yesterday by Judge Begley was not of very long duration, as after arranging the cases for trial and making different dispositions of them, the court adjourned until next Monday morning, when it will convene again. The case of Emma Kaufmann vs. T. E. Parnole was set for hearing on the 15th, and that of Allen Anderson vs. Edward Swanson for June 17th. In the matter of the temporary injunction issued by the county judge on the application of Cass county against C. Lawrence Stull to restrain Stull from interfering with the construction of the bridge over the Blackman creek by the plaintiff, the court ordered that the temporary order should be in force until further order was made in the matter.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH SUNDAY EVENING

The regular Children's day exercises of the Christian Sunday school were held at the church Sunday evening and were attended by a large crowd that completely filled the auditorium of the church. The evening program was opened with prayer by the pastor, Rev. A. O. Hollowell, who was followed by Luther Pickett with a few brief remarks outlining the object of the day. Following the remarks of Mr. Pickett a very pleasing program of music, recitations and drills were given by the different members of the Sunday school, which proved a most pleasant feature of the evening. At the close the pastor gave a few remarks that were well chosen and thoroughly enjoyed by the congregation. A free-will offering was taken for the benefit of the foreign missions which netted a neat sum.
