"CINDERELLA IN FLOWERLAND" WAS FINE

The Production at the Parmelee Theater Last Evening Very Much Enjoyed by All.

The operetta, "Cinderella in Flowerland," which was presented last evening by the school children of the city at the Parmelee theater, under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution, surpassed even the most sanguine expectations of the instructors who had charge of the training of the children. The little folks were certainly splendid in their work and showed the training and care which had been given them in the preparation of the operetta.

The story of the operetta was woven around the adventures of Cinderella, and her experiences with the fairy godmother. The little folks were garbed in costumes that were very handsome and artistic and lent a touch of beauty to the charming appearance of the boys and girls who composed the cast of the operetta. Miss Clara Mae Morgan appeared in the role of Cinderella, being garbed as the daisy, and during the progress of the show gave a number of very pleasing solos, and having a very sweet voice and one that shows great strength for one of her years, her numbers were greatly enjoyed by the large audience. The drills of the children were very difficult and were carried out without a single mistake, and the interest shown by the little ones in attending to their different parts was truly remarkable, considering their tender years.

Proceeding the presentation of the operetta a prologue was given by Miss Dorothy Zucker, which allowed the audience to more fully understand the trend of the story of the opera, which was opened by the invitation of Prince Sunshine to the hall to which the two sisters of Cinderella, Hollyhock and Tiger Lily, were invited, while she was compelled to remain at home to look after the work. As the two proud sisters of Cinderella, Misses Nora Livingston and Muriel Straight, were excellent and did their parts to perfection throughout the course of the operetta.

The role of the fairy godmother was taken in a pleasing manner by Miss Catherine Shopp, who, with a wave of her wand, transformed the simple little daisy into a lady costumed for the court of the prince. One of the sweetest appearing of the many different little folks on the stage were the charioteers of Cinderella, Fae Halstead, Eleanor McCarthy and Helen Wescott, who were gowned in pretty little costumes and gave several pleasing little songs. They were attended by Bonnie Bee, the page, which part was taken by Norris Smith Cummins, and the little man received much applause for the delightful manner in which he carried out his role.

The drill of blossoms in the rose drill was simply superb as the little girls marched and countermarched on the stage in many positions that would be very hard to master by persons older by far. The girls were gowned in dainty pink frocks with green sashes and each carried a rose, which added greatly to the beauty of the scene. Those who formed this chorus consisted of the following little girls, and their work was certainly all that could possibly be desired: Eunice Druliner, Alice Louise Wescott, Theodosia Kroehler, Margaret Schlater, Clara Johnson, Emma Wohlfaeth, Gretchen Pein, Virginia Beeson, Elizabeth Wadick, Helen Farley, Alice Pollock, Ora Bell Allen, Mary Parmele, Gladys Kaffenberger, Edna Runyan, Marie Nemetz, Francis Martin, Isabel Rainey, Edith Farley, Viola Archer, Goldye Kaffenberger, Janet Bajock, Ruth Parmele, Stella Lister.

This drill was followed by the scene of the prince's ball, when a fine chorus of the young girls, each representing a different flower of the garden, did a number of pleasing little dances, as well as furnished musical numbers that were highly enjoyed, and the characters of the little ladies who appeared as the guests of the prince were taken in the different roles as follows: Poppy, Mary Rosencrans; Pansy, Mary Egenberger; Violet, Helen Roberts; Mignonette, Gladys Hall; Sweet

Pea, Mildred Schlater; Buttercup, Eleanor Burnie; Daffodil, Dorothy Zucker; Sweet Briar, Florence Kalasek; Lily Bell, Elizabeth Bajock; Narcissus, Blanche Clarke.

The rose drill by the little girls was followed by the sunflower drill, participated in by the boys, who swung onto the stage in true military style, and they marched and countermarching was without a flaw and made a most pleasing impression upon the audience and they were warmly applauded for their part in the drill. The boys who conducted the drill were: James Persinger, Harold Smith, Mason Wescott, Leslie Hall, Francis Roman, Roscoe Hill, Richard Beverage, Karl Thomas, Harold Druliner, Clyde Claus, Dean Douglas, Jack McCarty, Newell Roberts, Walter Martin.

