

A FIRST-CLASS SENSATION IN OUR NEIGHBORING CITY

Wife Goes Visiting and Returns to Find Her Lord and Master Also Gone.

The following from the Glenwood Tribune of this week indicates that our neighboring city is in the throes of a real sensation that has greatly stirred the residents there in the past few weeks. The gentleman mentioned as one of the chief figures in the affair is quite well known here, where he has been a visitor a number of times on professional business:

When Mrs. W. E. Allen (wife of Glenwood's osteopathic physician) returned home a week ago last Saturday from a visit with relatives in Illinois, she found the home locked and no trace of the doctor's whereabouts. She managed to effect an entrance and waited, but still the doctor did not put in an appearance. That evening her son, Jessie, (who had also been back in Illinois working as a painter) returned, and they talked over the situation together.

They were finally forced to the conclusion that the doctor had left for keeps—with the intention of abandoning his family—free to pursue such pleasures as his inclinations might dictate and opportunity offer—and possibly to avoid the embarrassment of meeting Glenwood people and of making further misstatements as to recent happenings.

When convinced of this, Jess and his mother began preparations to leave also, and yesterday they moved back to their old home at Fairview, Illinois.

The incidents which have led up to this situation are greatly to be regretted. A few weeks ago a strange woman came to Glenwood and became a patient of the doctor. Three weeks ago the pair showed up at Malvern, ditching their automobile just south of town, in which accident the doctor was somewhat injured. They then hired another auto and were taken to White Cloud and spent the day in a grove on the bank of the river there. The doctor returned to Glenwood the next day, and when questioned about the happenings denied that there had been any woman with him when the accident occurred; and explained the report by saying the man who brought the second auto to the scene of the accident had his wife with him. This explanation was later proven to be untrue, and other embarrassing occurrences were uncovered that must finally have persuaded the doctor that the end had come to any sphere of usefulness he might have had in Glenwood or any claim on the respect of our people.

He came to Glenwood a year ago last January and bought the Dr. W. S. Elliott practice. He also bought the residence at the northeast corner of the square which Dr. Elliott had at that time traded to a Plattsmouth man. He seemed to give good satisfaction in his profession, and was apparently prospering. He made these purchases on time and was owing considerable amounts on them at the time of leaving. Mrs. Allen will of course have no interest in completing the payments and acquiring full title to the practice, and she is undecided as to what will be done in the matter of the residence.

Before leaving, the doctor made out statements of the accounts due him from his patients and left them so Mrs. Allen and Jessie could find them. They collected them as far as possible before leaving, but they did not settle many accounts which the doctor had contracted.

Candidate for Governor Here.

From Tuesday's Daily. This morning, Senator J. H. Kemp, of Fullerton, one of the numerous republican candidates for the office of governor of Nebraska, came in to meet the voters in the city and look over the political situation. Mr. Kemp is one of the brightest of the republican leaders in the state, and if he is not the nominee he is going to be one of the biggest contenders in the race for the nomination in the republican party. He was president of the state senate at the last session of the legislature and had a great influence in moulding the different measures passed by the senate. While here Mr. Kemp gave the Journal a short social call.

L. C. TODD IS FINED FOR NOT HAVING HIS AUTO LIGHTS LIGHTED

There were a large number of the residents of Nehawka present this morning at the court room of Justice M. Archer when the case of the State of Nebraska vs. L. C. Todd, a resident of near Nehawka, was brought to trial. This case grows out of a complaint against Mr. Todd for not having the rear lights on his automobile lit on the evening of July 9. Constable Platt of Nehawka claims that he notified Mr. Todd to light the lights and he did not do this, but rode away in the machine without the lights going. The question of what hour the sun set on the night of the 9th was very thoroughly discussed by the different witnesses and by the attorneys in the case, which enlightened the spectators to a great extent on the question of whether the standard or meridian time was the proper authority to take for the setting of the sun. The defense contended that it was not after sunset when Mr. Todd was asked to light his lights and that the constable had no right to force him to light these lights. The state contended that it was after sunset by standard time and that the action of the constable should be sustained in attempting to compel Mr. Todd to light up the rear lights of the machine. The court, after hearing the different witnesses in the case on both sides, decided to take the standard time as that for fixing the hour of sunset, and accordingly fined the defendant $5 and costs. The defense announced that they would take an appeal in the case to the district court to settle the questions involved in the case.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE OF THE FISHING PARTY AT CEDAR CREEK

