

FOURTH OF JULY BALL GAMES EVEN UP

Dundees From Omaha and Red Sox Juit About Even—One Game to Each.

The athletic events of the glorious Fourth in this city were centered upon the ball games between the Dundee Woolen Mills of Omaha and the Red Sox, and while the result was a split of one apiece, it really should have been two for the locals if they had played the game as they should in the morning. There was only a fair-sized crowd present at the morning game, and as error after error was chalked up against the locals many left for home. The one bright spot of the game was the pitching of Will Mason, who was on the slab for the Sox, and although the team was defeated, 7 to 0, it was not his fault, as he was in the finest of form and fanned fourteen of the visitors and only allowed two hits off his delivery, the scores being gathered in through errors on the part of his teammates, who seemed badly demoralized and unable to do business with the Dundees. Mason certainly threw as nice a game as it would be possible to see in many a day and his effort to win is deserving of commendation, as he is one of the hardest workers on the team in striving to give the fans a good class of ball, and in his pitching Saturday morning he certainly delivered the goods, only to have victory snatched from his grasp. Greeko was the artist who did the throwing for the Dundees, and while not an exceptionally brilliant pitcher, was lucky in getting away with the game through the kindness of the Red Sox, who practically presented the game to them.

The game on the afternoon of the Fourth drew out the largest crowd of the season and resulted in the Red Sox coming back strong at the Dundees and taking the game by a 4 to 1 score and re-establishing themselves in the hearts of the fans by their good work, as the boys were all behind Pike, who was in good form, and while six hits were secured off the delivery of both Pike and Vernon, the Dundee's clever little slab artist, the visitors were only able to register one score, and had several men left on bases at different stages of the game.

Up to the third inning there was nothing doing, as neither side was able to cross the plate with a score, but in this inning Mr. Vernon took a swift flight and before he and his teammates were able to settle down the Sox had grabbed three scores and tucked them safely away. Vernon started the trouble when he walked Ashburn, the first man up, and Pike, who followed, rapped one to Lack at short, which that gentleman fumbled and allowed Pike to reach the first sack; Carle hit safely to first and on an error was safe; Parriott, the clever little shortstop, then pulled off a very clever hunt and was able to beat it to first, while Ashburn raced home with a score, and Richter, who covered the plate, claimed he was put out, but the umpire could not see it that way, as the large classic pedal extremities of Richter did not touch the plate, and right here the Dundees broke forth with several large howls against the ruling of Cunningham, and demanded the removal of him from the job of umpiring, which, to preserve the peace, was done. Pike attempted to score on the hit of C. Smith to third, but was nipped at the plate. Herold proceeded to do business when he drove a hot one through second that brought in both Carle and Parriott, which ended the scoring for this inning.

In the fifth the visitors secured their lonely tally of the game, as Greeko, the first man up, secured a two-bagger, and advanced to third on the out of Mason from third to first; L. Smith retired on a little hit to first base and Ashburn brought Mac home with a hit to right field and was himself put out at second on an attempted steal. The line-up of the game was as follows:

the sixth inning, when McCauley, the first sacker, laced a two-bagger out into left field at the opening of the inning and advanced to third on the out of Mason from third to first; L. Smith retired on a little hit to first base and Ashburn brought Mac home with a hit to right field and was himself put out at second on an attempted steal. The line-up of the game was as follows:

In the most sensational game played on the local lot in many a moon the Dundee Woolen Mills defeated the Red Sox in the rubber game of a series of three.

To game went fourteen innings with a run, when, in the fifteenth, Joe Pike's error, followed by "Coffee" John Hazen's single to left put the game on ice for the visitors. The game was a pitchers' battle between Greeko and Vernon who hurled for Dundee and Pike, who was pitching his second game in two days. The Omaha pitchers had the best of the argument from start to finish.

The game opening when Stitt grounded out, Herold to McCauley; Lacy grounded out to McCauley; Graham singled to right; Nystrom flew out to Mason. For Plattsmouth, Carle and Parriott fanned the atmosphere and Smith flew out to center.