The ball room scene was made the occasion for the entrance of Prince Sunshine of Sunbeam castle (Mason Wescott) and the young man made a very handsome appearing prince indeed, and the young ladies as the guests of the prince gave him a most royal reception, to which he responded by the song of response and greeting to his guests. In attendance on the prince was one of the most charming collection of little sunbeams and they were well named for the little lots certainly radiated sunshine in their baby faces and winning ways in which they carried out their parts. The babies were certainly remarkably fine in their parts and were one of the biggest hits of the operetta. The little tots composing this chorus were: Jennie Windham, Fern Yering, Marjorie Pickelt, Loren Windham, Noma Runyan, Leona Egenberger, Florence Yelick, Miriam Copenhagen, Edith Beeson, Margaret Gibson, Susan Falter, Thelma Kroehler, Mary Wenn, Mary Schlater, Mildred Hall, Olivia Hollowell, Alice Plak, Nina Hollowell, Sylvia Noble, Elizabeth Hall.

The scene at court was followed by the appearance of the raindrops, Masters David Baylor, Karl Ingalls, Lawrence Baldwin, Ralph Mason, Edward Patterson, John Falter, Edgar Wescott, Wilbur Hall, Warren Taylor, Jack Hall, Vernon Woods, Chester Baylor, Charles Majors and Ralph Majors, on the stage, who gave a very difficult song and won the hearts of all with their charming little wags and were received with demonstrations of warmest approval from the entire audience.

The play was closed when Prince Sunshine discovered in the sky and timid daisy his lady of the ball and the herald (Jack McCarty) fitted on her foot the slipper that proved her identity as the one who would become the princess of the realm. The finale was given with the larger children of the company joining in the music of the operetta.

The success of the entertainment reflects great credit upon the D. A. R., who undertook the training of the little folks for the operetta, and the committee, Miss Violet Dodge, Kathryn Windham, Edna Shopp, Ellen Windham and Mrs. E. H. Wescott have labored unceasingly for the successful production of the play, and can feel well satisfied with the success of their labors. Mrs. Mae Morgan, who had the direction of the musical work of the operetta, is also to be commended for the splendid results achieved that shows how the children take up the musical work with the greatest of interest. The society of the Daughters of the American Revolution feel very grateful for the assistance they received from the general public and for the aid in preparing the children for the event. The rose drill was under the supervision of Misses Ferris York and Violet Froese and they trained the little girls taking part with the greatest of care, which was shown in the splendid work performed. Mrs. A. O. Egenberger was also one of the chief aids in the operetta, acting as the accompanist for the production. In the dances given Miss Catherine Dovey was one of the ladies whose aid in training the children was very much appreciated by the committee and the D. A. R. Miss Della Frans was also one to whom a great deal of commendation is due, as she and Mrs. Morgan had charge of the preparing of the boys for the sunflower drill. To the mothers of the city who saw that the children were all at the rehearsals each morning and who assisted in preparing them for the operetta, the society desires to express its deepest appreciation, as their aid was largely responsible for the splendid success achieved.

CLUB OFFER ON NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS FAST DRAWING TO A CLOSE

Some Timely Tips on How to Increase Your Vote is Here Given

Just four more days of the special "get busy" offer of double votes on new subscriptions in clubs of five, just a little less than half a week that the interested ones can take advantage of this high vote offer. Every candidate and every prospective candidate should make the most of the few remaining days of this period.

Subscriptions should come easy after you have once entered the race in earnest, and the fact becomes known among your friends that you are intent on winning one of the prizes. The best method of securing votes is as follows:

First, if those nearest you do not subscribe regularly to the Daily or Semi-Weekly Journal, ask them to do so. This will give you a good start. Second, if they are already subscribers to the Daily Journal, ask them to renew their subscriptions for any period from six months to five years, and have them save the coupons found in the Daily and Semi-Weekly Journal (good for five votes each), for by so doing you will get the benefit of both the votes allowed on the renewal and the votes from the coupons. Tie the coupons securely together in bunches of not more than fifty each, mark the number on top and deposit them in the ballot box. Be sure that your name is on the slip with the number, but it is not necessary to have it on each coupon if they are securely tied together.