The fishing party that spent last week at Cedar Creek fishing report several thrilling experiences during their stay and particularly in the landing of the thirty-pound catfish. This fish was the finest catch made on the trip and the honor of making the catch is disputed between Albert Rheinacke and Gus Swanson, the two most skilled fishermen in the bunch. It is claimed by many that the honor really belongs to Al, who, during the landing of the fish, found it necessary to wade out in the stream and land the fish single handed, although the whole party assisted in getting the fishermen out of the turbulent waters of the river. Whatever may have been the trouble in securing the fish the boys had a big time and are looking forward to another big fishing trip next season.

Jacob Krug, one of the members of Krug Brothers, owning the Krug brewery in Omaha, was in the city last evening looking after the interests of his company.

GYPSIES ARE ARRESTED NEAR WEEPING WATER

Three of the Wanderers Brought in Tuesday Evening and One Fined $10 and Costs.

From Wednesday's Daily. Last evening about 6 o'clock Sheriff Quinton came into the city bringing with him three wandering gypsies, whom he had gathered up near Weeping Water, and who were wanted in this city for having "touched" W. R. Gardner on last Saturday evening for the sum of $10. There was really only one of the trio brought in by the sheriff who was implicated in the robbery of Mr. Gardner, and she gave her name as "Lizzie," the last name being too much for the ordinary tongue to attempt to pronounce.

The story of the robbery, as told by the victim, was that the woman, "Lizzie," had visited the Gardner home and asked to be allowed to tell the fortune of Mr. Gardner, and after giving him out the dope on the future he was searching for some silver in small change to give the woman for her efforts in sooth-saying when the lady deftly extricated a roll of $25 in $5 bills from his pocket-book, and picking out two of the bills, then returned the three others to the pocketbook, and it was not for several hours afterwards that the loss was discovered, and by this time the gang was well on its way, having been ordered out of town by Chief of Police Rainey, and Mr. Gardner decided that his peep into the future had been a very costly one.

The matter was then taken up with the county attorney and Sheriff Quinton informed of the occurrence and he started out to locate the parties. Hearing that they were in the vicinity of Weeping Water, the sheriff made a hurried trip out to that locality and apprehended them just south of that city and brought them on into Plattsmouth to be arraigned. It was impossible to understand anything of the lingo of the wanderers for quite a while, until H. Weintroub was secured, as an interpreter, and he was able to secure some answers from the witnesses. They were taken before Justice Archer and "Lizzie" placed on trial, and as a result of the evidence the judge decided that it would be necessary for them to part with the sum of $10 and costs, amounting to $25. The man with the party dug up the sum of $16, which he tendered as payment for the fine, but this was rejected by the judge, who announced that their friend would have to go to jail, at which one of the women managed to dig up the amount due the feelings of outraged justice and the party lost no time in getting away.

Big Fair to Be at Malvern.

One of the leading fairs and entertainments of the summer season is that of the fair of the Mills county (Iowa) Agricultural association, that will be held at Malvern, Iowa, on August 4th to 8th. This fair will be one of the best ever held in this part of the country and the races that are a feature of the meeting will be one of the biggest events of their kind ever held in southwestern Iowa. Messrs. Sherman Jones and G. H. White of the agricultural association were in the city yesterday for a few hours promoting the interest of the fair and interested a great many in the coming attraction.

Harold Smith is visiting for a few days in Kansas City at the home of his uncle, George S. Smith and family, in that city.

Return Home From Trip.

From Wednesday's Daily. This morning Dave Wallengren and Julius Neilson returned home from an extended trip to the east, during which time they visited in Michigan and Wisconsin with friends. The return of the travelers has been awaited with great interest by their friends and the report of Mr. Wallengren on the celery industry of Michigan has been looked forward to with much pleasure. Both of the travelers enjoyed the trip very much and were delighted with the country through which they passed.