In the second inning Hazen was safe on Herold's error, but was thrown out by Carle in an attempt to steal second; Bellman grounded out to McCauley; Dinneen struck at a wild pitch and was safe at first. Richter struck out. Herold fouled out to Graham; McCauley grounded out, Lacy to Graham; Mason was safe on Stitt's error, but was caught between second and third, retiring the side.

Third Inning—Greeko and Lacy struck out and Stitt was out. Herold to McCauley. F. Smith grounded out; Arries struck out; Pike out, Lacy to Graham.

Fourth Inning—Graham flew out to Arries; Nystrom out, Parriott to McCauley; Hazen grounded out, Pike to McCauley. Carle fouled out; Parriott grounded out; Smith safe on Greeko's error; Herold flew out to Dinneen.

Fifth Inning—Bellman fouled out to Herold; Dinneen met death on the Pike-McCauley route; Richter flew out to Pike. McCauley and Mason struck out and L. Smith went out, Lacy to Graham.

Sixth Inning—Greeko tripped to the Gordon hat sign, but brain work on the part of McCauley saved a score. Mac came in for a bunt and Stitt bunted it into his hand; Mac tagged him on the line and threw to third, getting Greeko; Lack out Pike to Mac. Arries and Carle whiffed and Pike out, Lack to Graham. Vernon now pitching for Omaha.

Seventh Inning—Graham was safe on McCauley's error; Nystrom flew out to Arries; Hazen flew out to Mason; Bellman stepped in front of one of Pike's slants and received a free ticket to first; Vernon flew out to Mason. Parriott and C. Smith struck out; Herold walked and stole second; McCauley delivered a hit that was seemingly a safe one, but a sensational throw by Greeko from right field to first nipped Mac by a scant foot and saved the game.

Eighth Inning—Richter struck out; Greeko out, Parriott to Mac; Stitt out, Pike to McCauley. Mason flew to Lack; L. Smith lined to Stitt, who threw him out at first; Arries was safe on Lacy's error, but was thrown out by Richter on an attempt to steal.

Ninth Inning—Lacy fouled out to Carle; Graham grounded to Mac; Nystrom singled to center; Hazen flew out to Parriott. Pike fouled out to Richter; Carle safe on Graham's error; Parriott sacrificed him to second, but Smith failed to deliver the needed hit, grounding out, Lack to Graham.

Tenth Inning—Bellman flew out to Parriott; Vernon struck out; Richter and Greeko delivered singles, but Stitt forced Greeko at second. Herold out, Stitt to Graham; McCauley out, Hazen to Graham; Mason singled to right; L. Smith struck out.

Eleventh Inning—Lack struck out; Graham out to Mac; Nystrom and Hazen delivered hits, but the suspense was over when Bellman whiffed. Arries grounded out to Graham; Pike out, Vernon to Graham; Carle struck out.

Twelfth Inning—Vernon whiffed; Richter out, Pike to Mac; Stitt flew out to short. Here came the first attempt to mob the ill-fated umpire. Parriott bunted down the first base line, Vernon fielded it raggedly and threw to Graham, who muffed the ball. The umpire said, "you're out." The crowd rushed onto the field, but soon subsided when he was called safe. Smith sacrificed Parriott to second; Herold flew to short and Mac flew to Hazen.

Thirteenth Inning—Lacy flew to Pike; Graham struck out; Nystrom safe on Mac's error; Hazen flew to right. Mason grounded out to Hazen and Smith did likewise to Stitt; Arries singled to center and stole second. Right here it looked like we had the game won, Pike singling to center. A sensational play by Nystrom nipping the runner. The crowd surged from the field, thinking the game was won, as the base umpire called Arries safe, but as umpire of strikes has jurisdiction here his decision was final, he calling Arries out.

Both sides were retired in order in the fourteenth.

Then the fatal fifteenth, Greeko was safe on Parriott's error; Stitt struck out; Lack singled to right, sending Greeko to third; Graham sacrificed Lacy to second; Pike dropped Nystrom's easy pop-up; Hazen singled to center, bringing in Lacy. Herold flew to center; Mac was hit by a pitched ball; Mason safe on Stitt's error. L. Smith struck out; Ashburn lined to Vernon and the game was over.