GEORGE W. GARRISON ESTATE IN COURT OVER $16,000.00 IN NOTES

From Tuesday's Daily. Yesterday in the county court a hearing was had before Judge Beeson in the matter of the estate of the late George W. Garrison, deceased. The departed gentleman was one of the wealthy farmers of Liberty precinct and died, possessed of considerable property, and in his will left his wife $500 besides her widow's share in the estate, which she was entitled to. Since the time of the admission of the will it has developed that the deceased was possessed of some $16,000 in notes, which were kept at the home and which the widow claims were given her by her husband before his death. The estate also claimed the notes as a part of the personal property of the deceased included in the estate, and it was upon the question of the ownership of the notes that the court was compelled to pass, holding that they were a part of the personal estate of the deceased and as such belonged to the estate to be divided among the different heirs. The case will probably be appealed to the district court to be threshed out before a jury. Rawls & Robertson appear for the estate and Matthew Gering for the widow.

THE CROP CONDITIONS IN NEBRASKA ARE MOST EXCELLENT

The following summary of the crop conditions in the state has been given out from the office of Prof. Loveland, director of the government bureau at Lincoln, and indicates that the conditions are favorable to a good yield of corn if the dry weather does not continue for too long a time:

The weather of the past week was favorable for work on the farm, but was too dry for the best growth of crops. The temperature averaged very near normal. The rainfall occurred in light showers of little value to crops except in parts of the southwestern portion, where the rainfall was heavier. Generally the rainfall was less than one-tenth of an inch, but in a few southwestern counties it was about one-half an inch. This of course was much below the normal everywhere. Good progress has been made in harvesting the threshing and securing the second crop of alfalfa. Corn is tasseling and silking and is beginning to feel the need of rain. The rainfall has been light generally for the past few weeks. The crop is generally for the past four weeks. The crop is generally in good condition, but the ground is getting dry and a rain is needed soon to realize the promise of a large crop.

Itching, bleeding, protruding or blind piles have yielded to Doan's Ointment. 50c at all stores.

Miss Margaret Mills, matron of the Eastern Star orphanage in this city, was a passenger this morning for Omaha, where she will visit for the day.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION SATURDAY

Primaries to Select Delegates to Be Held Saturday July 25, at 11 O'Clock.

The democrats of Cass county, Nebraska, are called to meet in delegation convention at Elmwood, Neb., on Saturday, July 25, 1914, at 11 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of selecting 20 delegates to the state convention to be held at Columbus, Neb., on Tuesday, July 28, 1914, and to transact such other business as may legally come before it.

It is recommended that at the primary held to select delegates, a member of the county central committee be selected in each ward and precinct subject to the approval of the convention.

The primaries for the selection of delegates shall be held on Thursday, July 23, 1914, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the usual voting places in the several wards and precincts.

It is recommended that there be no proxies admitted to the convention, but that the delegates present cast the entire vote of their respective wards and precincts.

W. D. Wheeler,
Chairman.

HARRY McDONALD OF MURDOCK FILES FOR REPRESENTATIVE

From Tuesday's Daily. The last filing of the campaign was made Saturday night when Harry McDonald of Murdock entered the list as a democratic candidate for the office of state representative from the Seventh district. Mr. McDonald will have as his opponents for the position the present representative, Hon. John J. Gustin of Murdock and M. G. Kime of Nehawka. The list of filings is now completed and all those who were ambitious to get into the political race but neglected it will have to allow their desires in this line to rest until two years roll around and allows them to get out for office.

Mrs. H. R. Steinhilber and son, Victor, of Gordon, Neb., who have been visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Haynie, in this city, returned to their home today.

Wheat Not Very Good.

Arthur Sullivan and Wyeche Hutchinson, two of the farmers living in the Rock Bluff neighborhood, have just finished their threshing and find that their wheat has not turned out as well as was expected. Mr. Sullivan's crop will average eleven bushels to the acre, while that of Mr. Hutchinson will go at about fifteen as some of the wheat on the hills did not make over six bushels to the acre, but the wheat on the bottom land will be quite plentiful and will put the average up to fifteen bushels.

MISS AGNES SLAVICEK CELEBRATES HER BIRTHDAY AMIDST FRIENDS

A very pleasant birthday surprise party was given Saturday afternoon at the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slavicek on West Main street in honor of the birthday of their daughter, Miss Agnes. An automobile load of friends came down from Omaha to join in making the occasion one of the greatest pleasures to the guest of honor, and it is unnecessary to say that Miss Agnes was most agreeably surprised. The afternoon was spent in playing games and several very enjoyable musical numbers and a general good time among the jolly young people. At a suitable hour a very delicious and tempting luncheon was served, which added thoroughly to the enjoyment of the guests present. Those taking part in the event were: Misses Mildred and Vivian Kaspar, Rose Farrach, Sylvia Svoboda, Gladys Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janda, all of Omaha; Teresa Janda, Weston, Neb.; Agnes Slavicek, Rose Skounal, Agnes Holly, Helen Slavicek, Tom Svoboda and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slavicek.

MRS. CLAUD BOETEL, SR., CELEBRATES HER FIFTY-EIGHTH BIRTHDAY

A very pleasant surprise party was given Sunday afternoon at the pleasant home of E. C. Ripple in the west part of the city in honor of the fifty-eighth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Claud Boetel, sr., a sister of Mr. Ripple. This lady was taken out to see the Ripple home with the object, so she was told, of a short visit with the family, and it was only a short time after her arrival until her children and their friends came driving up and getting out of their conveyances came in to assist the mother in celebrating the happy event of her birthday in an appropriate manner. At a suitable hour some very tempting refreshments were served that aided greatly in making the event one of the rarest enjoyment. In remembrance of the event the children of Mrs. Boetel presented her with a fine rocking chair. Those in attendance at the surprise were: John Boetel and family, Claud Boetel and family and A. C. Tulene, wife and family.

Finishes Up Wheat Harvest.

James McCullough of near Murray has just finished his wheat harvest from his farm and as a result finds that the yield will run thirty bushels to the acre which is very pleasing to Mr. McCullough. While perhaps the wheat this year will not be as heavy as that of last year, still it is very satisfactory and the finish of the harvest was very pleasing to most of the farmers in this county.

Mrs. Ed Tritsch and children were passengers this afternoon for Omaha, where they will visit for a few hours with friends looking after some matters of business.

THE CASS COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Coming Teachers' Institute, to Be Held Here August 10 to 14, to Be of the Best.

An excellent program has been arranged by Miss Mary E. Foster, county superintendent, for the annual Cass county teachers' institute, which will convene in this city on Monday, August 10, and continue until Friday, August 14. The wide acquaintance of Miss Foster with the leading educators of the country makes it easy for her to secure better talent for the lecture courses than it would otherwise be possible to do, as her judgment on the different teachers and educators is such as to insure the best possible persons on the lecture platform.

The principal lecturer at the institute here will be Dr. A. E. Winship of Boston, one of the most eminent American educators, and the editor of the Journal of Education, the leading journal of its kind in the country. Dr. Winship has appeared before at the Cass county institutes and made a deep impression upon all classes of people, as his lectures are so broad and comprehensive that they appeal equally to the business men and citizens, as well as to the school teachers and those interested in school work. It was rare good fortune on the part of Miss Foster to secure this able lecturer, and solely due to the fact that a personal acquaintance with Dr. Winship allowed of his being pressed into service at the institute here.

Dr. Howard R. Driggs of Salt Lake, one of the leading authorities on English in the west, will also be on the program and will give a clear and concise series of lectures on the use of the English language. He is the author of the "Live Language Lessons," one of the accepted text books on this subject in use in the schools of the country today, and one that is valued very highly by school workers.

Miss E. Ruth Pyrtle of Lincoln, principal of the McKinley school in that city, will also be on the lecture course, having a number of lectures on the work of the primary grade. Miss Pyrtle has heard here last summer at the institute and her addresses at that time have been remembered with the greatest of pleasure by all who were in attendance at the institute.

Harry E. Bradford of Lincoln, superintendent of the state agricultural school of the university, will also be here again this year with another series of his splendid lectures to the teachers that will be as interesting, if not more so, as the series delivered last year, as the undoubted ability of Mr. Bradford makes his offerings to the institute fully as good as any that has ever been given here before.

Superintendent W. G. Brooks of the Plattsmouth schools will have the department of High school teachers, and coming as he does fresh from the summer school work at Columbia university, New York, he is well fitted to take up the latest phases of this line of school work and present it in an intelligent manner to the teachers.

Miss Marie E. Kaufmann will also give a number of lectures at the institute on the penmanship work of the schools that will appeal especially to those who are interested in seeing the best possible training afforded the young people, as the success of Miss Kaufmann in the Plattsmouth schools has been wonderful in her two years' work.

The meetings of the institute will be held in the district court room this year at the court house and will allow the business men in the city to attend the lectures and will also be far more convenient to the teachers and save them the long walk up the High school hill.