The fielding of Lacy, Hazen and Graham for Dundee and Parriott for Plattsmouth featured the game. The allround playing of Greeko featured the series; he pitched twelve innings without a score against him and allowed three hits, batted 500 during the three games and fielded in sensational style in right field. Following was the line-up of Sunday's game.

CHARGED WITH MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE

the street was gone, but later came back and was talking loudly when he arrested him and took Richardson over to the lockup. When he came back Donat had told him that Barr had gone through the subway on the way toward the river. When he got into a wagon and started for the subway. Had saw Neumann near the City hotel and requested him to come with him to the river. They had seen Barr sitting on a box in the back of the spring wagon in which was seated Bunker and Albert Low on the seat. He told Barr he wanted him to come back to town with him and Barr had replied, "You can meet all of us." Barr had rolled up his sleeves while driving along and looked mean. Had gone over to wagon where Barr was when they passed the bridge near the ball park and struck him. Neumann had pushed him out of the wagon onto the ground and Barr and struck him and Neumann. Barr had then started off down the road with him, and after going a short distance had broke away and struck him, atw hich he and struck him at which he the butt end of his gun, and at the second attempt to strike Barr the gun had fallen into the road, where they both attempted to grab it and Barr secured it and brought it up near his breast. The chief illustrated the positions occupied by himself and Barr during the trouble, with the county attorney taking the position of Barr, and showed how he had held Barr when the gun was discharged. He was facing north and Barr south at this time and he forced the gun held by Barr down from his breast. Neumann had gone back to secure the team when the trouble started which resulted in the loss of the gun, and came up afterwards when the shot was fired and told Barr to drop his gun as he had killed one man. Barr had then started off down the road and came back with the chief of police when stopped by him, and they had then gone to where the body lay and placed it in the wagon to bring it to the city. Barr had held the gun in shooting position when it was discharged.

The cross-examination of Chief Rainey was a most grueling one and Mr. Gering, the attorney for the defense, subjected him to a raking fire of questions. It was near 12 o'clock when the state finished the examination, and the noon recess found the chief still on the stand.

Mr. Rainey, on cross-examination, stated that the first he heard of the trouble was while he was in the McDaniel saloon in conversation with Ed Williams, who was talking with him about his brother. He had one glass of beer with williams. Here the attorney for the defense devoted several minutes in trying to secure a statement as to whether the chief had had other drinks, without success, as the court ruled against him. Rainey stated he had a glass of lemonade at Donat's in the morning. He had also been in York's barber shop that morning talking with Mr. York. This came in answer to a question of Mr. Gering as to his having taken any drinks. Frank Ashenbrenner had come to the McDaniel saloon and told him they wanted him at Donat's as there was a fight there and he did not know until he talked to Donat whom the parties were. Ed Donat had told him that George Barr and Floyd Richardson and John Richardson had been in trouble with A. Pandal, the porter of the saloon. Here it was necessary to take a recess of the court.

300 LICE Or More on One Hen

is by no means uncommon. No one would expect to fatten a steer with that number of "ticks" sucking his blood, but many expect the old hen to go ahead brooding out eggs while lice and mites are sapping her very life. We have counted over 2000 dead lice under a row of ten hens, on a roost board painted the night before with Lee's Lice Killer. This great killer does double duty—contact kills mites, lice, bedbugs, etc. about the roosts; the vapor kills lice on the chickens sitting over it. Put up only in airtight cans. Makes Life Worth Living

This is the car that made the greatest record of all in the past season. The thousands of Detroiters, in hardest service, averaged, from January, 1913, to January, 1914, just $3.81 apiece for repair parts. No other car, of any type, or at any price, can touch this record.

With its long stroke, thirty-two horse-power, ball bearing motor, the Detroit climbs a 15% grade at 28 miles per hour "on high." On second and first speeds it climbs anywhere its wheels can find traction. Because of its ball bearings, correct power ratio and light weight, the Detroit uses at least 22% less fuel than is demanded by over-powered cars of its class: 20 to 25 miles per gallon is its everyday record. It has the smooth gait of the platform spring. The actual amount of added comfort is 33%.
